Just over the border the Village of Vankleek Hill in Prescott County and the Township of Roxborough in Stormont County are also voting.

Other important eastern points in which the battle will be fought are the Towns of Arnprior, Perth, Smith's Falls, Napanee, Gananoque, and the Villages of Merrickville, Newburg, and Newcastle.

In the Northern part of the Province considerable progress has already been made, and if the campaigns now on are successful, it will mean the entire cleaning up of large areas. Among other places voting are the Towns of Barrie, Bracebridge, Huntsville, Burk's Falls, Beaverton and Sutton.

There will not be much doing in the North Western part of the Province, the only fights being in the Villages of Port Elgin and Paisley and the Township of Albermarle.

The City of Guelph is however the centre of a hot fight. One of the strongest and best organizations in the Province is that of the Citizens' Committee in Guelph, and the campaign is being systematically carried on along practical lines. Present indications are that Guelph will swing into the dry column in January.

Just near Guelph, voting will take place in Guelph and Puslinch Townships, Erin and Drayton Villages.

Dufferin County has only three licenses. These are in the Village of Grand Valley, which place is looked upon by both parties as a strategic point, and will be the scene of a hard fought battle.

In Western Ontario the most interesting group of contests is that of the Township of Aldborough, with the Villages of Rodney, West Lorne, Wardsville, and the Town of Bothwell. If these places are successful it will mean a big white spot in the map of Elgin County.

The hottest place in the Province however is the County of Welland. Here a County Convention was held last spring, at which it was decided to bring on a fight in every municipality in the County as far as possible, with the result that ten municipalities will vote in January, including the Towns of Welland, Thorold, Port Colborne, and Bridgeburg, with the Townships of Thorold, Crowland, Humberstone, Stamford, Willoughby, and Bertie.

A striking feature of the campaign is the fewness of the attempts to repeal Local Option. Last year there were 111 municipalities in which repeal contests were possible, but in only 12 was the matter brought to a vote and only 2 by-laws were repealed. This year there are 128 municipalities in which Local Option by-laws have been in force for 3 years or more, and there repeal contests might be brought on. If the law were really a dismal failure, as its opponents prophesied it would be, it might naturally be supposed that at the first opportunity the people would get rid of it. But this year out of the 128 possible places repealing by-laws will be submitted in only 6. These are as follows :—

Ancaster Township, Colborne Village, Howick Township, Beverley Township, Goulburn Township, McKellar Township.

With the thorough organization that the Temperance forces seem to have, and the aggressive spirit that is characterizing the movement, the probability is a considerable addition to the dry area of the Province of Ontario after May next.

The places in which contests are taking place are :—

ORANGEVILLE'S CUT RATE DRUG STORE

T. J. BROWN Orangeville

THE LARGEST DRUG FIRM IN DUFFERIN

This is the store that saved you money last spring. We reduced our prices. Competitors to stay in the running had to do the same. We are going to reduce them again this fall and winter. You are going to be able to buy your drugs and drug store goods as cheaply at home this season as in the larger cities. We buy in large quantities. The manufacturers and wholesale houses give us bigger discounts for doing so. You reap the benefit. Remember, we underbuy and undersell any other drug store in the county. So it makes no difference what article you may see advertised by any of our competitors, that same article can be purchased at Brown's Cut Rate Drug Store for less money.

ALL GOODS ADVERTISED AT CUT RATE PRICES MUST BE CASH.

ANOTHER $200,000.

Lord Stratheona Makes a Further Grant to Fund for Physical Training.

Lord Strathcona has written to the Minister of Militia and Defence, Sir Frederick Borden, announcing a further gift of $200,000 to the Strathcona trust for the encouragement of physical and military training in the public schools of Canada. With the $300,000 which he gave for this purpose last year, this further generous gift brings the total of the fund up to the splendid sum of $500,000, and assures the committee in charge of the administration of the fund an annual amount of $20,000 to assist in the joint work of the Federal and Provincial Governments towards the establishment of a uniform system of physical and elementary military training for the youth of the Dominion.

In March of last year Lord Strathcona donated a first sum of $250,000 for this purpose. This was supplemented a little later by an additional $50,000. Now that the Minister of Militia has completed arrangements with nearly all the Provinces for the adoption of a scheme of co-operative action in the matter of making physical training and elementary military drill a part of the education of the boys and girls of Canada, Lord Strathcona has nearly doubled the central fund available for establishing the movement on a permanent and assured basis of success.

The Federal Government has taken over the whole amount from the trustees of the fund, and has guaranteed interest at four per cent. per annum, thus giving an annual amount of $20,000, to be administered by the Strathcona Trust Fund Board under the conditions of the original donation.

The object of the fund may be briefly set forth by a quotation from Lord Strathcona's letter on March 13, 1909, announcing his first gift of $250,000. His Lordship then wrote :

"My object is not only to help to improve the physical and intellectual capabilities of the children by inculcating habits of alertness, orderliness and prompt obedience, but also to bring up the boys in patriotism and to a realization that the first duty of a free citizen is to be prepared to defend his country. The Dominion at the present time, and for many years to come, can hardly hope to be able to give so long a period of training to her military forces as by itself would suffice to make them efficient soldiers, but if all the boys had acquired a fair acquaintance while at school with simple military drill and rifle-shooting, the degree of efficiency which could be reached in the otherwise short period which can be devoted to the military training of the Dominion forces would, in my opinion, be enormously enhanced. I will only add that I should prefer that for the present at least the whole of the money grant should be devoted to those educational establishments which are maintained entirely out of public funds. I think further that the administration of the fund should be such as to enable both sexes, whether teachers or pupils, to share in the rewards, and that the allotment of the money should be so made as to afford an inducement both to the teachers to instruct and to the pupils to perfect themselves in the training desired."

TEA CUP INVADES THE OFFICE

An Old Country Business Practice Making Headway In Toronto.

(Special From Toronto, Nov. 11th.)

A reporter called yesterday afternoon shortly before four o'clock on a department manager of one of Toronto's large industrial concerns and promptly at four o'clock a young lady brought in four cups of tea. The reporter was invited to partake of what proved a most delicious and refreshing beverage, and business being laid aside for a moment, the manager explained that a few months before he had been to England, where he had found the 4 o'clock tea custom practically universal among business houses. He had enjoyed it so much and it had seemed to fit in so well that after coming home he had adopted it in his own office. He said he always used Red Rose Tea because it had the fine flavor and smooth richness of some of the choicer kinds he had got in the old country.

Upon enquiry at the office of the Red Rose Tea Co., it was found that the practice had begun there only a few days ago, and that with their usual ambition to be a little ahead of the procession they served a cup of delicious tea, not only to every member of the office and warehouse staffs, but to every stranger who happened to be within the gates at the appointed hour. The tea is served to every one at his or her desk, the drinking occupying only a minute or two, and the tea is so deliciously refreshing and stimulating that the working efficiency of the staff is increased for the rest of the day.

The remarkable success of Red Rose Tea and the high esteem in which the firm is held by the trade throughout Canada is a striking tribute to the forceful and progressive business methods steadily pursued by Mr. T. H. Estabrooks of St. John, N. B., the proprietor of Red Rose Tea. This success has made Mr. Estabrooks a national figure in the tea business.

Do You Suffer from Piles?

If so, we would ask you to enquire amongst your friends the value of Zam-Buk for this ailment! You cannot but meet with some one who has proved how excellent it is.

Mr. H. E. Hill of Shevlin, Man., writes :—"I suffered a long time with piles and tried numerous remedies, but without effect. Having tried a sample of Zam-Buk and being encouraged by the result, I persevered, using two boxes. It worked like magic, and effected a complete cure in a very short time."

Mr. James Reddy of Killaloe, Ont., says :—"I suffered greatly from piles. The pain from these—as anyone who suffers from them will know—was almost unbearable. I tried first one remedy and then another, but all without effect. Then I heard about Zam-Buk and determined to give this wonderful balm a trial. I obtained a supply and commenced with the treatment, and to my great joy, after perseverance with Zam-Buk, I obtained permanent relief from the agonizing pain of the piles. Having been cured by Zam-Buk I heartily recommend the balm to all sufferers."

Zam-Buk also cures inflamed sores, eczema, scalp sores, ulcers, abscesses, cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, cuts, burns and all skin injuries and diseases. All druggists and stores sell at 50c box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse substitutes and imitations.

FOR STEALING A STOVE.

Two Jews named Saigel and Lessosky (we will not vouch for the spelling nor answer for the pronunciation) will be tried by His Honor, Judge McCarthy, on Monday, November 29th, on a charge of stealing a stove from Samuel Greer, of Mulmur. The Hebrews, it appears, bought some stoves which the Watt Milling & Feed Company, of Shelburne, had stored in a shanty near Greer's place. When they went to get them they made the unfortunate mistake of appropriating a stove of Greer's which was in a near-by building.

AN OPEN MEETING.

The ladies of LordDufferin Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, are arranging to hold an Open Meeting in the Oddfellows Hall on Friday night, November 25th, beginning at eight o'clock. ROBERT BRODDY DEAD.

Was Oldest Sheriff in Province of Ontario.

Robert Broddy, for forty-five years Sheriff of the County of Peel, died at his home in Brampton on Sunday evening at the age of 82 years. Mr. Broddy was born in the County of Peel and spent his whole life within its borders. As a young man he was Division Court clerk before the separation of York and Peel. He was appointed sheriff by the old Conservative Administration, and is said to be the last of the officials appointed prior to Confederation.

Possessed of excellent judgment, cautiousness and strict integrity he was for many years a central figure in the public and judicial life of the county and had the confidence of a very large percentage of the people. He was a member of the Methodist Church, foremost amongst the officials and active supporters of that body. He is survived by one daughter, wife of T. W. Duggan, manager of the Dale estate. The funeral was held from the family residence in Brampton on Tuesday afternoon. A public funeral service was held in Grace Church. Rev. Mr. Long, pastor of the church, presided, and eloquent tributes were paid to the worth of the departed man by Rev. W. F. Wilson and Rev. Dr. Speer, of Toronto. The pallbearers were Judge McGibbon, County Crown Attorney H. McFadden, Richard Blain, M. S. Charters, M.P.P., E. G. Grahame and County Treasurer Robt. Crawford.

MRS. ROBERT GRAY.

Mrs Robt. Gray, whose maiden name was Elizabeth Avison, was born in Yorkshire, England, in 1825. In 1845 she married Mr. Robert Gray and in 1850 they came to Ontario taking up their home in Guelph township where they resided four years. In 1855 they moved to Amaranth, settling on lot 14 in the 5th concession, where the deceased has lived until her departure from this life Oct. 21st, 1910, the homestead being occupied by her son, William and family. To Mr. and Mrs. Gray were born twelve children. William, Robert and Richard, reside at Laurel; Frank and Mrs. Stinson live in Orangeville; David and Mrs. Maharg and Mrs. Dobson reside in Michigan, and Mrs. Newstead in Chauvin, Alberta. Mr. Gray died thirteen years ago. Mrs. Gray was a life-long member of the Methodist church. She was a good neighbor and exceedingly kind and always gave cheerful aid in sickness or trouble. She was much beloved by all who knew her. Her funeral was conducted by Rev. T. R. White of the Methodist Church, assisted by Revs. A. E. Whittle, J. O. Johnston and J. R. Bell, and was very largely attended.—Com.

MRS. JAMES RIDDELL.

Mrs. James Riddell passed peacefully to her eternal reward at the family residence in Albion on Sunday morning, November 6th. She was among the oldest residents of the township of Albion having been born about the centre of the township about three-quarters of a century ago. The large number of friends who gathered on Tuesday of last week to pay a last tribute of respect to the memory of the departed gave evidence of the general esteem in which she was held. Few woman in the township were more widely or more favorably known. All who came in contact with her recognized the tenderness of her sympathies, and the genuineness of her religion, devotion and character. She was always a good neighbor, a faithful wife and a patient and devoted mother. Among the numerous floral tributes sent by sorrowing friends was a wreath from the Ladies' Aid of Shiloh Church, Cedar Mills, of which the late Mrs. Riddell was from girlhood's years a consistent and honored member. There came a little too late for the funeral a splendid wreath from the students of Alberta College, Edmonton, of which institution one of her sons is Principal. She leaves to mourn her loss one sister, Mrs. R. Shore, resident in Markdale, two daughters, Miss C. A. Riddell and Mrs. Sidney Thompson and six sons, James, of Tottenham; Hugh, of Asquith, Sask.; J. H., Principal of Alberta College, Edmonton; S. P., stationed at Abernethy, Sask.; William, ex-Reeve of Albion, and George, who reside on the old homestead. The remains were placed in the morgue at Laurel Hill cemetery on Tuesday and were interred in the family burying plot beside the last resting place of her husband and son, Dr. R. M. Riddell, on Thursday morning after the arrival of her son from Edmonton. The funeral services, which were of a simple and impressive character, were conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. E. Lunn, of Palgrave, and Rev. John Pepper, of West Toronto, a former pastor. A wide circle of friends and acquaintances join in expressing their sympathy with the relatives of the deceased and in honoring the name and memory of one who tried to live a useful and unselfish life.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mr. and Mrs. William Gray and family, of Laurel, desire to convey, through The Banner, their appreciation of the many expressions of sympathy that came to them from their many friends upon the decease of their beloved mother. The messages have helped to relieve very much the sense of loneliness that they feel since grandmother has gone from them.

"I SHOULD SMILE"

"Were you satisfied, Mr. Jones, with the last Overcoat you bought here?"

"Well, I should smile," replied Mr. Jones, "you see I'm wearing it this morning, and this is its third season. It wears like iron, but Mrs. Jones says I have to get something a little more dressy for special occasions. She saw one of those new meltons in your window the other morning at fifteen dollars. That looked good to me, so here I am."

We never have to wonder whether or not the customer will come back; it's only a question of time. The clothes are honest and they wear a long time, but when it's time for a change, Mr. Jones turns up bright and early for his new overcoat.

These Melton Overcoats Are The Kind

That will look "dressy" through more than one winter. The fast black dye in this fine English Melton will stand up to all kinds of weather, and the material will stay "smooth" without shining. These coats are cut in a single breasted Chesterfield style; they have raw edges, and a neat black velvet collar; lined with twilled mohair and haircloth; they make a warm as well as a rich-looking overcoat. Past Masters Night the Occasion of a Delightful Social Gathering.

Harris Lodge, No. 216, A. F. & A. M. held its annual Past Masters meeting on Tuesday night. The occasion was marked by an unusually large turnout of the members of the craft. The gathering included several visitors. Rt. W. Bro. J. A. V. Preston, past D.D.G.M. of Wellington Masonic District, occupied the chair and with the assistance of W. Bros. Dr. R. Meek, R. H. Robinson, C. R. McKeown, J. E. Smith, A. Hill and other Past Masters of the Lodge gave an excellent exemplification of the work of the Master Mason's degree. Refreshments were served in the banquetting hall at the close of the business meeting. An entertaining programme of toasts followed, Dr. W. H. Bowles, W. M. of Harris Lodge, presiding. "King and Craft" was honored by the company rising and singing "God Save the King." Rt. W. Bro. J. A. V. Preston responded in eloquent terms to "The Grand Lodge of Canada." "Past-masters of Harris Lodge," was coupled with the names of W. Bros. Meek, Hill, McKeown, Robinson and Smith. "The Officers of Harris Lodge" brought replies from W. Bro. Dr. Bowles, Bros. Sproule, Kilpatrick, Lugsdin, Dr. Carson and others of the present staff of officers. Bros. F. W. Ritchie and A. E. Annis replied to "The Newly Raised Candidate" and Dr. R. W. Rooney and Principal Firth responded to the toast to "The Visiting Brethren." "Auld Lang Syne" brought the festive gathering to a close shortly after the midnight hour.

A MOTHER'S PRAISE.

Mothers are always willing to shower their praises on a medicine that not only relieves their precious little ones from pain but removes the cause and keeps them well, bright, active and happy. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. No other medicine for little ones has received such praise from thousands of thankful mothers. These Tablets never fail to relieve the little ones from any of the many little ills that afflict them. Mrs. Thos. Hodgson, Riviere du Loup Station, Que., writes: "I always keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house and have given them to my two little ones with the best results. I always recommend them to my friends as they are a grand remedy." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A DEFENCE OF THE HAWK.

The mistaken impression of some people that hawks are a farmyard menace, upon which war should be waged, has been taken up by an Ottawa field naturalist who writes:

"While riding this morning about five miles out on the Montreal road, I noted five hawks, suspended prominently, in front of one of the farm houses, all dead. No doubt, this was the 'bag' probably of some youthful member of the family, who took this method of impressing his success or his skill upon his neighbors. I feel certain that the would-be sportsman and his family did not know how great an injury he was inflicting not upon himself alone but upon the whole neighborhood.

"Field mice are particularly plentiful this year and, no doubt, these hawks were attracted by the abundance of this, their favorite food. Unfortunately there exists a strong prejudice against hawks among farmers and farmers' wives on the supposition that they kill chickens. It is very true that, occasionally, when other food is very scarce, an exceptional hawk may venture into the barnyard and appropriate a small chicken. In a long experience on the farm, I never knew this to occur but once, and in talking to my farmer neighbors I find that nearly all of them have had this experience once in their lifetime, or they have heard of someone who had; but this one experience or this hearsay creates such a prejudice that it is almost impossible to convince farmers and farmers' wives that hawks are their best friends. They are infinitely better than cats as mice catchers, and practically do little or no damage otherwise.

"I will venture to say that hawks have not killed this year in the county of Carleton, chickens to the value of a $10 bill. On the other hand, their services as destroyers of mice and other vermin have been worth thousands of dollars. I think the press should assist in creating a sentiment in favor of the hawks, good friends to the farmers."

A sad accident happened to Mr. James McCutcheon, an aged farmer, living a few miles south of Brampton, the other day. Mr. McCutcheon had been ailing for some months, and in attempting to walk downstairs, was seized with a fainting spell and fell to the bottom. His neck was broken by the fall, and he lived only a few minutes after he was picked up. He is survived by a widow and one son. The funeral took place to Burnhamthorpe cemetery.

JOHN B. MILLIGAN DEAD.

This week we are called upon to record the death of John B. Milligan, Sr., which took place at the home of his son, Thos. Milligan, of Stoughton, Sask., on Friday morning, Oct. 21st, 1910. The deceased, who was 76 years and 7 months of age at the time of his death, was for many years a resident of Dufferin county, but in the fall of 1899 he moved to the West, where he had since lived. He was hale and hearty up to the time of his last illness from inflammation of the bowels, to which he succumbed in forty-eight hours. He had been living with his son, John, during the past summer, and had gone for a short visit to his son, Thomas, but he had only been there a few days when he took sick. He is survived by two sons and two daughters. The sons are John Milligan and Thos. Milligan of Stoughton, Sask. The daughters are Mrs. Ed. Cockeril, Lethbridge, Alta., and Mrs. Geo. Powers, of Moose Jaw, Sask. The funeral took place from the residence of his son, Thos. Milligan, on Monday, October 24th.—Free Press.

RAILROAD MAN DEAD.

John T. Thompson, one of the best known railroad men in Canada, passed away at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, a week ago Tuesday after a long illness at the ripe age of 77 years. His railroad experience dates back for fifty years. He was connected with the G.T.R. during the Fenian raid, and after serving this company for over twenty-five years, joined the old Credit Valley Railway and ran one of the first trains out of Toronto to Orangeville. His lafer work was with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and at the time of his death he was on the superannuation list. He is survived by three sons, Fred W., connected with the Central Press Agency, Toronto; John T., and James C., both of Chicago. He was a member of Zeta Lodge, A.F. & A.M.

DEATH OF MRS. JAMES RIDDELL.

After an illness of several months death came to Mrs. James Riddell, of Albion, a week ago Sunday morning. Mrs. Riddell had been a resident of the Cedar Mills district for a great many years, and was held in great esteem by a large circle of friends. She was long a member of the Methodist Church and leaves as a remembrance the example of a consistent Christian life. She is survived by two daughters and four sons:—Wm. N., George and Charlotte at home; Mrs. S. M. Thompson, of Tullamore; Rev. S. P., of Abernethy, Sask., and Rev. Professor John Riddell, of Edmonton University. The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon to Laurel Hill cemetery, service being conducted by Rev. A. E. Lunau, of Palgrave, and Rev. Mr. Pepper, a former pastor of deceased.

SAINTLY FACES.

Sometimes, in passing through a crowd, we see a face that attracts us by its sweetness of expression. Perhaps it is an old face, crowned with a glory of hoary hairs; yet love, joy, and peace shine out of every dot and wrinkle in it. Sometimes it is a young face that beams with health and purity and beauty. But whether old or young, when we see that unmistakeable soul-light in a face, we know the heart behind it is pure, the life good, and that the body thus illuminated is the temple of the Holy Spirit.

To keep the mind occupied with good, pure, useful, beautiful and divine thoughts precludes any possibility of thinking about, and thus being tempted by, things sinful, low, or gross. It is because Paul knew this that he says so earnestly: "Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, ... think on these things." In the well-formed habit of thinking pure thoughts lies the secret of being pure in heart; and in the daily and nightly meditation on the law of the Lord as a safeguard against many of the sins which defile the carnal heart and debase and blacken the human countenance.—Ex.

USEFULNESS OF MERE EXERCISE.

Active, energetic service is not always the way to power. Exercise builds up health only when it is carried on under right conditions. If a man exercises vigorously in a place where he cannot breathe pure air, and without taking nourishing food, he is not going to thrive for long. So of our service for Christ. Many a Christian worker who is keeping busy in various forms of good works seven days in the week wonders why there do not follow the spiritual results that should be expected, and why a growing power in the life that is kept so busy does not appear. The reason may be found in a lack of nourishing spiritual food and of "deep breathing exercises" in pure spiritual oxygen. In other words, we must take time, much time, to feed upon God's Word in personal meditative Bible study, and to breathe the spiritual life through unhurried times of private prayer, personal and intercessory, if we would gain by our exercise and activities in the service of the Kingdom. If this intaking of power fresh from God has not a prominent place in our daily programme, we must not expect our energy go of service for Him to count for much.

A horse belonging to drayman Frank Hind, of Durham, became frightened at a passing automobile, its nose started to bleed and despite all that could be done to stop the flow of blood the animal bled to death.

Concrete Sidewalks are Safe, Sightly and Everlasting

LUMBER used in damp places and on wet ground—as, for instance, in walks—has a very short life. It requires almost constant repairing and, in a few years, needs replacing.

Concrete, on the other hand, improves with age, and the very dampness which destroys lumber calls out the best qualities of the cement by making it harder and harder—until neither time nor traffic can affect it.

The best of wooden walks keep getting out of repair, and are a continual menace to life and limb. They are also a frequent source of expensive doctor bills and lost time. Then again, they are likely to eat up the original cost in repairs before they are replaced.

Concrete walks are sightly, everlasting and safe. They cost less to build and need no repairing nor painting.

Write for our free book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete."

It tells in plain, simple language, how you can save money on farm construction by using cement for Barns, Dairies, Foundations, Fence Posts, Troughs, Feeding Floors, Hitching Posts, Stalls, Silos, Stairs, and so forth. The Book is well illustrated with photographs, plans and diagrams. Fill out the coupon or send a postal to-day.

The next time you don't feel just right, let us buy a 50 cent bottle of Psychine from your druggist to give you to cure your indisposition and prevent worse ailments.

This being ill is curious business.

It usually commences in a subtle fashion, almost unconsciously.

Yet if you do not check your illness, it grows and grows.

And one fine day you find you're sick.

The greatest scavengers of the body are the white corpuscles, or phagocytes in the blood.

These white corpuscles attack and eat up every germ of disease that invades the body.

That is when they are strong enough and in sufficient numbers.

If they're not strong enough, then they wage an unequal warfare until they are finally overcome by their more powerful enemies.

The body becomes steadily sicker and sicker until actual disease sets in.

Now, we have had all sorts of so-called cures.

And a great many people have seriously endangered their health experimenting with them.

But years ago—before even science was able to tell we had the right treatment for disease—viz., herbs, nature's own remedies.

Now that science can tell to an absolute certainty, we know why certain herbs cure disease.

Because they strengthen and increase the white corpuscles or phagocytes.

A third of a century ago Psychine made remarkable cures.

To-day it is making remarkable cures.

In the interim, millions of bottles of Psychine have been sold.

Hundreds of thousands of people made well and kept well.

Why?

Because Psychine is largely made up of these herbs that scientists now know increase and strengthen the white corpuscles, the phagocytes.

That's why we have received hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials, that's why we can afford to buy and give away hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine, that's why Psychine benefits these diseases:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anæmia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and	Laryngitis and
Nervous Troubles	Dyspepsia
After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effects of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which you pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner, hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

DECREASE IN RURAL POPULATION.

Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, makes the statement that whereas ten years ago the rural population of Ontario was about sixty per cent. of the entire population of the province, it is at the present time only about forty per cent. Between 1898 and 1908 there was an actual decrease of 69,000 in the rural population, while the population of the towns and cities increased 306,818. The increase in the cities is undoubtedly due to some extent to migration from the farms, but after all it is only possible to account for a small part of the increase in this way. It is a well-known fact that during the past decade at any rate the migratory movement from the rural parts of this province has been to the Canadian West rather than to the cities. The lure of cheap lands and broad wheat fields has drawn thousands of its sons and daughters from the farms of old Ontario to the broad prairies of the growing West. Another factor that has contributed to the decrease in rural population is the growing use of modern, labor-saving machinery, which has to a very large extent displaced the farm laborer of a generation ago. The laborer was very often a married man, who occupied a house, had an acre of land and reared a family on his employer's farm. He has almost disappeared to-day and the population of rural Ontario is just so much sparser. Labor-saving machinery has also made it possible for the average farmer to work more land than he could under the old conditions. As a result two hundred, three hundred and even four hundred acre farms are comparatively common nowadays. The farmer works these with the amount of help that was required on the one hundred acre farm before the advent of the self-binder, hay-loader, hay fork and other implements of this class. While the decrease in our country population is a matter for regret it is largely the result of natural conditions. Similarly with the growth of the cities and larger towns, the settlement of the West and the expansion and increasing wealth of older Canada have brought in their wake a tremendous expansion in the manufacturing industries of the province. The growth of these manufactures has created a market for labor at good wages and this has drawn to our cities thousands of the working classes from the congested centres of population in Great Britain and also from the peoples of the Southern Europe. Russian Jews, Italians, Macedonians and Greeks are coming to Canada in increasing numbers every year. They find ready employment in railway construction or the varied industries of cities like Toronto and Montreal and help swell the numbers of Canada's fast growing urban population. There are not a few writers in the press who profess alarm at the decrease of rural population. Their apprehensions may be well-founded, but after all does not the great danger arise from the heavy influx of foreigners into the cities? Poor in means, with little or no education, unaccustomed to responsible government and knowing nothing of Canadian ideals and standards, the problem of Canadianizing this crude material presents many grave difficulties and imposes a heavy task.

THE TOWN COUNCIL

By-Law Passed for Execution of Street Lighting Agreement.

Mayor Riddell, Reeve Arnott, Deputy-Reeve Campbell and Couns. Curry, Fairburn and Hill were in attendance at the regular meeting of the Town Council on Monday night. The business transacted was nearly all of a routine character. Two by-laws were introduced and given their several readings. One of them authorized the Mayor and Clerk to execute the agreement with the Dufferin Light and Power Company for the street lighting. The other authorized the execution of a deed to the Orangeville Lawn Bowling Club of the strip of ground lying between the bowling green and John St.

The following accounts were passed:—Constable Ewing, $28.50 for winter overcoat, etc.; H. Endacott, $14.40; M. H. Denton & Co., $22.50; Jos. Ogston, $6; Robert Allen, $6.10; Wm. Dedrick, $4.35; James A. Matthews, $30.90 R. & B. and $1.10 W. W. maintenance.

A complaint from James Hayes respecting taxes was referred to the Court of Revision for consideration.

NORTH ERIN PRESENTATION.

Last Wednesday night a number of the members and adherents of North Erin Presbyterian Church gathered at the home of Mr. Andrew Clark and presented their organist, Miss Ida Clark, with an address, a handsome rocker and a set of china. Miss Maggie Reid read the address and the Misses Kannawin made the presentation. Miss Clark replied briefly, thanking the people of North Erin for their kindness and expressing her sorrow over the severance of the happy relations that had so long existed. Short addresses were afterwards delivered by Messrs. S. Kannawin, Jos. Carroll and Robert Rowan. Refreshments were then served and the remainder of the evening was happily spent in music, games and other amusements. Miss Clark has been organist in the North Erin Church for a number of years, but has been obliged to resign owing to the removal of her family to Orangeville.

SCHOOL ENTERTAINMENT.

A number from town attended the Sunday School entertainment given in the Union School on the Caledon-East Garafraxa townline on Friday night. The building was crowded to capacity limit. An excellent programme of dialogues, readings and recitations was provided by the children, assisted by Messrs. Percy Harding and Herbert Robinson, of Orangeville, who contributed some capital songs, and Mr. and Miss McGill, of Erin, whose piano and dulcimer selections were greatly appreciated. Mr. H. Endacott performed the duties of chairman in a pleasing manner. Mr. James Black, the genial superintendent of the school, spoke briefly. The proceeds were about $30.

Contract Completed.

Agreement Executed Between Town of Orangeville and Dufferin Light and Power Company.

New Contract Protects Private Users and Provides for Electric Power for Manufacturing Purposes.

The street lighting agreement between the Town of Orangeville and the Dufferin Light & Power Company has been executed by both parties and is now a binding contract. At a meeting of the Directors of the Dufferin Light and Power Company on Tuesday, November 8th, a motion was passed authorizing the President and Secretary-Treasurer to accept and properly endorse the agreement made on July 28th last. Last Monday night the Town Council passed a by-law ratifying the agreement and authorizing Mayor Riddell and the Town Clerk to sign it on behalf of the Corporation.

The contract runs for a period of five years, dating from December 2nd, 1910. The town agrees to pay $1560 a year for the street lighting. The streets will be illuminated by 109 Tungsten lamps of the following candle power:—12 of 100 c. p., 64 of 80 c. p., and 33 of 50 c. p. In addition the contract calls for 25 lights of at least 16 c. p. each for the Town Hall, Fire Hall and Engineer's residence, 7 lights of at least 16 c. p. each for the Band Stand on Alexandra Park and all the lights required to illuminate the Public Library Building, inside and outside, including the Council Chamber.

The Company agrees to supply any additional tungsten lamps that the town may require for street lighting, including bracket, wire and other necessary equipment for $15.60 a year, taking an 80 candle power lamp as the standard. All street lamps are to be lighted continuously from sunset until sunrise every night in the year. The lamps are to be placed from 16 to 20 feet above the ground, mounted on goose neck brackets or suspended in the centre of the street by a wire cable and must have metal reflectors of the radial type not less than 18 inches in diameter. The Company undertakes to change the location of any lights which the corporation requires to be moved at the actual cost of making the change. Provision is made for an abatement computed on the basis of $15.60 per 80 c. p. lamp for all lights that are not lighted or in operation, no matter what the cause may be.

The contract protects private users in that it obliges the Company to furnish them with electric current at stipulated prices. The prices are:—

Private houses 10c. per 1000 watts, less discount of 10 per cent. if paid within 15 days after the delivery of the bill; renewals to be free unless rendered necessary by the wilful act or neglect of the customer.

Business places 10c. per 1000 watts; renewals to be free, unless rendered necessary by the wilful act or neglect of the customer.

The contract also binds the Company to furnish not less than 100 horse power for manufacturing purposes between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p.m. each day in the year except Sundays. The prices for current used for power are specified as follows:

Power for constant load, 10 hours per day, 300 days a year, for one kilowatt and up to five kilowatts, 2 cents per kilowatt hour; for five kilowatts and up to ten kilowatts 1½c. per kilowatt hour, ten kilowatts and up to twenty-five kilowatts 1½c. per kilowatt hour, twenty-five kilowatts and up to forty kilowatts 1½c. per kilowatt hour, for forty kilowatts or more, 1 cent per kilowatt hour. Rates for intermittent loads are to be subject to special agreement.

In the event of the failure of the Company to supply light and power to private consumers in the manner provided the Corporation has the option of cancelling the entire street lighting agreement.

In the event of a breakdown the Company is released from its obligation to light the streets for a period of ten days and liable to a penalty of $25 a day thereafter up to thirty days, when either of the parties shall be at liberty to cancel the contract. Should the breakdown arise from fire or a break in the dam, the exemption period is extended to twenty days with a subsequent liability of $50 a day for damages.

The contract stipulates that no current is to be carried on wires having more than 3000 volts. The placing of poles, etc., is subject to the direction of the Streets Committee or such other Committee as may be appointed by the Council.

MORRIS—MORRISON.

The marriage of Mr. Conrad West Morris, of the Ontario Diamond Co., Toronto, formerly of Amherst, N.S., and Miss Margaret Morrison, youngest daughter of Mrs. James Morrison, of Alton, was quietly solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Morris, 104 Hallam St., Toronto, on Saturday, November 12th, at 3.30 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Eckley, pastor of Westmoreland Methodist Church officiating. The bride, who was unattended, was given away by her cousin, Mr. W. M. Morris. A dainty wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony, the bride and groom leaving subsequently on a short trip to Niagara Falls, Buffalo, and the latter's home at Alton. The bride is a popular young lady, and the good wishes of her many friends at Alton and in Orangeville are extended to the newly wedded couple. Mr. and Mrs. Morris will take up their residence on Arthur St.

Peel Executive Called

Officers of Conservative Association Will Meet Next Tuesday to Select Successor to late Sheriff Broddy.

Race Appears to be Between Henderson and Jackson, With Former the Probable Winner.

President Robert McCulloch, of Snelgrove, has notified the members that a meeting of the Executive of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the County of Peel will be held in Brampton on Tuesday, November 29th, for the purpose of recommending a candidate for the office of Sheriff. There are forty-two men on the Executive Committee and it is a pretty safe hazard that everyone of them will be at the meeting, for the prospective appointment has aroused wide-spread interest. There are easily a score of candidates for the office, which is worth from $1200 to $1400 a year. Several of the applicants are making a vigorous canvass, and each of them will be badly disappointed if he does not land the prize. As intimated in last week's issue Mr. S. A. Egan, of Bolton, is one of the men who hopes to fill the exalted and dignified position of Sheriff of Peel in the not distant future. Egan is putting up a brisk fight for the job, but if reports are to be relied upon is finding himself rather badly handicapped by circumstances which were alluded to in our article in last week's issue. His loyalty to the party candidate, Mr. Charters, at the last Ontario election has been brought into question and he will be fortunate indeed if his reported lukewarmness, or worse, on that occasion does not cost him the position he is so anxious to fill. Mr. Egan is also handicapped by the fact that the township of Albion — the arena of most of his municipal battles and triumphs and the place to which he is naturally looking for support at the present time—has a candidate of its own in the person of Mr. Nathan Henderson, of Palgrave. Mr. Henderson, who is treasurer of Albion township, has an attractive, agreeable personality, has the reputation of being a shrewd and energetic party campaigner and is one of the outstanding Tories of his township. He is said to be popular with the electorate regardless of political leanings and his appointment would be very acceptable to the people of Albion. A strong point in Mr. Henderson's favor is the fact that Albion has not been given any of the Provincial appointments since the Whitney Government took office. The registrar, Mr. Robt. Johnston, ex-M.P. for Cardwell, and the gaoler, Mr. W. L. Wilson, are both Caledon men, as is Mr. S. Barber, one of the License Commissioners. License Inspector Orr, who has one of the most important offices in the gift of the Government, is from Toronto Township. Brampton, the county town, is the home of the two members for the constituency, and has a goodly quota of office-holders as well, so that Albion Conservatives cannot see why the Shrievalty should not fall to an Albion man. If it does come to Albion they emphatically want Henderson to get the appointment. Albion has seven representatives on the executive and, with possibly a single exception, these will all be Henderson men from start to finish. Mr. Henderson will, in all probability, have a solid delegation from Caledon township, despite the candidature of ex-Reeve Thos. Wilson of the latter municipality. Everton Barber, convenor for the Alton ward, is a nephew of Henderson, and Dave Henderson, the Belfountain convenor, is a brother. These men will naturally support the Palgrave aspirant, and it is reported on what seems good authority that the other Caledon convenors are either pledged or favorably disposed to his candidature. Henderson will also get Bolton support should Egan be dropped and will poll several votes from the lower half of the county. Frank Jackson, of Toronto Township, is another strong candidate. Jackson expects to get the bulk of the Toronto Township and Toronto Gore votes and is counting on the influence of his father, James Jackson, of Bramptom, a onetime defeated candidate for Peel, to get him the county town and part of the Chinguacousy vote. Jackson, Sr., is said to have had designs on the job himself, but appears to have relinquished his claim in favor of his son, whose candidature he is vigorously supporting. Other men, whose names will probably come before the Executive, are Constable Geo. Broddy, a nephew of the late Sheriff, W. S. Morphy, a Brampton barrister, Major Kennedy, of Dixie, ex-Reeve Wilson, of Caledon, Ralph Crawford, Chinguacousy, W. S. Goodison, of Streetsville, and W. C. Young, a former manager of the Merchants' Bank in Brampton. The real fight, however, appears to be between Henderson, Jackson, and possibly Egan, with the odds in favor of Henderson.

The Albion, Caledon and Bolton members of the Executive are:—

Albion—Mono Mills, Geo. Patterson; Palgrave, N. Henderson; Castlederg, Geo. Downey; Lockton, J. Taylor; Macville, Geo. McKee; Bolton Station, Alex. McCort; Caledon East, W. L. Judge.

Caledon—Alton, E. D. Barber; Cataract, James Hilliard; Charleston, Geo Hilliard; Melville Cross, Wm. Stubbs; Mono Mills, James Duke; Belfountain D. Henderson; Inglewood, Jas. Scott; Caledon East, Geo. W. Berney.

Bolton—A. A. McFaul.

NOTHING DOING THIS YEAR.

The County Council spent most of yesterday afternoon discussing a county system of good roads. Several of the members were strongly in favor of taking up the system, but most of the speakers seemed to hold the opinion that the scheme would be unpopular among the ratepayers of the townships. A motion was finally passed against any action at the present time.

MONO CENTRE.

(Intended for last week.)

Mono Centre again.

The threshing season was brought to a close in this vicinity this week.

Wedding bells are ringing in our midst.

Mr. Frank Halbert spent Sunday with Granger friends.

The Third line has been adorned by a well-built tile bridge constructed by Wm. Ewing, James Ewing and Jas. McCutcheon.

Quite a number attended the anniversary services in Hockley Methodist Church last Sunday.

A meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held in Relessey Church on Thursday at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Bobbie Peacock, one of Relessey's young men, left on Monday for Glencairn, where he intends learning the operating.

Mr. J. J. Aikens spent Sunday as the guest of Miss Hazel Moffitt, of Glencross, then journeyed to Hockley Church in the evening, accompanied by his fair maiden.

Mr. Cecil Holmes spent Sunday with friends on the 6th line.

We wonder what takes Ernest Arthur north.

Mr. James Holmes is contemplating a trip to France in the near future. Jimmie will be greatly missed by his Relessey friends.

Mr. Bobbie Holmes thinks Bachelors' Hall is the best.

Alex. Ross entertained a number of his friends to a fowl supper at Ira Allen's Thursday evening.

Turnbull's Underwear for ladies and children at Ritchie's.

MARSVILLE.

The social, which was given under the auspices of the Marsville Branch Women's Institute in the school on Friday evening, proved a very successful affair. The evening was fine and the building was filled to its utmost capacity. The programme was interesting throughout, and those who took part are deserving of every praise. Recitations were given by Leonard Edwards and Mamie McGowan. A thanksgiving exercise by 7 little girls was well given. Mrs. Black and Mrs. Cole, of Orton, gave a duet and proved themselves excellent entertainers. The scarf drill by 12 girls was well done and showed skilful training. The choruses by the younger members of the society and the male quartette were also well rendered. The play, "Why We Never Married," given by seven old maids and seven old bachelors, proved amusing. The maids were attired in antique costume and the audience could form some idea of the style in the last century. The bachelors were also in disguise and did their part well. Mr. Thos. Palmer also contributed to the evening's entertainment and rendered a few selections on the mouth organ. The receipts were nearly $34, which is considered good, as the admission was only 15c. After the programme lunch was served and the large crowd dispersed feeling highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Early Friday morning of last week there passed to the Great Beyond a well-known resident of this vicinity in the person of Mrs. William Warnock. She had not been enjoying good health for some time and last summer spent a month in Portland, Oregon. Early this fall she became worse and her severe suffering was borne with patience and christian fortitude. She was 49 years of age, and was the oldest daughter of the late Martin Haws. Besides a husband she leaves two brothers—Horace, of Duluth, and Daniel, of the 11th con., East Garafraxa, a sister, Mrs. Hugh McGowan, of Asquith, Sask., a half-brother, Wm. Haws, of the 12th con., East Garafraxa, and a half-sister, Mrs. Jas. Edwards of this village. The funeral took place on Monday to Price's burying ground. The service was conducted by Rev. R. S. Scott.

Revival services are being conducted this week in the Disciple Church. Rev. G. F. Assiter, of Collingwood, is the speaker, and is assisted by the pastor, Rev. S. Munroe.

Mr. Albert Jestin, of Red Deer, Alberta, is visiting relatives in this vicinity. It is 16 years since he left these parts. He spent the first years in Minnesota before going to Alberta.

Mrs. Geo. Simpson spent last week with friends in Toronto and Hamilton.

Mrs. Wm. Donaldson represented the Marsville Branch at the Women's Institute Convention held in Toronto last week.

WHITTINGTON.

The concert given under the auspices of Rich Hill Loyal Orange Lodge in their hall on Tuesday evening was very successful. The Order is to be commended for their enterprise in giving such a concert. Dr. Campbell, of Grand Valley, occupied the chair in his usual style. Addresses were given by Mr. Wm. J. Hamilton, Master of the Lodge, Mr. John S. Spence, Rev. T. R. White, of Laurel, and Rev. G. A. Rix, of Orangeville. Mr. J. H. Cameron, the well-known and popular entertainer, delighted the audience with his songs and clever character sketches. Miss Wright, of Orangeville, was pianist.

CAMILLA.

Miss Birdie Curry entertained a number of her Orangeville friends last Tuesday evening.

Miss Rice, an Orangeville High School student, and her brother, of Owen Sound, spent Sunday at Mr. Robt. South's.

Miss Lucilla Marshall is visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Myrtle Kyles has been visiting Orangeville friends for several days.

Rev. W. A. Ross, a Knox College student, preached to a large congregation here last Sunday.

The induction of Rev. A. J. Fowlie, lately of Waubaushene, to the charges at Camilla and Mono Centre, is to take place the last day of November at Camilla.

Mrs. Wm. Henry visited Toronto friends last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith, of Detroit, are visiting their daughter, Mrs. John Buchanan. They intend remaining on the Canadian side for some time.

Mr. Alex. Buchanan spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Robert South.

ROSEMONT.

Our farmers have made good use of the snow.

The Connor Bros. expect it will take them until 'Xmas to finish threshing.

Miss Aggie McDowell is visiting Primrose friends.

Messrs Percy Ladd and Edgar Moore are cutting wood at Fred. Wake's, Violet Hill. Fred. says he thinks he will take the boys up to see some of his Whitfield girls.

We see W. G. Newton's smiling face passing through our village heading for Eden Valley. Look out Willie George! you are apt to get "Nabbed."

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McNabb and Miss White, of Shelburne, spent Sunday at John McNabb's.

Mrs. Simpson, of Lisle, is visiting at Alex. McDowell's.

Rev. J. N. Blodgett has organized the Young Men's Bible Class for the winter. They meet every Wednesday night at the rectory. All the young men are welcome.

Miss Etta McNabb, who has spent the past month at Mr. John McNabb's, has returned home to Shelburne. Miss Laura McNabb returned with her.

Miss Graham, of Alliston, spent a few days last week visiting Miss Maggie Armstrong.

Mrs. John Murphy is visiting her daughter, Mrs. A. Fleming, at Kilsyth.

GRANGER.

Splendid sleighing around our burg.

Mr. Geo. Lindsay has returned from the West.

Miss Flossie Hunter, of Mulmur Corners, is visiting her friend, Miss Etta Algie.

Messrs W. G. Newton and W. Brett have returned from Muskoka, each bringing a fine deer.

We are glad to hear Mr. Wm. Kendrew, of Primrose, is improving.

Miss Aggie McDowell, of Rosemont, visited in this vicinity last week.

Mr. Robert McKenzie, of Shelburne, spent Sunday at his home here.

Mrs. R. H. and Mr. A. B. Galbraith spent Sunday at W. N. Fines'.

Everybody from this section attended the tea-meeting and lecture in the Methodist church on Monday evening and all report a splendid time.

Specialist Could Not Remove Stone In The Bladder

GIN PILLS PASSED IT

Jotimrry, P.Q.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them all the rest of my life". 46

A PRACTICAL SURPRISE PARTY.

Miss McLachlan, who has conducted a grocery and confectionery business on 1st. Street for several months, was treated to a pleasant surprise Tuesday night, when a number of the members of St. Andrew's Church gathered at her store and announced their intention of helping her to move her stock to the larger and more commodious premises, which she recently leased on Broadway. Messrs White and White, our popular 'bus and dray men, generously placed one of their drays at the disposal of the workers and, with the assistance thus furnished, the stock was speedily transferred to Miss McLachlan's new premises. The stalwart form of Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of the church, was conspicuous among the helpers and our informant avers that the rev. gentleman excelled himself on the heavy lifts. Let that be as it will, we can state that the pastor of St. Andrew's church is never so happy as when helping in some good work and was therefore doubtless entirely at home among the voluntary workers on Tuesday night. When the transfer was nearly completed, Miss McLachlan got back at her helpers by first thanking them for their kind assistance and then asking them to do her the honor of partaking of some refreshments in her lunch room. The invitation was accepted in the spirit in which it was given and soon the Company was enjoying the delights of an excellent oyster supper. A few months ago Miss McLachlan embarked in business in Orangeville, with many misgivings as to the probable outcome of her modest venture. Her business has expanded beyond all expectations and, in the more commodious place which she now occupies should continue to prosper. The new store is in the premises, formerly occupied by S. Merlina, fruiterer. The store has been repapered and fitted up with tungsten lights, and Miss McLachlan has installed a telephone for the convenience of her customers.

Is Your Loaf Like This?

IF your flour is of the right quality, it ought to produce uniformly good bread. When the loaf comes out of the oven it ought to be appetizing and inviting in appearance. The crust should be crisp, tender and sweet as a nut. The pores of the bread should be regular showing uniform expansion by the yeast and every loaf should be light, plump and should expand over the top of the pan. Bread made from Ogilvie's always comes up to the highest standard of excellence when made right. It is always uniform, and good to look at as well as good to eat.

Summer and winter, day after day, month after month, "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" is milled by exactly the same process from exactly the same standard uniform grade of the best Red Fyfe wheat. And this uniformity is guaranteed by rigid safe-guarding tests at the mills before the flour is shipped.

Get ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR from your grocer and stick to it.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook", with 125 pages of recipes that have been tried and tested, will be sent free if you will send us your address and mention the name of your dealer. 38

FAILINGS OF GREAT MEN.

Physical Disabilities Are Very Frequent Among Men of Genius.

The face of Oliver Cromwell was disfigured with moles, pimples and warts. He must have been very proud of them however, for when his portrait was being painted by Sir Peter Lely he swore he would not pay for it unless these facial disfigurements were quite plainly shown.

Hogarth, the famous painter, had a prominent scar on his forehead, which was the result of an accident in his early days. He made this appear more prominent in a portrait of himself which he painted with his own hand.

The great Napoleon was subject to epileptic seizures, one of which it has been said, lost him the battle of Waterloo.

Lord Byron, who was otherwise a magnificent specimen of a man, had a club-foot of which he was anything but proud. If, however, it detracted from his appearance and hindered locomotion, it did not hamper his genius. Byron was possessed of a morbid fear of going out of his mind.

Indeed, all poets are said to be more or less mad. Cowper was certainly subject to fits of lunacy as was likewise Chatterton, who killed himself in a fit of derangement. The same is true of Rousseau, Cervantes, Southey and Swift.

Alexander Pope was a humpback, with a very caustic tongue, which once resulted in his being as good as told that he was "a crooked little thing that asks impudent questions."

Throughout his life Sir Walter Scott could only walk with a limp. As a boy he was afflicted with paralysis, which left him permanently lame.

The late James Payn, the novelist, was extremely deaf, in which respect he resembled Edison, the world renowned electrician and inventor.

Milton was totally blind when he produced the masterpiece of his marvelous genius. From his youth up he suffered acutely from gout which was the primary cause of the loss of his eyesight.

As anybody could gather from his works, Thomas Carlyle was a chronic dyspeptic. A state of irritation appears to have been his normal condition, and, although in the absence of his peculiar ailment, he might have been a far more amiable being, his writings would certainly have lost some of their most prominent characteristics.

Like Demosthenes, Charles Kingsley was afflicted with stuttering, but he did not cure himself of the failing as did the famous Athenian orator by practising speaking with pebbles in his mouth.

Perhaps the most famous of European surgeons was also the most nervous. This was Billroth, of Vienna, whose hands were subject to violent trembling. But he operated with such celerity that his hand had no opportunity of trembling.

THE PEOPLE'S RAILWAY.

Mr. Bugg, one of the promoters of the People's Railway projected to run from Guelph to Arthur, and possibly on up to Collingwood or some other Georgian Bay port, together with Mr. Robarts, Manager of the Imperial Bank, Fergus, paid Grand Valley a flying visit one night lately. A number of business men came into touch with the two gentlemen who explained the workings of the company. The promoters keep all the common stock, selling the preferred stock, bearing interest of 7 per cent. to the municipalities through which the road runs at the rate of $3,000 per mile, while villages, towns and cities are asked to contribute from the amount of $10,000 up, according to size. From the Arthur-Collingwood line, it is proposed to run a line down the 2nd concession of Luther, to Grand Valley, Orangeville, and on down the 6th line of Peel to Toronto. Mr. Bugg promised to come back to Grand Valley and discuss the matter at greater length at a future date. Six municipalities will vote next January on the money by-law in connection with the People's Railway. The amounts to be voted on by the various townships and towns are as follows:—Proton township, $36,000; Luther township, $30,000; Garafraxa township, $25,000; Arthur, $20,000; Fergus, $20,000; and Elora $15,000.—Star & Vidette.

SCIENCE CURES THE KIDNEYS

THROUGH "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

The Famous Medicine Made of Fruit Juices

After careful consideration, it has been determined that "Fruit-a-tives" is a thoroughly scientific remedy. It is based on scientific facts and it cures in a scientific manner.

In fact "Fruit-a-tives" is known to be the most scientific remedy ever discovered for Kidney and Bladder Troubles. Mr. Placey thinks so, and his experience proves it:

Ulverton, P.Q., March 17th.

I suffered for many years with Kidney Trouble and Pain in the Back. I took every known kidney remedy and kidney pill, but nothing gave me relief. I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives," and this fruit medicine cured me when every other remedy failed. I used fifteen boxes of "Fruit-a-tives." From the first, "Fruit-a-tives" gave me relief and I am now well—no pain, no suffering—and every symptom of Kidney Disease gone.

CLARENCE J. PLACEY.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

YOU TAKE NO RISK.

Our Reputation and Money are Back of This Offer.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. Could anything be more fair to you? Is there any reason why you should hesitate to put our claims to a practical test?

The most scientific commonsense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. They are very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

We urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

HOUSE THE IMPLEMENTS.

The manager of a large implement concern recently stated, that he believed the wear and tear of machinery on a modern-sized farm amounted to at least $100 a year. He further stated that although the situation suited him to perfection, this loss could be reduced fully 50 per cent. if farmers would properly house their implements. A good implement shed, which would fully protect the machinery from the weather, can be built for $500. If $50 were saved, this would mean a return of 10 per cent. on the money invested in the shed; and in most cases the returns will be over 10 per cent.

Builds you up and makes you strong

How do you feel to-day? Not quite right? Energy a little below standard—not strong enough to make much exertion?

NYAL'S COD LIVER COMPOUND

is what you need. Don't get frightened about these words "Cod Liver." You'd never know it from the taste. It's a real tonic, containing cod liver extract, extract of malt, wild cherry and hypophosphites—a splendid combination. The cod liver extracts build you up—so does the extract of malt. The wild cherry soothes the bronchial tract and the hypophosphites supply phosphorus to the nervous system—just the thing it needs. And the taste is pleasant. As an all 'round tonic, strength restorer and body-builder you'll find nothing better than Nyal's Cod Liver Compound—so why look further? You will be pleased. The price is One Dollar.

WHEN TO CRY.

There are millions of little boys and girls in the world who want to do just the right thing and the very best thing. But they do not always know just what the right thing is, and sometimes they cannot tell the very best thing from the very worst thing.

Now, I have often thought that there are little boys and girls who cry, now and then, at the wrong time; and I have asked many of the older people, but none of them could tell me the best time to cry.

But the other day I met a man older and wiser than any of the rest. He was very old and very wise, and he told me:

"It was bad luck to cry on Monday.

"To cry on Tuesday makes red eyes.

"Crying on Wednesday is bad for children's heads and for the heads of older people.

"It is said that if a child begins to cry on Thursday he will find it hard to stop.

"It is not best for children to cry on Friday. It makes them unhappy.

"Never cry on Saturday. It is too busy a day.

"Tears shed on the Sabbath are salt and bitter.

"Children should on no account cry at night. The nights are for sleep.

"They may cry whenever else they please, but not at any of these times, unless it is for something serious."

I wrote down the rules just as the old man gave them to me. Of course, they will be of no use to boys and girls who are past six, for those children do not cry. The wise man meant for the little ones—the millions of the little boys and girls who want to do the right thing and the very best thing.—St. Nicholas.

TEACHER'S NERVES.

Teachers often have the reputation of being cross when the trouble is with the nerves rather than the disposition. Mr. A. Sutherland, Principal South Bar School, Sydney, N. S., writes: "I was nervous and worried, had indigestion and headache. Doctors failed me. You can depend on me to recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food for I believe it has entirely cured me." Tired brains and feeble nerves are soon restored by this celebrated food cure.

GEORGE W. DALE.

Untimely Death of a Popular Dundalk Young Man.

With deep sorrow we have to report the death of George W. (Bud) Dale, whose demise took place after a lingering illness, on Friday morning. Two years ago he went to the West for a few months and while there he contracted a cold which finally settled on his lungs. Notwithstanding the best of care and nursing he was unable to shake off the dread disease. For the past year his friends could plainly see it was merely a matter of waiting for the inevitable, but he did not give up hope of getting better until near the end. His wonderful patience and uncomplaining disposition gave undoubted evidence of christian character.

"Bud" learned his trade as printer in The Herald Office, starting with the present proprietor nearly nine years ago. He was a most faithful apprentice and mastered the trade thoroughly. He remained with The Herald until about three and a half years ago when he went to the Teeswater News as foreman, then later to the McLean Publishing Co., Toronto. In the summer of 1908 he went to the West and worked on the Weyburn Herald, returning home that Fall. Next spring he managed the Chatsworth News for a few weeks but was compelled to quit by the inroads of the wasting disease.

He started in the Citizens' Band under Leader Park about ten years ago and was a good cornet player and reliable bandsman.

Deceased was a member of the Anglican church and the I. O. O. F. Lodge of this place and it was under the auspices of this society the funeral was held on Sunday afternoon. Rev. H. Millar held a brief service, then the remains were conveyed to the Anglican church where the rector gave some profound thoughts on the theme "This life a school preparatory to that higher life beyond." The funeral service of the I. O. O. F. followed and was deeply impressive. Interment was made in Maple Grove cemetery. The members of the I. O. O. F. and the Band Boys preceded the hearse in the sad procession.

Many beautiful floral tributes covered the casket:—Odd Fellows, Three links design; Band Boys, harp; sprays from Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Sharp, Mr. and Mrs. T. Lackie, Mr. and Mrs. McConnell, Orangeville, the family, and The Herald.

The deceased, who was 25 years old, is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dale, and four sisters, Mrs. Blair, Pitcox, Alta.; Mrs. Arthur Skelton, Shelburne; Clara and Lily at home.

Among the friends from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Swinton Park; Mrs. McConnell, Orangeville; Mrs. J. McKittrick, Miss Elsie and David McKittrick, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Skelton, A. A. Wrigglesworth and T. J. Harrison, Shelburne.—Dundalk Herald.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs - - 25 cents.

Mrs. Lewis Nairn, of Minto, near Palmerston, had an unfortunate accident recently, that resulted in the breaking of her arm and cutting her face and head. A lady friend with her two children had called and when upstairs Mrs. Nairn picked up both children and when starting to descend the stairway her heel caught and all were precipitated to the hallway below. One child she managed to keep hold of while the other she tossed against a screen door in the hall and strange to say both children escaped unhurt.

Two Minute Talks About

PANDORA RANGE

for Coal or Wood

BRAINY stove experts designed the Pandora Range. They introduced a new system of flue construction so that the draft for cooking would also be the draft for baking. With the Pandora you can have the kettles boiling over every pot hole at the same time the oven is baking pies and roasting beef.

Just think of the time that this perfect system of flue construction will save for you when you're hurrying to get a big dinner ready. Just think how much fuel the Pandora will save for you by doing the baking and cooking at the same time. And remember, no other range has this perfect system of flue-construction. Send for the Pandora booklet. It tells of other conveniences designed by our brainy stove experts.

HUNTER HAD PLUCK.

Rowed for Miles With Broken Leg and Then Crawled to His Cabin.

A story comes from Brockville of indomitable pluck displayed by a deer hunter of 80 years, in the person of Wm. Neilson, who was brought to one of the local hospitals for the treatment of a compound fracture of the leg. He accompanied a party to the Madawaska district on Monday morning of last week and was left alone in the shanty. After completing the chores he thought he would take a row on the lake, situated one-quarter of a mile away. Getting into the boat, he fell, fracturing his right leg above the knee. Thinking he would procure assistance further down the stream, he rowed a considerable distance, when the craft became entangled in the ice, and in the attempt to release it an oar was broken. With the other he managed to paddle back to the starting point, and from there crawled through the ice and snow to the shanty, where he remained for several hours, until the other members of the party returned. A doctor was secured at an adjoining camp, but owing to the nature of the fracture, the surgeon could not set it for the lack of proper appliances. Preparations were at once started to convey Neilson to Brockville by C.P.R train, a run of about three miles from the shanty, but the nearest station was eight miles away. A wagon was secured and by means of this and a hand cart the station was reached. The fracture was not reduced until Neilson landed in the hospital. He was then in a very weak condition.

After his long and tiresome trip fears are entertained of his recovery. Neilson resides at Lynn, five miles west of Brockville, and is well known throughout the County of Leeds.

A SATISFACTORY LIFE.

It may be proved, with much certainty, that God intends no man to live in the world without working; but it seems to me not less evident that he intends every man to be happy in his work. It is written, "In the sweat of thy brow"—but it was never written "in the breaking of thine heart" — "thou shalt eat bread." And I find that as, on the one hand, infinite misery is caused by idle people who both fail in doing what was appointed for them to do and set in motion various springs of mischief in matters in which they should have had no concern, so, on the other hand, no small misery is caused by overworked and unhappy people, in the dark views which they necessarily take upon themselves and force upon others, of work itself. Were it not so, I believe the fact of their being unhappy is in itself a violation of the divine law and a sign of some kind of folly or sin in their way of life. Now, in order that people may be happy in their work, these three things are needed: They must be fit for it; they must not do too much of it; and they must have a sense of success in it—not a doubtful sense, such as needs some testimony of other people for its confirmation, but a sure sense, or, rather, knowledge, that so much work has been done well, and faithfully done, whatever the world may say or think about it.—John Ruskin.

quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs - - 25 cents.

When Florence Nightingale, who died not long ago, was a little girl, her playmates used to smile at her and think her singular. This was because, even as a child, her thoughts were turned toward human suffering. Her childish sympathy for the sick about her father's estate was very marked. She thought of them and went to see them. She was never happier than when carrying food, clothing or some other gift, from her parents to these needy ones, who, of course, loved her in return. Not only toward sick persons, but toward all helpless living things, Florence Nightingale was tender far beyond the wont of a child. Yet, born of wealthy parents, attractive in personal appearance, gifted with winning social qualities and with quick, natural intelligence, and possessed of all the benefits which education could give, she was the woman who became the "angel of the Crimea." Is there anyone among your companions who sometimes seems to you a little queer? Be careful how you judge her. For perhaps what you call queerness in her is the result of a greater brain or a larger heart than has been given to most of us, and which is to fit her to fill a great and needed part in this world.—Onward.

Sciatic Rheumatism

Unable to work or sleep—Six years of suffering—Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mr. Alex. Fisher, Jr., Clarence Creek, Russell Co., Ont., writes:—"My nervous system was run down to such an extent that I suffered a great deal from weakness of the nerves and sciatic rheumatism, and at times was like one paralyzed. I could not work, was unable to sleep, and had no appetite.

"Nothing seemed to build up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $12.00 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right, do a great deal of work, have a good appetite and sleep well every night."

When you have tired of experiments you can turn to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food knowing that persistent treatment is bound to be rewarded with lastingly beneficial results. But you must get the genuine, bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. 50 cts. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

THE BEST REMEDY

For Women—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Belleville, Ont.—"I was so weak and worn out from a female weakness that I concluded to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took several bottles of it, and I gained strength so rapidly that it seemed to make a new woman of me. I can do as good a day's work as I ever did. I sincerely bless the day that I made up my mind to take your medicine for female weakness, and I am exceedingly grateful to you for your kind letters, as I certainly profited by them. I give you permission to publish this any time you wish."—MRS. ALBERT WICKETT, Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will cure female weakness and so successfully carry women through the Change of Life as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs.

For 80 years it has been curing women from the worst forms of female ills—inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, and nervous prostration.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

CENSUS OF MANUFACTURES.

On first of June next year a census will be taken of the manufactures of Canada. It will ascertain the capital employed in works in 1910, together with the value of land, buildings and plant, the kind or class of products of the works by quantity or number of finished articles and their value in the year. These statistics will relate generally to factories employing five hands or more during the year, but in such industries as flour and grist mills, brick works, saw and shingle mills, electric light and power plants, and a few others where the value of products is large in proportion to the number of persons employed returns will be required without regard to the number of employees. The employees of works will include managers, superintendents, etc., on salaries; officers, clerks, etc., on salaries; operatives or workers classed as over and under 16 years on wages; and piece-workers employed outside of the works. Salaries, wages and payments to all officers and employees will be entered on the schedule for the census year by sex, and will include the aggregate weeks employed in the year, average hours of working time per week, and aggregate wages paid to them in the year. The aggregate weeks of time and the aggregate wages paid will refer to the whole body of employees for the year, while the average hours of working time will refer to an average computed for all employees in the year for one week only. For piece-workers outside of the works the statistics are required to show by sex the aggregate payments made to this class in the year, and also the aggregate value of their products. The power employed in the works will show the number and horse power of steam, gas and gasoline engines, water wheels and electric motors, as well as the power sold to or bought from other public or private companies. The fuel used at the works will show the quantity of coal, wood or other fuel and its value laid down at the works, including transportation and duties. The coal will be classified by measure to show whether it is foreign or Canadian. Custom work and raw materials will be reported by kind or class, and entries will be made to show amounts received in the year for custom work and repairs; and the cost value of raw or partly finished materials used at the works. The kind or class of products of the works in 1910 will be entered by separate name if more than one is made, the quantity or number of each finished article and the value of separate products in the year. The aim of this record is to show the extent and variety of manufactures in each province and district; but it will be understood that the statistics as compiled and published will give away no records of individual business. Totals will be published only where three or more industries of a class or kind are reported. All information here referred to will be collected by enumerators on schedule No. 9.

The census of the dairy industry, relating to the production of butter, cheese, cream and condensed milk, will be taken on schedule No. 12, and will show for each kind of product its quantity and selling value, and the quantity of milk and cheese used for conversion at the factories, the number of patrons, and the amount of money distributed to them in the year.

The other day Mrs. John Smith, of Adjala, was up on a pile of wood trying to locate a skunk which had been taking her chickens, when she made a mis-step and fell, fracturing her wrist.

After an illness covering a number of years, Agnes Fisher, beloved wife of Joseph Brownridge, of Brampton, formerly of Esquesing, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Irwin, in Toronto, on Nov. 10th.

NO OCCASION FOR ENVY.

We are not among those who believe that the farmer is making more than he should from the land. The farmer works hard, and should have a liberal reward for his toil. At the same time he often looks upon the dweller in the city with envious eyes. The man in a city with an income of $1,500 to $2,000, and even $3,000 a year, is considered by many to be in affluent circumstances as compared with the farmer. But there may not be so much to envy after all. With food and clothing for himself and family to buy, and with house rent, coal bills and light to pay for, the city man has to live very economically, even on these salaries to save anything worth while. If he can save a hundred dollars or two during the year he may consider himself lucky. The farmer measures his income by what he saves. To make an exact comparison between himself and the city man he should measure his income by what it costs himself and his family to live in addition to what he saves. The city man has to pay taxes on his income over a certain amount. A new taxation law has been passed in Sweden, which taxes the farmer on income. This is got at by crediting the farm with house rent, all home-grown products consumed, the expenses of carriage and riding horses, not used in farm work, etc. In fact everything contributing to the farmer and his family's personal comfort or pleasure must be charged as personal expenses in making up the farm income. This is pretty radical legislation for an agricultural country and will not be needed in Canada, for many a day we hope. At the same time it serves to draw attention to the fact that the farmer's income cannot be measured alone by what he saves. — The Canadian Farm.

THE PEOPLE'S RAILWAY.

Six municipalities will vote next January on the money by-law in connection with the People's Railway. The total sum that will be invested by these municipalities in the railway proposition, if all the by-laws carry, is $146,000. The amounts to be voted on by the various townships and towns are as follows: Proton township, $36,000; Luther township, $30,000; Garafraxa township, $25,000; Arthur, $20,000; Fergus, $20,000, and Elora, $15,000.

NERVE AGONIES

All Nervous Diseases Cured By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Nerves that are over-worked or weak quickly indicate their distress by pain. That pain may be neuralgia or inflamed nerves, usually affecting the head, but often the spine and limbs. It may be nervous dyspepsia, easily started by worry, excitement or weakness. It may be St. Vitus dance, a common affliction among children, or neurasthenia, a condition of general nervous exhaustion accompanied by acute melancholy. Worst of all the pain may signal the early stages of paralysis or nervous decay. All these disorders signify that the hungry nerves are clamoring for nourishment in the form of good, rich blood. The numerous cures of the above named nervous diseases and weakness in both sexes by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, are accounted for by the fact that these Pills actually make new, rich blood and so supply the starved nerves with the vital elements needed to strengthen them. Mr. Wm. G. Jones, Westmead, Man., says: "A few years ago it was my misfortune to suffer from nervous debility, brought about through a severe attack of la grippe or influenza. When the first effects were felt I used to wake up in the middle of sleep trembling like a leaf, and in a bath of cold perspiration. Later the trouble grew so bad that I scarcely got a wink of sleep, and would toss about in bed, growing so weak that I feared for my life. A doctor was called in, and then another, but without avail. I became more and more low spirited, and without any apparent reason would have fits of crying. While in this condition, a nervous wreck, a pamphlet was given me telling what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for others, and I determined to give them a trial. By the time I had finished a few boxes I began to get some sleep, and this greatly encouraged me. Then my strength began to return, my nerves became steadier and in a few weeks more I was feeling as well as ever I did in my life, and you may be sure I will always gratefully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every one sick or ailing, as they restored me to health and strength after all other medicines had failed."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Fire destroyed an old house in Lindsay, which was a landmark, being one of the first substantial dwellings erected in that town.

While shooting rabbits near Swinton Park one day recently, John Haw was accidentally shot by Wilfred Black, a fellow hunter. Haw was standing behind an evergreen bush and Black shot towards him at a rabbit, not knowing he was in the vicinity. Twenty-two grains of shot took effect in Haw's person, two of them passing through one of his fingers, making a painful wound. Dr. Lane, of Priceville, attended the young man. Black felt his position very keenly, although no blame whatever can be attached to him.

NOT OF THAT CLAN.

A young American was travelling in the north of Scotland and on alighting from the train at a certain station he discovered that he had left his raincoat in the compartment. He hurried into the car and shouted, "Is there a black mackintosh in here?"

"No," replied a sturdy Scotchman, "they are all Macgregors."

BLOOD-POISONING FROM CUT FINGER.

Serious Condition Relieved by Zam-Buk.

Mr. Jas. Davey, of 786 Ellice Ave., Winnipeg, says: "A few months since I was cured of a poisoned finger through the timely use of Zam-Buk. I cut a deep gash across the knuckle on the first finger of the right hand, in opening a lobster can one evening. I suffered at the time with the soreness and pain, but had no idea it would become a serious wound. However, in about two days I was greatly alarmed, as my whole hand and arm to the elbow became inflamed, and the finger was much discolored, showing signs of blood-poisoning. The pain was dreadful and I was forced to leave off my work and go home.

"The wound on the knuckle had been poisoned through the dust and dirt about the furnaces and boilers. I then decided to start the Zam-Buk treatment, and having first bathed the cut, I applied the healing balm. It soothed the pain almost instantly, and by the next day there was a great improvement. In a week's time, through perseverance with Zam-Buk, a complete cure was brought about."

Scores of similar cases could be quoted, and the wisest precaution is to keep a box of Zam-Buk handy and apply it immediately a cut, or burn, or bruise, is sustained.

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, eczema, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ring-worm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Refuse imitations and substitutes.

A STRANGE ANIMAL.

Mr. Phillip Kett, caretaker of the cemetery, had a remarkable experience on Hallowe'en night. Phil is quite accustomed and familiar with ghosts, graveyard rabbits and such like, but in the dusk of the evening on this occasion his attention was attracted by a weird animal hopping about among the monuments. Mr. Kett got his gun and shot the uncanny creature. On examination it proved either to belong to a species unknown on this continent or to be a hybrid monstrosity of some description. It was about twice the size of an ordinary wild hare and built on the lines of a kangaroo, having long and powerful hind legs, a heavy tail and short forepaws and the pouches peculiar to Australian animals. It had long and flexible rabbit ears and was weblooted. Its fur was grayish brown marked with stripes and the tail ended in a bushy white tip. A number of veracious citizens saw the dead animal, and all their descriptions tally in a general way. However, Mr. G. Kett has sent it to a taxidermist to be stuffed and mounted.—Harriston Review.

REITH'S ADDRESS

Warden Urges County Council to Place Itself on Record in Favor of Good Roads Movement.

Says That Dufferin Cannot Have Good Roads Without Issuing Debentures.

Dufferin County Council is in session in the Court House here this week. The Council met first at two o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, with Warden Reith in the chair and all the members present, including Reeve Dynes, who returned from the West last week, showing no ill effects from his recent accident. Little except routine business was transacted Tuesday afternoon or yesterday morning.

Communications were read from the Carleton County Council asking the Council to join in memorializing the Legislature tomake certain changes in the Public Schools Act, J. A. V. Preston enclosing copy of the Grand Jury's presentment at the recent Fall Assizes, W. J. L. McKay asking the Council to instal telephones in his office and the residence of the High Constable, and H. Endacott, Wm. McIntyre and H. H. Walker, offering their services as auditors.

Accounts were presented amounting to$462.55.

Mayor Riddell and Coun. Hill addressed the Council respecting the guaranteeing of the High School debentures recently issued by the town of Orangeville.

Rev. J. R. Bell, President, and Mr. John Johnston, of Laurel, addressed the Council in support of an application for a grant of $25 to the Dufferin Trustees Association. The matter was referred to the Committee on Education.

Wednesday morning Warden Reith read his address which was referred to a Special Committee, consisting of Messrs. Dynes, Oldfield, Greer, Babe, Arnott, and Cornelius.

By-Laws to appoint auditors and guarantee the Orangeville High School debentures were advanced to the committee stage.

The Warden's address dealt with several matters of interest and contained a rather important pronouncement on the subject of good roads. The text of the address is as follows:—

Gentlemen of the County Council of the County of Dufferin:

It is with pleasure that I again welcome you to this ninetieth session of the County Council of Dufferin. I am pleased to note that you are all enjoying apparently good health, and I trust that all business coming before you at this session will be dealt with in your usual careful manner.

The all-wise Providence has dealt out to the County of Dufferin a bountiful harvest, and it gives me pleasure to know that all branches of agriculture throughout the county are flourishing. The addition to the High School for agricultural purposes has been built and will be completed in time for theSpring Classes, and will be a great help to pupils attending the High School to receive, in addition to theregular education, a thorough knowledge of agriculture.

The Registry Office also has been thoroughly equipped with Roller Counter and new Cabinets—all fireproof—and will be a great saving on the books and papers. I hope that the incoming council will procure a typewriting machine and finish the work. It will be necessary for you to appoint two auditors for making the annual audit of the books and accounts of the County. The various committees are to be congratulated on the prompt business manner in which they have dealt with all work coming before them, and also for leaving the County without any outstanding liabilities.

After examining the bridge across the Grand River south of Waldemar, on the townline between Amaranth and Garafraxa, I think it would be unwise to spend much money in this structure, but inthe near future erect a new steel bridge, as the old one is not fit for any heavy traffic, such as threshing outfits or anything of that nature.

Since last we met it has been our good pleasure to have a trip over the good roads now under construction in the County of Peel. I wish to thank the gentlemen, who were so kind as to give us free transportation with their automobiles. I can assure you, gentlemen of the County Council, that it was one of the pleasures that will stand out in my life in after years, when I am thinking of the many happy days I have spent with you around this Board.

I have also come to the conclusion that we cannot have good roads throughout the County of Dufferin without raising debentures, for we must have the road machinery to make the roads perfect, and I think that this Council should do something and put themselves on record in connection with Good Roads movement, that is taking place all over this glorious province of ours. At present, I know of nothing of any great importance, excepting routine business coming before the Council at this session, and we might arrange a road scheme suitable to all parts of the County that would be acceptable to all.

The road leading from Orangeville west, on which we gave the grant at the June session, has been completed as far as the money would go and has helped along a very much needed improvement on that part of the townline.

Gentlemen, in conclusion, I must thank you as members of the County Council and officials of the County, for the kind and courteous treatment I have received at all times from your hands during the past year. It has been a double pleasure to me and has helped me along greatly in filling my office as head of the Council.

JOHN W. McCLELLAN.

Mr. John W. McClellan, a well-known farmer in West Caledon, passed away at the home of his cousin, Mr. Joseph Lemon, Alton, early Monday morning after an illness lasting a year or longer. His death was caused by Bright's disease. Failing health compelled him to give up farming this year and he disposed of his fine property a short distance west of Alton about two months ago. Deceased, who was 55 years of age, was a bachelor. He was born in Georgetown, being a son of Mr. John G. McClellan, known locally as "Georgetown John." He is survived by his mother, who with a sister lived with him on the farm, three brothers and three sisters. The brothers and sisters are: James A. McClellan, Grand Valley; Homer B., Fullarton; Joseph A., Winnipeg; Margaret, Alton; Mrs. John Davis, Alton, and Mrs. George Duckworth, Caledon. The late Mr. McClellan was a member of the Congregational Church. Politically he was a supporter of the Liberal party. A quiet, inoffensive man and a good neighbor, his demise will be deeply regretted by the community. The funeral was held from the home of Mr. Lemon to Alton cemetery yesterday afternoon. Rev. Chas. Langford conducted the services.

DEATH OF MRS. H. BESLEY.

Mrs. H. Besley, an old and universally respected resident of Amaranth, passed peacefully away at her home, "Balsam Grove," about noon on Monday, Nov. 14th, 1910. Her sufferings which were long and severe, were borne with uncomplaining Christian fortitude, and those who had the opportunity of visiting her found her ever trusting in her Heavenly Father, with a bright and glorious hope of heaven. The deceased, who was 76 years of age, was born in Devonshire, England, and with her husband came to Canada in 1855. They first settled in Seneca, near Hamilton, from which they moved to Glanford. They came to Amaranth in 1873 and settled on the farm on which she resided at the time of her death. They were happy in their efforts, working together, hewing out for themselves a home in the unbroken forest, and their labor was crowned with success and gave them prosperity. In the early days of Methodism in this district their home was the home of the minister. Mrs. Besley was a dutiful wife and an affectionate mother, and her kindly sympathy and amiable qualities endeared her to the hearts of her neighbors and gained for her the esteem of the whole community. She was a life long Christian, and in her daily walk in life was a humble and faithful servant of the Master she has now gone to meet. Besides a husband she leaves to mourn her loss three sons and four daughters. The sons are William, of the 4th line, Amaranth; George, of Shelburne, and John at home. The daughters are Mrs. Silas Myers, Taber, Alta.; Mrs. Wm. Buchanan, Camilla, and Mary and Lizzie at home. The funeral took place from her late residence on Wednesday afternoon to Shelburne cemetery.

DISTRESSING HEADACHES

Headaches are largely the result of disordered kidneys.

Mrs. Hall, 84 Flora Street, St. Thomas, Ont., says, "I suffered for years with headaches of a most distressing nature. They would come on me suddenly, and would last for days at a time. These were usually accompanied by spells of dizziness that would leave me unable to attend to any house duties. My back was weak and caused me much suffering through the night. I had doctored for years, but all to no avail. Nothing benefited me and my condition was gradually becoming worse. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills. One box gave me a complete and lasting cure. I have not had a headache since and I feel like a new person.

A MISHAP AND A MILLIONAIRE

Showing how a mere matter of laundry may have an influence on a business career in a manner that could not possibly have been foreseen.

They say a collar-button is the most important article in a gentleman's attire. It may be, but there's one young man who claims that a dress waistcoat is quite as necessary, even if it doesn't roll under the bureau so often as a collar-button.

Edgar Bowne had but one low-cut vest for evening wear. It was a thing of beauty imported from London, and, as he had no occasion for formal attire oftener than once a week, the single vest sufficed.

One morning, young Bowne looked at the white waistcoat and found that it was too soiled for further wear. So he wrapped it up with his weekly laundry and left it for the landlady to send out.

The laundry went that day, and Edgar forgot all about it until the following Saturday. He was invited to a dinner the next night at seven, to meet a prominent financier at a fashionable house. Bowne wished to make an impression on Mr. Higgle, as he hoped to do business with him.

It was a thing which made him a bit anxious when he came home to dinner Saturday night and found that the weekly laundry had not arrived.

He asked the landlady, and she assured him that it would arrive before eight o'clock. As Bowne had an engagement to shuffle cards and stack up patriotically colored chips that same night from eight till one of the small hours in the morning, he was quite anxious to make sure that the laundry was there safely before leaving.

Eight o'clock came, but the laundry didn't come. Bowne grew worried. Several times he thought of going out and buying another waistcoat, to make sure that he would be suitably dressed the next evening to meet Mr. Higgle.

But when he considered that a vest cost four dollars, and that the laundry would surely come, he put the thought back and let it roll about aimlessly in his cerebellum for the next fifteen minutes while he walked the floor and said certain unprintable things about laundry people in general and the folly of keeping but one waistcoat. He decided to own a dozen of them when he got the price, so he should never find himself in a like predicament again.

At quarter past eight he had to leave. So he went down and asked the landlady if the laundry place were near by, thinking he might run over and get his linen at once.

"No," she replied; "it's almost a mile from here."

"Are you sure the stuff will be delivered all right?" he added anxiously.

"There's never missed bringing it on Saturday night," she replied. "Sometimes it 's as late as nine o'clock. But it always gets here."

Bowne had that much satisfaction; but on his way to the card-game he passed a haberdasher's, and again the thought of buying another vest came to him. At length he decided that he needed all the money in his pocket, and, then, the landlady had spoken so confidently.

The young fellow played a poor game that night. Every once in a while his mind would float away from the cards and fall to considering the subject of dress waistcoats.

When two o'clock came the game broke up, and Bowne hurried home, anxious, nervous, and worried.

"What if that laundry hasn't come?" he repeated a score of times on his way back.

When he threw open the door to his room and burst in, his eagerness was so great that he dropped three matches before he could get the gas lighted.

Then he looked around.

No. There was no bundle of linen in the room. It was too late to wake up the landlady, and Bowne sat for half an hour wondering what he would do without that white waistcoat.

Then nature asserted itself, and he fell asleep in the chair. An hour later, when he awakened suddenly and mistook the gas-jet for the sun peering in at his window, he was too sleepy to remember anything. He undressed and slipped into bed.

It was eleven o'clock the next morning when he awakened. The first thing that came to his mind, as he lay in bed trying to shake himself into full consciousness, was the fact that his laundry had not been returned.

He jumped up and dressed hurriedly. Then he called the landlady and asked her about the linen in imperious tones.

"I thought you said this laundryman of yours never failed to bring the stuff back Saturday night?" he began.

"He never does fail," answered the landlady haughtily. "Didn't you find it in your room?"

"No; you don't mean to say that the laundry was delivered?" cried Bowne in a happy voice.

"Yes, it came shortly after you left. Oh, I remember. It's down-stairs; I left it in the hall, thinking you'd see it when you came in."

"I didn't look," cried Bowne, rushing down the steps three at a time.

There was the bundle on a chair in the hall. Bowne looked at the list and found that it was his all right. Hugging the precious package to his bosom, he dashed up the stairs again, threw it on his bed, and sat beaming at it for half an hour.

It was such a relief, such a joy to know that there was the laundry, right there in his own room where it couldn't get away.

It was some time before his mind came back to practical, mundane affairs. Getting the laundry, after all, seemed to have altered his life.

Now he would be properly dressed to meet Mr. Higgle, and create that impression which he was desirous of making.

He was as happy over that laundry as a mother is over a prodigal son who has returned unexpectedly.

He expanded under the presence of that magnetic bundle of laundry, and in his enthusiasm tipped the waiter a quarter at breakfast. It was an heard-of thing for Bowne; he never gave the man over ten cents a week.

Dinner followed breakfast quickly on account of his late hour of rising and Bowne hurried through the plain boarding-house Sunday meal with his expectant eyes fixed on the big dinner that he was going to attend that night—in his white waistcoat, with Mr. Higgle present.

He bought a ten-cent cigar, and took a stroll in the park that afternoon. Life was a new thing with that laundry safely wrapped up in his room.

He timed the afternoon's outing just right, and returned home at six. An hour was plenty of time in which to dress. This was to be an elaborate affair, and he must be scrupulously neat.

Bowne washed himself as though he were a valuable bit of old china, and then he manicured his nails with the pains that a diamond-cutter takes in polishing ten Kohinoors.

He brushed his teeth in seven different waters and powdered his face to perfection. Then he donned socks, pumps, trousers, and, lastly, shirt and tie. The tie took five minutes to itself, but when the thing was finished it was perfect.

Bowne beheld himself in the glass. The laborious part of dressing was over. Then he looked at his Sunday suit on the bed. What an inferior thing it was, compared to the gorgeous dress affair he was about to don. The common black clothes looked like a jumper and overalls to him.

Having found that his shirt-front was just right and the tie securely in place, Bowne rubbed his hands expectantly, glanced at the clock, found that it was growing frightfully late, and then hurried to the bundle of laundry for his resplendent white waistcoat.

He broke the string and spread the contents of the package before him, evidently the vest was not on top; he started to dig through the socks and handkerchiefs, when suddenly a slip of paper attracted his attention.

He picked it up and read the following, in an illiterate hand:

"White vest soiled in ironing. Will have to be done over. It will be delivered Tuesday morning."

Bowne's trembling fingers went to his hair like Hamlet in despair. He stood swaying back and forth in picturesque agony. That little slip of paper read like a life sentence to him.

He turned whiter than the ghost of Banquo, and it was two full minutes before he could swear and get even that slight relief.

"Why, oh, why didn't I open that bundle and make sure that the vest was there?" he moaned.

Then the thought of his happiness that morning when the laundry had been found came to him and smote him full between the eyes. What a fool he had been to be delighted over such a horrible misfortune.

He glanced at the clock again. It was ten minutes to seven. What could be done? It would take ten minutes to get to the dinner-party. He should be leaving at this very moment.

He glanced around the room in utter dismay; then, a wild idea entering his head, he tore out into the hall and raced up and down in his shirt, shouting the fact that he wanted to borrow a white waistcoat.

But most of the men boarders were out, and those who were in were guiltless of such things as dress suits.

Edgar Bowne was in despair. He got the landlady's boy to run out and try to buy, borrow, or steal a white waistcoat for him. Then he pranced around for ten minutes like a man walking on egg-shells, until the boy returned with the news that all the stores were closed on Sunday.

He must get to that dinner; he must get there as near on time as possible. All that stood in the way was the way the white waistcoat.

He thought wildly of wrapping his white silk muffler around his waist for a sash, and going with a little Spanish dash in his make-up. But this notion was quickly discarded when he found that the muffler would not reach around him.

Then one of the boarders came to his relief with a black waistcoat, which was already turning green. Bowne knew that a black waistcoat was not correct with full dress, but he jumped at anything in the shape of a vest. He put the thing on. It hung four inches below his shirt-front, and could have wrapped twice around his belt.

It was seven o'clock by this time. Perspiration had ruined the powdered complacency of Bowne's countenance. He took one look at his face in the glass, and dropped weakly on the bed, and threw the greenish vest in the helpful boarder's face.

He dragged himself up inside of two minutes, slammed the door so the windows rattled all over the house, and then quickly tore off his dress trousers, shirt, and pumps, and climbed back into the common Sunday suit he had viewed with such disdain but a few minutes before.

It would never do to telephone that he had broken his leg and was unable to attend the dinner. He must meet Mr. Higgle; it was his only chance, and he would go if he had to borrow the landlady's kimono.

He did his best to look neat and inconspicuous in the plain business suit. His best wasn't bad, but the tout ensemble fell far short of what it would have been had he been able to wear his dress clothes.

He threw the hateful laundry into one corner, gave it a vicious kick, and then took a final glance at himself in the glass. He looked like a bank clerk, which he was, and that was all he could say for himself.

The vision disgusted him. His fingers itched to clench around the neck of that little whiffet of a laundryman who had had the impudence to soil his only white waistcoat.

He would have cursed the landlady had she not been a lady. Everything was wrong. It was a quarter past seven already, and in his mind's eye he could see the white-bosomed gentlemen and low-necked ladies clustered around the table.

What a sensation he would create when he walked in upon them late in a plain business suit!

Oh, it was too frightful for words. He got as far as the Subway; then his nerve failed him, and he turned back. He would not go. He would call up the house and say he had just been taken with the whooping-cough or something. He must explain in some way, and stay home.

It would never do. He didn't have the face to brave the thing out.

Starting to put his resolution into effect at once, Bowne rushed into a corner drug-store. Another gentleman was coming out as he hurried in. They collided, and when Bowne looked up to ask pardon he saw, to his horror, that the man he had bumped into was one of the guests invited to the dinner. He was in evening clothes, and Bowne blushed as he tried to stammer an excuse.

"Hallo, Bowne!" said the other. "Aren't you going to Markham's to meet old Higgle?"

"Yes—no. Well, you see, my mother just died—no, my father—well, you understand—I'm afraid it'll be impossible—"

Bowne floundered like a whale on shore, trying to get back to a familiar medium.

"Oh, nonsense! Come along. Mrs. Markham will never forgive you for not showing up. She's a particular sort of person, you know."

"Yes, I know," gurgled Bowne, for he had thought of all that before. "But we're horribly late now. She's just as particular about people being on time at her dinners."

"Late! Nothing of the kind. We can get there in ten minutes, and the dinner isn't till half past seven."

"Oh!" said the young fellow. "I thought it was seven."

"Nope—half past. Come along. You'll regret it, if you don't meet Mr. Higgle."

There was only one thing to do. Bowne went.

He tried to be calm as he walked into the drawing-room, and met a dozen people, all in evening dress. He hadn't an instant's relief until he saw a lone man over in one corner, talking to Mrs. Markham. His eyes bulged as he noted that this man was dressed in a business suit.

Mrs. Markham rushed up to the young fellow and took him over to meet the only other person in informal attire.

"Mr. Higgle," she said, turning to the lone man, "I want you to meet Mr. Brown, he's such a promising young man. In your line of business, too."

She slipped off and left them together. Bowne did not know what to say. Here was the great Higgle himself, the feature of the party, and in plain business clothes. The young fellow stammered something as the financier looked him over with a cold, calm scrutiny.

Suddenly the eccentric Mr. Higgle reached out a broad palm, and something close to a warm smile spread over his face.

"Shake," he said, in a typical Yankee drawl.

Bowne put out his hand automatically and took the other's in a firm grasp. He did not understand, but had often heard of what an eccentric person Mr. Higgle was.

"Thank you—thank you," he murmured weakly, not knowing what else to say.

"I want to congratulate you, young man, on your good taste and judgment," went on Mr. Higgle, looking full into Edgar's eyes.

Bowne had never heard his "good taste and judgment" lauded before, and it made it all the harder for him to keep his face composed.

"I'm glad to see that there's one young man who has stuff enough in him to appear in the clothes that were good enough for his fathers to wear," Higgle continued impressively, scanning Bowne up and down with the same queer expression in his eyes.

The young fellow was not quite sure but that the remark was a reflection on his suit. Could it be that Higgle thought his father had handed it down to him?

"I — I don't—Thank you, sir," Bowne stammered.

"Yes, sir, the young men nowadays are puppets—society puppets, that think nothing of work. Their minds are on dress. Look at this suit of mine—look at your suit. Good enough for anybody, I say. I'm glad to see a young man with common sense."

The thing began to filter through Bowne's brain. He gasped at the thought. Could it be that the old fellow was jollying him, or did he really mean what he said?

The doubt did not remain long.

"I say, it's simple horrible the way people are coming to forget the business of life, and strut around in claw-hammer coats admiring their pasty faces. It's unusual, young man—very unusual. You show wonderful judgment and nerve. Few men of your age would dare oppose society in the matter of conventional dress. Convention is a stone wall in this country, and few of us have the nerve to leap over it."

Bowne drew a long breath. He was beginning to understand.

At that moment dinner was announced, and during the meal all that Bowne could think of was the remark of the eccentric and outspoken Mr. Higgle.

He looked up several times and caught the financier eying him appreciatively. Somehow, the young fellow did not feel so badly to be in plain clothes, as long as the lion of the party chose the same style of personal adornment.

After the meal Mr. Higgle cornered Bowne and talked to him for some time about the Old Man of the Sea, perched on the neck of society, forcing mindless lambs to wear hideous clothes.

Finally he gave Bowne his card and told him to call at his office at seven o'clock the next morning. Early hours was another eccentricity of old Higgle.

Bowne made an awful effort, and was there at six-thirty. The upshot was that he was hired as confidential secretary to the old man.

He's doing well now, and beginning to learn the delights of coupon cutting. Higgle has never seen him in a dress suit, but Bowne persists in wearing one surreptitiously on special occasions. He keeps that dozen of white vests now, and nobody has ever [illegible] him regret that the laundryman [illegible]ed his waistcoat and was unable [illegible] deliver it until the Tuesday following.

In fact, when the vest was delivered after Bowne had received the confidential secretaryship, he actually [illegible] the boy who brought it by giving [illegible] a dollar bill and remarking in [illegible] off-hand and most easy manner:

"Much obliged for delaying the delivery of that vest. It's meant more to me. But bring the rest of my laundry punctually after this. This case happens to be an exception."

IT IS NEWS WORTH GIVING TO THE WORLD

How Ravages of Kidney Disease are Checked in Quebec.

Mrs. Julien Painchaud, for many years a sufferer, finds quick relief and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Whitworth, Temiscouata Co., Que., Nov. 21. (Special.)—With the coming of winter the ravages of Kidney Disease are again felt in this province, and the fact that a sure cure is procured for in this village is news worth giving to the world. Mrs. Julien Painchaud is the person cured and she states without hesitation that she found her cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For seven years my heart and Kidneys bothered me," Mrs. Painchaud states, "I was always tired and nervous. I could not sleep. My limbs were heavy and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. My eyes had dark circles under them and were puffed and swollen. I was so ill I could hardly drag myself around to do my housework.

"A neighbor advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I found relief in the first box. Six boxes made me perfectly well."

If you have any two of Mrs. Painchaud's symptoms your Kidneys are diseased. Cure them and guard against serious, if not fatal, results by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S MEETING

A largely attended meeting of the Young People's Society was held in the School Room of St. Andrew's Church on Monday night. The feature of the programme was a carefully conducted debate on the subject, "Resolved, that the British Immigrant Makes a More Desirable Citizen than theAmerican." The affirmative was sustained by Messrs. Stephen Phoenix and George Martin, and the negative by Messrs Donald McPherson and Howard E. Stevenson. The judges, Miss G. M. Strangand Messrs. J. J. White and J. H. Adams, had somedifficulty in reaching a decision but finally awarded the honors to the negative. The musical programme consisted of a piano solo by Miss Madeline McKenney, a recitation by Mrs. P. W. Sutherland, and a song by Miss Helen Denton.

MARKET A SUCCESS.

Orangeville's cash produce market last Thursday was a decided success. Turkeys, geese, chickens, butter and eggs were offered in liberal quantities and everything that was brought in was snatched up at top market prices. Competition was keen between the two Toronto buyers who were present, a Mount Forest produce dealer and Mr. W. Fairbairn, the local egg buyer. Eggs brought 35 cents and one woman sold a lot at the fancy price of 41c. a dozen. Butter was in keen demand at 23c. and 24c. The buyers showed a marked partiality for lb. prints done up in wrappers, with the maker's name and address printed thereon. Good butter nut up this way brought from 1c. to 2c. a lb. over the regular prices. All kinds of poultry was in demand at good prices. The ruling prices were as follows:—Eggs 35c. to 41c.; turkeys 17c. to 19c.; geese 12c.; ducks 12c. to 14c.; chickens 10c. to 14c.; butter 23c. to 24c. The outside buyers were apparently well pleased with the market and announced their intention of coming back this week. The market will be held in the Market Building every Thursday.

WEAK SICKLY BABIES MAKE HOME WRETCHED

No home is happy where there is a sick baby. The sufferings of the little one make the whole household wretched, for what mother or father would not rather suffer themselves than to see their little one suffer. But there is no reason for wretched homes because baby is ill. Baby's Own Tablets will cure all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood; not only that, but an occasional dose of the Tablets will keep baby well. Thousands of mothers have found happiness through the Tablets making their little ones well and happy. Among them is Mrs. C. C. Roe, of Georgetown, Ont., who writes: "I can heartily recommend Baby's Own Tablets as a help to the baby during the hot summer season. We have used them and are much pleased with their results." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

—Master Terence McKeown, son of Mr. C. R. McKeown, M. P. P., broke one of his legs between the ankle and knee, while playing at school last Thursday. Dr. Carson reduced the fracture and "Terry" is getting along splendidly.

—See the Linen Note Paper and Envelopes which McGuire & McKitrick are selling for 25c. a lb. this week. Best bargain yet offered.

—Master Jack Hughes, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hughes, who has been critically ill with some cerebral trouble following measles, has improved rapidly this week and is now fairly on the ward recovery.

LADY LIBERALLY REWARDED.

On Saturday night a traveller, bound for Owen Sound, alighted at the C. P. R. depot here with a French poodle in tow. Doggie became frightened or excited and escaped from its owner, who was obliged to continue his journey unaccompanied by his pet. Mrs. John Corbett found the dog on her doorstep Sunday morning and took charge of it until Monday, when it was restored to the owner, who had returned to town on the first train. The Owen Sounder was overjoyed to see his pet again, and rewarded Mrs. Corbett with a crisp $5 bill.

W. A. AT HOME.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church will hold an "At Home" in the basement of the Church on Friday evening, November 25th, from 7 to 10 o'clock. An excellent programme of music and games has been provided. Refreshments will be served during the evening. There will also be a table of "Homemade Baking" for sale. All are invited. Admission, 10 cents.

CONCERT AT CHARLESTON.

Charleston Methodists will hold a concert on Monday evening, Dec. 26th. Mr. Rechab Tandy, the famous tenor soloist, will contribute to the programme.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE.

A meeting of the Orangeville Branch of the Dufferin Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. R. A. Irwin, West Broadway, on Tuesday afternoon, November 29th, at 3 o'clock. Subject, "Christmas Cooking and Decorating."

MONO TAXES.

For the convenience of some ratepayers who have not yet paid their taxes, Mr. R. W. Langford, tax collector for the west half of Mono township, will be at Dean's hotel, Primrose, on Wednesday, November 30th, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

CHANGED THE DATE.

The Daughters of the Empire have changed the date of their social evening from Friday evening of this week until Tuesday evening of next week. The postponement is on account of the At Home, which St. Mark's Church Woman's Auxiliary is holding on Friday night.

THE MAPLES 'XMAS TREE.

The teachers and scholars of Providence Methodist Church Sunday School, The Maples, will hold their annual Christmas Tree entertainment on Tuesday night, November 29th. A good programme of dialogues, recitations, readings, etc., will be provided by the children assisted by local talent. Tea served from 6 to 8 o'clock. Admission 25c. and 15c.

A REMOVAL.

Miss McLachlan has removed her stock of groceries and confectionery from the stand on First St., to Mr. G. A. Campbell's store on Broadway, first door east of Wm. Fiddes' music store. Miss McLachlan gives her customers and the general public a cordial invitation to visit her new place of business. Her stock of groceries is choice and she has a splendid assortment of candies and other confectionery for the Christmas trade.

A Snap in Furs—a nice Ruff and Muff for $12 at Ritchie's.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" will be portrayed on the picture screen at The Dufferin Theatre, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights of next week. The striking incidents of this thrilling drama will be brought vividly before the audience by 3,000 feet of moving pictures. Few works have aroused public interest or stirred human sympathy as has "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and patrons of the Dufferin Theatre will welcome this opportunity to witness the lifelike presentation of the characters and events of Mrs Stowe's great book. Messrs. S. R. Frost and Percy Harding will be heard in popular illustrated songs. 10 cents only for admission. Manager Morrow has given the public excellent entertainment since the House reopened and the theatre deserves the patronage of our citizens.

Nett Waists, silk lined, at $3 and $3.50 and up, at Ritchie's.

SECTIONMEN INJURED

Some of the men on the C. P. R. section gang at Cataract had a narrow escape from electrocution at Kelly's crossing on the 2nd. line, west, Caledon, last Saturday. The Railway Commission, it appears, requires all wires crossing a railway track, to be at least 25 feet above the rails. The men threw a measuring tape, containing a strand of steel, over the Cataract Electric Co's. transmission line to ascertain if it was the required heigth above the track. Sectionman Kelly caught the wire and got a shock that rendered him unconscious. Foreman Knight fared similarly and the two men would probably have been killed, only for the presence of mind of a man named Cox, who grabbed a pickaxe and released them by breaking the tape. Their hands were badly burned.

"I SHOULD SMILE"

"Were you satisfied, Mr. Jones, with the asty Overcoat you bought here?"

"Well, I should smile," replied Mr. Jones, "you see I'm wearing it this morning, and this is its third season. It wears like iron, but Mrs. Jones says I have to get something a little more dressy for special occasions. She saw one of those new meltons in your window the other morning at fifteen dollars. That looked good to me, so here I am."

We never have to wonder whether or not the customer will come back; it's only a question of time. The clothes are honest and they wear a long time, but when it's time for a change, Mr. Jones turns up bright and early for his new overcoat.

These Melton Overcoats Are The Kind

That will look "dressy" through more than one winter. The fast black dye in this fine English Melton will stand up to all kinds of weather, and the material will stay "smooth" without shining. These coats are cut in a single breasted Chesterfield style; they have raw edges, and a neat black velvet collar; lined with twilled mohair and haircloth; they make a warm as well as a rich-looking overcoat. TORONTO MUSICIAN MOVES UP.

Mr. Harvey Gahan, who has been leader of the Gayety Theatre orchestra during the long illness of W. J. Obernier, has been offered the position of musical director, travelling with Rose Sydell's London Belles burlesque company. He has accepted, as the offer is a tempting one financially, and he will join the London Belles in Detroit to-morrow. The company plays Toronto a week later.

Mr. Gahan is an accomplished musician, having been in concert and stage work as a violinist since he was ten years old. He is now 21, and is said to be the youngest theater orchestra leader in Canada. Last season he led the orchestra in the Majestic Music Hall and had a rather exciting time of it by reason of war between the management and the musicians' union.—Daily Star.

Mr. Gahan is a son of Mr. J. J. Gahan, at one time a resident of Orangeville, and a prominent member of the Citizens' Band.

AUTOMOBILES FOR FARMERS.

The automobile has been very generally considered to be simply the pleasure-car of the rich, the speed instrument of the daring, and the death-trap of the less-wise ones, as well as many hapless pedestrians. But, while in its experimental stages the use of the auto was largely thus confined, as progress was made in its manufacture, so that uniformly standard and efficient cars were placed on the market at moderate prices, the practicability of this machine began to appeal to the merchant, business and agricultural classes. The automobile is lucidly set forth by the Saturday Evening Post of the last week of October as an implement with a permanent place on most farms, and its adaptation in practice tellingly told. To-day, eighty-five thousand automobiles, practically one-fourth the total output, are owned and used on farms. Two-thirds the machines in Kansas, and half those in Nebraska belong to farmers; one out of every thirty-two farmers in the State of Iowa owns a machine. From January to June of this year, farmers in six of the Middle West States spent more than twenty million dollars for autos, and paid cash.

The motor car makes agricultural life more attractive, destroys the isolation of farm life, brings the farm and the town together, shortens the distance to the market, and is working out a social, industrial and educational revolution. Thus has it become of the greatest practical value in farm life. In 1907, less than two-sevenths of the output of autos went to the country; now, the bulk of moderate-priced cars are bought by farmers. Business men and farmers are the mainstay of the automobile business.

On a 5,000-acre farm in Kansas, plowing is done by a gasoline tractor; every afternoon a runabout takes a lunch out to the men working in the fields, and brings them in at night. The same car takes the cream and butter twelve miles to town in half an hour before breakfast, and is back to do a day's work on the farm. Four riding horses used to be kept by the foreman to go over the place; now, one runabout does the work and a great deal more. For the man with several small farms, scattered in location, the auto is still more indispensable.

It was noticed in Kansas that farmers with automobiles not only succeeded in getting the best hired help, but had less trouble keeping their help.

The auto is working out a new social life in the country. Farmers take little trips of a few days in one direction or another with their families without great expense. The old aloofness and isolation is being destroyed. They mingle more with the rest of the people. They are made broader men, more intelligent men, and better citizens. It is making a new life for farmers' wives; the isolation and loneliness of the farm home is a thing of the past. Picnics at camp-grounds, socials, theatres, chautauquas, all the impossible things of earlier days, are now easily attainable. Women can much more safely run autos than they can drive spirited horses—an auto seldom shies, at least, at other autos.

In Kansas, we read, they use automobiles to run threshing machines, cream separators, circular saws, corn cutters, and almost every other machine requiring power. They are used to carry milk, deliver butter and eggs, haul freight to the depot, hurriedly bring the doctor or take the sick many miles to the hospital. They have contributed much toward the development of the rural mail routes. They are especially valuable in developing good roads, for autos must have good roads. Farmers going to town sometimes hitch the road drag behind their car, put on a little more power, and accomplish two things at one time. With a team, this would not be possible.

The preachers are using them. They can annihilate space, thus save time, and, consequently do more faithful work with an auto than a horse. They find that the general ownership of autos brings more people to church. It is less trouble to get ready; it is pleasanter going, and the horses are having their rightful rest.

Investigation shows that about one-half of one per cent. of farmers buying autos have had to mortgage to buy. Evidently, farmers are not responsible for the cry that the whole country is being mortgaged for autos. It also appears that in those districts where autos are most common in the country, the bank accounts of farmers have been growing steadily; the auto has been a contributor to prosperity, not a destroyer of it. This is probably due to good reasons. Many have found the upkeep of a car less than that of a pair of big horses. One man figured that it cost him $166 to keep a team, while it cost $144.50 to keep the automobile, and the latter did much more work.—Farmers' Advocate.

Laid Up With Lame Back

Pain, helplessness and suffering are overcome by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mrs. Frank Bloom, Hardwood Lake, Ont., writes: "I want to tell you of the great benefit I found in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I suffered so badly with kidney disease that when I lay down I could not get up without help. I was completely laid up with lame, aching back. I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the almanac, got them and they cured me of kidney disease and backache.

"My husband had dreadful pains in his sides and obtained cure by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills are the best on the market and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are definite and certain in action, enliven the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, are lastingly beneficial and economical. But to obtain these results you must get the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto,

HOW THE "SANDWICH" ORIGINATED.

It was Lord Spencer's uncle, the third earl, who added a word to the language in consequence of a wager, says The London Daily Chronicle. The bet was that, by cutting off the tail part of his overcoat, he could bring into fashion overcoats so short that the skirts of the undercoat would show beneath. He won his wager, and "Spencer" became the name, both of that garment, and of the feminine one afterwards constructed in its likeness. The peerage has added more than one name to the terminology of costume. Everybody knows "Wellingtons," and the billycock hat is said by some to be really "Billy Coke," from Coke, ofNorfolk, Earl of Leicester. But none of these examples in the sphere of clothes rivals what the Earl of Sandwich did, when he contrived the slice of meat between bread as a device to enable him to go on gambling without leaving off for a meal.

MRS. KENNEDY.

Death came painlessly but very suddenly to Mrs. Ella Kennedy on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Kennedy had been in declining health for some years but was around as usual on Tuesday. Towards evening she grew worse and passed away peacefully just before eight o'clock. Knowing that there was no hope for her recovery she yet remained cheerful and resigned. Mrs. Kennedy, who was in her 38th year, was the widow of the late Thomas J. Kennedy, of Sandhill. She was the eldest daughter of Mrs. Wm. Fletcher, first line, west. After her husband's death she removed to Brampton with her little children, taking up her residence on Mill Street. She was a woman of upright character and possessed very many friends whose sympathy went out to her during her long and trying illness. She is survived by a son and daughter. The orphaned children have the deep sympathy of all in the loss of a loving Christian mother. The funeral takes place on Friday morning to Providence cemetery, Sandhill. There will be service at the home at half past ten o'clock. —The Brampton Conservator.

STARTLING STATISTICS.

Only One Teacher for Every Thousand Children in Quebec.

At a non-political banquet given at Richmond in honor of Hon. G. S. Mackenzie, Treasurer of Quebec, in a speech, he referred to the finances of the province.

He pointed out that the outstanding funded debt of the province including capital for conversions, amounted to $24,696,216, a decrease of nearly ten millions from former days.

The decrease in interest amounted to $1,152,500, and the net debt reduction was $2,710,296. The surplus for the past year amounts to $945,147, an increase over the surplus of the previous year of $300,000.

The treasurer also announced that the Quebec Government would spend a million dollars on education during the present year. Some statistics hat he furnished on educational work were of a rather startling character. He stated that not more than one-third of the Protestant school teachers, in the Eastern townships, have certificates, while in the Protestant schools there are only thirty-three male lay teachers to supply 2,113 schools,and as there is a school population of 31,814, there is but one teacher to every thousand children. In the Roman Catholic schools there are only thirty-six male lay teachers and 90 brothers attending to 184,978, or one teacher to look after 1,360 pupils.

A MAGISTRATE'S DUTY.

The numerous utterances which Col. Denison has made regarding the usefulness of law are responsible for the fact that many of the people think that the Toronto Police Court is a sort of happy-go-lucky criminal machine. It is true that there are no ideals set up for the guidance of the chief officials, and they are allowed to show their ability to joke or their ability to rule according to their turn of mind. However, while it is a fact that the chief magistrate gets along with as little law as possible, he has a system for conducting his cases. He gave his own idea of the duties of a magistrate some time ago while arguing with a lawyer over the merits of a case.

The lawyer in question was James B. Mackenzie, "Certiorari Jim," who has won fame for himself in the local courts because of his intimate knowledge of legal quibbles and technicalities. When he tried to work up police court practice, he found that his points of law had no weight with the magistrate.

Col. Dennison listened to a lengthy protest from Mr. Mackenzie, and then he remarked: "The purpose of law is to give men a fair trial and punish them if they are guilty; not to allow thieves to escape through technicalities."

"That is not the idea at all," declared the lawyer.

"Well, I have given you my view of a court," went on the magistrate. "When I took my oath of office I promised to dispense justice with cunning, wit and wisdom." But I remembered that some writer said cunning was the child of wit and fraud and looked exactly like its ma, so I decided that when I presided in this court I would try to get along with the other two."

Zindown, softer and better than Flannel, at Ritchie's.

George Sime and Edward Wallace were on the water wagon in that earnest one day last week. The latter had backed a water tank into the river to load up for the threshers, when the box quietly lifted up from the wagon, and floated down the stream with the two men aboard. The rapid rise of water during the previous day fooled them. Wallace Dixon did the Grace Darling act and soon rescued the helpless mariners—Star & Vidette.

Milton Lawson, of Terra Nova, who received such a severe knock in the left eye that his eyeball was burst, on Sunday, October 23rd, returned home from the hospital in Toronto on Saturday evening, Nov. 5th. He will lose the sight of his eye completely. He will return to the Toronto hospital for further treatment.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

Unless you treat your ailments in the right way, you can't expect to cure them. We'll buy a 50-cent bottle of Psychine (pronounced Si-keen) from your druggist and give it to you free to show you how effective is the right way.

It's not so long ago that the doctors bled a man to make him strong.

"Stuff a cold and starve a fever" is miles behind our to-day's knowledge of curative science, yet our fathers had it preached to them time and again.

You may not know it, but to-day there are just as ineffective methods of cure being preached and practised.

All because most people do not know the real cause of disease.

There are two kinds of corpuscles in the blood—red and white.

The red corpuscles contain nutrition, the white destroy disease germs.

If for any cause the white corpuscles become depleted and are not sufficiently strong to destroy the germs of disease, then disease controls the body.

That's the cause of disease.

Years ago certain herbs were found to cure disease.

They didn't know how or why in those days, they do to-day.

And it's because these herbs build up the white corpuscles.

These herbs are contained in Psychine—they're responsible for the great results obtained from Psychine a third of a century ago.

They're responsible for the hundreds of thousands that Psychine has cured since that time.

It's because of these herbs that we have received hundreds of thousands of testimonials attesting to wonderful cures that Psychine has made.

And it's because of these very same herbs that we will buy within the next twelve months hundreds of thousands of 50-cent bottles of Psychine and give them away free to whomsoever sends us the coupon in this announcement.

Now if you wish to relieve or prevent any of the disorders in this list send in that coupon:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anæmia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and	Laryngitis and
Nervous Troubles	Dyspepsia
After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La-Grippe.

Now, we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Phychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner, hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

Her lifeless body was found by her husband an hour later.

The town of Clinton has made a change in its street lighting system. In the place of eighteen large arc lights it has substituted 118 incandescent tungsten lamps. The new system gives a much better and more satisfactory distribution of light at a somewhat higher cost. The old system cost the town $1,224 per year; the new will cost $1,422.

The village of Humberstone, about eight miles from Welland, has been visited by a succession of fires, and in no case can any cause be assigned Friday night the planing mill of S. J. Dickerson was entirely destroyed, entailing a loss of $7,000. The previous night the Reave foundry was burned, with damage of $15,000, and ten days ago three houses were destroyed.

WHY SLEEP IS NECESSARY.

During sleep nature restores the cells and tissues wasted by the activities of life. Without sleep physical bankruptcy is quick and certain. Mrs. J. Derocher, 485 Bethune st., Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I can say for a certainty that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine, for, besides steadying the nerves, it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to eat and sleep well.

Clifford Day, son of Mr. Jas. Day, 11th. con., Culross, who was one of the injured in the Caledon wreck in August, has arrived at a settlement with the C. P. R., they paying the hospital expenses which amounted to over $400, and giving him $1,850.00. Mr. Day's leg was severed a few inches below the knee, and now that farm work is pretty much out of the question for him, the $1,850 will give him a good start in some other line of business.

Sarnia's railroad men adopted a set of resolutions, eulogistic of Mr. C. C. Wellerman, ex-secretary of the railroad branch of the Y.M.C.A. in that city and accompanied their expression of good-will with a hand some furlined overcoat, which has been forwarded to Mattawa, where Mr. Wellerman, is assistant secretary of the Y.M.C.A. During the height of the Grand Trunk strike last summer, Mr. Wellerman refused to admit strike-breakers to the Sarnia building, where they were to be fed at the railway company's expense, and he lost his position as a result of the action.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1910.

The Local Business House.

A great many people apparently believe that they can purchase certain lines of goods to better advantage in the big city departmental stores than they can in the local places of business. Practically speaking, nothing could be further from the truth, but the city departmentals by persistent advertising and insistent claims have succeeded in persuading a considerable following to this false doctrine. Appeals might be made to local patriotism, local friendships and local interests as reasons for patronizing local business men instead of the city departmentals, but the merits of Orangeville, as will be seen by a perusal of this issue, have chosen a better and a more practical way. Instead of asking for the favors to which they are reasonably entitled from purely local considerations, they advertise their goods, quoting prices and qualities, thereby submitting their claims to the trade of the community to the judgment and investigation of the buying public.

Investigation after all is what is needed. If the general public would only honestly and intelligently compare qualities and prices, they would soon conclude that it would pay them to confine their purchases to the local merchants. For fear that this statement may be considered overdrawn it might be well to compare some prices. In a fall catalogue, issued recently by one of the big Toronto departmentals, a sample is shown of a line of raincoats advertised at $10.95. Raincoats, the same in style and rather better in cloth, are sold by local firms for $10. Under the heading of "high-grade tailored goods." English Melton Overcoats are offered at $18. Orangeville tailoring houses are selling these overcoats at $15 and $16. In a recent issue of one of the Toronto dailies, a city house advertised a dozen pearl handled knives and forks for $19.50. An Orangeville jeweller sells the same line for $12. The same house advertised a three piece ebony set in a silk lined case for $10. The set can be bought from a local jeweller for $7.50. Some months ago a farmer in this neighborhood sent to one of the departmentals for a pair of horse blankets that he should have bought from some local merchant. He showed his "bargain" to a neighbor and shortly afterwards the neighbor purchased a pair that he considered equally good from an Orangeville merchant for $1 less. Instances might be multiplied, but these will serve to show that the buyers who make their purchases at home generally fare as well, or better than the people who are carried away by the bargain counter advertisements of the big departmentals.

What is needed is investigation and an understanding of the situation. The local merchant needs to advertise and the local buyers need to watch his advertisements. The enormous expense of the city departmentals in every line outweigh any minor advantages they may have otherwise. Then apart altogether from the price consideration, there is the personal guarantee of the local merchant, which is the best assurance the customer can have as to the quality of the goods he is buying. This in itself is worth a great deal to the buyer. As a rule he is acquainted with the home business man and knows exactly how much dependence he can place on his word. He has no such knowledge of the men who run the departmentals. The likelihood is that he has never met and never expects to meet any of them. Altogether the buyer, who trades with the men and firms he knows and feels he can trust, consults his own pocket and has at the same time the satisfaction of knowing that he is helping support home interests and home enterprises.

HENDERSON WON

Got Recommendation Of County Executive For Office of Sheriff of Peel.

Last week, the Banner picked Mr. Nathan Henderson, of Palgrave, as the probable successor to the late Geo. Brodey, in the important and lucrative office of Sheriff of the County of Peel. On Tuesday, Mr. Henderson verified the prediction of this journal by securing the endorsation of the Executive of the County Liberal Conservative Association which met in Brampton for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the office. Mr. Henderson's selection virtually means his appointment, as the latter is made by the Government on the recommendation of Mr. Samuel Charters, the sitting member, who will undoubtedly accept the choice of the Executive.

There were twelve candidates, who had sufficient confidence in their strength to allow their names to go before the Executive. They were:—Messrs F. Jackson, Toronto township; N. Henderson, Palgrave; D. I. McClure, Chinguacousy; Thos. Wilson, Caledon; Ralph Crawford, Chinguacousy; Alex. McCort, Albion; L. J. C. Bull, Chinguacousy; S. Egan, Bolton; W. S. Merphy and W. C. Young, Brampton; Messrs Morgan and Foster, Toronto Gore. The first thing the Executive, which consists of about 42 or 43 members, did after getting ready to vote, was to take a ballot on the lot. Henderson got the largest vote, Jackson, Mc Clure and Wilson following in the order named. Bull, Egan, Morgan, Young, and Foster had such an insignificant following that they were dropped. The order on the second ballot was Henderson, Jackson, McClure, Wilson, McCort, Crawford and Morphy. Morphy was dropped and Crawford, McCort, and Wilson fared similarly on the third, fourth, and fifth ballots. Henderson was always ahead and maintained his position on the sixth, with Jackson and McClure, the other two contestants, a tie. There was no change in the seventh. Jackson and McClure were then pitted against each other, the latter winning. McClure's strength was next tested against Henderson, the Palgrave man again winning. The next ballot was between Henderson and Jackson, but the former was still invincible. The winner was then pitted against each of the other candidates and after defeating the eleven in turn was declared the choice of the Executive.

The appointment will probably be gazetted in a week or so.

Another Railway Accident.

About 8 o'clock on Friday night the Owen Sound passenger train crashed into the rear end of a freight train of 66 cars, that was standing on the track a short distance this side of West Toronto station. The caboose of the freight and three empty steel coal cars were badly smashed. W. Worthington, fireman on the engine of the express train, W. H. Hewson and T. B. Andrews, two commercial travellers living in Toronto, were the only persons injured. Worthington had bitten his tongue during the crash and was hardly able to talk for some days afterwards. His leg and chin were also injured. Hewson had both knee caps hurt and was unable to walk. Andrews sustained a sprained ankle. The damage to the rolling stock was considerable. The passenger engine lost its smokestack and the front gear was torn away. The caboose and three coal cars were a total wreck.

The freight train, it appears, was insufficiently manned. It consisted of 76 cars at Alliston, which meant that the train was over half a mile in length. There were 66 cars behind the engine when the accident occurred. There were only two brakemen looking after the whole train, which was easily long enough to make two good-sized trains. The direct cause of the collision was the failure of the freight crew to change the tail lights from green to red—the danger signal. A short distance north of West Toronto station, the draw bar of the freight engine pulled out and the train was left standing on the track, while the engine went ahead to get the yard engine to go out and bring the big freight in. The lights should have been changed from blue to red, but as this was not done the engineer of the passenger train had no suspicion of danger until he was right on the freight.

OBITUARY

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Williamson mourn the death of their little daughter, Ella Florence, aged seven years, which occurred on Friday evening. The deceased was a victim of scarlet fever. She was a bright and lovable child and her death is a severe shock to her parents, who in their bereavement will have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends and acquaintances. The funeral, which will be private, takes place this afternoon to Brandon cemetery.—Brandon, Man., Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson will have the sympathy of their many Orangeville friends in their sad and trying bereavement.

MRS. GEORGE WILLIAMS.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Williams, wife of Mr. George Williams, formerly of East Garafraxa, occurred at her home lot 5, con. 1, Adjala township, on Saturday after a long and peculiarly trying illness. Over a year ago Mrs. Williams was operated on for a growth in the throat and last August was obliged to undergo a second operation. The operations, which were performed in the Toronto General Hospital, were of a serious nature and necessitated the use of two tubes, one for breathing and the other for feeding the patient. The unfortunate woman, we understand, has not been able to speak since last winter. She bore her misfortune patiently and with a cheerfulness and fortitude that was remarkable. Mrs. Williams, who was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Graham, Orangeville, was only 38 years of age. She is survived by her husband, a daughter, Mrs. Wilbert Donaldson, Mono, and three sons, James, Fred and Percy. Mrs. Wm. Phillips, Prince Albert, Sask.; Mrs. Harry Burris, Sault Ste Marie, Mich., and Mrs. J. Woodyard, Toronto, are sisters. The funeral to the Forest Lawn cemetery Sunday afternoon was largely attended. Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's church, was the officiating clergyman. The pallbearers were John and George Graham, Alliston; S. Woodyard, Albion; Perry Irwin, Adjala; W. A. Donaldson and Robert Summerville, Mono.

Council Balks at Placing Telephone in Crown Attorney's Down-Town Office.

County Crown Attorney W. J. L. McKay's request for telephones in his down town office and the residence of High Constable Hughes was responsible for an interesting debate at the Thursday morning sitting of the County Council. The Committee on County Property brought in a report recommending that a telephone be installed in Mr. McKay's office as requested. Deputy-reeve Dr. Campbell moved in amendment, seconded by Reeve Hosick, that the Council go into Committee of the Whole to consider the recommendation. The upshot was the amendment of the report by striking out the part relating to the downtown office and substituting therefor a recommendation that a phone be placed in the Crown Attorney's office in the Court House if he wishes to occupy it.

Mr. McKay was in the storm centre again at the afternoon session, when Reeve Babe launched forth a vigorous attack on the Crown Attorney and his method of conducting his office. After unburdening himself, the Shelburne representative moved, seconded by Deputy-Reeve Simpson, that "the Attorney-General's Department be asked to investigate the manner in which the County Crown Attorney conducts the business of his office."

The members were evidently not all of the one opinion, for Reeve Corneilius, of East Garafraxa, and Reeve Hosick, of Amaranth, both, by the way, staunch Conservatives, fathered an amendment in favor of no action. The amendment, however, was swamped on the following division.

Yeas—Corneilius, Hosick, Oldfield—3.

Nays—Anderson, Arnott, Babe, Campbell, Dynes, Dryden, Greer, Lawrence and Sime—9.

In his annual report to the council, read at the Thursday afternoon sitting, High Constable Hughes commented upon the infrequency of crime of a serious nature. According to the report one peddler's license less and one auctioneer's license less than last year were issued this year. On motion of Reeve Arnott, Mr. Hughes was voted the usual grant of $50.

Messrs. H. Endacott, of Orangeville, and H. H. Walker, of Shelburne, were appointed auditors. They will receive $20 each for their services.

The report of the Committee on Education, which was read by the Chairman, Reeve Corneilius, on Friday morning, recommended a grant of $10 to the County of Dufferin Trustees Association. Respecting an account presented by N. Gordon, Public School Inspector, for $171.55 for travelling expenses, the committee recommended that the bill be referred to the County Judge for adjustment as provided by the Public Schools Act.

The report of the Committee on County Property recommended the acceptance of the following tenders for gaol supplies for 1911:

J. Kearns & Son—Coffee, 15c. per lb.; Japan tea, 23c. per lb.; granulated sugar, 5⅛c. per lb.; rolled oats, 90 lb. sack, $2.25; butter, 20c. per lb.; beans, hand picked, 3c. per lb.; pot barley, 3c. per lb.; N. P. soap, 12½c. a bar; Comfort soap, 4½c. a bar; Sunlight soap 4½c. a bar; tobacco, Amber, 60c. per lb.; tobacco, Empire, 40c. per lb.; turnips, 8c. per bush.; potatoes, 35c. per bush.; carrots, 15c. per bush.; American coal oil, 17c. per gal.; Canadian coal oil, 15c. per gal.; eggs, 12c. per doz.; molasses, 40c. per Imperial gal.; brooms, 3 cord, 40c. each; brooms, 4 cord, 35c, each.

Meat—T. Durkin & Son, flank cuts, 7c. per lb.; shank, 3c. per lb.

Bread—R. G. Harshaw, 14½c. 4 lb. loaf.

Milk—J. R. Cook, 6c. per quart.

The Committee also recommended that the Chairman, with Governor Bowles, be given authority to purchase clothing for the inmates of the gaol, that a urinal be placed in the county buildings, that keys be procured for the jury rooms and that the ventilators in the Court House be put in proper working order.

There was also the further recommendation that a telephone be installed in the Crown Attorney's office in the Court House, provided Mr. McKay wishes to occupy the office. The committee turned down the application for a phone in High Constable Hughes' residence.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of an account of $130.72 from the Victoria Industrial School for the maintenance of four inmates up to October 1st.

The Committee on Roads and Bridges reported in favor of the payment of accounts amounting to $91.97 and commission and mileage expenses to the amount of $114.50. The committee expressed its disapproval of any considerable expenditure on the bridge on the Amaranth-East Garafraxa townline on the ground that a new bridge will probably be required in the near future.

The report of the committee appointed to consider the Warden's address expressed satisfaction with the improvements made in and around the county buildings. The expense, the report stated, had been considerable, but the committee was of opinion "that the county had received good value for the money spent." The committee, the report continued, had visited the High School in company with other members of the council and inspected the new addition under construction. The report expressed pleasure at the progress being made and the conviction that "the facilities for the teaching of Agriculture will be a great improvement and advantage to those attending the High School in the future."

Considerable difference of opinion developed over the question of increasing the license for hawkers and peddlers. A new by-law was eventually put through, making the following changes:

Auctioneers license increased from $12 to $15; peddlers or hawkers, travelling on foot or carrying a basket, from $20 to $30, travelling on foot and carrying a pack, $20 to $30, using a push cart, $25 to $50, using one horse or other animal, $50 to $200, using two horses or other animals, $75 to $300. The by-law also contains an omnibus clause, covering all classes of pedlars not specifically covered by the former clauses. The license in this case is also $300. Formerly it was $75.

Section 7 of the by-law provides that a constable or other police officer may demand that a peddler or hawker doing business in the County shall produce his license. If the demand is not complied with the officer of the law may arrest the peddler without a warrant and upon his failure to produce the license may take him before the nearest Justice of the Peace to be dealt with according to the by-law.

The penalty for a breach of the by-law is a fine of not less than $30 or more than $300 with costs and in default of payment imprisonment for a term not exceeding 90 days.

During the final session on Friday morning an honorarium of $100 was voted to the Warden in recognition of his services.

On motion of Deputy-reeve Simpson, seconded by Reeve Hosick, the Warden vacated the chair, which was taken by Reeve Greer.

Reeve Hosick then moved that "this council desires to thank the Warden and convey to him the hearty approval of the members for the very able, impartial and courteous manner in which he has presided over our deliberations during the year."

Every member of the council spoke briefly in endorsation of the motion, which was then carried by a unanimous vote, followed by hearty applause.

Reeve Greer tendered the thanks of the council to the Warden in a neat speech, and Mr. Reith responded in felicitous and happy terms.

Council then adjourned sine die, the Clerk leading in singing the National Anthem before the members dispersed.

BIG VALUE FOR LITTLE MONEY

For the small sum of One Dollar one can certainly get big value by subscribing to the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal. In the first place you get the greatest weekly paper on the continent, a newspaper, magazine, and agricultural journal, all in one. Then again, each subscriber this season has the chance of winning a free trip to the Old Country next June, with all expenses from his home in Canada to the Old Country and return, and his spending money as well. This is no catch penny offer, as the Family Herald and Weekly Star's reputation would not allow any fake contest. Full particulars can be had at this office, or by writing for a sample copy of that great paper. It is the best value in Canada beyond dispute.

Good, Better or Best?

A VITAL DIFFERENCE IN BREADS

QUALITY you know is comparative. Just as much so in bread, as in woolens or linens.

If you make bread at all you naturally want it to be good—as good as, or better than your neighbor's.

But is your bread as good as it ought to be? Does it furnish its full quantum of health and strength? Is it nutritious as well as delicious?

Ordinary flour may make fairly good looking bread. But if you care for food value, for nutrition, for digestibility, for bone and muscle and blood building quality, you will want a flour rich in the highest quality of gluten.

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" is the finest flour in the world and makes the best bread in the world.

And it is just as good for Pastry as it is for Bread. It is the one flour which has proved an unqualified success for every household purpose. And its absolute uniformity guarantees you against failure—

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is made of Manitoba Red Fyfe Wheat, which is especially rich in high quality gluten.

It is scientifically milled in the finest mills in the British Empire and samples are regularly subjected to the most exacting of all tests, the oven test, to insure uniformity.

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" always makes the finest and most nourishing bread, the lightest, flakiest and most healthful pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins, rolls.

Order "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" at once. Don't delay. The sooner you commence using this finest of all flours the better for your family. 22

DUELS BETWEEN ANIMALS.

Fight of a Tiger and a Crocodile With Native For a Spectator.

It is said that the most common form of duel between animals is that afforded by the instance of two stags which, while fighting, interlocked their antlers so tenaciously that they could not separate them, and so starved to death.

One of the most interesting of animal duels was that told of a swan and a pike, which occurred in a body of water situated on an English estate. A laboring man, who passed this pond every morning on his way to work, observed a swan with its head under water. The next morning the bird was in exactly the same place and position. Still, that was not remarkable, however, when he saw that the swan was in precisely the same position, he called the attention of the keeper to it. The keeper found that the swan's head had been swallowed by a large pike. Both were dead.

In India a native went to bathe in a ravine. He was in the water up to his neck when a tiger on the hill above gave a leap toward its prey. But the tiger had not calculated that, since his victim was much lower than himself, a leap of the right strength for a horizontal range would carry him far beyond his mark; consequently he fell some ten feet on the other side.

Now it happened that a hungry crocodile was at the same time drawing a bee line under water toward the native. When the crocodile had almost come upon his prey, he heard a splash just in front, and made a dash bringing his enormous jaws down on the tiger's paw.

The bather nearly fainted with fright when he saw the tiger fall into the water, and for a few moments he could not understand why the creature did not devour him. Why did he persist in keeping one of his paws under water beating savagely with the other. And the water turned red!

Then all at once the assaults of the tiger became more furious and his growls developed into roars. The huge tail of a crocodile reared up out of the water. The obvious intention was to pull the tiger under water and drown him and the tiger understanding this purpose, tried to frustrate it by beating the snout of the crocodile with his other paw. But the snout was too far down, and he left much of his force on the surface of the water. His struggles became more and more feeble and at length he disappeared altogether, only a cluster of bubbles remaining to show where he had been.

His fight, however, had been a game one, not entirely in vain; for, when the bodies of the two beasts finally came to the surface, it was seen that the tiger had literally torn away the whole front of the crocodile's face and had blinded it so that his victory was a useless one.

Story of a Royal Residence.

It is not generally known that King George almost purchased a residence in the North of Ireland a few years ago, and the true story why he did not do so has never previously been told. The residence in question was one that particularly appealed to him. The estate was extensive and possessed excellent fishing and shooting rights, while the scenery in the neighborhood was among the most picturesque it would be possible to imagine. Both the Prince and Princess of Wales (as their Majesties then were) fell in love with the place, and negotiations for its purchase were well advanced when the matter came to the ears of the leaders of the Irish party. A protest was at once entered with the Prime Minister of the day, and a significant hint was given that if the Heir-Apparent took up his residence in Ireland matters would be made pretty awkward for the Government in the House of Commons. The Premier was consequently in something of a dilemma, and sought an audience of the late King.

King Edward listened to what his chief political adviser had to say, and then consulted the Prince of Wales, and pointed out the objections that had been raised, and the awkward position in which the viceroy would be placed every time the prince or princess appeared in Dublin. King Edward further added reasons of his own for opposing this plan chiefly on account of the distance from London that his heir would be when residing upon his Irish estate. His present Majesty at length agreed to forego his project, and to accept Frogmore as his country home.

Far Too Official.

During a portion of the South African war, Lord Kitchener had as an orderly a young scion of a noble house who had joined the Imperial Yeomanry as a trooper. He could not quite understand that he was not on terms of perfect equality with the members of the staff, and having been summoned one morning to carry despatches for the commander-in-chief, he entered the room with a jaunty air. "Did you want me, Kitchener?" he asked calmly, while the rest of the staff gasped for fear of what would happen next. Kitchener, however, merely looked at him with a quiet smile. "Oh, don't call me Kitchener," he remarked gently, "it's so beastly formal. Call me Herbert!"

Irish Avoid the Navy.

In proportion to its population, Ireland supplies very few sailors to the royal navy. The number of boys who joined within the last two years was only 211, as compared with 6,949 for Great Britain. In the same period 318 second-class stokers were enlisted in Ireland, and 7,488 in Great Britain. There is no naval training ships on the Irish coast, the number of boys joining in Ireland being too small to justify it.

Imagination.

It is imagination rather than reason that distinguishes man from brute, and no person who is devoid of imagination can know extremes of happiness or misery. Happiness in a great measure depends on the faculty for forgetting.

THE NEWSPAPER IN CHINA.

The influence of newspaper discussion and opinion upon politics and government has become such a commonplace, that is a little surprising to read of the influence of government upon the press. But one of the first definite results of the opening of the new Chinese Parliament is the organization of a press association, called the "Society for Improving Journals in China." The society, which was organized at Nankin by the representatives of thirty-six "vernacular newspaper offices," set before itself three objects: to deliberate on questions of common interest "to the journalistic circle in the empire, and carry the resolution into effect," to publish the society's views on foreign questions, and "to fix the scope of discussion on matters of politics and diplomacy." This last purpose is not promising of genuine progress, and leads the China Tribune to remark that the society "seems to expect to play an important role in regard to political questions," and to advise the combined journalists to be advise the combined journalists to be very cautious on this point. Any attempt at apparent unanimity of opinion on the part of the thirty-six journals, regardless of their individual views, would be nearer to a newspaper "Trust" than any of the Western newspaper combinations that have absurdly incurred the name. The first requisite in the Chinese press is accuracy and fullness of information. Not until its news columns have been made fairly reliable can discussion be of much value. Actual amalgamation of two or more weak newspapers is a place to form a strong one might do much to this end, and could hardly help being of advantage to both publishers and public.

13 YEAR OLD HEROINE

A dramatic story of the heroism of the thirteen-year-old daughter of a settler near Clementson on the American side of Rainy River has just been made public. J. A. Hyer, mail carrier between Beaudette, Minn., and Clementson, was carrying half a ton of mail in a dog sled down the river when the whole outfit went through the ice. Hyer found the ice breaking every time he got hold of the edge, but his cries attracted Lizzie Alloway, who rushed down to the thin ice, got hold of Hyer's coat collar. She clung to him for twenty minutes, even after the water came over the ice and almost covered her. Hyer pleaded with her to let go andleave him, as he was convinced both would drown, but their cries brought three men, who happened to be near, and they dragged the girl over the ice, still clinging to Hyer, who was all but unconscious All the mail, including a sack of registered letters, went to the bottom of the river and has not been recovered.

Kidney Suffering

Backaches and tired feelings tell of weak kidney action—Prompt relief by using DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

There is no treatment for kidney disease which will afford you relief so quickly as Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, and none which will so certainly cure the most complicated forms of this disease.

There is a reason for this. Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills awaken the action of the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys and thereby effect a thorough cleansing and regulating of the excretory system.

Mr. S. J. Argue, Kars, Carleton, Co., Ont., writes:—"I have suffered a great deal wth kidney troubles and pains in the small of the back and have tried a good many remedies without obtaining very much benefit. I wish to say, however, that I can heartily recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills as a splendid medicine as they have proven of very great value to me."

Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Refuse substitutes.

CHEMISTS AND CRIME.

The Analyst Is Now One of the Greatest Police Agents.

Analysts have played an important part in the Crippen case, and it might be said without exaggeration that were it not for these gentlemen hundreds of crimes would be added to the police list of unsolved mysteries. Medical detectives, as the analysts employed by Scotland Yard are called, invariably carry through their duties with skill, certainty, and absence of prejudice. They have mastered the action and character of every poison under the sun, and this fact, being well known, has decreased poisoning to a considerable extent during recent years.

Practically the poisoners can hide nothing from the modern analyst, for that gentleman is not only familiar with all poisons, but can recognise their presence almost as easily as he can recognise the dome of St. Paul's Cathedral. By the aid of his test-tube, his miscroscope, and his spectroscope, he is able to lay bare the poisoner's secret and track him down. If any great criminal was suspected of poisoning his wife, the analysts, upon examining the remains, would be able to prove what poison was used and in what quantity.

Delicate to a marvellous degree are the tests employed by analysts in the case of poisons. If a man were to be poisoned with arsenic to-morrow and were buried without being examined internally, an analyst could a quarter of a century later gather from the remains of the body a considerable amount of the poison which killed him and in the same state as that in which it was administered.

Probably arsenic has been more frequently used by murderers as a death-dealer than any other poison, and arsenic is a very peculiar poison. It is a well-known fact that many men and women take arsenic in small doses as a medicine, while the inhabitants of Syria are said to eat it as freely as we eat salt. To a person who has never touched, eaten, or smelt arsenic a medium-sized dose would have a fatal effect. No matter how it got into the system it would be deadly, for arsenic kills whether it is swallowed, rubbed into a wound, or breathed as a vapour. Chapman, who was hanged for poisoning his mistresses, used arsenic, and the drug was also used in the memorable Maybrick case.

Mme. Lafarge poisoned her husband, an ironmaster, by means of arsenic. While M. Lafarge was in Paris on a visit his wife pretended to send him a parcel, in which was her portrait, five small cakes made by his mother, and a letter. This parcel was sealed in the presence of witnesses. When the parcel reached Lafarge it contained only one large cake. He ate this, and nine days later he died. Mme. Lafarge was arrested and charged with murder by poisoning. At the trial it was alleged that she had made the large cake with arsenic as one of the ingredients, and substituted it for the five small ones. She was found guilty after a trial exceeding a fortnight, and condemned to imprisonment for life.

To micro-photography the discovery of many a crime is due. The spectroscope is infallible in revealing the presence of the minutest trace of blood, but it is unable to distinguish between human and animal blood. The microscope can, however. The corpuscles of different mammalia can only be distinguished by their size and shape, and it can be seen that without the microscope it would be impossible to draw a distinction between the blood of a man and the blood of an animal.

The corpuscles of both men and animals are all circular with the exception of those of the llama, alpaca, camel, and their kind, which are oval.

Some time ago a man suspected of murder was found to own an axe covered with blood. An analyst examined the blood, and found that it was that of a goat, the corpuscles measuring 41-tenths of a micron. On this evidence he was found not guilty.

Cloth stained with red thought to be blood is touched with ammonia. If the stain is caused by fruit juice it turns blue or green; if by Condy's fluid it become blue; and if by cochineal it becomes crimson. But if it be blood, human or animal, the color under the influence of the ammonia does not change in the least.

A Vacancy at Court.

The death of the late Sir Fleetwood Edwards has left vacant one of the most coveted positions about the court — that of Paymaster to the Household—and there is considerable speculation as to whom His Majesty will select to follow him. The name of Hon. Drek Keppe is most favored, but there are good reasons for believing that he will prefer to retain his present post as Equerry to His Majesty. The post of Paymaster-General is worth a thousand a year, and the duties are comparatively light, most of the work being done by the Keeper of the Privy Purse. It is reported in circles likely to be well informed that the King has brought some amount of pressure to bear upon the veteran Sir Dighton Probyn to accept the position. Gen. Probyn, however, prefers now to remain in complete retirement, and it is unlikely in the extreme that he will be induced to return to court. Some official announcement is shortly to be looked for on this subject.

A Shrewd Duchess.

Like many other great ladies the Duchess of Abercorn is an expert business woman. Near Baronscourt, her home in Ireland, she has a very successful creamery, and a great deal of the dairy produce sold by leading shops in Belfast and supplied to some of the steamers which sail from that port, comes from it. The duchess is the aunt of Lord Howe, and Sir Assheton Curzon-Howe, the distinguished admiral, is her only brother.

A Hot Shave.

It was stated at Astor recently that Edward Carter, a tramp, who was sentenced to a month's hard labor for begging, took matches out of his pocket, whilst he was on his way to the police station, and set fire to his beard, saying he would have a clean shave before being locked up.

Fortunate is the Oxypathist.

He needs no doctors or drugs—so saves their expense.

He has no drug medicines about to poison his children or start in them a craving for alcohol, cocaine or similar evils.

He knows how and why he is cured and so knows what to do when sickness appears.

He is always the complete master of disease regardless of kind—severity—duration—or failure of former systems of treatment—and so fears none in self or family.

He gets simple—safe—sure—speedy—sensible home treatment instead of experiments—talk—theory—virus—or other drug poisons.

He is independent—intelligent—progressive.

He has protected his home and insured his health and happiness through life.

SUMMER PLANS.

Get out the time tables, Lucy; surely we're late this spring.
For it's time to plan vacation and the annual summering.
We who have planned together junkets and trips and tours—
Hearken to my plans, Lucy, and I will listen to yours.

First we must go to the mountains, up where it's clear and dry.
"But I don't like the mountains; they're likely to be too high.
Rather for us the seashore, by the Atlantic deep"—
"But I don't like the seashore; its noise never lets me sleep."

"Why not a trip to Europe, where we can have a change?"
"But I'm afraid of Europe, where everything seems so strange."
"Well, let us try the Rockies and travel the boundless west."
"But that would be work, my dearest, and the thing we both need is rest."

"Haply, then, Nova Scotia, cool as a mountain grot"—
"Cool? Don't you ever think it! Sometimes it's terribly hot."
"Well, let us seek the country, up in the woods of Maine."
"Perish the very notion—miles from a boat or train!"

I could go on forever telling each futile plan,
Reporting each conversation that ends right where it began,
But here's the motif of my ballad, this is the crux of my pome—
That Lucy and I do this year—and end by staying at home.

—Franklin P. Adams in Success Magazine.

An Insult.

Nell—Yes; she's broken the engagement, and I don't wonder. He told her to drop novels and read something more substantial — something that would improve her.

Tom—Well?

Nell—Well, the idea of a man intimating that his fiancee could be improved in any way!—Catholic Standard and Times.

"Poor Biff's gone."
"Jugged?"
"Dead. He couldn't stand prosperity. He was accidentally locked in a saloon overnight."

Tough Job.

The old major had been on an extended trip "up noff." Now he was back in the general store of the village telling of his travels.

"And Niagara falls, suh!" he began vividly. "What could be a grander sight? To think of the vast, inconceivable power in those millions of tons of water that dash over the rocks and then to think that those falls are harnessed by mere man!"

The major paused for breath, and the old colored man who had just come in with a pail of eggs looked interested.

"Majah!"

"Yes, Sam."

"Who was de gen'man det harnessed dem deh falls?"

"Why—er—Sam, I can't just remember his name. But why are you so anxious to know?"

"Ah was just thinkin', majah."

"Thinking of what, old man?"

"Thinkin' what Ah'd give to see de gen'man try en harness det ol', ol' mule Ah bought f'um de bankrupt circus last spring. Tee-hee!"—Chicago News.

In this issue The Orangeville Banner presents a combined list of goods with prices quoted and suggested, such as no city departmental store can equal in variety of stock, newness of goods, quality, style, or yet in prices.

The combined stores of Orangeville can easily outrival any two city departmental stores in the stocks carried, the prices offered, and the quality of goods sold.

Investigation will prove this point beyond dispute.

When you have all the big store stocks here to choose from you have more variety than any city departmental store can give in any one line.

By trading here you have the opportunity of inspecting the goods and comparing values on the spot.

You save time, trouble, postage, express, and disappointment.

You have immense stocks of new goods to choose from.

You have the reputation of business men, who are here all the time to back up the quality of what you buy.

You are not trading sight unseen. You see the goods you buy, and buy the goods you see.

As To Prices!

On investigation it has been found that the city departmental stores do not sell the same quality of goods lower than the local merchants. You may think they do, but the truth is that they do not. Local merchants have less proportionate expenses to pay. All the Orangeville merchants are financially sound, and so able to purchase for cash, and in large quantities—the City Departmental Store has little advantage over them here. A comparison of the City Departmental Store's catalogue prices with the local merchants' prices will be the most convincing evidence that

It Will Pay You To Trade in Orangeville.

Just make that comparison once or twice and convince yourself. In the meantime read the advertisements in this issue; there are some great bargains offered. See the goods, get the prices, examine the stocks, and the rest may safely be left to your good judgment.

PURITY FLOUR

Sold by Henry Watt, Orangeville.

This Concrete Root Cellar Costs Less Than Wood and is Much More Durable

Cement is particularly adapted to the construction of Root Cellar floors and walls.

Experience proves that for the farmer, Concrete is superior to wood in every point of comparison.

Concrete permits of a desirable degree of coolness without freezing. There is no question as to its durability. Concrete lasts, not for years, but for ages; and needs no repair.

Anyone who has scooped vegetables from the old plank floor will appreciate the fact that Concrete offers a smooth, continuous surface with no projecting plank ends or nails to damage the scoop or ruffle the temper of the scooper.

The various uses to which Concrete may be profitably put, on the farm, are plainly and simply in our 160-page book, which shows how the following farm buildings and utilities can be constructed of concrete:—

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

Barns, Cisterns, Dairies, Dipping Tanks, Foundations, Fence Posts, Feeding Floors, Gutters, Hens' Nests, Hitching Posts, Horse Blocks, Houses, Poul-Shelter Walls, Stables, Stairs, Stalls, Steps, Tanks, Troughs, Walks, and so forth.

Send for it—it's free—though it regularly sells for 50c. Write to-day.

You may send me a copy of "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete."

CANADA CEMENT COMPANY REDUCES PRICES.

The price of Cement has been lowered. This announcement may come as a surprise to many—for, when Mergers merge, the opposite tendency is usually looked for, but this time the unexpected has happened.

About a year ago most of the largest cement interests joined hands and formed one company, known as The Canada Cement Company, Limited. It was immediately predicted, in many quarters, that prices would be advanced, that on account of the big Merger the consumer would have to pay dear for his cement in future. The promoters of the Company, on the other hand, stoutly contested this theory, pointing out that owing to reduction of expenses and increased efficiency, they hoped to be able to give even cheaper cement than ever before.

The first move on the part of the Cement Company was to regulate the price of its products, and it was an agreeable surprise to everyone when it was learned that in making the adjustment, prices were not unduly advanced. That was last year.

On the 1st of November, this year, a circular was sent out by the Canada Cement Company, further reducing the price of its product throughout the entire Dominion on an average of about 10c. per barrel.

This reduction means a whole lot, and proves beyond doubt the sincerity of the statements made by the promoters, when the Company was yet in embryo.

RHEUMATISM

Cured by Booth's Kidney Pills.

T. E. Foster, of St. John St., Fredericton, N. B., says: "I have found more actual relief from Booth's Kidney Pills than in all else I have ever tried for rheumatism. The pains in my limbs have lessened greatly and I am better and stronger than in years previous. My appetite has built up and I eat and sleep better than I have in over 3 years. My general health is greatly improved and I can credit this only to Booth's Kidney Pills."

Booth's Kidney Pills

This is the Booth Kidney Pill way. These wonderful pills are sold under a guarantee to refund your money if they fail to relieve any sufferer from Rheumatism or any trouble having its origin in the Kidneys. They cure Backache, dull shooting pains, thick and cloudy urine, gravel and stone, rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

Booth's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers, 50c. box, or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by T. Stevenson.

DECLINED WITH THANKS

FAMOUS BRITONS WHO HAVE REFUSED TO ACCEPT TITLES.

Chamberlain Was Unwilling to Lose Himself Under a Strange Name and It Was Only After Years That Lord Morley Took His Peerage—Radicals Have Several Times Turned Down Honors—Heaton Said "No."

Most men are only too pleased to receive some honor as a mark of recognition of either political services to their party or in the wider sphere of usefulness to their fellows, says M.A.P. It, therefore, requires considerable strength of character to refuse such an honor from motives of modesty or owing to an unswerving adherence to principles. Yet many a famous man has refused recognition by his sovereign and a grateful country for these reasons, some of them more than once.

That great statesman whose failing health has kept him out of the turmoil of politics for so many months has refused to lose his identity under a little known title. Thus, when he went to Washington in 1887 on a mission concerning the fishery troubles between Canada and the United States, Lord Salisbury offered him a peerage on his return, but Mr. Chamberlain refused it, preferring to remain in the Commons where he had won so many triumphs.

It is well known that it was only with the utmost reluctance that Lord Morley was prevailed upon to accept a title. He had refused one several times, but when it at last came to the choice of remaining in the Lower House as a private member or retaining his post as Secretary for India in the calm of the Lords, he finally decided to accept the honor.

When the present Lord James of Hereford became Solicitor-General he refused for some time to accept the knighthood that goes with the post, but Mr. Gladstone insisted that tradition should be respected.

More than one sturdy Radical who had no belief in the peerage, has refused promotion to the Gilded Chamber, or declined lesser honors. Two years ago it was expected that the Birthday Honors List would include the name of Mr. Arthur Acland, who entered Mr. Gladstone's last Cabinet in 1892 at the same time as Mr. Asquith, but it was understood that he had declined the proffered peerage. Then, when that veteran statesman, Mr. Henry Chaplin, left the Conservative Government ten years ago, he did not see his way to accept the peerage that Lord Salisbury was anxious to bestow upon him.

Knighthoods have been declined on the same grounds, while others have preferred to retain the simple title of plain "Mr." In two cases knighthoods have been refused after The Gazette has contained an announcement of their bestowal. Mr. Henniker-Heaton, the famous advocate of universal penny postage, who is retiring from the representation of Canterbury at the end of the present Parliament, declined knighthood on several occasions. When Mr. Balfour resigned office in 1905 he recommended Mr. Henniker-Heaton for the K.C.M.G., in recognition of his work in binding the Empire closed by means of cheap postage. The member for Canterbury was then on one of his visits to Australia, and when he heard of the announcement he at once wrote to decline it.

The same thing happened to Dr. J. W. Hackett, a prominent politician and newspaper owner of Western Australia. He was astonished to receive a cable from London announcing his knighthood, but he had no desire for the honor and promptly refused it.

At the time of the Imperial Press Conference last year at least two of the colonial representatives did not see their way to accept a knighthood that had been offered. But they do not set much store by titles in the colonies, and many statesmen belonging to the dominions beyond the seas have preferred to remain undistinguished above their fellows. That noted Imperialist, Mr. Deakin, has consistently refused every honor, even a Privy Councillorship having no attractions for him. At the last Colonial Conference those visiting Premiers who did not already belong to the Privy Council were sworn in as members, but the Australian Premier again declined as he had already done in 1900.

It is only within comparatively recent years that the arts of literature and the drama have been recognized as deserving honor as much as painting and the sciences. Mr. J. M. Barrie, who is equally successful as novelist or dramatist, is of such a shy and retiring nature that no one was very surprised when he refused a knighthood offered him twelve months ago.

Very few men have refused an honor in so graceful a manner as did Major Karri Davies, that sturdy Outlander who was a thorn in the side of the late President Kruger, and who led the South African Light Horse so gallantly during the Boer War. He was offered the Commandership of the Bath, but he wrote expressing his thanks and asking that he "might be permitted to serve His Majesty without any reward, as that was reward enough."

There are unregenerate people who look on the Victorian Order as a sort of negative honor to be without which is a greater distinction than to possess it, but it was not for this reason that M. Gunnar Knudsen refused the Grand Cross when the late King Edward was visiting Scandinavia two years ago. He asked leave to decline it as he disagreed with orders in general, an explanation that was published at the time, because some thought it odd that while the Premiers of Denmark and Sweden were created K.C.V.O. the Prime Minister of Norway was left out.

The King's Castles.

"Fruit-a-tives" Keeps Health Perfect

WILLIAM PARSONS, Esq.

OTTERVILLE, Ont., July 5th, 1910.

"I am a seventy-nine year old man, and a great believer in, and user of "Fruit-a-tives". It is the only medicine I take, and I can truly say that "Fruit-a-tives" and exercise keep me in my present good health.

Stricture of the Bowels was the complaint I suffered from and I found "Fruit-a-tives" to do me more good than any other remedy. My doctor advised me to stick to "Fruit-a-tives" and I have done so with the best results.

I have been in business here for a good many years and have been a resident of Otterville for over fifty years, so that if you think this long reference from me will serve to induce some others to try "Fruit-a-tives", I hereby authorize its publication.

WM. PARSONS

Obstinate Constipation, Paralysis of the Bowels and Stricture of the Bowels can never be cured by common purgatives, pills, senna, "liver pills" and all have positively no action on the liver. They do not increase the secretion of bile which nature provides to move the bowels. They merely irritate the membranes lining the intestines. One may as well try to cure a headache by pounding one's head against a stone wall, as to try to cure Constipation with common purgatives. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only true liver stimulant. "Fruit-a-tives" is fruit juices and nerve tonics, and will always restore the liver to its proper condition and cure the most obstinate cases of Constipation.

D. A. JONES DEAD

Founder of Beeton Passed Away After A Brief Illness.

Died, at his residence in Beeton, on Sunday, Nov. 20, 1910, David Alanson Jones, in his 75th. year.

Although it was known he was very ill, the news of the death of Mr. D. A. Jones on Sunday morning came as a shock to everyone in this town. He had always been an active and energetic man, both mentally and physically, but for some months was troubled with a weakness of the heart and the immediate cause of his death was angina pectoris.

Deceased was born in the township of Whitchurch and spent his younger days on his father's farm. In the year 1864 he came to Beeton and in partnership with his brother, (Senator L. M. Jones), built a store and commenced a general mercantile business which was continued for a years when his brother withdrew from the business and went to Brantford, and Mr. Jones leased the store leaving him free to form a company and start the business from which Beeton derived its name and which gained him the title of "The Bee King of Canada." The company was known as the "D.A. Jones, Limited," and a large factory was erected for the purpose of manufacturing all kinds of bee supplies and also sashes and doors. Employment was given in this factory to a number of men the year around. Also in connection with this factory several apiaries were located in various parts of the township and during certain seasons the bees were moved to "Jones' Island" on the east shore of the Georgian Bay. While at the head of this firm Mr. Jones travelled extensively, making a trip to Palestine and Cyprus to study the condition of bees and to see if they would be suitable to this country. He was the first one to import the Italian queen bees into America, and also shipped bees to all parts of the world. Students came here from various parts of Canada, the United States and the Old Country to study the management of bees. He was the sole exhibitor of honey at the first Industrial exhibition at Toronto and was past president of the Canadian Beekeeper's Association. When he was actively engaged in the industry he also published the Beeton World, the Canadian Bee Journal and the Canadian Poultry Journal.

During his early residence here he bought a tract of land which now comprises part of Beeton. This land was surveyed into plots and he laid out the streets of the village and planted the beautiful shade trees which now adorn the streets and will stand as monuments to his energies for some time to come. His whole aim was given to the building up of the town. How much the community owes him it is impossible to estimate. His many charitable acts kindness will never be forgotten, but he is gone and another name is stricken from the eberlasting roll of our old settlers. His very last act in life was to send a consignment of clothing, contributed by himself and others, to poor settlers in Parry Sound district, with whose conditions he was personally familiar.

In politics Mr. Jones was a strong Liberal and on two or three occasions he conducted exploring parties in the north country for the government, penetrating the wilderness from the main line of the C. P. R., near Sudbury, and on one trip going through Hudson's Bay as far north as Baffin's Bay, enduring great hardships.

He had been a life-long Presbyterian and contributed largely toward the erection of the Presbyterian church here. When the contents of his will is made known it is expected that all religious denominations and the citizens generally will be benefited by a provision made for the portion of a mausoleum in the cemetery.

He had been postmaster here almost continuously since his arrival in town 46 years ago.

Shortly before coming to Beeton he married Jessie Macpherson, of Whitby, who predeceased him only two and a half years ago. A little over a year ago he again married, his second wife being Frances Barton, of Toronto, who survives him. He had no family. One sister, Mrs. Dougherty of Manitoulin, and one brother, the Hon. Senator Lyman Jones, of Toronto, are also survivors.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon. The service at the house was conducted by his pastor, Rev. D. H. McCuaig, assisted by Rev. Crawford Brown, of Toronto, Rev. J. W. Fox and Rev. O. J. Nurse of town. Interment was made in the Presbyterian cemetery.—Beeton World.

TELLS THE PUBLIC THE REASON WHY

Quebec Man Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Of Rheumatism, Gravel and Diabetes says he wants other sufferers to have the benefit of his experience.

Rousseau Mills, Portneuf Co., Que, Nov. 29th., (Special) — "Tell the public Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me of Gravel, Rheumatism and Diabetes. These are the words of Seraphin Carpentier, of this place.

"For ten years I suffered," Mr. Carpentier continues. "Then I heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills and decided to try them. Almost from the first they relieved me and now all my Gravel, Diabetes, and Rheumatism have entirely left me.

"I want others to know what cured me, because I do not want them to suffer as I have suffered."

There are thousands of just such living proofs in Canada that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure Kidney disease. If you take the disease early they will cure it easily and quickly and youwill be saved much suffering. If you have neglected it and let it reach its more dangerous stages, such as Gravel, Diabetes or Bright's Disease, Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure it. They never fail.

ELECTRIC DEVICE TO PREVENT WRECKS.

In the presence of a number of officials of the road, experiments were made yesterday on the C.P.R. with an electric automatic block system, and pronounced perfectly satisfactory by them. A number of transformers placed along the track, about 1,600 feet apart, constitute the blocks. When an engine passes one of these blocks, the wheels short-circuit the track, and if an engine passes this block while there is another engine on the track, between it and the next block, the electric current acts on a system of levers in the engine and closes the throttle. The experiment was made with a locomotive equipped with the device, and proved very satisfactory. The device may be employed on the C. P. R.—Toronto Star of Saturday.

"EMPEROR OF THE BRITISH."

Chesterton's Reply to the Suggestion That King's Title Be Changed.

The proposal, recently made, to change the King's title to that of Emperor of the British evokes the following bit of characteristic comment from G. K. Chesterton:

We few poor Radicals who alone reverence the past, or seem to have any relish of the royal chronicles of England, have lately been confronted with a proposal calculated to make us take to our beds, to laugh at leisure, or die in peace. For indeed the thing passes all language, and is fit only for death or laughter.

It has actually been proposed in an English paper that the King of England should consent to be called Emperor of the British. The primary answer is obvious. Why not Sultan of the British? Why not Kaiser of the British, or Pope of the British? Why not Tsar? Why not Shah? Why not Grand Lama of Great Britain? Why not Doge of the British Empire? Why not Stadholder of the United States of Britain? Why not Mogul of the Three Kingdoms? Why not Mikado of the Isles? Why should there be a Dey of Tripoli, and no Dey of Turnham Green? Why should Tartary have had a Cham, while Tonbridge had no trace of a Cham? Why should we hear (with helpless envy) of there having once been an Akond of Swat, when it is vain to hope for any Akond of Surbiton? I know not how to comfort my fellow-countrymen for the loss of all these sumptuous and soaring titles, except by reminding them (however sad it may seem) that they are a great people, with a history of their own. We do not call our ruler an Emperor for the same reason that we do not call him a Brother of the Sun and Moon; because it is our national tradition to call him something else. Brother of the Sun and Moon is a much vaster and grander title than either Emperor or King; and if you want something grander still, I am sure I could invent it. Uncle of the Universe would be good, or Cousin of the Cosmos. There are greater titles than King of himself an Emperor. But even to call yourself King of England was a great business; still more to be one. To be a King like Edward I., or even like Edward III., is to look down as from a pinnacle upon all the chance brigands and compromising courtiers who have managed to "wear the purple" in the anarchies of East and West. To call a British King, wearing the crown of Arthur and Alfred, by the foolish foreign name suggested, is to me almost madly laughable; I would as soon call England by the improved name of Heligoland.

Trinidd's Asphalt Lake.

One of the natural wonders of the world is the great pitch lake of Trinidad, the most southerly island of the British West Indies. Paying better than any gold or diamond mine, the lake is locally known as "The Black Diamond." An American syndicate handles most of this natural asphalt under a concession from the Government, and from one corner of the lake obtains 800 tons every day. The material is shipped in enormous quantities to America, England and all parts of the world, where it is in demand for street making.

Close to the village of La Brea, the lake is inspected every year by numerous visitors to the island, for it is a curiosity not to be seen elsewhere. The lake lies 138 feet above the sea and is three miles in circumference. How deep it is nobody knows, for though many attempts have been made to fathom it, all have failed. To all appearances this is indeed the "bottomless pit."

Scientists describe the pitch substance as "bituminous matter floating on the surface of fresh water." For three feet down the pitch is solid enough to bear the weight of men and allow of their digging it up in great slabs with pickaxe and spade. Under that hard substance is liquid pitch cast up by subterranean fires, and under that again is the fresh water of the lake.

Though the syndicate secures several freight train loads every day, next morning when the army of negroes return to their work the surface is level and hard as before. An inexhaustible supply is therefore at hand without any preliminary expense. Alongside the lake is a light railway with iron cars that are run down to the sea—only a short distance—and there the asphalt is transferred to ships. From this remarkable industry the Government of the island receives a substantial part of its revenue every year. Columbus discovered Trinidad in 1498.

The Queen's Gift.

Many pretty stories have already been told of Queen Mary's kindness of heart, and the latest to hand is a very charming one. A young married woman, who recently arrived at Bridlington with her baby, found herself in very distressing circumstances, and, in her want and perplexity, she wrote a letter to Her Majesty, telling her of her sad and needy position. The Queen promptly had the matter investigated, and it was proved to be a genuine case, deserving assistance. Then the kind Queen sent some money to a trustworthy person to be expended in relieving the woman's distress, and thus rescued her from her sorrowful plight by wise and timely aid. Those who know how royal ladies are inundated with applications for pecuniary help will appreciate the mingled good sense and generosity with which the case was dealt.

The Nurse's Reward.

It is Lady Roberts who tells this story. She was once visiting the hospitals at the base of operations in India, and was so pleased with the nurses' work and their devotion to the sick, that she exclaimed: "Really, I think the sisters deserve a medal for this campaign as much as anyone, and I hope they will get one." "I don't know about a medal," said a gallant colonel, who was in attendance, "but they are sure, at all events, to get plenty of clasps."

Nervous Prostration For Three Years

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine cured me of a period of nervous prostration of over three years duration, and the Anti-Pain Pills are as necessary to us as the roof of our house. They have been household remedies with us for many years."

COUNTY ALLIANCE.

Peel County Temperance Workers Organize.

In response to a call of the Dominion Alliance for the suppression of the Liquor Traffic a large number of Temperance workers met in the Concert Hall, Brampton, on Tuesday, the 22nd. inst. Mr. Alfred Rutherford was chosen chairman and Mr. T. H. Graham secretary of the meeting.

Reports were received from delegates concerning the present condition of the temperance cause in the different municipalities.

Rev. Ben. H. Spence, secretary of the Dominion Alliance, addressed the convention and advocated the organization of a county society along the lines adopted by other municipalities.

The suggestion was favorably received and a county association was organized, to be known as the "Peel County Temperance Alliance," the object of the association being to enable the various municipalities to co-operate "to secure the greatest present repression and the speediest ultimate suppression of the traffic in intoxicating liquors."

The following officers were elected: President, S. Deeves, Brampton; 1st. Vice President, A. Rutherford, Castlederg; 2nd. Vice President, Mrs. W. Horace Foster. The executive committee consists of the above named officers and the following gentlemen: Thos. McCartney, Caledon East; T. H. Graham, Inglewood; Jas. Wiggins, Claude; G. L Williams, Brampton; C. W. Watson, Bolton; Lorne Davidson, Meadowvale; James Duncan, Woodbridge; Harvey Forster, Streetsville; J. McLellan, Palgrave; John Weylie, Streetsville and John M. Dods, Alton.

EYE STRAIN

NERVE STRAIN
The Two Go Together

Few people stop to realize the importance of the eyes and how careless they are at times in their use of them.

Eye-strain is responsible for much of the headache, neuralgia, insomania, nervous derangement and even stomach trouble that we hear of.

We have facilities here for testing your eyes and finding out exactly what they need. We sell only such glasses as we can thoroughly recommend at reasonable prices.

NEWS NOTES.

Ex-Reeve Thos. Dryden, of West Garafraxa, has been appointed census enumerator for North Wellington

Mrs. North Ilett, who resided with her husband on Governors Road, a few miles from Brantford and who was found unconscious on Friday, having taken carbolic acid, expired during the afternoon.

Search parties are looking for L. M. Keating, night operator for the G.T.P., at Oscar, near Fort William, who has been missing since Wednesday. It is feared he is lost in the woods, without food or adequate clothing.

Rev. A. K. Birks, President of the London Conference, and pastor of Askin Street Methodist church, London, has received an invitation to become pastor of the Methodist Church at Dundas, to succeed Rev. W. H. Harvey, who goes to Askin Street Church. He will probably accept the call.

Under special instructions from Chief Williams, the police department is conducting a crusade against selling intoxicating liquors to minors. Police Magistrate Love is in sympathy with the movement, and during the past few days has been meting out heavy fines where convictions have been made.

From a thousand to fifteen hundred farmers, mostly members of the National Council of Agriculturists, will invade Ottawa next month. The majority of the visitors will come from Western Canada, although a large number are expected from the Maritime Provinces. They will hold a convention one day and lay the results of it before the Government the next.

George McAteer, while out with a hunting party near Redwing on Saturday last, was successful in shooting a big black bear, weighing some 225 pounds, dressed. The capture was made without much trouble. While on a tour through the woods one of the dogs scented Bruin and drove him under an upturned stump and when Mr. McAteer came along he reached under to pull the dog out, thinking he was worrying a porcupine, and out walked the bear. Without further ceremony and excitement Mr. Bruin was shot twice and gave up the ghost. We understand the hide was sold for some $25.00—Meaford Express.

Hon. A. B. Aylesworth addressed a large crowd in the Young Liberal Club rooms in Brockville on Friday evening. The Minister of Justice spoke on the Hague Tribunal and the fisheries decision, receiving an attentive hearing. President G.E. Smart occupied the chair.

Jardinieres make a nice Xmas gift. You can get them at half price at Ritchie's.

The candy-throwing fiend at church entertainments came very nearly doing serious damage to Rev. James Buchanan of Dundalk at Ventry one night recently. A young ruffian threw a sharp edged candy, striking the pastor on the ball of the eye, leaving him blind for over two hours and causing him intense pain and inflamation. On Tuesday Mr. Buchanan suffered severely from headache but no evil effects are likely to follow.

An Ogdensburg young man who happened to be in Prescott last week, took occasion to purchase a supply of woollen socks for his personal use during the winter. He stowed them about his person, and took the ferry boat for home. On the way over the young man noticed an immigrant officer eyeing him closely, and feeling that he was an object of suspicion, the smuggler took the first opportunity to make his way unnoticed to the stern of the boat and drop the socks overboard.

Badly Hurt In Thresher

Blood poison set in—Great suffering—Cure effected by DR. A. W. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Mrs. C. Hopkins, St. George, Ont. writes:—"I feel like shouting the praises of Dr. Chase's Ointment. While threshing graif, my son got badly hurt. One of the men who was pitching sheaves, missed the sheaf and ran the prongs of the fork into my son's leg. He did not take much notice of it at first in a day or two it got sore and very itchy and blood poison set in. We tried everything for it but it would heal up in one place and break out at another and kept on this way for three months.

"Finally I thought of Dr. Chase's Ointment and in a week's time we noticed a wonderful change. By the use of three boxes he was completely cured and the wounds healed up. There has not been a sign of a spot on him since."

Wherever there is itching or irritation of the skin or a sore that refuses to heal you can apply Dr. Chase's Ointment with every assurance that the results will be prompt and satisfactory. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy Dr. Chase's Recipes.

The Woman and the Serpent.

P. T. Barnum and his wife were very fond of the gifted sisters Alice and Phoebe Cary, who often visited them at Bridgeport. To a friend the famous showman once remarked: "Alice was the more thoughtful, while Phoebe was always bubbling over with good spirits and wit. I never knew a brighter woman. One day I was taking her and some friends through my museum. At the head of the stairs was the cage containing 'the happy family,' which included owls, cats, mice, serpents and other creatures generally mortal enemies, but all living in perfect harmony, mainly because we kept them so stuffed with food that they had no temptation to prey on one another. The cage stood directly at the head of the stairs, and just as we reached the top a big serpent stretched its head toward Phoebe. Forgetting the glass that separated them, she was so startled that she uttered a scream and would have fallen backward down the steps had I not caught her. Looking up to me, she said: 'Thank you, Mr. Barnum! But remember that I am not the first woman that the serpent has caused to fall.'"

An Infantile Composite.

"Well, really, I can't say that I think that he looks just like any one in particular," said the mother of Master George Herbert Sanderson Spriggins, four weeks old, to a caller who was having the privilege of seeing George Herbert Sanderson Spriggins for the first time. "I don't think that he has his father's chin, and his nose is just like my father's, and his eyes remind me of my sister Helen's. The shape of his face is a good deal like his father's brother Joe's, and sometimes when he laughs he reminds me of my brother Ted. Often when he is asleep I think that he resembles my uncle George, and again he has a way of half closing his eyes that makes me think of his grandfather Spriggins. I think he is growing to look more like my side of the house excepting for the upper part of his face, and that reminds me of his father's family. Still, I can't say that he really looks just like any one but himself unless it is my sister Eva's little boy. Strange how family resemblances crop out in mere babies, isn't it?"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph

His Preference.

Dr. Wood, the popular headmaster of Harrow School, once told a capital story of a boy who missed a battalion drill, which is considered a somewhat serious offence at the famous school. The doctor summoned the lad to his study, and thus addressed him: "Do you know, as the honorary colonel of the cadet corps I can have you shot, and as the headmaster I can have you birched? Now, which sentence do you prefer?" The humor of the situation overcame the culprit's nervousness, and with a smile he replied: "I prefer to be shot, sir, because then you'll be hung."—London Magazine.

DUST LAYING AT OWEN SOUND.

The sandy lake shore soil, upon which Owen Sound is located, results in very dusty streets. No matter how much rain falls, or how water is sprinkled on the streets, in an hour thereafter the dust becomes a nuisance and a menace to health. To overcome this, the municipal authorities, early in the Spring, experimented with oil, which proved such a success that now all the principal streets in the centre of the town are oiled. These thoroughfares are macadamized and, as a preparation for oiling, are first swept clean, and oil put on immediately after with a sprinkler.

The objection at first was that the odor from the crude oil was offensive but in a day or two this disappeared and the change for the better to dustless streets was recognized by all. The first application of oil lasted six weeks, and the second application was put on the other day, and what were some of the dustiest streets are now perfectly dustless.

The town officials state that it will be an annual saving of $2,000 over the old water system, and at the same time give much better results. It did another good thing in banishing mosquitoes, heretofore a great annoyance, none being now in evidence where the streets are oiled.

DR. ISLAND CANED.

People of Rosemont Unite In Expression of Their Esteem And Good-Will.

Mrs. Island Presented With A Solid Silver Tea Service.

One of the most pleasant gatherings ever held in the village took place in the Rosemont Public Hall on Wednesday evening, November 23rd., when the residents of the village and surrounding community—both old and young—gathered for the purpose of saying farewell to Dr. and Mrs. R.L. Island, prior to their departure for Orangeville. Dr. Blair, who has succeeded to Dr. Island's medical practice, made an excellent chairman. After the gathering had been called to order, Mr. Wesley Gallagher, of Alliston, was called to read the following address:—

To Dr. R. L. Island:

We have assembled here this evening to express our deep and sincere regret at your removal from our midst and to present you with some small tokenof our regard. In the thirty years you were a resident of Rosemont you have never been lacking in those qualities of head and heart that go to make up a valued friend and an estimable citizen.

In times of illness you have ever been kind, attentive and sympathetic. While in all our social affairs you have been a most genial associate.

Your profession obligates those who give their lives to it to be resigned to much self denial and personal inconvenience, but we must express our appreciation of the fact that you have been ever more self-sacrificing than your profession demanded.

To the calls of your own physical nature you have often turned a deaf ear when the health of other required your presence and it would be impossible to say how many of those present here tonight owe 8ou debts of deepest gratitude for your timely and skillful ministrations in times of illness.

We cannot hope to repay your innumerable acts of kindness, but out of the fullness of our gratitude, we can offer these small tokens of our warm appreciation and friendship.

We rejoice to know that in your removal to Orangeville, you will not be far from your old home with its many pleasant memories and happy associations and we hope to have the pleasure of meeting you again and renewing the friendships, that neither time or space can efface.

It is the earnest hope of all your Rosemont friends, that you and your most estimable wife may live long and enjoy in your new home, the comforts and pleasures, which you so well deserve.

Signed on behalf of your Rosemont friends.

Samuel Henderson
Fred Hanna
Nov. 23rd., 1910. Norman Bailey

Mr. Samuel Henderson then presented Dr. Island with a handsome gold-mounted cane and easy chair and Mr. Fred Hanna presented Mrs. Island with a beautiful silver tea service and Master Fred with a watch. The recipients were taken completely by surprise and it was with difficulty that Dr. Island mastered his feelings sufficiently to express his thanks to the people of Rosemont for the great honor they had done Mrs. Island and himself and the many kindnesses they had shown them during their thirty years residence in the community. Mrs. Island, who was also visibly affected, responded briefly and with deep feeling. Short speeches were afterwards made by Rev. J. N. Blodgett, James Aberdeen, John Murphy and others, after which the ladies served a dainty luncheon. The hall was then cleared for the young people and an enjoyable dance brought to a close, one of the most delightful events ever held in Rosemont.

30 Years of Success

T. F. & T. J. Brown Offer a Remedy for Catarrh. The Medicine Costs Nothing If It Fails.

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases, and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty, and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his credit.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Mucu-Tone than we do of all other remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Mucu-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disinfect and cleanse the entire mucous membraneous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membraneous tissues, to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the muco-cells, aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good color and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone, beginning a treatment today. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Mucu-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Orangeville only at our store,—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown.

Good

tea is the result of care and experience in blending—must be the combination of fine flavor, smooth strength and richness. Because all these elements are so generously included in Red Rose Tea it well merits the term "good tea."

DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE.

Lord Dufferin Chapter Holds Enjoyable At Home In Oddfellows' Hall.

The ladies of Lord Dufferin Chapter, Daughters of the Empire, gave a delightful At Home in the Oddfellows' Hall on Tuesday night. The function was largely attended and was a pronounced success in every respect. The Oddfellows' Hall and the Masonic banquetting room, in which refreshments were served, were neatly decorated with flowers, palms, and Union Jacks. Mrs. C. R. McKeown, regent of the Chapter, Mrs. G. McIntyre, first vice regent, and Mrs. J. H. Wylie, second vice regent, received the guests at the entrance to the hall. An excellent programme of music and speeches was provided, beginning with an impressive rendering of "The Maple Leaf" by the ladies of the Chapter. Miss Beatrice Harshaw, Mr. S. R. Frost, and Mr. E. A. Warren contributed capital solos, and the Misses Huston, Miss Harshaw and Miss McKenney, a quartette. Addresses were delivered by Mr. C.R. McKeown, M.P.P., who spoke interestingly of the origin and growth of the Daughters of the Empire, and different phases of the Society's activity, Rev. Dr. Harper, who devoted his remarks to woman's place and influence in home and social life, Rev. B. Davies, pastor of the Baptist Church, and Father Egan, of St. Peter's church. Councillor Hill and Dr. A. J. Hunter also spoke briefly. Mayor Riddell made a capital chairman. An appreciated feature of the programme was the singing of "Annie Laurie" by Mrs. McIntyre and Mrs. (Dr.) Lewis. It was past midnight before the happy and festive gathering was brought to a close, all joining heartily in singing "Auld Lang Syne" before dispersing.

SPEERSVILLE.

The trustees of S.S. No. 18, Caledon, are quite pleased with the report of Inspector W. J. Galbraith, which was forwarded to them from Brampton a short time ago. The report comments very favorably on recent improvements to the school and states that the trustees are to be congratulated on the improvements made during the summer vacation. Mr. Galbraith found the organization of the school satisfactory, and the teaching and discipline good. The school, he states, is making good progress. This speaks well for the work of our capable and painstaking young teacher, Miss Speers.

The New Lord Steward.

The Earl of Chesterfield, who has been appointed Lord Steward of the Household in successin to Lord Beauchamp, is no novice at Court duties, for from 1892 to 1894 he filled the office of Treasurer of the Household to Queen Victoria. He is the tenth peer of the title and is descended from a famous family. The first Earl of Chesterfield fought for King Charles against the Roundheads. The fourth Lord Chesterfield was the author of the famous "Letters" in which he gives much good advice to his son, one particularly practical piece being: "Let your lodging be up to your means, your dress above your means, and your living below your means." Lord Chesterfield is aged fifty-six, is very good-looking, and is considered one of the best-dressed men in London. He is also a good shot and an excellent golfer.

Dramatist at Trial.

The dramatic features of the Crippen case are appealing to actors and playwrights as no other case in the history of English criminality, and features of it will undoubtedly find their way to the stage. This was evidenced the other day by the appearance in Bow Street court room of Sir John Hare and H. B. Irving, leading English actors, and of Sir Wm. Gilbert, playwright. They had seats close to the witness stand, and made frequent notes. On two previous occasions Sir W. Gilbert was honored with a seat by the side of Sir Albert De Rutzen, the presiding magistrate.

Epsom Salts.

A distinguished foreigner visiting Epsom Downs in Thackeray's company noticed many men dressed as sailors who were not, to native and experienced eyes, the real article. "Ah," said the visitor, 'these are, I suppose, who you call your British tars?" "Oh, no," replied Thackeray. "Only Epsom salts."

ALTON.

Mr. Hamber, who is at the head of the Provincial Scout Movement in Ontario, will lecture in Science Hall on Friday night, under the auspices of the Alton Women's Institute. The lecture will begin at eight o'clock. A silver collection will be taken.

GRANGER.

All our loyal Orangemen attended the big time in Primrose Orange Hall on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fines spent Sunday at Richard Cotton's, Violet Hill.

Misses Flossie and Irene Hunter, of Mulmur Corners, and Messrs. A. B. and R. J. Galbraith, of Shelburne, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Fines.

Mr. Fred Turner spent Sunday at Mrs. Jas. Halbert's.

Mr. Wm. Stoddart, of Black's Corners, was in this vicinity last week.

Mr. Wm. Walker, of Shelburne, spent Sunday in this vicinity.

A couple of sleigh loads from the west of our burg took advantage of the recent good sleighing and journeyed to Jas. Gracey's, of Coleridge, where they spent a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. Smith entertained her friends one evening last week. Everyone reports an enjoyable evening being spent.

MONO MILLS

Friends and neighbors to the number of about 40 were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Haffey on Tuesday evening of last week. The host and hostess, whose reputation for generous hospitality is well established, spared nothing in order that their guests might spend a most enjoyable evening. The choicest of supper was followed by games, music, and dancing. About 12 p. m., the gathering dispersed, each one thoroughly appreciating, and will, no doubt, long remember the pleasant evening spent as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Haffey.

A well attended meeting of the Farmers' Institute members gathered together on Wednesday evening, 23rd. inst., to discuss "The Open Letter," written by Mr. Flavelle, of Toronto. In looking into this letter, which has created considerable sensation among farmers all over the Province, it is plainly to be seen that although it contains some observations, which farmers mig profit by noting, yet in some respects it is very unjust, pecially when we know that the wri the letter was one of those who manipulated the hog market two years ago, so that the price was forced down below a paying limit and farmers quit raising them. The next meeting will be held on December 14th., which will be the annual appointment of officers for the ensuing year. These meetings are not only interesting, but very instructive and should certainly be a source of considerable benefit to those who avail themselves of the opportunity of attending them.

The pupils and young people of the Presbyterian Sabbath School are practising for their annual Christmas entertainment. A good program, consisting of music, recitations, drills, dialogues, etc., is being prepared, and no doubt, an enjoyable evening will be assured. The date has not been definitely arranged yet, but will likely be Dec. 16th.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Irwin, of Albion, in the loss of their little child, who died on Friday last.

Miss Hazel Harkies and Mr. Fred Smith were married on Wednesday evening of last week.

Mr. Stuart Mason has sold his farm in Albion to Mr. Robert J. Donaldson. We understand the price is about $7,000.

Mrs. Geo. Williams, of Adjala, died on Saturday morning last, and was buried on Sunday afternoon at the Forest Lawn Cemetery, Orangeville.

CAMILLA.

The regular monthly meeting of the Camilla branch of the Dufferin Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. John Buchanan on Wednesday, December 7th, at 2:30 p.m. Subject:—"Christmas," also the report of the convention held in Toronto will be given by a delegate. All are welcome.

A FATAL FALL.

Mr. Geo. Caldwell, of Cheltenham, meets with an Unexpected Death.

Mr. George Caldwell, a highly respected farmer, living near the village of Cheltenham, met with an untimely death on Tuesday of last week. How the fatality occurred is not known, but it is thought that in the darkness Mr. Caldwell made a misstep and plunged from the door of the barn to the yard beneath, a distance of about eleven feet. The threshers were at Mr. Caldwell's Tuesday afternoon for some two or three hours. After tea the operators of the machine went to the barn to make some repairs, Mr. Caldwell accompanying them. After working sometime about the machine it was noticed that Mr. Caldwell was not about. His prolonged absence caused a search to be made and his lifeless body was found on the hard earth beneath the barn door. The barn is of a kind called bank barn, the doorway on one side being reached by a bridge or embankment while the door on the opposite side opens into the yard. In this case there was a sheer drop from the barn floor to the earth beneath of about eleven feet. The unfortunate man, perhaps in trying to close the door, misjudged his position in the darkness, for it was between 8 and 9 o'clock when the accident happened, and unwittingly stepped out into the void and fell to his death.

Mr. Caldwell was about sixty years of age and a bachelor farmer living on the homestead on which he was born, with his youngest sister. Deceased was a mild-mannered man, of a retiring disposition and one, who of late years was seldom away from his work on the farm. He was respected and esteemed as a good man and neighbor by the whole community and his untimely death is a distinct shock to the countryside. Mr. Caldwell was a Liberal in politics and a life long member of the Presbyterian Church. The funeral was held to Bolton cemetery on Saturday afternoon at one o'clock.

Mr. Caldwell, who was one of a family of nine children is survived by several brothers and sisters.

Mrs. James Hamsworth, and Mrs. Ed. Fraser, of Georgetown, are sisters of the deceased.

PRIMROSE.

The members of Primrose L.O.L. 1277 held an interesting Royal Arch meeting on Wednesday night of last week. There were about 100 brethren present, several of the neighboring lodges being represented. Among the visitors were W. Bros. Jas. G. Ward, County Master of Dufferin, and W. J. Mandley, County Master of East Grey. No less than eleven candidates were advanced to the mysteries of the degree. Refreshments were served at the close of the business meeting and were followed by speechmaking and an exceedingly pleasant social time. The meeting was one of the most enjoyable in the history of the lodge.

IRVINE—JOHNSTON.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnston at the Maples was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when their daughter, Sadie, was united in marriage to Mr. Robert Irvine, of Grand Valley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Crawford Tate, of St. Catharines, uncle of the bride. The wedding march was played by Miss Myrtle Shaw, of Orangeville. The bride was beautifully gowned in cream silk eolienne and wore a solid gold sunburst of pearls, the gift of the groom. About sixty guests were present and the wedding gifts were many and beautiful, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held. After the wedding dejeuner, the happy couple departed on the evening train for Toronto, followed by a shower of rice, confetti, old shoes and the best wishes of all their friends.

FORSYTH—EWING.

On Wednesday of last week a very quiet and pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ewing, Mono Centre, when their daughter, Emma, was united in marriage to Mr. Herman E. Forsyth, also of this place. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. McLean, of Cardwell, in the presence of their immediate friends and relations. Promptly at five o'clock, while the Bridal Chorus was being rendered by Miss Gladys Ewing, the bride entered the drawing room, leaning on the arm of her father. The bride looked charming in cream silk taffeta with all over Brussels net and carrying a bouquet of white roses. Little Miss Reta Lewis made a pretty flower girl, dressed in pink silk mull and carrying a basket of pink roses. After receiving congratulations, the wedding party repaired to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was prepared. After doing ample justice to the good things to eat, games and amusements occupied the time of the guests until a late hour. Mr. and Mrs. Forsyth will reside on lot 21, con. 4, the farm recently purchased by Mr. Forsyth.

W. A. AT HOME.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Mark's Church held a successful At Home last Friday night. The affair was largely attended and every one spent a delightful evening. The programme, which was prepared under the supervision of Miss Darraugh, consisted of a duett by the Misses Shaw, a solo by Miss Lily Robinson, a violin solo by Miss Clara Hulse, a duett by Misses Vera and Gladys Hogg, a recitation by Miss Edna Campbell, a piano duett by Misses Birdie Leighton and Edith Anderson, a piano solo by Miss Hazel Patterson and a solo by Miss Ethel Irvine. Refreshments were served during the evening.

W. A. PRESENTATION.

The senior and junior branches of St. Mark's Church Woman's Auxiliary met on Monday afternoon with over seventy members in attendance. Interesting missionary readings were given by Mrs. A. Hill and Miss Muriel Laverty. Miss Darraugh sang a solo entitled "The Palm Trees" with her accustomed sweetness. A very pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation by the members of the junior branch to the junior superintendent, Miss Laura Tuck, of a framed certificate of life membership in the Woman's Auxiliary of the Diocese of Niagara and a gold badge of membership. Miss May Pickering read the address, Miss Jennie Atkinson presented the beautifully framed certificate and Miss Ruth Rix the gold pin emblematic of the life membership. The Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. J. H. Anderson, gave an interesting account of the methods by which the money was raised. After the meeting refreshments were served by the senior Branch.

ANNIVERSARY AT CHARLESTON.

The Methodist Church, Charleston, will hold its anniversary services and entertainment on December 25th. and 26th. Mr. Rechabi Tandy, the well known humorist, will sing at the entertainment on Monday evening.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.

The Star has been cautioned by Elias Leonard not to tell any lies about him. We can assure Mr. Leonard that we will not tell any lies about him if we know it, and furthermore, we will not tell all that is true about him either.—Creemore Star.

DUFFERIN FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

Regular meetings of the Dufferin Farmers' Institute will be held as follows:
Shelburne—Council Chamber, December 15th., at 2 p. m.
Melancthon—Township Hall, December 15th., at 7.30 p. m.
Orangeville—Town Hall, December 16th., at 2 p. m. and 8. p. m.

LAYMEN'S BANQUET.

The Session and Managing Board of St. Andrew's church are arranging to hold a Laymen's Banquet in the Sunday School Room, on Wednesday evening, December 14th. Addresses will be given by Principal Gandier, of Knox College, a prominent Toronto layman and some local speakers.

SINGING CLASS.

Mr. F. H. Burt, Mus. Bac., Singing Master at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, purposes forming a class in Orangeville, and will teach here on Thursday of each week, beginning Dec. 1st. Mr. Burt is a specialist in his work and all desirous of vocal instruction should consult him. Information as to studio, etc., furnished at R. H. Robinson's store.

PECULIARITIES OF 1911.

It is only five weeks to the New Year. The year 1911 will be peculiar because it will open on Sunday and close on a Sunday. It will also have its chief holidays either before or after a Sunday. New Year's Day will, of course, be celebrated on a Monday. Dominion Day will fall on a Saturday, giving the benefit of Sunday as an additional holiday, and as Christmas will be celebrated on a Monday, there also the workers will get an extra day's holiday. So that with Labor Day and Thanksgiving day all falling on Monday, it looks like a good year for the railway with their week end excursions.

THE WEEKLY MARKET.

There was a large attendance of farmers and their wives at the weekly produce market last Thursday. Owing to the soft weather, prices were hardly as firm as they were at the previous market. Prices, however, were good, and sellers had no reason for complaint. Butter and eggs were in brisk demand. Pound prints were snapped up in short order at 24c. and 25c. per lb. 21c. and 22c was all that the buyers would pay for tub or roll butter, so that it is evident the thrifty housewife can make money by putting her butter up in pound prints, done up in neatly printed wrappers. Eggs sold readily at 35c. and 36c. There were four or five buyers on the market and they bought considerably over two ton of produce. The prices paid were:—Geese 11c.; Chickens 10c. to 13c.; Butter, lb. prints, 24c. to 25c., tub or rolls, 21c. to 22c.; Eggs 35c.; Ducks 12c. to 15c.; Turkeys, 15c. to 18c.

CENSUS ENUMERATOR.

Mr. Robert Irvine, senior member of the well known local firm of R. Irvine & Son, has received the appointment of census enumerator for the County of Dufferin. Mr. Irvine, with the Executive of the Dufferin Liberal Association, will control the appointment of the enumerators who will take the census on or about June 1st., 1911. It will be Mr. Irvine's duty to instruct the enumerators regarding their work, see that it is properly done, collect the forms after the census has been completed, and forward them to Ottawa, where they will be compiled by a special census staff. The position of chief enumerator for the county is an important and responsible one and it is fortunate that a man so capable has been selected for this county. Mr. Irvine will receive one cent for every person in Dufferin according to the census returns and a further allowance of $125 for travelling expenses.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

A parlor meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. (Rev.) B. Davies last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Henderson, ex-President, opened the meeting and introduced the new president, Mrs. Davies. The latter made a very pleasing inaugural address, expressing her thanks to the Union for the honor done her. After the singing of a hymn, Mrs. King read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Davies led in prayer. Mr. Davies spoke a few words of welcome, after which two very interesting reports of the recent Convention in Owen Sound were listened to. Mrs. Davies told of the splendid arrangements of the Convention, especially of the fine social atmosphere that prevailed. Mrs. Henderson took up the different departments of the work of the Union. A duet by Miss Bell and Mrs. Robinson and solos by Rev. Mr. Davies added to the charm of the programme. Refreshments were served before the close of the meeting. Six new members were enrolled.

JACKSON GOT OFF.

Constable Buchanan, of Grand Valley, arrived in town on Saturday with J. D. Jackson, who formerly ran a repair shop here, in charge. Jackson was arrested on a charge of stealing a gasoline engine. The engine was formerly owned by J. C. Darraugh, who sold it to Jackson taking three lien notes in payment and of course retaining his right of property in the machine. Jackson paid the first two notes and then sold the engine to one, Bishop, without informing him of the existence of the lien. As Darraugh had not registered his lien, Bishop took a good title and hence the charge of theft against Jackson. Magistrate Pattullo decided that the evidence showed that the prosecution was for the sole purpose of obliging Jackson to pay the note and not with a view to his punishment for theft. Holding that this was an improper use of the criminal code for the purpose of collecting an ordinary debt, he dismissed the information and discharged the prisoner. County Crown Attorney McKay prosecuted and Mr. C. R. McKeown defended Jackson.

NERVOUS DEBILITY

OUR NEW METHOD TREATMENT will cure you and make a man of you. Under its influence the brain becomes active, the blood purified so that all pimples, blotches and ulcers heal up; the nerves become strong as steel, so that nervousness, bashfulness and despondency disappear; the eyes become bright, the face full and clear, energy returns to the body, and the moral, physical and mental systems are invigorated; all drains cease—no more vital waste from the system. You feel yourself a man and know marriage cannot be a failure. Don't let quacks and fakirs rob you of your hard earned dollars.

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT

THREATENED WITH PARALYSIS

BEFORE TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Hermon Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

An Italian laborer met with a serious accident at Cedar Mills where the C. P. R. is rebuilding the bridge. The man dodged under the scoop of the shovel just as it descended. He was pinned to the earth and sustained serious injury to his face and chest. He was attended by Dr. Reynar, of Palgrave, who took him to a Toronto hospital.

Agriculture is progressive. It is the intention of The Weekly Sun, Toronto, to collect the latest and best practices from the facts presented from week to week, thus making it possible for Sun readers to appropriate for their own use, that which will enable them to get the largest returns for their labors, the greatest value for their crops, and the largest comfort from their surroundings. No effort will be spared by the publishers of The Sun to bring this about. The Sun should be in every farm home.

WHY SLEEP IS NECESSARY.

During sleep nature restores the cells and tissues wasted by the activities of life. Without sleep physical bankruptcy is quick and certain. Mrs. J. Derocher, 485 Bethune st., Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I can say for a certainty that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine, for, besides steadying the nerves, it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to eat and sleep well.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lougheed had a somewhat peculiar and undesirable experience on Sunday morning. While on their way to a friend's home in the country the buggy spring broke just as they reached the third line. Through the assistance of Mr. Wilson there, temporary repairs were made and their journey resumed. When at the fourth line the horse stumbled and in its fall both shafts of the buggy were broken. The horse also sustained injuries, a small artery in its leg having burst. The quantity of blood lost by the animal caused Mr. Lougheed to think that something very serious had happened it but examination proved his alarm to be altogether unfounded. The horse was none the worse for its experience.—Brampton Conservator.

E. N. Lewis, M.P., for West Huron, has introduced a bill respecting the sale of poisons and receptacles for the same. It provides that any person, who sells, or through his agent exposes for sale or gives away any poison without the authority of a medical certificate or a prescription, shall be liable to a fine of $100 or six months' imprisonment. Mr. Lewis explained that this provision was intended to stop the sale of cocaine and of liquor in local option districts. A second section of the bill is intended to make it impossible for persons to mistake a bottle containing poison for any other bottle. The bill requires that poison be sold in square or three-sided, blue glass bottles, having rough or corrugated corners.

Gentleman In Vancouver Owes His Recovery

TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 1st, 1910.

I am well acquainted with a man, known to thousands in Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, who for nearly a year was practically a cripple from rheumatism. He was so troubled with the disease that he found it difficult to even turn over in bed. His heart appeared so weak that he could hardly get upstairs. Last June, he received a sample of "Fruit-a-tives." He used them and dates his recovery from that time. To-day there is no other man in Vancouver enjoying better health. He was building a house this fall and shingled a good part of the roof in a driving rain storm without suffering any bad effects.

JOHN B. LACY.

"Fruit-a-tives" is a positive cure for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Pain in the Back and all Kidney Troubles, because it is the greatest blood-purifying medicine ever discovered.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1910.

THE STREET LIGHTING CONTRACTS.

The fine Italian hand of Mr. J. M. Deagle, Manager of the Cataract Electric Company, is only poorly disguised in the column long contribution, which the Dufferin Post printed last week over the nom de plume of "Orangevilleite." The Banner did not publish the salient features of the old and new lighting contracts with the idea of provoking a controversy, nor with any thought of placing Mr. Deagle and his Company at any disadvantage in the estimation of the public, but simply for the purpose of enabling the citizens of Orangeville to judge for themselves wherein the two contracts differ and which is the more advantageous from the light user's and taxpayer's standpoint. This being the object in view, this journal does not feel called upon to dissect "Orangevilleites" epistle, nor to take issue with him regarding some of his obviously incorrect statements. We may remark, however, that his labored and long drawn-out argument recalled a story that is told of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. It was in the days when the National Policy was first occupying the attention of the Canadian electorate. A political opponent had labored for an hour or longer on a public platform, quoting extensively from blue book statistics, to convince an audience of farmers that the farmers of Canada were prospering under free trade. It came Sir John's turn to speak. Stepping to the front of the platform he began somewhat after this fashion :—"Gentlemen, the speaker who has just sat down has given you figures to show you that you are prosperous. It is the only proof his party can give you of your prosperity. But when the party, which I have the honor to represent, shall have given the people of Canada the benefit of a national policy of protection and development you will no longer require arguments of this kind. All any of you will have to do will be to put your hand in your pocket and find there the proof that you are prosperous." So "Orangevilleite" assembles an imposing array of figures and labors zealously, even if rather confusedly, to show the people of Orangeville that they got more light under the old contract than they will under the new. Meantime, citizens can see for themselves that the streets are being more effectually lighted now than ever before. What advantage is there in paying for a 1200 candle power arc if a couple of 50 or 80 candle power incandescents will do the work as well or better? "Orangevilleite" tries to make it appear that the town could have had a service with a candle power equal to the old for only $40a year more than it is now paying. This statement shows the bias of the writer. The Council asked for tenders for an incandescent system. The Dufferin Light & Power Company agreed to light the streets according to the specifications for $1560 a year and charge $15.60 each for extra lamps. The tender covered the Town Hall, Engineer's residence, Fire Hall, and Band Stand and provided for the lighting of the Public Library without extra charge. The figure in the Cataract Company's tender was $1992.50, over $400 higher, with $20 each for extra lamps. Even this does not show the actual difference for the Cataract Company stated expressly that lamps used in the Town Hall, Band Stand, Engineer's residence and Public Library were to be charged as extras at the rate of 10c. per killowatt hour. "Orangevilleite" says that the Public Library "received free light under the old contract." We imagine our anonymous friend knows perfectly well that this is at variance with the facts. Mr. Deagle promised to light the Library free of charge and fulfilled his promise by presenting the Library Board with a bill of $200 or over and accepting a cheque for $130 or thereabouts in settlement of his account.

WHAT WE WOULD LIKE TO SEE.

A few more business men in the Council next year.

All taxes and water rates paid up.

Everybody able to have a Christmas turkey.

More loyalty to home enterprises and institutions.

The weekly cash produce market made a permanent institution.

A few more manufacturing industries in town.

A second line of railway into Orangeville.

The Dominion Express Company compelled to have its office on Broadway.

More citizens willing to devote a portion of their time and energy to bettering the town.

Some action to prevent unnecessary disfigurement of shade trees by companies stringing wires on the public streets.

Salaried officials do more of their buying from the merchants who help pay their salaries.

Ladies who insist on wearing large hats remove them while in church or at other public gatherings.

Fewer children of tender years running the streets at night.

More boosters and fewer knockers among our citizens.

SINGLE FARE TO TORONTO—C.P.R. FAT STOCK SHOW, DECEMBER 10th, to 13th.

At flag stations where there are no agents, round trip tickets will be issued by conductor as above.

SPEND YOUR MONEY AT HOME.

People, who have acquired the habit of sending to the departmental stores for goods that they could just as well purchase from their home merchants, should remember that the money they are placing in circulation in the cities does not benefit the rural districts. Every dollar sent away from a town is as good as lost and its loss is felt by everyone, and especially by the local business man. If the towns and villages of this province are to hold their own in a commercial sense, they must retain the money which should in the natural course of affairs circulate in their district. Money that is sent to the city houses is withdrawn from local circulation. There is just that much less currency left to meet the hundred and one needs of the farmers, citizens and tradespeople of the community. It is a well-known fact that depression in any district is brought about largely by the scarcity of money. It is equally well-known that depression decreases real estate and land values. This being the case it is nothing short of folly for buyers to send their money abroad for the goods that they can purchase at home. Should the practice of patronizing the big departmentals become general it is bound to react on the rural and small urban communities with disastrous consequences. The diminution in the volume of local trade will inevitably bring in its wake a decrease in the value of town property and this will just as surely be followed by a decline in the value of farm lands. As a matter of self-protection people owe it to themselves to do their trading at home. It is the only way in which they can build up their home towns and villages, increase the value of their farm holdings and make a prosperous and go-ahead community. What do the departmentals do for the County of Dufferin for instance? How much do they contribute toward the cost of its roads and bridges, the support of its churches, the building and equipment of its schools or the education of its sons and daughters? Yet there are scores of people, who would be indignant if anyone questioned their loyalty to the County and its institutions, that are making a practice of sending to Toronto and elsewhere for the wares that their home merchants are selling—and selling in most instances just as reasonably as the city houses. "Keep your money at home" is a motto which ought to be adopted by every true citizen. As The Banner stated last week, buyers should investigate the prices and goods of local houses. If they would only do this less of their money would find its way into the coffers of the big departmentals. They should remember too that the dollar they send to the big city mail order house is lost to the community, while the dollar that they spend at home benefits their neighbors and indirectly is a benefit to themselves.

NEW STREET LIGHTING SYSTEM

The Dufferin Light & Power Company's contract to light the streets of Orangeville commenced on Friday. The Company made a rather bad beginning, the streets and all stores and residences getting their supply of electricity from that source, being in utter darkness Friday night. The trouble was due to the non-arrival of a casting, which formed a necessary part of some new machinery at the power house. The piece should have reached Orangeville Friday morning, but went astray in Toronto. It came to hand Friday night and the Company had everything running in first-class shape by Saturday night. Business men and citizens generally appear delighted with the new service. Broadway in particular is splendidly illuminated and there is not a place on the sidewalks from one end of the street to the other, where a person cannot readily recognize another in passing. The dark stretches which were an objectionable feature of the old system have been made quite light. Approaching vehicles can be seen quite distinctly anywhere within the lighted area of the town. The area has also been extended considerably and citizens living in the outskirts can no longer complain about dwelling in outer darkness. The majority of the new lamps — incandescents of the tungsten pattern —are suspended in the centre of the street. Along the business section of Broadway they are grouped in clusters of four lamps—two 50 c. p. and two 25 c. p. The reflectors are superior to the old style reflectors and seem to radiate the light splendidly. The service is not at its best yet. The Company started short of regulation lamps and a number of 50 and 25 c. p. lights were put in temporarily. These will shortly be replaced by 80 and 50 c. p. lamps. After a few nights' experience with the new system, most of our citizens will probably agree that the Town Council did the wise thing in adopting the tungsten system. With the increase in the number of street lamps, the distribution of light is much better than could possibly be obtained with the large arc lamps.

DEPUTIES APPOINTED.

Orangeville Council passed a By-law Monday evening fixing the polling places and appointing deputy-returning officers and poll clerks for the approaching municipal elections. The blanks were filled as follows :—

East Ward—Council Chamber; Jas. A. Patterson, D.R.O., John Bennett, poll clerk.

West Ward—T. J. Robinson's shop; W. G. Worts, D.R.O.; Robt. Pattullo, poll clerk.

North Ward—Town Hall, J. M. Bennett, D.R.O., Thos. Coulter, poll clerk.

South Ward—Queen's Hotel Sample Room; H. Flesher, D.R.O., Robt. Crisp, poll clerk.

The Deputies will receive $3 each and the Poll Clerks $2 each for their services. The owners of the polling booths will be paid $3.

—Just received—another shipment of fine linen stationery to sell at 15c. a box. The Banner Stationery Store.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

At a meeting a few nights ago, a number of the ratepayers of Whittington neighborhood asked Mr. W. T. Leader to stand for the Amaranth Council. Mr. Leader has consented and states, if there is a run at all, that he will be in the fight until the last vote is polled.

Mr. E. T. Barbour, the present Deputy-reeve of Erin township, will stand for the office again. Mr. Barbour is not likely to have any opposition, although there is a little talk of Councillor Andrew McKechnie giving him a race. Councillors Lane and Russell will both seek re-election.

Mr. Robert Curry is being strongly urged to take the field for deputy-reeve of Amaranth and is giving the matter his consideration. Mr. Curry's action in withdrawing last year, thereby avoiding a contest that many people considered unnecessary, will make him votes should he decide to go before the electors this time.

The Star di Vidette says there is a general feeling that Councillor Ed. McIntyre will be reeve of Grand Valley next year. Reeve Reith, who was honored this year with the Wardenship of Dufferin, has announced his retirement. Mr. Thos. Watson, who opposed Mr. Reith at the last two elections, has not made any announcement. It is said, however, that he is not likely to oppose Mr. McIntyre.

Reeve Sime, who has had ten years' experience in municipal politics, is likely to retire in East Luther. In that event Councillor S. C. McKee is almost sure to stand for reeve and will probably be opposed by Councillor Wm. Baxendale. Mr. Sime has made a conscientious and faithful representative and his decision to retire, if persisted in, will be received with general regret by the ratepayers of East Luther.

Reeve Sutton, of Erin township, has announced his intention of asking the electors for another term. There is a well defined feeling that he is entitled to an acclamation, but the Hillsburg Beaver says that Mr. James Kirkwood, a former M.P., is in the field and that Mr. Alexander McKinnon, who unsuccessfully contested East Wellington against Major J. J. Craig at the last Provincial election, is a probable aspirant.

Mr. J. H. Moffatt, the present reeve of Albion, is in the field for another term. It is said that there is some likelihood of his opponent of last year, Mr. Joseph Slack, giving him another race for the coveted honor. Last year's fight was triangular, Mr. Gott being the third contestant. It is said that Mr. Gott will not run again this year and in that event the outcome of the fight between Messrs. Moffatt and Slack would depend on which of them could poll the majority of the Gott vote. Mr. W. C. Hutchinson will stand for re-election as will all the rest of the present councillors. Several new aspirants are beginning to assert their claims, so that there is not likely to be any dearth of candidates in Albion when nomination day comes round.

WOMEN SUFFER
More than Men.

Women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity. They must "keep up" in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, etc. Mrs. Edward Calwood of 123 S. Harold Street, Fort William, Ont., says :

"I suffered with dull, miserable pains, soreness across my back and in my sides for months. They would catch me so badly at times that I could scarcely move around. I would have dizzy spells and altogether, felt generally run down. After using a number of remedies without finding relief. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and found them an excellent remedy. They not only relieved me of the miserable pains and soreness in my back but cured me of my kidney trouble."

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1910.

THE STREET LIGHTING CONTRACTS.

The fine Italian hand of Mr. J. M. Deagle, Manager of the Cataract Electric Company, is only poorly disguised in the column long contribution, which the Dufferin Post printed last week over the nom de plume of "Orangevilleite." The Banner did not publish the salient features of the old and new lighting contracts with the idea of provoking a controversy, nor with any thought of placing Mr. Deagle and his Company at any disadvantage in the estimation of the public, but simply for the purpose of enabling the citizens of Orangeville to judge for themselves wherein the two contracts differ and which is the more advantageous from the light user's and taxpayer's standpoint. This being the object in view, this journal does not feel called upon to dissect "Orangevilleites" epistle, nor to take issue with him regarding some of his obviously incorrect statements. We may remark, however, that his labored and long drawn-out argument recalled a story that is told of the late Sir John A. Macdonald. It was in the days when the National Policy was first occupying the attention of the Canadian electorate. A political opponent had labored for an hour or longer on a public platform, quoting extensively from blue book statistics, to convince an audience of farmers that the farmers of Canada were prospering under free trade. It came Sir John's turn to speak. Stepping to the front of the platform he began somewhat after this fashion :—"Gentlemen, the speaker who has just sat down has given you figures to show you that you are prosperous. It is the only proof his party can give you of your prosperity. But when the party, which I have the honor to represent, shall have given the people of Canada the benefit of a national policy of protection and development you will no longer require arguments of this kind. All any of you will have to do will be to put your hand in your pocket and find there the proof that you are prosperous." So "Orangevilleite" assembles an imposing array of figures and labors zealously, even if rather confusedly, to show the people of Orangeville that they got more light under the old contract than they will under the new. Meantime, citizens can see for themselves that the streets are being more effectually lighted now than ever before. What advantage is there in paying for a 1200 candle power arc if a couple of 50 or 80 candle power incandescents will do the work as well or better? "Orangevilleite" tries to make it appear that the town could have had a service with a candle power equal to the old for only $40a year more than it is now paying. This statement shows the bias of the writer. The Council asked for tenders for an incandescent system. The Dufferin Light & Power Company agreed to light the streets according to the specifications for $1560 a year and charge $15.60 each for extra lamps. The tender covered the Town Hall, Engineer's residence, Fire Hall, and Band Stand and provided for the lighting of the Public Library without extra charge. The figure in the Cataract Company's tender was $1992.50, over $400 higher, with $20 each for extra lamps. Even this does not show the actual difference for the Cataract Company stated expressly that lamps used in the Town Hall, Band Stand, Engineer's residence and Public Library were to be charged as extras at the rate of 10c. per killowatt hour. "Orangevilleite" says that the Public Library "received free light under the old contract." We imagine our anonymous friend knows perfectly well that this is at variance with the facts. Mr. Deagle promised to light the Library free of charge and fulfilled his promise by presenting the Library Board with a bill of $200 or over and accepting a cheque for $130 or thereabouts in settlement of his account.

WHAT WE WOULD LIKE TO SEE.

A few more business men in the Council next year.

All taxes and water rates paid up.

Everybody able to have a Christmas turkey.

More loyalty to home enterprises and institutions.

The weekly cash produce market made a permanent institution.

A few more manufacturing industries in town.

A second line of railway into Orangeville.

The Dominion Express Company compelled to have its office on Broadway.

More citizens willing to devote a portion of their time and energy to bettering the town.

Some action to prevent unnecessary disfigurement of shade trees by companies stringing wires on the public streets.

Salaried officials do more of their buying from the merchants who help pay their salaries.

Ladies who insist on wearing large hats remove them while in church or at other public gatherings.

Fewer children of tender years running the streets at night.

More boosters and fewer knockers among our citizens.

SINGLE FARE TO TORONTO—C.P.R. FAT STOCK SHOW, DECEMBER 10th, to 13th.

Tickets to Toronto and return at single fare will be on sale at all C. P. R. offices and stations for afternoon trains, Saturday, Dec. 10th, and all trains Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, 11th, 12th and 13th, good for return on all trains up to and including Wednesday, Dec. 14th. At flag stations where there are no agents, round trip tickets will be issued by conductor as above.

SPEND YOUR MONEY AT HOME.

People, who have acquired the habit of sending to the departmental stores for goods that they could just as well purchase from their home merchants, should remember that the money they are placing in circulation in the cities does not benefit the rural districts. Every dollar sent away from a town is as good as lost and its loss is felt by everyone, and especially by the local business man. If the towns and villages of this province are to hold their own in a commercial sense, they must retain the money which should in the natural course of affairs circulate in their district. Money that is sent to the city houses is withdrawn from local circulation. There is just that much less currency left to meet the hundred and one needs of the farmers, citizens and tradespeople of the community. It is a well-known fact that depression in any district is brought about largely by the scarcity of money. It is equally well-known that depression decreases real estate and land values. This being the case it is nothing short of folly for buyers to send their money abroad for the goods that they can purchase at home. Should the practice of patronizing the big departmentals become general it is bound to react on the rural and small urban communities with disastrous consequences. The diminution in the volume of local trade will inevitably bring in its wake a decrease in the value of town property and this will just as surely be followed by a decline in the value of farm lands. As a matter of self-protection people owe it to themselves to do their trading at home. It is the only way in which they can build up their home towns and villages, increase the value of their farm holdings and make a prosperous and go-ahead community. What do the departmentals do for the County of Dufferin for instance? How much do they contribute toward the cost of its roads and bridges, the support of its churches, the building and equipment of its schools or the education of its sons and daughters? Yet there are scores of people, who would be indignant if anyone questioned their loyalty to the County and its institutions, that are making a practice of sending to Toronto and elsewhere for the wares that their home merchants are selling—and selling in most instances just as reasonably as the city houses. "Keep your money at home" is a motto which ought to be adopted by every true citizen. As The Banner stated last week, buyers should investigate the prices and goods of local houses. If they would only do this less of their money would find its way into the coffers of the big departmentals. They should remember too that the dollar they send to the big city mail order house is lost to the community, while the dollar that they spend at home benefits their neighbors and indirectly is a benefit to themselves.

NEW STREET LIGHTING SYSTEM

The Dufferin Light & Power Company's contract to light the streets of Orangeville commenced on Friday. The Company made a rather bad beginning, the streets and all stores and residences getting their supply of electricity from that source, being in utter darkness Friday night. The trouble was due to the non-arrival of a casting, which formed a necessary part of some new machinery at the power house. The piece should have reached Orangeville Friday morning, but went astray in Toronto. It came to hand Friday night and the Company had everything running in first-class shape by Saturday night. Business men and citizens generally appear delighted with the new service. Broadway in particular is splendidly illuminated and there is not a place on the sidewalks from one end of the street to the other, where a person cannot readily recognize another in passing. The dark stretches which were an objectionable feature of the old system have been made quite light. Approaching vehicles can be seen quite distinctly anywhere within the lighted area of the town. The area has also been extended considerably and citizens living in the outskirts can no longer complain about dwelling in outer darkness. The majority of the new lamps — incandescents of the tungsten pattern —are suspended in the centre of the street. Along the business section of Broadway they are grouped in clusters of four lamps—two 50 c. p. and two 25 c. p. The reflectors are superior to the old style reflectors and seem to radiate the light splendidly. The service is not at its best yet. The Company started short of regulation lamps and a number of 50 and 25 c. p. lights were put in temporarily. These will shortly be replaced by 80 and 50 c. p. lamps. After a few nights' experience with the new system, most of our citizens will probably agree that the Town Council did the wise thing in adopting the tungsten system. With the increase in the number of street lamps, the distribution of light is much better than could possibly be obtained with the large arc lamps.

DEPUTIES APPOINTED.

Orangeville Council passed a By-law Monday evening fixing the polling places and appointing deputy-returning officers and poll clerks for the approaching municipal elections. The blanks were filled as follows :—

East Ward—Council Chamber; Jas. A. Patterson, D.R.O., John Bennett, poll clerk.

West Ward—T. J. Robinson's shop; W. G. Worts, D.R.O.; Robt. Pattullo, poll clerk.

North Ward—Town Hall, J. M. Bennett, D.R.O., Thos. Coulter, poll clerk.

South Ward—Queen's Hotel Sample Room; H. Flesher, D.R.O., Robt. Crisp, poll clerk.

The Deputies will receive $3 each and the Poll Clerks $2 each for their services. The owners of the polling booths will be paid $3.

—Just received—another shipment of fine linen stationery to sell at 15c. a box. The Banner Stationery Store.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

At a meeting a few nights ago, a number of the ratepayers of Whittington neighborhood asked Mr. W. T. Leader to stand for the Amaranth Council. Mr. Leader has consented and states, if there is a run at all, that he will be in the fight until the last vote is polled.

Mr. E. T. Barbour, the present Deputy-reeve of Erin township, will stand for the office again. Mr. Barbour is not likely to have any opposition, although there is a little talk of Councillor Andrew McKechnie giving him a race. Councillors Lane and Russell will both seek re-election.

Mr. Robert Curry is being strongly urged to take the field for deputy-reeve of Amaranth and is giving the matter his consideration. Mr. Curry's action in withdrawing last year, thereby avoiding a contest that many people considered unnecessary, will make him votes should he decide to go before the electors this time.

The Star & Vidette says there is a general feeling that Councillor Ed. McIntyre will be reeve of Grand Valley next year. Reeve Reith, who was honored this year with the Wardenship of Dufferin, has announced his retirement. Mr. Thos. Watson, who opposed Mr. Reith at the last two elections, has not made any announcement. It is said, however, that he is not likely to oppose Mr. McIntyre.

Reeve Sime, who has had ten years' experience in municipal politics, is likely to retire in East Luther. In that event Councillor S. C. McKee is almost sure to stand for reeve and will probably be opposed by Councillor Wm. Baxendale. Mr. Sime has made a conscientious and faithful representative and his decision to retire, if persisted in, will be received with general regret by the ratepayers of East Luther.

Reeve Sutton, of Erin township, has announced his intention of asking the electors for another term. There is a well defined feeling that he is entitled to an acclamation, but the Hillsburg Beaver says that Mr. James Kirkwood, a former M.P., is in the field and that Mr. Alexander McKinnon, who unsuccessfully contested East Wellington against Major J. J. Craig at the last Provincial election, is a probable aspirant.

Mr. J. H. Moffatt, the present reeve of Albion, is in the field for another term. It is said that there is some likelihood of his opponent of last year, Mr. Joseph Slack, giving him another race for the coveted honor. Last year's fight was triangular, Mr. Gott being the third contestant. It is said that Mr. Gott will not run again this year and in that event the outcome of the fight between Messrs. Moffatt and Slack would depend on which of them could poll the majority of the Gott vote. Mr. W. C. Hutchinson will stand for re-election as will all the rest of the present councillors. Several new aspirants are beginning to assert their claims, so that there is not likely to be any dearth of candidates in Albion when nomination day comes round.

WOMEN SUFFER More than Men.

Women have more than their share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity. They must "keep up" in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, etc. Mrs. Edward Calwood of 123 S. Harold Street, Fort William, Ont., says :

"I suffered with dull, miserable pains, soreness across my back and in my sides for months. They would catch me so badly at times that I could scarcely move around. I would have dizzy spells and altogether, felt generally run down. After using a number of remedies without finding relief. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and found them an excellent remedy. They not only relieved me of the miserable pains and soreness in my back but cured me of my kidney trouble."

FARMERS' INSTITUTE MEETINGS.

Meetings of the Dufferin Farmers' and Women's Institutes will be held in Orangeville on Friday, December 16th. The Farmers' Institute will meet in the Town Hall at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the Women's Institute in the school room of the Methodist Church at 2.30. A joint meeting of the two Institutes will be held in the Town Hall at 8 o'clock. The speakers will be Mr. T. H. Race, of Mitchell, Mr. James McDermott, of Elmvale, and Mrs. Thomas Shaw, of Hespeler.

H. S. LITERARY SOCIETY.

The High School Literary Society held its first meeting in the Assembly Hall last Thursday afternoon. The President, Mr. Wendell Holmes, occupied the chair and in his opening address spoke interestingly of the history of the Society. The distribution of the prizes won at the recent Field Day sports was an interesting feature of the meeting. Lieut.-Col. Preston made the presentations. The programme included a violin solo by Miss Hulse, the reading of an essay prepared by Miss Aileen Wheelock by Mr. Don McPherson, a piano duet by Misses Hazel Patterson and Robina McKay and a reading by Miss Hazel Clarke. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

A STARTLING STATEMENT.

It has been said by those who have investigated the matter carefully that, although at the age of 45 fully 80 per cent. of men are established in whatever pursuit they follow and are in receipt of incomes in excess of their expenditure, at the age of 60 it has been found that 95 per cent. are dependent upon their daily earnings, or upon their children for support. Many, no doubt, read the despatch from Detroit which recently appeared in the Canadian papers, and which described the condition of a man who but a little more than forty years ago was a "financial power" in that city, who had a "palatial home" on one of the most fashionable thoroughfares, entertained lavishly, and to whom every person, high and low, was prepared to pay homage. But the fates were against him. He suffered serious financial losses, and when he began to go down hill he found it was properly greased for the occasion. His friends deserted him like rats from a sinking ship, and now, at 80 years of age, after his day's labour, he wends his way to the city with the bent, broken down old men who have influence enough to have their names on the city's pay roll.

The moral is that out of your abundance something should be laid aside for declining years, and invested where thieves cannot reach it, and where one cannot be deprived of it in any possible way. This means is afforded you under the Canadian Government Annuities Act, which the Parliament of Canada passed in the session 1908, and which received the unanimous support of both sides of the House.

You may get all information by applying at the Post Office, or by addressing the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa.

DIVISION COURT.

Jas. Montgomery sued John D. Little, a Mono farmer, for $92 for wages, in Tuesday's Division Court. Little made good on a counterclaim and as a result got judgment without costs. A. A. Hughson for plff.; J. L. Island for deft.

Thomas Smith and Robert McCutcheon, farmers living on adjoining farms near Mono Centre, figured as plaintiff and defendant in a suit for $50 for the loss of a cow. The two men disagreed over the maintenance of a line fence. Fence viewers were brought on and made an apportionment. Smith built his part and McCutcheon built to a point about 20 rods from the place at which Smith's end stopped. Plaintiff's cow got caught in an old slash fence that crossed the intervening space and died before she was discovered. Judgment was reserved. C. R. McKeown for plff.; J. L. Island for deft.

Cook vs. Dale—This was an action to recover a loan of $20, which plaintiff claimed he had made for the purpose of helping through a business deal. Judgment for plaintiff. C. R. McKeown for plff.; A. A. Hughson for deft.

CAMILLA.

Wednesday of last week was a notable one for the congregation of St. Andrew's Church and it was made almost a public holiday as the three public schools in the church district were closed in honor of occasion—that of the induction of their new pastor, the Rev. A. J. Fowlie. The ladies of the church prepared a fine dinner which was served in the basement of the church at 12.30 to the eight visiting ministers and a goodly number of others. The meeting in the afternoon was opened with Rev. J. R. Bell, of Laurel, presiding and he preached an able sermon to all. He was followed by the Rev. Mr. Morris, who acted as moderator during the vacancy, and he formally inducted the new pastor into the charges of Mono Centre and Camilla. Rev. Dr. McKenzie addressed the pastor as to his duties and the Rev. Stanley R. Robinson, of Caledon, the congregation as to theirs. All delivered eloquent addresses of weight and concentrated thought. After the service the Rev. G. W. Rose, of Alton, introduced the new pastor to the members of the congregation as they passed out. Rev. Mr. Buchanan, of Dundalk, and Rev. Mr. Fowlie, of Erin, father of the new minister, were also present. Rev. Mr. Fowlie, his wife and son have taken up their residence in the manse, and they commence their work here with the best wishes and good feeling of all concerned and the relation of pastor and people gives promise of being a very happy one and all hope that the golden opinions the genial pastor and his charming wife have already won will never be marred by anything that would cause the bonds of friendship to dissolve.

DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE.

CURE DISEASES OF MEN
PATIENTS TREATED THROUGHOUT CANADA FOR 20 YEARS

DR. KENNEDY, MEDICAL DIRECTOR OF DRS. K. & K.

Drs. K. & K. are favorably known throughout Canada where they have done business for over 20 years. Thousands of patients have been treated and cured by their great skill and through the virtue of their New Method Treatment. When you treat with them you know you are dealing with responsible physicians as they own and occupy their own office building in Detroit, valued at $100,000. When they decide your case is curable, all your worry is removed for you know they will not deceive you. They guarantee to cure all curable cases. No matter how many doctors have failed to benefit you; no matter how much money you have spent in vain; no matter how discouraged you may be, don't give up in despair until you get a free opinion from these master specialists. If you are at present within the clutches of any secret habit which is sapping your life by degrees; if you are suffering from the results of past indiscretions; if your blood has been tainted from any private disease and you dare not marry; if you are married and live in dread of symptoms breaking out and exposing your past; if you are suffering as the result of a misspent life—Drs. K. & K. are your Refuge. Lay your case before them confidentially and they will tell you honestly if you are curable.

YOUNG MEN ON THE FARM.

In some quarters the idea still obtains that the purpose of attending an agricultural or other college is to secure a degree and a thousand-dollar-a-year job. It is true that the present demands of institutions for agricultural research and education in America are such as to attract a good many graduates in that direction; but, for the great majority that is not, and should not be, the supreme object. It is that the student may return home a better man, a worthier citizen, and a more capable farmer, because more intelligent and better informed. It will be a good day when we have more college-trained men on Canadian farms. As has been well said, we are rather prone, as a people, to roam about in quest of novelty and short-cuts to wealth. More liberal education helps us to escape sordidness and to take satisfaction out of living, by steadying down with more sensible ideals. Is it any wonder, when we see the sons of the farm drifting out of rural schools to work at twelve and fourteen years old, that there is a dearth of really qualified candidates later on for municipal, parliamentary and other positions in many sections? Nothing will much more certainly doom an uneducated youth for life than settling into a rut of eating, sleeping and choring, with perusal of the local paper, and chat about the neighbors as a mental diet. A daily programme like that will effectually nip in the bud any chance he has of rising to real enjoyment and usefulness. It dwarfs him, and destroys the pride he ought to have in farm stock and operations, and the real progress of the neighborhood.

Now that the long evenings of winter and greater leisure are at hand, let us at once get out of that narrowing groove. If there is a local book-reading circle, a rural Canadian Club, a musical society, or other organization of young people for mutual improvement in the locality, by all means take advantage of its membership, and push it along. By helping others, we will broaden and benefit ourselves. Dr. Jas. W. Robertson, as a lad, worked on a Middlesex farm, and later in the North Branch (Ont.) cheese factory. He sensibly seized every such opportunity to improve and serve others, never reckoning himself as a heaven-born genius. When the Government needed a dairy instructor and speaker, a professor at Guelph, or an Agricultural Commissioner at Ottawa; or a Montreal millionaire required an administrator to initiate the Macdonald Institute, Consolidated and Manual-training Schools, and the magnificent college at Ste. Anne de Bellevue; or the Dominion looked about for a chairman for a national commission to investigate the educational systems of Canada, Jas. W. Robertson, who never ran in ruts, was ready for the call to each successive step in service. An engineer who wishes to start his heavily-laden locomotive, applies sand to make the wheels grip the rails; and there is nothing much better than a little moral and intellectual SAND of the brand used by Dr. Jas. W. Robertson for the rising manhood of Canada. It will promote the capacity to enjoy the best things in life, and make a young farmer more successful by lifting him above the routine of daily work.—Farmers' Advocate.

INDIAN PASSION PLAY

B. C. REDMEN HARD AT WORK ON 1911 PERFORMANCE.

Remarkable Production Has Taken Place at Chilliwack Every Other Year Under the Direction of Priests—Play is in the Form of Tableaux Around Which Spectators Walk in Chanting Procession—One in 1911.

As wonderful as any Passion Play at Oberammergau is the representation of the great tragedy by British Columbia Indians. This is given every second year and arrangements are already well in hand for the 1911 performance near Vancouver, B. C.

Tribesmen from many coast sections of that rim of the British Empire already are actively rehearsing their parts and next summer on the Pacific coast will be memorable for what will undoubtedly be the best of the extraordinary series of passion plays given by the aborigines of Canada's western-most province. The production will take place at one of the little Roman Catholic missions, that gleam, white and peaceful, at the feet of the spruce-clad mountains of the coast range. Priests who have spent their lives devotedly winning redskins from their old faiths, who have put down dog-eating and devil-dancing, are now busy with the preliminary preparations for what will undoubtedly be one of the most eventful religious celebrations on the American continent.

It is not long since I saw the passion tableaux presented in the little town of Chilliwack, a few miles from Vancouver, says a writer in The Montreal Standard. There, near the banks of the Fraser, which flows yellow to the gulf of Georgia, was given a solemn, inspiring spectacle, impossible to be seen in any other part of the American continent. To the Garden City of British Columbia, as they call Chilliwack, outspread at the foot of white-topped Mountain Cheam, came 3,000 Indians. They included the remnants of thirty tribes, all that are left of the descendants of the army of redmen that owned the land previous to the appearance of the Spaniards and Captain Cook and Captain Vancouver.

This Passion play of the west is vastly different from that given at the quaint old European village. The Roman Catholic fathers, indeed, say that it is a teaching of the gospel by means of tableaux representing the great passion.

"We teach the great central truths of Christian faiths by a combination of the powers of the church and the stage," said one open-minded missionary.

"The tableaux, or plays if you will have it so," remarked another father, "is intended to be an object lesson for the Indians, who look upon the production with greatest reverence. It is the quickest and most effectual way in which to educate them in the various episodes of our Redeemer's passion. Our Indians are just like little children. It is easier to train them by the eye and personal interest than by the printed book."

Indians took part in thirteen tableaux of the Passion of Our Lord. It was at three in the afternoon of a sunny summer day that the great festival commenced, a replica of which will be given next year. The fathers had held special services in the reservation for five days previously, bringing the Indians up to the proper state of mind for the solemn occasion. As the hour struck the multitude of red men and women took their places in the long procession which was to pass around each group. There were old patriarchs and wrinkled dames who saw the light before Queen Victoria went to the throne of Great Britain; there were young mothers with papooses on their backs, their stolid husbands by their sides; young dashing bucks and round limbed, black-eyed maidens and hundreds of neatly-dressed school children.

Before the procession started a priest addressed the Indians in Chinook, the language of barter between whites and reds on the northern Pacific coast. Some Indians from the interior did not understand this and for their benefit the address was translated into "Stalo."

"As you pass each group representing the passion and death of our blessed Lord and Saviour, remember your sins," said the father impressively.

To the sound of a weird chant the cortage began its march. An Indian called out to the spectators that the march was styled "The Way to the Cross," whither the procession led. Thomas Michael, a widely known Indian of the Sechelt tribe, led the way carrying the heavy cross. Behind the uplifted emblem of Christianity walked sisters in black and mission girls in light-colored frocks. Then followed the representatives of the thirty tribes, each with the chief at the head, in tribal order. The priests walked between the lines and encouraged the chanting, which was kept up continuously for a couple of hours or more.

During all this time the Sechelt Indians and others who composed the thirteen tableaux, had to remain posed, while the great procession passed slowly from group to group. The Indians posed as if cut in stone for a period which no white man could emulate.

The first tableau showed St. Peter, St. James and St. John asleep in the Garden of Gethsemane, with Jesust Christ praying. Next came the arrest of Jesus, with Judas and servants portrayed by Indians. Groups 3, 4 and 5 depicted the judgment of Pilot, the scourging by his order and the crowning with thorns. Ecce Homo Pontius Pilate, showing Jesus to the people, was next strikingly represented and then the procession passed on to view Christ falling under the burden of the heavy cross, his meeting with the Virgin Mary, his condoling with the women and St. Veronica anointing his bleeding feet. Then came No. 11, stripping the clothes off Christ preparatory to his crucifixion, the crucifixion itself, and finally No. 13, the death of Christ.

The last picture was taken part in by all the Indians who had figured in the preceding 12. The figure on the cross was of course, not human, but it looked truly life-like. The death was portrayed with wonderful skill. The cross was hollowed and contained machinery to operate a vessel of red fluid, which represented Christ's blood. Leading from this vessel were lead tubes, all controlled from the bottom. A string pulled at the foot of the cross caused the blood to appear on the forehead and then on the hands and feet. Finally the Roman soldier plunged his sharp-pointed spear into the side and the blood gushed forth. All the Indians knelt while this scene was being enacted and Father Rhor gave an explanation in Chihook. He told in pathetic language of the dreadful agony endured and drew lessons from the greatest passions in history. Many of the redmen wept copiously.

TRAGEDY OF A STAMP.

This Canadian Twelve-Penny Black Had an Adventurous Career.

In the year of 1851 a 12 penny black Canadian postage stamp was printed by the Government of Ottawa. The public did not regard this sombre issue with favor so few were issued. One of these stamps was sent to the Hamilton postoffice, where it was sold to an old gentleman, who said it was a shame to print the Queen's picture on a stamp that might be handled by profane hands. Tenderly the gentleman put it on a parcel, sending it to a friend in the United States.

Here, in the waste basket, it lay for some time until it was found by a boy who had started stamp collecting. He quickly transferred it to his album. After a time, despairing of getting a good collection, and his fever somewhat abating, he sold them to a dealer. The new owner on looking at the catalogue, found that what he had paid $5 for was worth $25. Accidentally this stamp was slipped into a 25-cent packet, and sent to a dealer residing in Hamilton. When the latter opened the packet, he was astonished to find such a valuable stamp, and being honest, wrote his friend to inform him of what had happened, offering him $1,200 for it. The offer was accepted and the stamp again changed hands.

By this time the stamp had increased in value, and not a few came from a distance to look at the treasure. One day an English nobleman, who, through a Canadian friend, had heard of the stamp, offered $1,500, which offer was accepted. The English lord, falling in love with an American heiress, and wishing to gain the favor of her brother, presented him with the stamp as a token of his esteem. Here, in its new and luxurious American home, it came to a sad end, for one day the maid, by mistake, swept the stamp, which had accidentally fallen out of the album, into the fire. In an instant the stamp, which thousands had heard of and longed for, went up in smoke to the broad blue sky, leaving not a trace behind.

BIG VALUE FOR LITTLE MONEY

For the small sum of One Dollar one can certainly get big value by subscribing to the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal. In the first place you get the greatest weekly paper on the continent, a newspaper, magazine, and agricultural journal, all in one. Then again, each subscriber this season has the chance of winning a free trip to the Old Country next June, with all expenses from his home in Canada to the Old Country and return, and his spending money as well. This is no catch penny offer, as the Family Herald and Weekly Star's reputation would not allow any fake contest. Full particulars can be had at this office, or by writing for a sample copy of that great paper. It is the best value in Canada beyond dispute.

The Secret of Good Pies

PIE CRUST, more than any other delicacy of the oven, ought to be tempting and appealing to the taste.

You do not eat pie as a nerve tonic or to strengthen your appetite. You eat it for pleasure mostly.

You want it, of course, to taste good, at the same time you want the crust to be light, flaky, wholesome. Now, pie crust properly made from is always good food, the absolute uniformity of this best of all flours eliminates failure entirely. You get the same delightful results every time and your pies are more healthful and nourishing than if made from ordinary flour.

The reason is that "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" having a larger percentage of high quality gluten, assimilates more readily, is more satisfying than ordinary flour, comes out of the oven flakier, more tender and more digestible.

Be sure to try "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" when next you make pies. It is the finest flour in the world not only for Pastry but for Bread and all family baking.

"Ogilvie's Book For A Cook" containing 125 pages of tried and tested recipes will be sent free to any user of Royal Household Flour who asks for it. 23

A MASKED MAN.

Gave Two Owen Sound Ladies a Bad Fright.

The Owen Sound Times says that last Thursday night a message came in over the telephone asking that police be sent out to the home of the Misses Baker, St. Vincent road, near the railway track, to arrest if possible, a masked intruder, who had forced his way into the house. It was just as the night express was passing that the younger of the two sisters was in the kitchen. Hearing a footstep in the woodshed, she called out enquiring if it were that of her brother, Mr. William Baker, second engineer of the government steamer Bayfield, who was expected home from Prescott for the winter. Getting no reply she turned to the door to be greeted with a revolver in the hands of a man who was so masked with a black mask as to completely hide his features. Ignoring the threat that if she made any noise he would shoot, the young woman screamed as she pushed the door shut. The elder sister came but their strength was insufficient to close the door, and with a rush they made for a hall door leading from the kitchen to the front part of the dwelling. Getting inside they slammed it shut and made their way in breathless haste upstairs. There they got possession of a revolver, which they kept convenient, and fired two shots down the stairway. They were afraid to come down to give the warning by telephone and remained upstairs for nearly an hour by which time they attracted the attention of the neighbors by their calls. Hurrying over it was found that the intruder had decamped. Though the residence is outside of the town limits, a telephone message was sent in to police headquarters. P. C. Thompson, who had just returned from Markdale with a prisoner, accompanied P. C. Shute, and they got a horse and buggy and hurried out. When they reached the scene the foot-marks of the man could be seen around the house and under the dining room window where he had evidently stood and looked in. Search was made through Findley's mill, and yards, and in vacant houses and buildings, but without getting more than a glimpse of the footmarks which were being covered up by the falling snow. Mr. Ed. Canary, a neighbor, volunteered to remain on guard during the night with the frightened ladies. The mask prevented any possibility of ascertaining the identity of the man, but he was tall, had dark hair and wore a black overcoat. The fright prevented any closer description, but Mr. Arthur White, who, resides on the same road nearer town, says that while going along the sidewalk near his home he met a man of similar build and wearing a black overcoat. He was so struck with the sinister appearance of the man that he hesitated while passing as did also the man. P. C. Shute says that he is confident that had the women not had the revolver and two shots, evidence of which is seen in the bullet holes in the plaster, he would have carried out his designs of robbery or whatever motive prompted him to enter the house. Naturally the event has got the people on the outskirts worked up, but the individual will surely be caught as most of such characters are.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs . . . 25 cents.

Sarnia Town Council voted $45,000 to build a new twelve-room Public School in that town.

While at work dehorning cattle on his farm at Campbell's Cross, Mr. Wm. Beatty had an accident which might have been of a very serious character. One of the tie ropes slipped and the excited animal on which he was working charged Mr. Beatty. He was knocked down and in the fall sustained a nasty scalp wound which required a number of stitches.

A week ago Thursday as a team belonging to Mr. Alex. Thompson, who lives near Hillsburg, were standing in front of the Elevator at the station in Erin village, where a load of grain had just been unloaded, they started off and before they could be stopped, were running down the track with the empty wagon. They went over four concessions in their flight and also crossed the C. P. R. railway bridge below the 10th line, which must be fully 12 feet high. After running nearly to the town line they turned around and started on the return trip up the middle of the track again, but were fortunately stopped. They are a valuable team of young horses and strange to say came off without a scratch and with very little damage to the wagon.

THE DOCTOR'S QUESTION.

Much Sickness Due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that 98 per cent. of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver, and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive, pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general. We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case when they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy, they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract. They do not purge, gripe, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea or other annoying effect. They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

HOGS WERE ALRIGHT.

Veterinary Inspector's Services in Demand in Erin Township.

A couple of weeks ago, three prominent citizens of this place thought the proper time had arrived to lay in the winter's supply of pork, and accordingly bought from Mr. Fred McMillan, three choice hogs at the station stock yards. The hogs were slaughtered and properly prepared for curing and every thing going along according to schedule, when a rumor was circulated that the hogs were diseased. This rumor was quickly communicated by some subtile means to Constable Mereweather, of Guelph, who communicated with Dr. Gibson and instructed him to have Veterinary Thornton make an examination and report as to the matter. However, before Thornton could make the examination, some of the interested parties, it is alleged, hied themselves to Guelph, and fearing that Thornton's report might be biased, had the order countermanded and the matter placed in the hands of Government Veterinary Stubbs, of Charleston, who made his investigation on the 22nd inst., and issued the following certificate to Mr. Neil McFee who raised the hogs and sold them to McMillan.

The certificate.—This is to certify that I have this day examined twenty-five hogs, the property of Mr. Neil McFee, on Lot 29, Con. 10, Township of Erin, and after making a careful examination, had two of them slaughtered for the purposes of giving me every assistance in my examination, I found that said hogs are free from any form of disease whatever.

(Signed) Wm. Stubbs, Inspector.

Dated this 22nd day of November, '10.

The two hogs killed and examined by Stubbs were of the same litter as those sold to McMillan and were raised in the same pen.

As far as McFee is concerned this gives his hogs a clean bill of health; but the end is not yet, and as a result of the whole matter there is likely to be some rich pickings for the lawyers as actions for damages in considerable amounts are likely to follow.—Hillsburg Beaver.

SPOILED THE HONEYMOON.

David Montgomery, while returning from Orangeville with his bride on Wednesday, came near to going to a realm where there is neither marriage nor giving in marriage. The happy couple were bowling along the road in true marriage style, when the fire steed saw something at the skew crossing that did not just please it, and the beast took to the ditch without warning. The result was a badly frightened groom, a disturbed bride, who carried besides several bodily bruises a black eye. Of course the rig was ruined. They were forced to return to Orangeville and take the train home next day.—Star & Vidette

BUSINESS MAXIMS.

An American department-store merchant has devised a series of maxims that will be scattered throughout his new stores. Some of them are subjoined. Most of them will apply to others besides store clerks:

Talk less and listen more.

Shirkers are paid what they are worth.

A business education is economic freedom.

The only way to secure friends is to be one.

Every duty well done makes the next one easier.

An ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness.

To know things, we must know their details.

Think less about your rights and more about your duties.

Think twice before you speak and then talk to yourself.

Any man who plots another's undoing is arranging his own.

No man ever pushed himself forward by patting himself on the back.

The world reserves its big prizes for but one thing, and that is initiative. Initiative is doing the right thing without being told.

Always be circumspect and courteous. Bear the faults of some, the impoliteness of others, and pardon everybody sooner than yourself.

James Ireland, general merchant at Durham for the past eleven years, has disposed of his business.

Girls have a thumb-stall to slip on when paring potatoes or apples, or you are apt to cut the skin and keep it constantly rough and uncomfortable, especially for sewing. Wash the thumb-stall after use and have a fresh one to use while it is drying.

Children Had Eczema

Treatment prescribed had no effect—DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT made thorough cure.

Mrs. Oscar Vancott, St. Antoine, Sask., writes:—"I have found Dr. Chase's Ointment to be a permanent cure for Eczema and other skin diseases. One son, while nursing, broke out with running watery sores all over his head and around the ears. Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered agony untold. He became weak and frail and would not eat and we thought we would lose him.

"Providentially we heard of Dr. Chase's Ointment and it soon thoroughly cured him. He is seven years old now and strong and well. An older boy was also cured of eczema by this Ointment and we hope more people will learn about it so that their little ones may be saved from suffering."

As a cure for eczema and itching skin disease there is no treatment to be compared to Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes sent free.

ELDER.

Well, Mr. Editor, having arrived home from my trip to the West and being somewhat anxious to see and have a chat with some of my old friends, in the township of Mono. I soon made opportunity to bid adieu to the pretty town of Orangeville and start for home by the Prince of Wales Road. I had not proceeded far when I met my old friend, George Duke, and of course we had a very interesting chat. During our conversation he informed me that he was on his way to Erin to purchase some Baldwin apples. The next person to come along was W. McCluskey looking as hale and hearty as ever. He informed me that he had been engaged in the neighborhood of Primrose during the summer, but was interested at the present time in the power house in the county town. Proceeding on my way I soon reached Elba, where I came very nearly getting run over by a horse and cutter, which was coming down the hill at breakneck speed. The driver proved to be Herbie Lindsay, who told me he was boarding at George Little's now. Hearing that George was going to run for deputy-reeve I accepted an invitation over to dinner with Herb. While there we learned that Howard Smith had taken a large contract cutting wood for George Buchanan, and also that Albert Little had Gordon Long hired to do chores while he was engaged with Perry Lindsay keeping on fires, during Perry's frequent absences singing in Mount Zion choir. As Herb. seemed in no hurry, I started alone on my journey east. Getting back to the corner I found Edgar Kendrew and George McKenzie having a chat. Edgar of course informed me he was going south for the winter. George said he was going up to Corbetton for some Porter. Leaving the corner and making my way up the hill, I met Leonard Halbert on his way to Amaranth. He expressed the hope that it would not storm too badly before his return, adding that he had got caught last winter and the Toronto Telegram got word in some way of his plight. Proceeding on my way I soon reached the first line east, where I happened in with George Lindsay, who had also returned from the West recently. George said he was on his way to John Algie's at Sandy Row and as the weather was getting rather rough I decided to go with him and stay until the weather moderated. On our arrival there we heard Whit Jessop's melodious voice singing:

As the days are short,
And the nights are long,
Some other time
I'll continue my song.

Good sleighing in this locality and business is brisk in our village.

Rev. H. W. P. Kemp, of Walters Falls, gave an interesting missionary address in the Gravel Road Church last Sabbath. Next Sunday Rev. Mr. Williamson, Ph.B., will speak upon the topic, "The Unpardonable Sin."

Mr. John T. Breen went to Guelph on Monday to attend the Fat Stock Show.

Mr. Patrick McCue spent a few days in the vicinity of St. Catharines last week.

Real estate business is lively these days. Mr. Joseph Stone, having sold his farm on the 4th line, has bought a house in the ambitious town of Shelburne and will have an extensive auction sale soon and move to Shelburne.

Mr. S. Sawden has also bought two houses in Shelburne, which were formerly the Reburn and Jelly estates respectively, and is preparing to move into town. Mr. Sawden has rented his farm here to Mr. Richard Smith, of Shelburne, for a term of years.

Mr. Robert Halbert, just east of the village, had the misfortune to get his hand caught in the chopping mill, which he has in his barn and which is driven by the windmill, on Saturday, and had the flesh torn from the bone of his arm up to the elbow. Drs. White and Smith dressed the wounded arm and had to put some 40 stitches in it.

MARSVILLE.

The members of Court Marsville C. O. F. held their annual banquet and oyster supper on Friday evening. Owing to sickness the attendance was not as large as on previous occasions. About seventy of the members and their wives were present to participate in the social event. After partaking of the dainty menu Bro. Sam Price took the chair and ably presided, while an excellent programme was rendered. Excellent music was generously provided by the Dyer Bros. Short addresses were given by Bros. Cornelius and Boyle. It was after midnight when the National Anthem brought the enjoyable event to a close.

The special services, which were conducted in the Disciple Church, were brought to a close on Sunday evening, when the Grand Valley choir was present. Rev. Mr. Assister, of Collingwood, was the speaker each evening and his discourses were much appreciated by all who had the privilege of being present.

The Centre Wellington Farmers' Institute will hold a meeting here on Tuesday, Dec. 13th, afternoon and evening. The speakers, who will be present, are Mr. T. H. Race, of Mitchell, Mr. Jas. McDermott, of Elmvale, and Mrs. Thos. Shaw, of Hespeler.

A number from here attended the Winter Fair at Guelph this week.

Miss Maud McDougal returned last week from Rouleau, Sask., where she spent three months with her sister.

Mr. J. T. Handley's sale on Friday was largely attended and good prices were realized for the stock and implements. Mr. R. J. Kerr was the auctioneer.

CHARLESTON.

It is our sad duty this week to report the death of Mrs. James McKerracher, of Northwood. Only a few short months ago Mrs. McKerracher was in our midst receiving the congratulations of her many friends on her seeming restoration to health, after more than three months severe suffering in a London hospital. But the beautiful days of renewed health and happy reunion with husband and children passed too quickly, ending in another month of intense suffering, borne with cheerful resignation, 'ere the loving spirit took its flight to the land of eternal rest. For several years Mrs. McKerracher—formerly Miss Julia Griffith—was principal of our village school, and endeared herself to pupils and parents by her conscientious efforts for the advancement of her scholars, both intellectually and morally. From early life a consistent member of the Methodist Church, she delighted in using her consecrated talents in working with sister denominations whose aim was the uplifting of humanity. There is left to mourn her loss two sisters, Mrs. Wm. McCartney, of this place, Mrs. Geo. Richards, of Melbourne, Ont., four brothers, a devoted husband and two precious little sons. To these sorrowing relatives is extended the sincere sympathy of the Caledon friends who from past association in a measure realize the great loss sustained.

Sleep, beloved, sleep, secure from earthly fears,
While mortal life shall last,
Fond memories of the past shall mingle with our tears.

Sleep, beloved, sleep, and rest from earthly strife,
Death claimed thee in thy bloom,
We lay thee in the tomb till Christ shall give thee life.

Sleep, beloved, sleep, we meet on earth no more,
But hope to meet again
Beyond the reach of pain, on Heaven's eternal shore.

MONO MILLS.

The committees in charge of the Sabbath School concert to be held in connection with the Presbyterian Church on Friday evening, Dec. 16th, are making active preparations to make it the most enjoyable event of the holiday season. The pupils are being trained for a number of interesting dialogues and pretty drills, and choruses in which all the pupils and young people take part will be a feature of the programme. The church choir will also furnish a number of selections. The programme will began at 7.30.

There will not be a meeting of the Women's Institute in the month of December, but the regular meeting in January will be held at the usual time and place.

The members of the Farmers' Institute Club will hold their annual meeting for the election of officers on Wednesday evening, Dec. 14th, in the Orange Hall.

The teachers and officers of the English Church Sunday School will hold their annual Christmas Tree and Entertainment on Friday evening, Dec. 23rd. Prizes will be distributed to the pupils according to merit and a good programme will be provided. Fuller particulars later.

LAUREL.

On Tuesday evening last the Laurel Epworth League entertained the Epworth Leagues of Shelburne and Orangeville Methodist Churches. A large number attended from each of the towns and the local league and their friends were present in good form to welcome their visitors. The town Epworth Leagues contributed the programme, with a chorus by members of Laurel League. At the close a very pleasant social hour was spent during which the ladies of Laurel League in their usual good style served refreshments.

Revival services are being conducted this week in the Methodist Church by the pastors Revs. T. R. White and A. E. Whittle.

The Laurel Skating Association has been organized and we believe the young men are meeting with deserved encouragement in their endeavor to provide a rink for the village and surrounding country.

THE BAPTIST CHURCH.

At the Baptist Church last Sunday morning, five candidates were baptized on profession of faith and two others, previously baptized, together with the above, received the hand of fellowship at the evening service.

Next Sunday at the morning service, Mr. Davies subject will be "The Incomparable Song" and in the evening, "Prayer, in its Relation to the Healing of the Body." Special reference will be made to so-called Christian Science.

AMARANTH COUNCIL.

Twp. Hall, Laurel, Nov. 19th, 1910.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment. Members present, the Reeve in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

The Court of Revision, which was adjourned from 22nd ultimo, was resumed.

Mr. John Stoneman's appeal against the change that was made in his assessment was taken up. The Court contended that he was fairly dealt with and sustained their action of former meeting and closed the court on drain No. 30. They then took up the appeal of the C. P. R. Co. They again sustained their action of former meeting and closed the Court on the Nottawa drain.

The Court then took up the appeals that had not been fully considered at previous meeting on drain No. 48. The evidence was heard and the matter of the assessment was argued and re-argued. The opposing parties interested, at last agreed to enter into an agreement to do a certain amount of work, in the way of clearing the timber out of the creek. The Court concluded that providing they could legally enter into an agreement they would consider the matter, and the Court was adjourned to get legal advice in the matter.

N. GORDON SCHOLARSHIP

The following announcement has been made by the authorities of Queen's University:

"The N. Gordon Scholarship for Dufferin County, in conection with Queen's University.

Mr. N. Gordon, of Orangeville, has generously offered a Scholarship of the value of $50 to the candidate from the schools of Dufferin County taking the highest stand in the July Departmental Junior Matriculation Examinations in 1911 in connection with Queen's University. The University will add to this Scholarship free tuition in Arts, making the total value of the scholarship $150.

The award of the scholarship is governed by the regulations on pages 42 and 44 of the University Calendar for 1910-11, except in the case of the last regulation on page 44. The Dufferin County Scholarship will be available within the next two sessions after it is awarded."

This last regulation will permit successful candidates for this scholarship to continue at High School one year longer to prepare honor work without forfeiting their right to the scholarship. Prospective candidates should procure a copy of the University calendar from the General Secretary, Robert Laird, M.A., Queen's University, Kingston, Ont.

GOING TO REGINA.

Ex-Mayor W. T. Bailey expects to leave Orangeville this or early next week for Regina, where he has accepted a position in the office of Turgeon, Fish & Calder, a leading legal firm. Mr. Bailey has had a lengthy and honorable business and public career in Orangeville and the town loses an upright and public-spirited citizen through his departure. To him belongs in a large measure the credit for the construction of the waterworks system, one of the greatest boons ever given our citizens. The undertaking was bitterly opposed at the time and a man of less energy and persistence than Mr. Bailey might have quailed before the fierce opposition. Time has justified his course and completely silenced the men who assailed him so bitterly less than two decades ago. Mr. Bailey has also been quite active in general politics. Naturally a Liberal in his learnings, he broke with his party on the question of reciprocity with the United States and in the general elections of 1891 stumped for the Conservatives in North and Centre Wellington. He was a prominent McCarthyite and later contested Dufferin against Dr. Barr as an independent temperance candidate. He was defeated, but made a creditable showing in the unequal contest. Mr. Bailey is a staunch temperance advocate and was active in the local option contest in Orangeville last January. The Banner joins his friends in wishing him a successful career in the Western Capital.

A Duff, Grand Organizer for the Orange Mutual Benefit Association, and W. Bro Jas. G. Ward, County Master of Dufferin, both of whom have signified their intention of paying the Lodge a visit. Refreshments will be served after the business meeting. Brethren of other lodges are cordially invited to attend.

A SUCCESSFUL MARKET.

The weekly produce market last Thursday was easily the most successful yet held. There were three buyers present and when the market got going properly the buying was decidedly brisk. Butter in lb. prints with wrappers was as heretofore in strong demand and any offerings were quickly snapped up at 23c. and 24c. Geese, turkeys, ducks and chickens were offered in large quantities. Prices, while good, were scarcely as firm as at some former markets. Prices ruled as follows:—Geese, 11c. to 12c.; chickens 8c. to 14c.; eggs, 25c. to 40c.; butter 22c. to 24c.; turkeys, 18c.; ducks, 12½c. to 15c.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

The success of the majority of the Business Colleges in Ontario at least is a good indication of the demand for practical Education and should prompt our authorities to give more attention to this particular work in our Public and High Schools. We learn on good authority that one prominent Business College — The Central Business College of Toronto—enrols annually more than fifteen hundred students, and that it never has any graduates out of employment. Indeed, we are told many business firms find much difficulty in securing the necessary well trained assistants to carry on their work successfully, and they are now compelled to look to the Business Colleges almost exclusively to supply their requirements. A business education is a very safe guarantee of a good salary in these times of commercial activity.

Free to Stock and Poultry Raisers

We will send, absolutely free, for the asking, postpaid, one of our large thirty-two-page booklets on the common diseases of stock and poultry. Tells you how to feed all kinds of heavy and light horses, colts and mares, milch cows, calves and fattening steers, also how to keep and feed poultry so that they will lay just as well in winter as in summer. No farmer should be without it.

At a cost of only two-thirds of a cent a day per Animal, Royal Purple Stock Specific makes each Animal worth 25 per cent. more.

You never heard of any other Specific, or "Stock Food," doing likewise.

Royal Purple will permanently cure the Bots, Colic, Worms, Skin Diseases and Debility, and restore run-down Animals to plumpness and vigor.

It will increase the milk-yield three to five pounds per cow a day inside of from two to three weeks. It makes the milk richer than ever before.

MR. ANDREW WEGRICH, of Wainfleet, Ont., says: "This is to certify that I have tried your Royal Purple Stock Specific for two weeks, on one cow. On the 16th I weighed her milk as 17 pounds. I noticed a change after 5 or 6 days, as there was an extra weight of milk. On the 29th, I carefully weighed the milk, and she gave 22 pounds. I am giving an order for 5 boxes, as I consider it the best I have ever used."

"Stock Food" will not do this. Because "Stock Feed" is nothing more or less than a mixture of the very things which you, yourself, grow on your own farm.

It is not more food your Animals need. They must have something to help their bodies get all the nourishment from the food they are getting. So that they will fatten, and stay fat, all the year 'round.

They need something to prevent disease, to cure disease, and to keep them in the best of health, all the time.

Not a Stock Food.

Royal Purple is not a "Stock Food," nor a "medicine." It is a Conditioner.

It does not contain Grain, nor farm products. Nor does it contain "Dope," or any other injurious ingredient. Royal Purple does not merely temporarily blout or inspire the Animal. It fattens and strengthens it, permanently.

No other Specific known adds flesh so quickly as Royal Purple. It makes 6-weeks-old Calves as large as ordinary-fed Calves are at 10 weeks.

Royal Purple makes naturally-thin Animals fat and heavy. And it builds up the health and restores the former plumpness and vigor of run-down stock, in little or no time.

The very best time to use this Conditioner is NOW. It digests the hard food properly and prevents the animals getting indigestion or losing flesh.

50 per cent. Cheaper

One 50-cent Package of Royal Purple will last one Animal 70 days. This figures a little over two-thirds of a cent per day.

Most "Stock Foods" in 50-cent Packages last but 50 days, and are given three times a day.

But Royal Purple Specific is given only once a day, and lasts 50 per cent. longer. (A $1.50 Pail, containing four times the amount of the 50-cent Package, lasts 280 days.)

So, you see, it is only necessary to give Royal Purple Specific once each day.

Just think of making each Animal worth 25 per cent. over its cost! What will that mean to you, Mr. Stock Owner?

It makes the Hens lay Eggs in Winter as well as in the Summer.

MRS. WM. BURNHAM, Sanford, Ont., says: "Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have used two boxes of your Poultry Specific for my hens. They laid so well while feeding it to them. I wondered if you would mind sending me word how or where I could get some this winter. I bought it from your agent last winter. I had 32 hens, and some days I got two dozen eggs a day in February and March, while feeding them the Specific."

Royal Purple Poultry Specific prevents Fowls losing flesh at moulting time, and permanently cures every poultry disease. It makes their plumage bright and keeps them always in prime condition.

It makes your Poultry worth more than they could ever be without it.

Yet one 50-cent Package will last 25 Hens 70 days. Or a $1.50 Pail will do 25 Hens 280 days. This is four times more material at only three times the cost.

Royal Purple
STOCK AND POULTRY SPECIFICS

Royal Purple creates an appetite for food, and helps nature to digest and turn it into flesh and muscle.

As a Hog fattener, Royal Purple has no equal.

Never Off Feed

Dan McEwen, the horseman, says: "I have used Royal Purple Stock Specific persistently in feeding 'The Eel,' 2.02¼, largest winner of any pacer on Grand Circuit in 1908 and 1909, and 'Henry Winters,' 2.10¼, brother of 'Allen Winters,' winner of $33,000 in trotting stakes in 1908.

"These horses have never been off their feed since I started using Royal Purple Specific. I will always have it in my stables. Your Cough Powder works like magic."

For Poultry

Royal Purple Poultry Specific is our other Specific. It is for Poultry—not for stock.

Make This Test

Every ounce of Royal Purple Stock and Poultry Specific is guaranteed.

To prove that Royal Purple has no equal, we want you to make this test:

Feed Royal Purple to any one of your Animals for four weeks. And at the same time feed any other preparation to any other Animal in the same condition.

If Royal Purple does not prove to you, by actual results, that it is the best you ever used, we'll return your money.

And we'll ask no questions—make no excuses. You will be the judge—not us.

This is an honest test. Isn't it? We ask you to make it because we know that Royal Purple is the best Conditioner on the market.

If you are not satisfied, after testing it, you don't lose anything, do you?

Centralia, Ont., Feb. 7, '10.
The W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:
Gentlemen,—We have been using Royal Purple Poultry and Stock Specific for the last three weeks, and must say that results are remarkable. Am feeding the Stock Specific to two milking cows, and they have increased 30 per cent. in their milk. The Poultry results are even more marked than this. We have about 60 hens, laying age. When we commenced feeding, we were getting five and six eggs a day, and in the last five days the same flock of hens laid 150 eggs, almost an average of 21 each day, and those five days have been the coldest this winter.

You can see results plainly in two or three days after the use of "Royal Purple," and the poultry have the same hustle and appearance now as in the summer time. With cows and poultry, am using exactly the same feed and care as before starting to feed "Royal Purple."

When farmers and stockmen get acquainted with Royal Purple, it will have a greater demand than all other tonics and stock foods on the market combined.

Yours truly, ANDREW HICKS.

W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:
Gentlemen,—Last Fall we had in our stable a young mare belonging to Miss Cliquston, of Montreal. We could not feed her any bran on account of causing violent scouring, consequently causing her to become weak and thin. We commenced using your Royal Purple Stock Specific, and the results were wonderful. After using it three weeks, we found we could feed the animal bran or any other soft feed without scouring her, and she actually took on in this time twenty-five pounds of flesh, we working her at the same time through the hunt. I can heartily recommend your Stock Specific.

THE EDITORIAL HENS SUFFER.

When the editor read last week that "blackhead is a disease which is causing alarm among farmers and poultry men by killing off flock after flock of turkeys," he wasn't so able to appreciate the feelings of the farmer whose flock has been decimated this way as he is now. Because why? Well, it's a simple story. When the editor left his residence on Second Avenue Saturday morning to come down town he was congratulating himself on the plumpness, healthiness and general good condition of his flock of nineteen brown leghorn and Plymouth Rock fowl. When he returned to the house at noon he found fourteen of the fowl very dead indeed, and the poultry yard looking like a slaughter house. Dogs did the deed of violence and rapine, and we absolutely refuse to thank them for it.—Shelburne Economist.

3,500 TONS OF BLOOD.

Scientists say that this amount of blood is purified by the liver and kidneys of a human being in a year. Is it any wonder they get tired and sluggish and require the assistance of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills to arouse them to action and to restore their vigor.

Dropsy—
Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD,
Wilmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Price $1.00 at your druggist. He should supply you. If he does not, send price to us, we forward prepaid.

OLD PROSPECTOR TELLS HIS STORY

His Real Trouble Started When Rheumatism Got Him.

Plasters, ointment and sulphur were alike useless, but Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new man of him.

Princeton, B.C., Dec. 5. (Special.)—All over Canada people are telling of the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing, and even in the rocky mountain fastnesses where nature hides her mines men are telling of cures made and suffering relieved by the great Canadian Kidney remedy. Wm. Murray, sixty-six years old, who has tramped the frontier as umber jack, rancher, prospector, miner, hunter and trapper, and who has friends all over the west, is one of these. Many a tale of hardship and danger he can tell, but his first real trouble came when Rheumatism claimed him.

"I slipped on the mountain side and strained my Kidneys and then my troubles all seemed to set in at once. I had nearly all the symptoms of Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Diabetes, Dropsy, and Bright's Disease," Mr. Murray states.

"Then I broke out in a terrible rash that spread all over my body, and kept me in tortures. I tried all sorts of liniments and ointments and took sulphur enough to start a little hades of my own. But it was all no use. Then I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and all I can say is they made a new man of me."

The Duncan farm, on Islington Avenue, south of Islington station, has been sold by Mr. George Faulkner, 77 Victoria Street, to a land company for $25,000. The property has an area of 100 acres, which will be cut up into building lots.

Mr. Simon Moyer has an eagle which was caught in a trap, on Mr. Ephriam Weber's farm, near Elmira, while feeding on a carcass, a fortnight ago. The bird is a fine specimen of its tribe and measures over 7 feet across the wings. It is apparently little the worse for its capture.

Mr. Sam. Gray, 7th line, Erin, had a very fortunate escape from a serious predicament a week ago Saturday. He and John Hurd were removing large stones from a field on Mr. Gray's farm, and as they were working on a side hill with a chain attached to a large stone, it began to move, and Mr. Gray fearing the stone would roll towards the horses, spoke sharply to them, and they became frightened and ran away. He tried to hold them but could not, but in trying to do so the lines became entangled around his leg, and when he let go with his hands, he was drawn for a short distance over the plowed ground before getting loose. No serious damage was done other than a severe shaking up.

Holman Hunt and Canada.

The London Chronicle recalls an interesting episode in the career of the late Holman Hunt, whose pictures attracted wide attention at Toronto Exhibition. "There was," it says, "a period in his career when he contemplated emigrating to Canada as a farmer. It was shortly after the establishment of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. The work of the new artists was the subject of an avalanche of hostile criticism, and The Times—in an article published in 1851—singled out the paintings of Millais and Holman Hunt for particular condemnation. Affected simplicity, senile imitations of a cramped style, false perspective, crude colors, morbid infatuation, and the sacrifice of beauty, truth, and genuine feeling to mere eccentricity, were among the vices with which the unfortunate artists were charged.

"Hunt was in despair, and threatened to leave the country, while Millais was in a state of equal dejection. Hearing of this, Coventry Patmore wrote to Ruskin begging him to use his influence on behalf of the traduced artists. Immediately afterward Ruskin wrote two letters to The Times, in which he vindicated both Hunt and Millais from the attacks of the critics. 'There has been nothing in art so earnest or so complete as these pictures since the days of Albert Durer,' he wrote. The letters came, as Hunt himself said, as thunder out of a clear sky, and they created a revolution in public feeling. Hunt abandoned his intention of emigrating, and set to work again, while Millais began his 'Ophelia'."

Queen's Progressive.

Queen's University has opened up for the session, like the rest of the Canadian colleges. Queen's starts its books with an innovation. Down in Kingston they have added a Chair of Canadian History to the college furniture. There is nothing like it in Canada. A chap may go to Toronto or McGill and know less about his own country than when he entered college. You are supposed to have learned the story of Canada in the public school. Queen's is the only college in Canada where you can specialize in Canadian history. Even at Oxford the colonies come in for expert treatment, until this autumn at the hands of Prof. W. L. Grant. He has come to Queen's to do the same work. Prof. Grant is the late Principal Grant's son.

A Matter of Station.

The late Chief Justice Burton, when a practicing barrister, was once nonplussed by a dirty-looking bricklayer who came to be sworn.

"Really, witness, when you have to appear before the court, it is your duty to be more clean and decent in your appearance."

"Well, if it comes to that, I am every bit as well dressed as you are," was the reply.

"How do you mean?" asked the barrister, angrily.

"Why, you come here in your working clothes, and I'm come in mine."

ANNIVERSARY AT CHARLESTON.

The Methodist Church, Charleston, will hold its anniversary services and entertainment on December 25th. and 26th. Mr. Rechab Tandy, the well known tenor, will sing at the entertainment on Monday evening.

—Nothing will please a man better for Christmas than a nice necktie or a pair of good suspenders put up in a fancy box for 50c. at McMillan & Torrie's.

Mary Gordon was arrested at Napanee, having in her possession furs belonging to Mrs. Wm. Smith, wife of a Belleville hotelman.

A couple of Stayner hotelkeepers put up $40 each recently for violating local option, and Ed. Haskell, of the Denison House, Coldwater, paid $150 and costs for selling to a minor.

In a disastrous fire at Lambton a week ago Monday morning almost the entire premises of Wm. Tomlinson, a farmer who lives a mile south of the village, were destroyed, including seven valuable horses. The loss will be over $6000, the stables being valued at $2000, and the house at $3000, while the horses and household effects would make probably another thousand.

"CATCH MY PAL."

Temperance Movement Has Spread With Great Rapidity

The history of the social reform has rarely presented so remarkable a development as the movement known as the Irish Protestant Total Abstinence Union, or, as it is better known, the "Catch My Pal" Society, whose first anniversary was celebrated in Armagh recently with several demonstrations. Started on July 16 of last year, the union has now a membership of 120,000, and before the end of the present year has come it is expected that the flag of total abstinence will be firmly planted in each of the chief towns and cities of the United Kingdom. The origin of the organization is a singularly interesting example of how seemingly trivial incidents change the current of men's lives and alter the social customs of the people.

On July 13, 1909, Rev. R. J. Patterson, LL.B., a Presbyterian clergyman in the city of Armagh, happened to pass a lamp post around which stood six men, some of whom were recovering from the effects of a drinking bout the day before. One of the men suggested half in jest to Mr. Patterson that he should try and induce his companions to take the pledge. A conversation followed, and the six men promised to go to the manse three days later as the curfew rang and take the pledge. The men carried out their undertaking, signed the pledge, and the union became an accomplished fact.

The idea of the society was admirable illustrated by Mr. Patterson, who said: "The men who drink to excess are the men who make the drink problem. Let those who make the problem solve it. Let the drinkers take the pledge, and go and get their 'pals' to do the same. Let the responsibility of the reform of the drinkers be largely left on the shoulders of the drinkers themselves. Let the drinkers be inspired with the idea that even they are their brother's keepers."

No fiery cross of old traveled with greater celerity than did the idea throughout Ulster. It seemed as if the people had been hoping against hope for the opportunity to help themselves without the aid of legislation. From end to end of the province the union spread with amazing rapidity sweeping into its net all sorts and conditions of men and women, the employer of labor and the worker, the erstwhile temperance man who now took the pledge as an example to his fellows, the moderate drinker, the secret drunkard, and the police court habitue. The phrase "hopless drunkard" holds no place in the lexicon of the union, as it is maintained, and the history of the movement seems to justify the contention, that there is none so degraded but has at least a spark of good in him.

From Ulster the organization spread to other parts of Ireland, and now branches are to be found south, east, and west. Then the Channel was crossed, and several of the large industrial centres in Scotland came under the influence of the movement, branches being formed in Glasgow, Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Paisley, and other towns.

A most gratifying feature of the work is that the union has united all the Protestant churches of Ireland under its banner, and, to quote one instance, the unique spectacle was witnessed in a Presbyterian church in Londonderry of the bishop of the diocese, Dr. Chadwick, occupying the pulpit at a demonstration of members. The pledge of the union is as follows: "For God and home and native land. I promise, by God's help, to abstain from all intoxicating drinks or beverages, and to do all that in me lies to promote the cause of total abstinence by getting others to join the union."

The Prince's Investiture.

Those who are behind the scenes are immensely amused at the fierce fight that is going on at the present time between Cardiff, Carnarvon, and other Welsh towns, as to which shall have the honor of witnessing the formal investiture of the Prince of Wales with his time-honored title. As a matter of fact, the King and Queen have definitely made up their minds that there shall be no formal investiture of their eldest son at all, and that he shall not take any part in public functions of any description until he is eighteen. At the same time His Majesty is very keenly interested in the discussion that is now taking place for the valuable sidelights that it sheds on Welsh history, and in following the claims of the rival towns most carefully. He is extremely cautious, however, not to express any opinion in favor of any one place, though he has been directly invited to do so by those who are at liberty to approach him upon the terms of intimacy.

And Wrong at That!

Those almost perfect "doubles" George du Maurier and Sir Lawrence Alma-Tadema, were nearly indistinguishable. The story goes that a woman sitting beside Du Maurier at dinner started conversation by poohpoohing all idea of a resemblance.

"You know, Mr. Alma-Tadema, I think it's absurd to say that you and Mr. Du Maurier are so awfully alike. There's really no resemblance at all. Don't you agree with me?"

"Quite," was the polite answer; "but, you see, I happen to be Mr. Du Maurier!"

Fell Dead After Saving Child.

Standing on her doorstep in a street in Carmarthen, Wales, the other week, a widow named Hannah Owen saw a five-year-old girl knocked down by a motor-car. She rushed forward, snatched the child towards her, and took her into the house, where she found that the little one was only scratched on the arm. The incident, however, had such an effect upon the woman that she fell dead.

The Expensive Promoter.

"That man's time is worth $60 a minute," said the mathematician.

"More than that," replied the reckless investor. "He once gave me five minutes of his time when I was looking for advice and it cost me several thousand dollars."

IT HEALED MY SORES WHEN ALL ELSE HAD FAILED!

This is what Mr. Edward Bingham, of 118 Brant Ave., Brantford, says of Zam-Buk. After an attack of typhoid fever, ulcers broke out on his right foot and ankle. "The foot and leg were terribly inflamed," he says, "and the pain was very acute. I could not wear boot or shoe, and could not move about at all! I used all kinds of lotions, salves and ointments, yet nothing seemed able to heal the ulcers until Zam-Buk was tried.

"The very first application of Zam-Buk relieved the intense pain, and as I kept on using Zam-Buk the ulcers began to look healthier and were less painful.

"By use of this healing balm the discharging was reduced and healing commenced. After a few weeks' treatment, the swelling and inflammation were banished, and the sores were entirely healed. I am so grateful for my cure through Zam-Buk that I consider it my duty to let others know of the merits of this great balm."

What Zam-Buk should be used for.

Zam-Buk will be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bites, ulcers, eczema, blood poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries and diseases generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitations and substitutes. The present debenture debt of the town is $62,838.77.

HE KNOWS WHAT FIXED HIM UP.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured S. D. Vickar's Lumbago.

He suffered three years, but the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Made short work of his trouble.

Edenbridge, Sask., Dec. 12. (Special.)—"It was one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills that fixed me up." This is the cheerful answer Mr. Sam D. Vickar is giving his inquiring neighbors in this district. Everybody around here knows that for three years he has been suffering from Lumbago. Now he's strong and well again.

"My Lumbago developed from a cold," Mr. Vickar goes on to say. "My head would ache. I was always tired and nervous. I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the morning, was troubled with dizzy spells and was always thirsty. The doctor told me I had Lumbago, but did not help me very much. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills went straight to the root of the trouble. They cured his kidneys. The cured Kidneys strained the uric acid out of the blood, and Mr. Vickar's Lumbago vanished. Dodd's Kidney Pills are no cure-all. They simply cure sick kidneys. They never fail to do that.

GIVE HOME MERCHANTS A CHANCE.

An article, which appeared in last week's issue of the Arthur Enterprise under the above heading, is right in line with what The Banner has been advocating in the last two issues. The Enterprise says :—

The city departmental stores, with their usual energy, are making a bid for a big share of the country trade which, in the interests of all concerned, rightfully belongs to the local merchants of the various villages and towns throughout the province. Too many fail to realize that in destroying home business by patronizing big city concerns, who care not for them or their interests, they are working in direct opposition to their own cause as a community. Why is farm land in close proximity to a thriving village or town of more value than similar land, situated several miles back; if not because a thriving town is a direct advantage to the vicinity in which it is located.

To come down to the actual dollars and cents side of the question we are convinced that money is every day sent to departmental stores for which much more value could have been obtained at home. Frequently the reader of a beautifully gotten up catalogue reads of an article at what appears to be a bargain. The article is sent for with the money paid in advance and when the proud possessor of it shows it to friends it transpires that that article could have been purchased for less money at home. This is not heresay but the simple statement of a fact which we could illustrate with numerous instances if required. The least that the purchasing public can do is to give the local merchants a chance to compete with the city concerns. A merchant here in Arthur not long ago dressed a window with articles of which he gave the price as given in the departmental store catalogue and his own price here in Arthur, which was in every instance from 10 to 25 per cent. lower.

In one of our local stores the other day a woman told of towels which she had got from a mail order house at a great snap. They had been on bargain and she had been lucky enough to get them. To her surprise the merchant showed her a bigger towel of the same quality as those on which she had paid express from the city, for less money per pair and they were not on bargain either, just selling at the regular close town prices.

For the balance of this year and in the new year upon which we will, in the course of but a few weeks, enter would it not be a good time to resolve to give your home merchants a fair chance and before you are induced to purchase from mail order concerns investigate what you can do in your own stores at home, whose growth and development, indirectly furthers your own individual prosperity.

AN INTERESTING QUERY.

Can Secretary of Public School Board Accept Remuneration and Legally Retain His Seat ?

The Editor of The Banner

Sir,—Sec. 118 of the School Act provides that :

A trustee shall not enter into any contract, agreement, engagement or promise either in his own name, or in the name of another, and either alone or jointly with another, in which he has any pecuniary interest, profit or promised or expected benefit with the board of which he is a member, or have any pecuniary claim upon or receive compensation from the board for any work, engagement, employment, or duty, on behalf of the board, and every such contract, agreement, engagement, or promise, shall be null and void, and a trustee violating the provisions of this section shall "ipso facto" vacate his seat.

Then Section 115 says :

A person elected as trustee, who, as such, attends any meeting of the board after becoming disqualified shall incur a penalty of $20 for every meeting so attended.

In the face of the above should a member of the Public School Board of this town be voted a sum of money for his services as Secretary of the Board? He cannot accept pay for his services and still hold his seat.

CITIZEN.

A REASON WANTED

To the Editor.

Dear Sir,—How is it that the Town Council had to go into the East Ward to get a D. R. O. for the West Ward? Are there no ratepayers in the West fit to fill the office? Where were Messrs Curry and Hepton when these appointments were being made?

Wake up, gentlemen, you will be expecting votes in the near future and you should prove yourselves worthy of them by looking after our interests.

COUNTY COURT AND GENERAL SESSIONS.

No Criminal Business—Wilson vs. The Superior Portland Cement Co., Limited, The Only Civil Case.

The December Sittings of the County Court of the County of Dufferin, and General Sessions of the Peace, opened at the Court House on Tuesday afternoon, at one o'clock, before His Honor, Judge McCarthy.

There was no criminal business and but one civil case was tried. This was an action brought by Harvey W. Wilson against the Superior Portland Cement Company, for $300 damages for alleged wrongful dismissal. The plaintiff was employed by the defendant Company from 15th February last to the 9th of the following June, when it is alleged, he was dismissed. Plaintiff alleged he was engaged by Alfred Vaughan, a former Superintendent of the Company, for ten months at a salary of $100 a month. The defendant Company denied this engagement, claiming the engagement was a monthly one, and that the plaintiff habitually neglected his duties, was incompetent, and finally resigned. The plaintiff gave evidence on his own behalf, told of being engaged by Mr. Vaughan, and after working some six weeks was advised he was satisfactory, and he thereupon brought his family here from Owen Sound to live. He had never been negligent and Mr. Vaughan had been well pleased with him. Mr. Vaughan, who left the Company last July, gave the plaintiff a good character as master mechanic, for which position he had engaged him. Witness claimed he had full authority to do so, and several sharp tilts between the ex-superintendent and Counsel for the Company, Mr. A. A. Hughson, took place. Mr. Vaughan was evidently not friendly to his former employers, and Barrister Hughson described him as a "tricky witness." Messrs. Storey and Hughes, both former employees of the Company, gave the plaintiff a good name as a workman, and saw none of the faults complained of. This concluded the plaintiff's case, and the defence called George King, who had been assistant to the plaintiff. Witness said the machinery was in good shape when plaintiff took charge, and was in bad order when he left. Jones, St. Croix, and the two Chisholms, father and son, who have now charge of the machinery, were called, as was also James Dale. The Court adjourned at nearly six o'clock.

At ten o'clock on Wednesday morning, Court resumed. Mr. George McIntyre, Secretary Treasurer and Managing Director of the Company, was first called. Witness had urged Mr. Vaughan to dismiss the plaintiff, as he was incompetent. Had called at the mill late at night, and found the plant crippled by breakages in the machinery, due to the negligence of the plaintiff. Vaughan told witness that plaintiff had resigned on June 8th and he directed a cheque for $50 to be given plaintiff, he was so pleased to get rid of him. President W. D. Wilson was next called. He had paid frequent visits to the mill, and was impressed with the incompetency of the plaintiff and directed that he should be dismissed. The plaintiff was recalled in rebuttal, and denied all charges of neglect, or that he had ever resigned. Mr. Hughson addressed the jury at length and was very severe on the plaintiff and his witnesses. Mr. C. R. McKeown, K.C., who held the brief for McKay, Telford and Grosch, of Owen Sound, solicitors for the plaintiff, followed. His client, Mr. McKeown held, had not resigned on 8th June, otherwise he would have accepted cheque for $50, when but $20 was really coming to him. The plaintiff was not lazy or incompetent, as since his dismissal he had earned $155 from the Owen Sound Iron Co., and $345 from the Atwood Cement Co., with which latter concern he had held a similar position at $130 a month. Mr. McKeown spoke for nearly three quarters of an hour and his address, as was that of Mr. Hughson, was an able effort. The judge summed up briefly and appeared rather against the plaintiff. The Court Room was crowded with interested spectators on opening day, and well filled yesterday. The jury were all farmers.

The jury retired at one o'clock and at 3.30 p.m. brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $60. The judge reserved the question of costs.

McPherson & Johnston are showing attractive lines of Men's and Ladies' Slippers, suitable for Christmas presents.

MRS. SETH PATTULLO.

Mrs. Jennie Steen Pattullo, wife of Mr. Seth Pattullo, passed away at her home, lot 20, 1st line, west, Caledon, on Monday at the age of 48 years. Deceased lady was a sister-in-law of Messrs. Jos., R. A., and Kenneth Pattullo of this town. She is survived by her husband and a family of three—two sons and a daughter. The funeral was held to the C. P. R. station at Alton yesterday, the remains being conveyed to her former home at Streetsville for burial. The funeral service was held in St. Andrew's Church, Streetsville, upon the arrival of the train.

MR. JAMES McDONALD.

Mr. James McDonald, a well-known Mono farmer, died at his home on lot 15, Prince of Wales Road, on Thursday. Deceased had been in ill-health for the past year or longer. His death was the result of an internal growth, probably of a cancerous nature. Mr. McDonald was a native of Chinguacousy township, but had lived in Mono for 36 years or longer. He is survived by a widow, but leaves no family. Mrs. Robert Patterson, of Laurel, is a sister. Deceased was an honest, straightforward man and as such enjoyed the respect and good-will of the community in which he resided. He was a member of St. Andrew's Church, Camilla, and a Liberal in politics. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and neighbors at the funeral which was held to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Rev. A. J. Fowlie conducted an impressive service at the house, also officiating at the grave.

MISS LIZZIE ELLIOTT.

Miss Elizabeth R. Elliott, a daughter of the late Adam Elliott, of Pickering township, passed away at the home of her uncle, ex-reeve I. J. Murphy, of Mono, on Friday afternoon. Miss Elliott had been ill for several months, but the end came suddenly and unexpectedly. The deceased had made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Murphy since her childhood and became to occupy almost the place of a daughter in the home. Some years ago she decided to become a professional nurse and after a training course in one of the Toronto hospitals followed her calling in that city. She met with more than average success and had every prospect of a useful career, when overtaken by the illness that resulted in her untimely demise. Her sickness was borne with fortitude and an exemplary patience and resignation to the will of her Master. She was in her 25th year and is survived by her mother, now living in Saskatchewan, two brothers, John Elliott, Pickering and Frank Elliott, in Wisconsin, and three sisters, Mrs. David Annan, Pickering, Mrs. Walter Bray, Fillmore, Sask., and Mrs. S. Chappelle, Lethbridge, Alta. The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from the home of Mr. Murphy to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, conducting the services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were Messrs. Nelson Black, W. E. Island, W. J. McMaster, J. E. Smith, W. J. and A. D. McKitrick.

CONNOR.

Mr. Vernet Armstrong held a very successful sawing bee on Monday afternoon and quite a lot of wood was cut. In the evening about 100 guests were present. The time went so pleasantly that the wee sma hours were growing larger before the last departed. Messrs. Killeen, of Sleswick, Wilson, of Palgrave, and Hazel Fagan, of Mono Mills, together with Mr. Armstrong himself, were a violin force which never tired and dancing went on merrily, and everybody was surprised to find the time gone so rapidly. Several round here would like a bee of the same sort and quality once a week.

Mono Mills L. O. L. 192 had a Royal Arch meeting on Monday night when seven candidates received the exalted degree. An oyster supper at midnight was a very pleasant interlude.

FINES—MAXWELL.

A quiet but very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Jos. Maxwell, 1st line, west Caledon, on Wednesday afternoon, December 7th, when her daughter, Elizabeth Mabel, was united in marriage to Mr. John Fines, of Melville Cross, son of the late William Fines. In the absence of Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's, Church, Orangeville, through illness, Rev. A. C. Watt, of Bondhead, an old friend of the family, was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who entered the parlor on the arm of her brother, Mr. T. W. Maxwell, to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Hulse, of Orangeville, was attired in a dainty gown of French embroidered net over silk and wore a tulle veil caught up with lillies of the valley. Master Oscar Robinson acted as ringbearer, carrying the ring on a silver tray. A dainty wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony. The wedding gifts were numerous and costly, testifying to the esteem in which the bride is held by her friends. The groom's gift was a handsome gold watch and chain. Later in the evening the bride donned her going away costume of plum shaded cloth with black hat to match and the happy couple drove to their future residence on the Fines homestead, where they will be at home to their friends in February. The Banner joins their many friends in extending its hearty congratulations.

"Is that you, Mrs. Knowitall ?"

"Yes."

"Well, say, have you done your Christmas shopping yet ?"

"Yes."

"Orangeville?"

"Sure ! Oh, that's the place to go. Well, say ! Where can you do best there ?"

"Oh, there is not much difference, only in Groceries. You certainly ought to go to Arkell's for them. He has the most up-to-date stock I have seen. His Raisins, Currants, Peels, Dates, and other necessaries for Christmas Baking are so new and fresh and clean. I would try him if I were you."

"Well, thank you very much ! That's just where I'll go. I have heard that he had about the best stock in town and that his prices were very reasonable."

"That's Arkell, the East End Grocer !"

"Yes, alright ! Ever so much obliged. Bye-bye !"

Don't give up in despair because you have treated with other doctors, used electric belts and tried various drug store nostrums.

Our New Method Treatment has snatched hundreds from the brink of despair, has restored happiness to hundreds of homes and has made successful men of those who were "down and out." We prescribe specific remedies for each individual case according to the symptoms and complications—we have no patent medicines. This is one of the secrets of our wonderful success as our treatment cannot fail, for we prescribe remedies adapted to each individual case. Only curable cases accepted. We have done business throughout Canada for over 20 Years.

CURABLE CASES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY

READER Are you a victim? Have you lost hope? Are you intending to marry? Has your blood been diseased? Have you any weakness? Our New Method Treatment will cure you. TALL TALK ABOUT DUCKS.

Joseph Junette, near Alton, Ill., thinks he will quit farming and educate ducks to eat potato bugs. "A dollar a day a duck" will be his motto. Last summer Mr. Junette enjoyed an income of $15 a day from fifteen ducks which he had trained to clear potato patches of the little spotted pests.

Junette tried them first on his own potato patch, which comprised several acres. The ducks went through the patch like a neighborhood scandal. After this Junette took care that his web-footed brigade did not acquire a taste for other diet so that they might continue to earn their wages.

The ducks are in great demand on the farms in Junette's neighborhood. Farmers are glad to pay $1.50 an hour for the services of the brigade. Junette has in sight an income of $90 a week from the fifteen ducks already employed.—New York Herald.

AND THE MINK ESCAPED.

Considerable excitement and a fair-sized mink were flying around the Blakeley mill pond on Monday morning. The way it happened was this: Boss Blakeley of the factory noticed his minkship gambolling about the dam. At once he and the staff, Geo. Bellamy, rushed out to exterminate the pest—and incidentally to pick up a mink skin worth about $4.00. Councillor McLeod, who chanced to be present, also joined the bloodthirsty mill men in their quest, while the animal chased itself out of sight beneath some boards which were buried in snow. Just then an Advance reporter, with a keen scent for news, dropped around. Excitement waxed higher as the terrified mink was relentlessly pursued from cover to cover, still retreating. At last he was cornered and his retreat uncovered. Then the little ball of fur bounded out, rushed about aimlessly for a second, and then "beat it" for the water as fast as his little legs could move. Of course scarcely any one of the blows directed at him found their mark, and his lordship plumped down into the icy drink with every appearance of delight.—Flesherton Advance.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs - - 25 cents.

Soon after the arrival of his first baby, his wife went upstairs one evening and found him standing by the side of the crib and gazing earnestly at the child. She was touched by the sight and tears filled her eyes. Her arms stole softly around his neck as she rubbed her cheek caressingly against his shoulder. He started slightly at the touch. "Darling," he murmured, dreamily, "it is incomprehensible to me how they get up such a crib as that for 99 cents."

A candidate told this story at a mass meeting, where preceding orators had urged the audience to show their patriotism by voting for the best man. "The honeymoon of a newly married couple was about to end," he said, "and the young bride asked her husband what she could do to prove she loved him with all her heart. The husband replied: 'You might turn over all the foolish letters I have written you, so that I might have the satisfaction of destroying them.'"

When Sleep Fails You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will bring rest, comfort and vitality by building up the nerves.

Mr. Jas. Wesley Weaver, a veteran of the Fenian Raid, Port Dalhousie, Ont., writes:—"For years I was afflicted with nervousness and dreaded insomnia, so that I never knew for three years what a full hour's sleep was, never more than dosing for a few minutes at a time. Heart pains and headaches almost drove me wild. I had spells of weakness and cramps in stomach and limbs.

"Though I tried several doctors, it was money uselessly spent. Finally Dr. Chase's Nerve Food was brought to me and eight boxes cured me. It is simply wonderful what benefit I have obtained from this treatment."

Sleeplessness and headaches are warnings of approaching nervous collapse. You can positively remove these symptoms and prevent prostration or paralysis by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 for $2.50, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. GERMS IN HER SYSTEM.

Every Woman Should Read this Advice and the Generous Offer that Goes With It.

The number of diseases peculiar to women is such that we believe this space would hardly contain a mere mention of their names, and it is a fact that most of these diseases are of a catarrhal nature. A woman cannot be well if there is a trace of catarrh in her system.

Some women think there is no help for them. We positively declare this to be a mistaken idea. We are so sure of this that we offer to supply medicine absolutely free of all cost in every instance where it fails to give satisfaction, or does not substantiate our claims. With this understanding, no woman should hesitate to believe our honesty of purpose, or hesitate to put our claims to a test.

There is only one way to overcome catarrh. That way is through the blood. You may use all the snuffs douches or like remedies for years without getting more than temporary relief at best. Catarrh in general is a diseased condition of the system that shows locally most frequently in discharges from mucous membranes. Local treatment should be assisted by internal treatment for the general diseased condition if a complete cure is to be reached. That internal treatment should be scientifically devised and faithfully administered.

Rexall Mucu-Tone is scientifically prepared from the prescription of an eminent physician who for thirty years made catarrh his specialty. This remedy is admirably adapted to the treatment of the catarrhal ailments of women. It purifies and enriches the blood, tends to stop mucous discharges, aids in removing impurities from the system, soothes, heals and strengthens the mucous tissues, and brings about a feeling of health and strength.

We want you to try Rexall Mucu-Tone on our guarantee. If you are not benefitted, or for any reason not satisfied, simply tell us and we will hand back your money. Rexall Mucu-Tone comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at—The Rexall Store, T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

GRASSHOPPER AND THE ANT.

When the cold weather began the grasshopper called at the home of the ant.

"Go right away from here," said the ant. "You needn't come around begging us for food. All summer while we were laying up our supplies you were dancing as if you hadn't a care in the world."

"My dear Mrs. Ant" said the grasshopper, making a profound bow, "you mistake the purpose of my call. Knowing that your family had amassed a comfortable fortune, I realized that it is time that you should take your rightful place in society. As a master of that terpsichorean art, I am prepared to give you instructions in that graceful accomplishment in exchange for board and lodging. How can you expect to mingle with our best people if you and your daughter are unfamiliar with the newest steps?"

And he sent for his trunk that afternoon.—Chicago Evening Post.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

R. H. Halbert, formerly of Violet Hill, who moved from Shelburne to the Watson farm in Melancthon, which he purchased about two years ago, met with a serious accident on Saturday afternoon. He was just starting to chop some grain and was oiling the gearing of the wind mill in the barn when his left arm was drawn into the gearing and the skin was stripped off his arm from the wrist to the elbow. With his right arm he managed to stop the mill or he would have received more serious injuries. He managed to get his knife out of his pocket and opened it with his teeth and cut the flesh and cloth from his arm before he could get liberated. Dr. S. T. White was sent for as soon as possible and when he reached the place found that he would require assistance, so he returned for Dr. J. A. Smith. Chloroform was administered and the arm dressed. The skin was put back on the arm and required a great number of stitches and it is only a chance whether it will adhere properly, but it is said he will not lose the use of his arm. The accident is a serious one but his many friends hope for a good recovery. He will be laid up for several weeks.—Free Press.

HOME TRUTHS FOR MARRIED PEOPLE.

The best part of love is friendship.

Once married, make the best of it. There is consolation in the word inevitable.

There is only one valid reason for marrying. It is this: because one cannot help it.

Our grandmothers expected little from their husbands and got it. We are in danger of flying to the other extreme.

There is only one difference between men and women. Men don't care about cupboards, women can't exist without them.

Don't forget the little courtesies and delicacies of married life. They count for more than many purple raptures.

If you don't ask your husband questions he is sure to tell you everything you wish to know. Therefore, wait patiently.

Don't be always the same. It is tiresome. A change may prove wholesome, even for the worse, provided it is merely temporary.

If you once grasp the fact that, while physically different, men and women and alike in character and mentality, you will solve many problems with ease.—From M.A.P.

Willie Clutterbuck, a Wallaceburg boy, was accidentally shot and killed by Willie Thompson, another boy, while hunting rabbits.

A "TALL" ONE.

Albert Griggs is a farmer who lives near Eageville, Ohio. He has a herd of cows. For a long time he has enjoyed a considerable revenue from the milk they give, or which he takes from them. During the past month or so he has noticed a pronounced falling off in his herd's milk product. He was unable to account for it until last Monday, when, by chance, he discovered a singular condition of affairs in his cow pasture. It will doubtless be received with incredulity by Easterners, but the Cleveland Plaindealer vouches for it, and so it must be true. Mr. Griggs, it seems, found a singular family living in his pasture. It was made up of sixteen milk snakes, his old cat and four kittens. These incongruous units had taken up quarters together under a pile of rails, and, strange as it may seem, they all dwelt together in perfect harmony. When the evening shadows fell, the snakes, under the direction of the old cat, would go forth and select cows. Four snakes would then attach themselves to each cow, and while the kittens sat in a receptive attitude, the snakes would milk the cows into the opened mouths of the kittens. It was all very interesting, but Mr. Griggs somehow failed to enter into the proper spirit of the thing. He even went to far as to kill all the snakes, as well as the old cat and her kittens, so that now things have gone back to the humdrum on the Griggs farm in Ohio, and there is nothing further doing there out of the ordinary farm routine.—W. G. B., in The Evening Mail.

HELPLESS CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Five Boxes Of "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

4 HOME PLACE, TORONTO, Dec. 15th, 1909.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism for nearly a year, and my right arm was swollen and the pain was fearful. All down the right side, the pain was dreadful, and I could hardly move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians but their medicine did me no good, and I tried numerous other remedies but received no benefit. I was simply a helpless cripple and suffered from Rheumatism all during last winter.

I saw "Fruit-a-tives" advertised in "The Telegram" and decided to try this remedy. After I had taken one box, I was much better and the pain less, and I continued the treatment with good hopes. When I had taken three boxes, I was so well that I could use my arm again and the pain was practically gone. After I had taken five boxes, I was entirely well again—no pain—no suffering—and now I am as WELL as I ever was.

The cure of my case by "Fruit-a-tives" was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me of my sufferings.

For the sake of others who may suffer from this terrible disease, Rheumatism, I give you permission to publish this statement."

MRS. LIZZIE BAXTER.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy that actually cures Rheumatism, and Sciatica because "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that actually prevents Uric Acid being formed in any quantity in the body. If there is no excess of uric acid in the blood, there can be no Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives" keeps the stomach clean—the liver active—the bowels regular—the kidney strong and the skin healthy. These are the organs that rid the body of all waste. When "Fruit-a-tives" so regulates the system that all waste is eliminated, then there can be no waste or "urea" to be changed into uric acid. Thus, there can be no uric acid in the blood, to inflame nerves and cause the pain which we know by the names of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia. "Fruit-a-tives" will cure every trace of Rheumatism, Pain In The Back, Swollen Hands and Feet, and other troubles due to the blood being poisoned by uric acid.

If you are subject to Rheumatism, cure yourself now with "Fruit-a-tives" and be free of pain this winter.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

Are Your Children Properly Fed?

LET us talk about the right feeding of children. Of course, you want your children to grow up strong and healthy; you want to equip them for the battle of life with rugged constitutions and good red blood. Now, the first step is to see that they are properly fed. And these words "properly fed" mean much in the diet of children. For it isn't quantity that counts, but quality.

There is no better food under Heaven for growing children than plenty of first class bread and butter. They thrive on it, grow strong and fat and rugged. Their systems crave it because it is a complete, well-balanced food.

But the bread must be good—the very best, and the best is made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR which contains the full nutriment of Manitoba Red Fyfe wheat—for only wheat of this character contains enough of the right quality gluten to balance the starch. Gluten makes bone and muscle, starch makes fat. It takes the right combination of both to make properly balanced bread.

Bread made from OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is richest in blood building, muscle building, health building gluten. Children like it better and thrive better on it.

With "Royal Household" you need never have anything but the very best results for it is always the same, absolutely uniform, year in and year out and is just as good for Pastry as it is for Bread.

If parents knew this important difference between ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR and other flours they would never use any but "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD".

Send in your name and address also the name of your dealer to The Ogilvie Flour Mills Co. Limited, and get that splendid book of tried Recipes called "Ogilvie's Book for a Cook". 24

A few days ago while Mr. Alex. Fletcher was going to the barn to feed his cattle he saw a large black bear devouring one of his sheep. At the sight he ran for his gun, but in his absence the bear made a good retreat, swam the lake at the back of the farm and disappeared. Since then no word has been heard of him. Three of his tribe were also seen near the home of Mr. Peter Mountain about the same time but where they came from or where they went is still a mystery.—Durham Review.

Messrs T. C. Dryden, of Riverview, John McConnell, of Toronto, and Chester McDonnell went shooting together in Melancthon one day recently. They were in the bush just one hour and forty-five minutes, but when they counted up they had forty-two dead bunnies.

Fortunate is the Oxypathist.

He needs no doctors or drugs—so saves their expense.

He has no drug medicines about to poison his children or start in them a craving for alcohol, cocaine or similar evils.

He knows how and why he is cured and so knows what to do when sickness appears.

He is always the complete master of disease regardless of kind—severity—duration—or failure of former systems of treatment—and so fears none in self or family.

He gets simple—safe—sure—speedy—sensible home treatment instead of experiments—talk—theory—virus—or other drug poisons.

He is independent—intelligent—progressive.

He has protected his home and insured his health and happiness through life.

ON THE "HOG SPECIAL."

From Thousand Island Junction to Gananoque runs a spur line railway commonly called "The Hog Special," which is much used by commercial travellers and other unfortunates. Stories beyond number are told on this line, for though it is only a few miles in length, there is ample time. This is one which the drummers will swear to be true.

It was a hot summer day, and the train stopped just a mile out of the town. There was nothing unusual in this, and the travellers continued to smoke. Finally the conductor appeared.

"Has any one a piece of string," he asked.

After some fumbling one of the men discovered a bit about a yard long.

"That ought to do," said the conductor.

"What do you want it for?" asked a curious person.

"Axle's broke," came the laconic reply.

ORIGINAL INTERPRETATIONS.

A story is going the rounds of a school teacher in one of the foreign settlements of the city of Toronto, upon whom a deputation of Italian mothers waited with a complaint that they would not have their children taught songs which ridiculed their nationality by referring to them as "dagoes." Inquiry showed that the offending line occurred in "My Old Kentucky Home," in which the sentiment occurs that "The day goes by like a shadow on the heart."

This anecdote is matched by a woman who had sent her little son to the infant class of a Sunday School. He came home lustily chanting a hymn, and one line caught her attention as it ran, "White men to the forward; dark passengers through." When the small boy was questioned he felt certain that such was the hymn taught them by the teacher, but by piecing out the context his mother found he had made a slight mistake in catching the words which were in reality "Fight manfully forward, dark passions subdue."

Principal Stewart, of the Acton school, has resigned to accept a situation in Parry Sound at $1300 a year.

FROM THE OTHER POINT OF VIEW.

(R. M. Dickey, in The Presbyterian.

It is a good policy to listen to the other man's side of the case and endeavor to see things from his standpoint. With this object in mind I availed myself of several opportunities of getting into touch with the opponents of local veto. Some of my experiences may be of interest to your readers in districts where a vote is to be taken at the next municipal election.

In one town I stayed at an hotel which only a few months before had lost its license through the application of local veto. I made it a point to be around the bar as much as possible, without making myself too conspicuous. Soft drinks were being sold and a splendid trade was being done. But it was a very different kind of trade from what one sees in a licensed bar room. The men in this case got their drinks and went away — refreshed and satisfied. There was no lounging around on the part of the drinkers, no bar-room loafers waiting a chance to sponge a drink, no maudlin talk, and no bestial jokes. The proprietor was busy, and it was impossible to get any expression from him about local veto. His wife, however, was more communicative. She said quite frankly, that both she and her husband had been bitterly opposed to local veto. They had fought hard against it and regarded the temperance people as their enemies. But she added, "It's the greatest blessing that has ever come to us, for if the old conditions had remained my husband would probably have been beyond all hope now. He was going it pretty fast. Now he is perfectly sober and attends to his business as he never did before." I asked if they could make the hotel pay without a license. She replied: "We have to work harder and give better meals to hold our trade. We also charge a little more for the meals, but no one objects to that. We can't save a great deal, but we can pay our way and make a good living."

On the train coming home an unexpected opportunity came to me. The train was crowded. A gentleman who came aboard when passing another local veto town sat down beside me. There were a good many ministers on the train, some of them returning to Toronto after taking services in the country, some of them coming to attend meetings of their church courts. My seat mate opened the conversation by drawing my attention to the ministers, telling me who some of them were and where they were going. Then he said: "If these preachers would only mind their own business and let other people alone it would be far better for themselves and for their Churches."

I agreed with the general principle that every man should mind his own business and enquired in what way they had failed to do so. He immediately launched into the story of the local veto fight. He told how every minister in the town, with one exception, had been active, and some of them had been "ringleaders in the effort to destroy decent men's business." The hotel proprietors had decided, quite rightly he thought, to contribute not another cent to any of these Churches. One of these hotel proprietors had been the most generous contributor to his Church—he had given as much as $50 a year. He had notified the minister before the fight began of what would happen, but the minister went right on, and now that big subscription was cut off.

I agreed, again, that human nature being what it is, men couldn't be blamed for refusing to contribute to an institution that was doing its best to take away the source of their wealth. But I enquired, what effect the stopping of these contributions had on the Churches—had any of them been compelled to close as a result? "Well, no," he admitted, "they seem to get along just as well as before." "And with these men and their friends staying away, how is the attendance at the services?" I asked, and he replied that "on the whole the attendance in all the churches was better than it used to be."

"How has it affected business?" I asked next. "Well," he replied, "it hasn't done business any harm yet", with the suggestion in his tone that it would eventually.

"Were there many men addicted to drink in the town?" I asked, "and how have they been affected?"

"Yes," he replied. "There were a good many of them and it has been a good thing for them — men who don't know when to quit are safer when there are no bars. They have all sobered up." And he went on to tell me a story of a friend of his own, a man over sixty years of age, who last Saturday had put his first $5 into the savings' bank.

"How about the farmers? Do they go to other towns with their produce and to buy their goods?" "No," he said, "they come here just the same as usual. Some of them grumble about having to pay ten cents more for their meals, but they all go home earlier than they used to do. Yes, and with more money in their pockets."

"Did the proprietors of the hotels drink?" "Two of them never touched it," he replied, "the other four were going it pretty bad—oh yes, they have sobered up too."

"Well now," I said, "if local veto has sobered up all the old topers, including the hotel proprietors, has started some of them to keep bank accounts, has sent the farmers home earlier and with more money in their pockets, has increased attendance at the Churches and has not injured either Church finances or the business of the town, wasn't it worth a trial?"

"Yes, he thought perhaps on the whole it was, though it was pretty hard on men like himself who knew when to quit not to be able to get a drink after a long drive in the cold winter days."

"Then," I said, "those preachers that ought to mind their own business—what about them?"

His anger was up again in a moment and he replied: "They are paid to preach the Gospel—they ought to do that and let decent men's business alone."

"But suppose the minister knew all the evils of strong drink, knew from his experience in other places of all the good that local veto would accomplish, knew if he spoke out his mind he would lose contributors —if this man were your minister which course would you like him to pursue?"

He turned suddenly and said: "What business do you follow?"

Handing him my card I replied: "I mind my own business, and I regard everything that affects the well-being of the people as my business."

The train was just pulling into the station; so we parted with a hearty grip—each I think understanding a little better the other's point of view.

"I'm coming to hear you next Sunday," he called after me as I pushed my way through the crowd, and "I'll preach a temperance sermon," I replied.

WHY SLEEP IS NECESSARY.

During sleep nature restores the cells and tissues wasted by the activities of life. Without sleep physical bankruptcy is quick and certain. Mrs. J. Derocher, 485 Bethune st., Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I can say for a certainty that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine, for, besides steadying the nerves, it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to eat and sleep well.

While attempting to board a G. T. R. passenger train at Bradford, a week ago Friday afternoon, Pierce McAteer, a brakeman, living at 248 St. Clarens avenue, Toronto, was thrown between the wheels, which passed over his left leg, necessitating amputation at Grace Hospital.

Mr. George Plant, Jr., of Brampton, who had been messenger for the Dominion Express for several weeks fell off the rear of the wagon a week ago Saturday night and broke his right wrist. He was holding in place a stack of Dale flower boxes when the wagon lurched.

Geo. Hilson, of Nassagaweya, appeared before justices R. J. Campbell and J. H. Peacock, charged by his brother-in-law, Robert Wedge, of Esquesing, with housebreaking and stealing about twelve or thirteen pounds of ginseng. Mrs. Wedge swore that the roots were being dried in her house, that some one broke in and stole them, that some time afterwards she visited her sister, Mrs. Hilson, and saw in her home some ginseng roots which she thought she could identify. She called in her husband and he identified four of the roots. Robert Wedge corroborated his wife's evidence as to going to Hilsons' to see the roots, and he swore to his identification. Ginseng is worth $7 per pound. Hilson was committed for trial.

COCKADES.

How many of our friends in this country who are wont to decorate with cockades the hats of their coachmen are aware that, from an European standpoint, they are in no way entitled to make use of this emblem, seeing that it is an indication that the wearer is a servant of royalty?

In all countries but the United States the cockade can be legally worn only by servants of royalty, including naval and military officers, diplomatists, and the lieutenants, deputy-lieutenants, and high sheriffs of counties. As worn by these its color is black, and its introduction to England in this form is due to the House of Hanover, although cockades of various colors had been known in England long before that time.

In the time of Charles I., there was employed a scarlet cockade, but under his son this gave way to white, this becoming the badge of the Jacobites, while orange was that of William of Orange. Orange is still the color in the Netherlands, while other European nations show a large variety of hues— black and white in Germany, black and yellow in Austria, the tricolor in France, scarlet in Spain, blue and white in Portugal (until recently, at least), and black, red and yellow in Belgium.

The word "cockade" is derived from the French corcarde, which was originally applied to the plumes of cock's feathers worn by Croatian soldiers serving in the French army. —Harper's Weekly.

Zam-Buk Cures Piles.

Maritime Magistrate's Case.

Mr. C. E. Sanford, of Weston, King's Co., N.S., a Justice of the Peace for the County, and a Deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick, says: "I have used Zam-Buk for piles and found it a splendid remedy. It cured me."

Mr. Thomas Pearson, of Prince Albert, Sask., writes: "I must thank you for the benefit I have received from the use of Zam-Buk. Last summer I had a fever, which left me with piles. I started to use Zam-Buk, and found it gave me relief, so I continued with it. After using three or four boxes, it effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, eczema, blood-poison, varicose sores, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitations and substitutes. See the registered name "Zam-Buk" on every package before buying.

R. L. Jones, of Winnipeg, is negotiating with Port Arthur, with a view to the establishment of car works, to be capitalized at $350,000.

ELDER.

The man (or boy) who penned the Elder correspondence that appeared in last week's Banner is running a department that ought to make his rivals sit up and stare. His little "chats with readers" in confidential style would make a graven image kick up its heels and smile. Suppose he has spent five million dollars travelling through the West and that is doubtless the place for Uncle Joe.

UNCLE JOHN.

WHITTINGTON.

The members of the Methodist Sunday School intend holding their annual Christmas Tree on December 20th. The entertainment promises to be one of the best ever given under this auspices, as the young people are preparing a choice and up-to-date programme in the line of dialogues, recitations, quartettes, drills, etc. Gents, bring your ladies and get a treat of gee-whiz at the close of the programme.

Mr. John Staveley is doing a rushing business chopping. Friday of each week is chopping day.

Our teacher, Miss McConnell, of Orangeville, has been engaged for another term.

ELEGANT COSTUMES TO BE SEEN HERE SOON.

The picturesque Highland Scottish costume is the climax in costuming effects in "Roney's Boys" concerts, and who are soon to appear here. Each of the five boys wears the tartan of a different Scottish clan. One wears the Gordon tartan, another wears the Victoria plaid, another the historic old McLachlan, another the Wallace tartan, and another the Hunting Stuart.

Besides these, the little vocalists wear the cotta and cassock for their sacred songs, fancy dress Mexican uniforms and immaculate sailor suits of white duck. The costumes are usually in keeping with the songs. They add immeasurably to the interest of the programme, and every number springs a surprise of some kind.

MONO MILLS.

Don't forget the Presbyterian Sabbath School Entertainment in the English Church Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 16th. Good programme. Tea served from 6 to 8. Chair taken at 8 o'clock sharp.

Miss Beatrice Duke returned on Saturday from a visit with friends in Toronto.

The annual visit of the Government speakers on Institute work will be made on Monday, Dec. 19th. Addresses will be delivered on interesting and important subjects during the afternoon and evening. Meetings will be held in the English Church Hall.

The annual Christmas Tree and Entertainment in connection with the English Church Sunday School will be held on Friday evening, Dec. 23rd, in the hall adjoining the church. A good programme will be furnished, consisting of recitations, dialogues, drills, vocal and instrumental music, etc. Prizes will be distributed to the pupils during the evening. Refreshments served. Admission 15¢.

The annual meeting of the Mono Mills Independent Telephone Association will be held in the Orange Hall on Wednesday, December 21st, beginning at 2 o'clock p.m.

Rev. Mr. Black, of Massie, Ont., who was recently called to the Presbyterian pastoral charge here, has accepted the call, and will be inducted on Tuesday, 20th inst., meeting to commencing at 2 o'clock p.m.

The Farmers' Institute will hold meetings in Mono Mills on Monday Dec. 19th. The speakers will be Mr. T. H. Race, of Mitchell, whose subjects are "Soil Formation and Fertility" and "Farm Life at Home and Abroad" and James McDermott, of Elmvale, who speaks on "Poultry Keeping," "Drainage," "Selection of Seed," and "Increased Profits on the Farm." The afternoon meeting will begin at 2 o'clock and the evening meeting at 8 o'clock.

Special prices on Fur Coats, Blankets and Robes at F. Marshall's.

GLENCROSS.

Messrs. Hunter White and Wilfrid Bagnell hied themselves to Bondhead on Saturday, where they purpose visiting with friends until the middle of this week, or perhaps longer. Why, wander so far afield, boys?

Mr. S. T. Still is in Orangeville last and this week looking after his contract for the new curling rink that the county town sports are building. It speaks well for Mr. Still's reputation as a builder, that he should be chosen to undertake a contract of such importance. Alf. Still, Jack. Bagnell and a couple more of the boys are helping him out with the job.

Mr. George Bagnell, who has been visiting here for the last month, left for his home in Bowmanville on Tuesday evening.

A sleighload of our young people drove to a party at John Perry's below Mono Mills on Friday night. An excellent time is reported.

A Box Social will be held in the Orange Hall next Tuesday night.

The members of L. O. L. No. 84, will hold their annual election of officers on Friday night.

There is some talk of organizing a Presbyterian congregation here. Those who are interesting themselves in the matter, estimate that there are about twenty families that would identify themselves with the organization. This would form the nucleus of a fairly strong church. We understand that the old church hall could be bought from Mr. Jos. Jeffers at a pretty reasonable figure and with a little fitting up would make a comfortable church.

ELDER.

On awakening next morning I found I had a fine day ahead of me and that George and Whit had departed during the wee sma hours. While at breakfast I learned that Whit didn't think much of Eastern taffy pulls and that McKenzie Bros. had bought a new rifle, so bidding my friends adieu I started north. I met Herb Fines on his way home from Kimberley, where he had spent a very enjoyable time. On our way to his place he informed me that Kenneth was going into the Haddock business. Arriving at home I found to my surprise that John Aberdeen had also returned from the West and was enjoying himself Fine. Proceeding on my way I met James Dynes and Ezra, who were looking for partners for the Primrose ball. When I arrived at the school house I found G. Canning lighting the fires. He said his term would expire in a couple of weeks and that the twins were after the job for the coming term. Leaving there I decided to call on my old friend, William Norris, and was quite surprised to learn that he had got spliced in my absence and was happy as the day is long. From there I went over to Sam. Thompson's and learned that he had sold his farm to Fred Buchanan and intended retiring from active farming operations. I was also informed that John Scott is making preparations to erect a large barn during the coming summer. I then journeyed to Wm. Halbert's, arriving there in time for dinner. Learning here that Geo. Merkeley was having a duck pie for supper I decided to remain for a short visit.

SPEERSVILLE.

Miss Maggie Speers returned to Durham last week after a two months' stay at her parental home. Miss Speers came home to care for her mother, Mrs. A. M. Speers, who has not enjoyed the best of health for the last three weeks. We understand, however, that she is in a fair way toward complete recovery.

The trustees of the Speersville School and their ladies were entertained to a fowl supper last Friday night by their enterprising young teacher, Miss Maggie Speers. The affair took place at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Speers. Miss Speers entertained her guests in royal style. She has been re-engaged for the next year at a salary of $475.

Mrs. Wilson has returned to her home in Toronto after visiting her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) J. N. Blodgett.

Quite a number of the young people took in the Box Social on Friday evening, at Violet Hill, and report a good time.

Miss Mabel Anderson, of Alliston, spent a few days last week with Miss Maggie Armstrong.

The Conner Bros. expect to finish threshing this week. They have had a long season.

Wm. Thompson, who has been running the second machine for Conner Bros. for the past few weeks, has started clover threshing again.

GLENCROSS.

Some of the ratepayers in this section of the township would like to know if the bridge on the 3rd line has been finished? It appeared in the minutes of Council some time ago that $82.60 had been spent on filling approaches and Coun. Moffatt and his sons apparently got most of this. Some people thought that this was quite sufficient to have completed the job, but at a later meeting another account for $21.20 was put through in the name of R. E. Moffatt, bringing the total up to $103.80. Who is this latter Moffatt? It puts the writer in mind of an item he read some time ago respecting a young American, who was travelling in the north of Scotland. Getting off the train at a certain station he had the misfortune to forget his raincoat. Hastening back to the compartment and failing to discover the missing garment he enquired anxiously if any person had seen a black mackintosh. "No," replied a sturdy Scotchman, "They are all McGregor's here." So in this case, they are all Moffatts. Now the writer is informed, on what seems good authority, that this Councillor was sent to oversee the job, not to do the work, but he put on his forces, and ate up the ratepayers' share of the money expended. This is not the only public job that has been done in this manner. Indeed, it would almost appear that Mr. Moffatt is in the Council, not for the benefit of the township, but for what he can make out of the office. Surely there are enough public spirited men in Mono to select representatives who will be above this kind of thing. What would have become of the township if the by-law had been passed to raise that $37,000 to build bridges? Judging by actions during the past year, some of our representatives would have had steady jobs at the ratepayers' expense.

STABLE BURNED.

Mr. John McEachren, an aged labouring man, living on lot 29, Erin and Hillsdon townline, met with a heavy loss on Friday afternoon when his stable and its contents were completely destroyed by fire. The fire was caused by a couple of little boys, who were playing in the building, lighting matches. Mr. McEachern was away from home at the time and nearly all the men in the neighborhood were attending a bee at James Hillyard's, so that there was no person to fight the flames. The family saw, a 200 lb. pig, 25 hens and 4 or 5 tons of hay were destroyed. There was no insurance. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. McEachren, who are well advanced in years and whose bodiest circumstances make their unfortunate loss very trying.

KILLED IN COLLISION.

William Walker Met With Death at St. Hyacinthe on Saturday.

William Walker, a son of Charles Walker, 220 Dunn Avenue, Toronto, and brother of Mr. A. P. Walker, of Orangeville, was killed in a head-on collision between a G. T. R. light engine and an Intercolonial passenger train at St. Hyacinthe, Que., about 5.30 o'clock Saturday evening. Walker, who was the engineer on the passenger train, Engineer R. Jamieson, Fireman Fionne and Conductor C. Biggs, of the G. T. R. train, were killed instantly. The fireman on the passenger train had his legs badly smashed, but will probably recover. J. Champloux, of Nicolet, who had his elbow bone fractured, was the only passenger, who was seriously injured. The cause of the accident is not altogether clear. The light engine passed Windsor Mills station on its way to Ste. Hyacinthe at probably forty miles an hour. At St. Rosalie, two miles from Ste. Hyacinthe, the switch it is thought was turned off the main line, for at this point the engine took to the left track and for nearly two miles travelled along at apparently unreduced speed. The crash was terrific. Strange to say the two engines remained on the track. The force of the impact brought the two smoke stacks close together and drove the tender of the light engine almost through to the passenger engine. The three men on the G. T. R. engine were caught in the jam and crushed to death.

Walker was about 26 years of age and leaves a widow and a five year old child. He was to have gone off duty shortly until after the New Year and had planned to spend his vacation with his relatives in Toronto and Orangeville. His brother has left for Toronto immediately upon receipt of the distressing news.

You Blame the Stomach

But chronic indigestion will disappear when the liver, kidneys and bowels are set right by DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS

You are skeptical.

For you have tried many medicines and still suffer from indigestion with all its annoying symptoms.

Take a new hope.

Leave the stomach alone, for the source of trouble is in the intestines, and healthful digestion can be restored by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills.

Mr. C. D. Bennett, Maple Grove, Megantic Co., Que., writes:—"I had dyspepsia very bad. The food would sour, my stomach would swell up. I suffered a great deal and could not sleep. As the result of using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I am now entirely cured and can eat any kind of food. They have made a new man and a younger man of me and I cannot say too much in their praise."

VISIT FROM ORGANIZER DUFF.

W. Bro. Thos. A. Duff visited Aaron L. O. L. No. 427 on Monday night in the interests of the work of the Orange Mutual Benefit Society. Bro. Duff, who is a platform speaker of more than average ability, addressed the brethren at considerable length on the growth and increasing influence of Orangeism, particularly in Eastern Canada. His telling references to the recent Eucharistic Congress and the agitation by French Roman Catholics for bi-lingual schools elicited hearty applause. Bro. Duff held that the claim made by certain French leaders that there are 2,000,000 French Canadians in Ontario was a gross exaggeration of the facts. Moreover, many of the French people have themselves out of sympathy with the movement and are anxious that their children learn the English language. Bro. Duff has written over $50,000 insurance for the Orange Mutual since January 1st and expects to add another $50,000 before the end of the year. The Orange Mutual, we might state, was the first of the assessment societies to adopt the Government scale of rates. W. Bro. Jas. G. Ward, County Master of Dufferin, was also present of the Lodge Monday night and made a brief but interesting address on the condition of Orangeism in this county. Refreshments were served at the close of the business meeting, after which short addresses were delivered by several visiting brethren. It was intended to hold the annual election of officers Monday night, but owing to lack of time this was deferred until next Monday night, when the adjourned meeting will be held for that purpose.

UNCLAIMED PARCELS.

STABLE BURNED.

Mr. John McEachren, an aged labouring man living on lot 29, Erin and Garafraxa townline, met with a heavy loss on Friday afternoon when his stable and its contents were completely destroyed by fire. The fire was caused by a couple of little boys, who were playing in the building, striking matches. Mr. McEachren was away from home at the time and so were all the men in the neighborhood were attending a bee at James Orwell's, so that there was no person to fight the flames. The family lost a fat lb. pig; 25 hens and 4 or 5 tons of hay were destroyed. There was no insurance. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. McEachren, who are well advanced in years and whose present circumstances make their unfortunate loss very trying.

WHITTINGTON.

A ROCKWOOD WEDDING.

A wedding in which Orangeville people will be interested took place at Rockwood on Wednesday, Dec. 7th, when Miss Jean McNabb, only daughter of Mr. Charles McNabb, of that place, was united in marriage to Mr. Wylie C. Wilder, Manager of the Rockwood Lime and Stone Company, Limited, the Rev. Mr. Dodds performing the ceremony. The bride and groom were unattended. The popularity of the young couple was attested by the imposing array of beautiful wedding gifts. After a trip through the Eastern States, they will take up their home in Rockwood. Among the guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Foster, Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wilder, Orangeville, and Lum and Boyd Clark, Quebec.

NOTICE !

The Sterling Bank of Canada, at Orangeville and Alton, is authorized to collect Taxes for the Township of Caledon.

Mr. Allan Baxter, 4th line, Caledon, and Miss Mary Christina McPherson, were united in the bonds of matrimony in Toronto a week ago Wednesday afternoon.

"Well, professor, said one of the young married fellows, "I've done the usual thing; I've put a mortgage on my house and lot." "Have you anything to transfer to?" inquired the professor.

A wealthy farmer, Joslin C. Dolmage, a bachelor of the Cherry Valley, five miles from Picton, was burned to death in his barn a week ago Thursday morning, along with a number of cattle, horses and the season's crops, etc. The deceased was about 60 years of age.

The late Sheriff Brodder, of Brampton, left an estate valued at $45,000. He left a bequest of $1,000 to the Toronto Sick Childrens' Hospital.

J. Parrell, the Streetsville ex-hotelkeeper, has been sentenced to six months in Brampton gaol for violating the liquor law.

"Since bein' in the city," the Billville man wrote to the home folks, "I have been hit by three automobiles, and if my lawyer tells me true, I'll get enough money in damages to fetch the whole family for a good long stay, and of the balance of you kin come time to git run over we'll be able to buy a big farm and live happy ever afterward."

LOCAL NEWS.

—How about your renewal?

—There was a large produce market on Thursday.

—December Fair last Thursday was well attended despite the stormy day.

—What is the matter with local hockeyists? Time to get busy boys.

—Best quality butter wrappers, printed or unprinted, at The Banner Office.

—Subscribers, who are thinking of their renewals, are reminded that The Banner has clubbing arrangements with all the big dailies and weeklies.

—Miss Annie Milloy, employed as a domestic by a family on Euclid Ave., Toronto, has been missing from her home for nearly two weeks and her relatives fear that something may have happened to her. Miss Milloy is a former East Garafraxa girl and lived in Orangeville for several months a few years ago.

Those who have compared prices say that toy dolls and sleighs are very much cheaper at The Adamson Hardware Co. than anywhere else.

—Rev. B. Davies, pastor of the Baptist Church, received word on Tuesday of the death of Mrs. Davies' mother, Mrs. Eliza Norman, at her home in Aurora. Mrs. Norman was 93 years of age and had been ill for some time. Mrs. Davies was with her prior to her death. Mr. Davies went to Aurora yesterday to attend the funeral.

AN ELOQUENT LECTURER.

Rev. Dr. Lucas Addresses Large Audiences in the Methodist Church.

Rev. D. V. Lucas, D. D., of St. Catharines, one of the highly esteemed ministers of the Methodist Church, occupied the pulpit at both services in Orangeville Methodist Church on Sunday. Dr. Lucas also lectured in the Sunday School room Monday and Tuesday nights, addressing the Epworth Leaguers on Monday night on the subject, "Queer Things in Australia" and a general audience on Tuesday night on "The Soul of Protestantism." A man of excellent physique, striking appearance and evident refinement, Dr. Lucas is a speaker who quickly wins and holds the interest and undivided attention of his audience. He is widely known as a temperance lecturer and during the period he was engaged in that work in Australia and New Zealand got a hold of the public and accomplished more for temperance than any other lecturer, either before or since. His Sunday sermons were masterpieces and were followed with the keenest interest by large congregations. His lecture on Monday night on "Queer Things in Australia," was brimful of humor and yet contained much food for thought and instruction. The lecture Tuesday night on "The Soul of Protestantism" was free from harshness or uncharitable statements and could have been listened to by any Roman Catholic without offence. It was at the same time characterized by clear, logical reasoning and a seemingly unanswerable presentation of the arguments against the much discussed doctrine of transubstantiation. It is interesting to note that Dr. Lucas based his argument on passages from the Douay Bible, used by Roman Catholics, the Roman Catholic cathecism and the writings of eminent churchmen. A great deal of Catholic doctrine, Dr. Lucas held, had been manufactured at Rome since the Church had become degenerate and was utterly at variance with the teachings of Scripture and the early Christian Church. Protestants, he maintained, enjoyed a larger measure of liberty than their Roman Catholic fellow-citizens for the reason that they were allowed to use their individual judgment regarding the teachings and conclusions of current theology.

Mr. Wm. Heatherington, of Alliston, was in town on Friday and gave The Banner a pleasant call while here. Our oldtime friend is in the money loaning and insurance business now and is fast working up a large and lucrative trade.

Mr. John A. Whaley, one of the section, favored The Banner with a section, favored The Danner with a pleasant call while in town an Saturday. Mr. Whaley, who spent the past summer in Saskatchewan, is looking hale and vigorous.

Miss Margaret Huston, who is well-known in Orangeville, was soloist at the Toronto Symphony Orchestra concert in Massey Hall last Thursday night. The Daily Star says: "Miss Huston showed a highly trained voice and proved herself an artist of considerable attainments. She met with a good reception and several encores were demanded from her."

We had a pleasant call on Monday morning from Mr. James McFarlane, of Claremont, who had been spending a few days last week visiting his father-in-law, Mr. Wm. Dowswell, of Alton. Mr. McFarlane spent the summer with a surveying party in the Peace River Country about 150 miles north and 100 miles west of Edmonton. He is enthusiastic over the possibilities of this district and maintains that when opened up by railways it will make one of the best agricultural sections in the entire West.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Last week while a son of Mr. J. Quinn, near Mt. Forest, was handling a turnip in the yard near his father's barn, he was attacked by the horses, who were running around the yard, receiving a severe kick in the head. It is supposed that the animals were after the turnip, and before the boy could escape he received the wound above mentioned.

WHY SLEEP IS NECESSARY.

During sleep nature restores the cells and tissues wasted by the activities of life. Without sleep physical bankruptcy is quick and certain. Mrs. J. Derocher, 485 Bethune st., Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I can say for a certainty that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine, for, besides steadying the nerves, it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to eat and sleep well.

The dead body of John McIvor was found in his shack near the Tollgate school in Arthur Twp., a couple of miles from Mt. Forest. The body was sitting upright in a corner, frozen stiff, with eyes and mouth wide open. McIvor who was about 62 years of age, was well-known in the neighborhood, but had not been seen for about a week, before his body was found. Heart trouble is thought to be the cause, although deceased had never been heard to complain of sickness.

The electors of the corporation of the township of Proton in the County of Grey, will vote on the 2nd of January, 1911, on a by-law to provide $36,000 to aid The People's Railway Company to build a line through that township to commence at or near Woodstock, via the villages of Plattsville, New Hamburg, and Baden to Berlin, via the villages of Fergus and Elora to Arthur, with a branch from New Hamburg to Stratford and also to New Dundee and Ayr, the line also to be extended through West Luther and Proton to some point on the Georgian Bay. The company agrees to build stations at the townline between West Luther and Proton and within 80 rods of the village of Hopeville and flag stations on concessions 4, 8, and 16, and on the townline between Proton and Artemesia

CHARITY IN ORANGEVILLE.

"Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth."

The citizens of Orangeville do not realize the vast amount of good accomplished by The Charity Society since it was organized a year ago. During that time a number of families have been supplied with bread, groceries, meat, boots, new clothing of all kinds and nurses supplies. This has all been done in such a quiet way that in many cases the parties benefited did not know where the help came from. The Society is very anxious to hear of any families in need. An organization accomplishing so much good is certainly worthy of the hearty support of the citizens of this town and as the Society intends sending Christmas baskets, YOU can help along the good work by patronizing the concert given by "Roney's" Boys singers and players, of Chicago, on Dec. 27. This the Society guarantees to be one of the best concerts ever presented in Orangeville.

DEPOPULATION

To those who are still debating the depopulation and impoverishment of rural Ontario it may be interesting to know that from 1899 to 1908 the rates annually imposed in all the rural municipalities have steadily increased year by year from $4,617,203 to $7,001,102. That is an increase of $2,383,899, or more than fifty per cent. During this period, the rural population fell off more than 61,000, and the tax rate per head of the rural population steadily increased from $4.16 in 1899 to $6.69 in 1908, or more than sixty per cent. The municipal statistics from which these figures are taken also furnish interesting information as to the expenditure of these sums. There have been increases in nearly all the township expenditures but the great increases have been in roads and bridges and in payments on schools and education. Expenditure on roads and bridges increased from $881,068 in 1899 to $1,592,060 in 1908, and in the same time payments on schools and education advanced from $1,960,373 to $3,007,191, or more than a million, while the rural school population was constantly diminishing.—The Weekly Sun.

CHARLESTON 'XMAS ENTERTAINMENT.

Charleston Methodists will hold their annual Christmas Entertainment on Monday evening, December 26th. Tea will be served in the Town Hall from 6 to 8 o'clock and will be followed by a programme of music and addresses in the Church. The numbers will include songs by Mr. Rechab Tandy, the noted Canadian tenor, and Master Jimmie Peacock, of Alton. Readings by Miss Laverne Whyte, of Toronto, instrumental selections by a quartette consisting of Misses Mae, Myrtle and Cardwell Stubbs and Mr. Norman Harrison and short addresses by Rev. Dr. Harper, of Orangeville; Rev. S. R. Robinson, and other speakers. The admission has been fixed at 25c. and 15c. The Church will also hold anniversary services on Sunday, December 25th. The pastor, Rev. Chas. Langford will preach at 11 a.m. and Rev. S. R. Robinson, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church at 7 p.m.

Mitchell; Treas., John Murphy; Lecturer, Thos. Mitchell; Deputy Lecturer, Enos Brett; Committee, W. J. Little, Geo. Fletcher, Geo. Armstrong, Edward Little, John Robinson.

L. O. L. 635, Orangeville, elected the following officers on Friday night:—W. M., W. E. Island; D. M., John May; Chaplain, James Holmes; Rec.-Secretary, V. A. Statia; Fin.-Secretary, J. C. Darraugh; Treas., B. McGuire; D. of C., Geo. H. Hughson; Lecturer, J. R. Hughes; Committee, E. Field, E. J. Ellis, D. W. Gray, Alex. Holmes, Jos. H. Hughes.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on the 7th of December, at the home of Mr. D. McGibbon, Guelph, when Miss Dora R. Hurd, of Hillsburg, was united in marriage to Mr. John B. Irwin, of Erin, the Rev. C. H. Buckland, rector of St. James Church, officiating.

A family moved from the city to a suburban locality and were told that they should get a watchdog to guard the premises at night. So they bought the largest dog that was for sale in the kennels of a neighboring dog fancier, who was a German. Shortly afterward the house was entered by burglars, who made a good haul while the big dog slept. The man went to the dog fancier and told him about it. "Vel, vat you need now," said the dog merchant, "is a leedle dog to vake up the big dog."

CHRISTMAS GREETING

The publishers of The Banner desire this week to extend their thanks to the public of Orangeville and district for the generous patronage they have extended this journal during the year that is now drawing to a close and to extend to their many readers and advertising patrons their sincere wishes for a Merry Christmas and a very happy and prosperous New Year.

"A happy, happy Christmas
Be yours to-day!
Oh, not the falling measure
Of fleeting, earthly pleasure,
But Christmas joy abiding,
While years are swiftly gliding,
Be yours, I pray,
Through Him who gave us
Christmas Day."

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

Mr. Robert Brinkman, of Elder, is likely to stand for Mono council.

James R. Clarke and James Higgins are in the ring for the deputy-reeveship of Melancthon.

It is said that Coun. James Brown has some notion of opposing Reeve Cornelius in East Garafraxa.

Coun. Alf. Mesary and Mr. Robt. Curry will probably cross swords for the Amaranth Deputy-reeveship.

Mr. S. Barber, of Rosemont, is spoken of as likely to oppose Hilliard Anderson for the Mono reeveship.

Wm. McGhee and T. C. Dryden are out for the reeveship of Melancthon. It is said that ex-Deputy-Reeve Fawcett will also be a candidate.

Reeve Babe, of Shelburne, may be re-elected by acclamation, or he may retire and Mr. Hugh Falconer succeed him, also by acclamation.

Everything is very quiet in Caledon and the opinion seems to prevail that the present Council stands a good chance of being returned by acclamation.

Some of the new men mentioned for seats in the Amaranth Council are W. T. Leader, John Duncan, Wm. Besley and John H. Hicks. Mr. A. E. Williams, of the present Council, will seek re-election.

The Grand Valley Star & Vidette says that Couns. S. C. McKee and Wm. Baxendale will run for the reeveship of East Luther and that the other members of the present Council will retire.

Archy Greer, the present reeve, and Mr. John Reburn are likely to fight it out for the reeveship of Mulmur. Greer's trump card in the canvass is the probability that if re-elected he will be Warden of Dufferin next year.

Former Deputy-Reeve Chas. Mitchell will oppose Mr. W. H. Lawrence, the present deputy-reeve of Mulmur. It is said that Seymour Newell, of Ruskview, will also take a hand in the fray, making a triangular contest.

Fletcher Stewart, of Relessey, Geo. Little, of Elba, and Thos. Moffitt, of Glencross, are mentioned as probable candidates for deputy-reeve of Mono. A Mono man told the Banner this week that the race would be between Moffitt and Stewart.

Councillor W. J. Hamilton is definitely in the field for reeve of Amaranth. There are persistant rumors that either ex-Reeve John Bryan or ex-Reeve J. S. Spence will give Mr. Hamilton a race. Another report is that Hamilton will pull out in favor of his neighbor, Spence. A contest between Bryan and Spence would furnish the electors of Amaranth with a stirring campaign.

At the close of the meeting on Thursday evening, Caledon Council asked Reeve McBride to vacate the chair and passed a motion thanking him for his unvarying courtesy and the ability with which he had performed his duties during the year. Speaking to the motion each of the members expressed the hope that Mr. McBride would be re-elected, the feeling evidently being that should he be returned he would be elected Warden of Peel next year.

IS COUNCIL EXTRAVAGANT?

Relessey "Ratepayer" Makes Some Rather Serious Charges.

To the Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—Your Glencross correspondent in last week's issue handles Councillor Moffatt without gloves. If Mr. Moffatt be guilty of all he is charged with, he assuredly deserves to be exposed. I think your correspondent might go even further, and charge the whole council with carelessness, extravagance and greed.

There is not, I venture to say, another council in the county that charges $8 per day for their services, and besides boards at the expense of the ratepayers. Have the ratepayers become so apathetic that they will allow this state of things to continue from year to year?

It is a cinch to get into Mono's council—$3 a day, board and pickings to boot!

We had it in our minds some time ago that with the infusion of new blood into the council a revolution and reformation in municipal matters would have followed. With this object in view Messrs. Park and that old advocate of economy, G. Little, were elected last year.

Alas! What have they accomplished? Things go on in the same old rut. The township fathers still feed at the same old crib, and charge it up to the people. Township moneys are being squandered in localities more with the object of catching the vote than of improving the roads. By-laws that should have been repealed long ago are still in force, and the ratepayers have to pay for the erection of wire fences on almost all kinds and conditions of highways, whether they are or are not of public utility, while taxes are almost a rent. How long, I ask, is this state of things to continue? Had we not better unite and clean out the whole old bunch, lock, stock and barrel?

Yours truly,
Ratepayer.

Backache Suffering

A wonderful medicine is this man's description of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. Fred. Gummer, Lillies, Ont., writes: "I can honestly say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a wonderful medicine. For six weeks last fall I could scarcely walk around for pains in the bank and legs, and was almost completely unfit for work. Though I tried several medicines I got no better. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and bought five boxes. After I had used three boxes, I was greatly improved and by the time I had them all taken felt as well as I ever did. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney disease to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"We have also used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for bad colds and sore throat and would not be without these medicines for anything."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, on pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book.

TRUSTEES ASSOCIATION.

Letter from the President Anent Coming Annual Meeting.

To the School Trustees, County of Dufferin.

Gentlemen,—The executive of the Trustees Association of Dufferin at their recent meeting held in Shelburne decided to hold the annual Convention in Grand Valley on Monday, January 16th, 1911.

We desire you to bring this matter up at your Annual School Meeting next week and appoint delegates to attend the Convention in Grand Valley. A small fee of one dollar per school is charged for membership in the Association this year to pay necessary expenses. We are anxious to have every School Board in the County admitted to membership and if at all possible represented at the meeting. We want to help you, but can only do so if you attend the Convention.

A splendid, practical, helpful programme has been prepared. Let this be our best meeting. Come prepared to give and receive help and you will go back to your work better fitted to aid in guiding the educational affairs of our County.

The public are cordially invited to attend and will be made welcome.

Sincerely yours,
J. R. BELL,
County President

LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY BANQUET.

About one hundred of the men of St. Andrew's Church attended the banquet held in the Sunday School Room on Wednesday night of last week in connection with the Laymen's Missionary Movement. An excellent menu was provided by the ladies of the congregation, the generous supply of viands doing much to engender a spirit of sociability and to put every person in the proper receptive mood for the intellectual treat that followed. The chief speakers were Mr. John A. Patterson, K. C., an eminent Toronto barrister, and Mr. Thos. W. Gibson, Deputy Minister of Mines. Both speakers were in excellent form and their addresses were easily among the best on the missionary theme that an Orangeville audience has ever had the opportunity of hearing. Mr. Patterson defined the Laymen's Movement in Missions as furnishing a centre of interest, enthusiasm and information in missionary matters. It aimed to stir and make active the natural good that exists in every man's breast. It was like a great central dynamo introducing a current of missionary energy and enthusiasm into the churches throughout the Christian world. Mr. Gibson described the Laymen's Movement as appealing particularly to the mature men of the congregation. Speaking of methods he advocated the use of the duplex envelope system and weekly contributions toward missions. The weekly method of giving, he held, was Scriptural, enabled every person to give something and whenever given a fair trial had increased the number of contributors and also the amount contributed. Short addresses were given by Messrs. A. Steele, Dr. R. N. Kyles, J. E. Smith, James Dodds, Jos. Gillespie, Oliver Sproule and others of the men present. Before dispersing a resolution was carried by a standing vote pledging the congregation to an effort to raise $1000 for missions next year. The pastor, Rev. W. M. Morris, occupied the chair during the evening.

BAPTIST CHURCH.

Next Friday evening, Dec. 23rd, the 'Xmas Tree and Entertainment will be held. Recitations, dialogues, choruses, etc., will be the order of the evening. Solos will be rendered by Mr. P. Harding and Mr. E. A. Warren. The programme will begin at 8 o'clock. Admission 15c. Come one and all.

BAXTER—McPHERSON.

A quiet, but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Price, 92 Lyall Avenue, Toronto, recently, when his sister-in-law, Miss Annie McPherson, was united in marriage to Mr. Allen Baxter, of Caledon East. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Rodgers, of East Toronto. The bride wore a pretty grey silk gown, with white lace. The going-away gown was a pretty wine broadcloth trimmed with black braid, and beaver hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Baxter left for a trip to London, Ont. They were unattended.

PETTITT—ROLLEY.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. Francis Rolley, of Adjala, on Wednesday, Dec. 14th., when his daughter, Miss Lillian, was united in the bonds of wedlock to Mr. Eli Pettitt, of Adjala. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Frank Davey, of Cedarville, formerly of Mono Mills, in the presence of a gathering of about fifty guests. The bride, who was prettily gowned, was attended by Miss Maud Austin, of Tottenham. The groom was supported by Mr. Wesley Caldwell, of Sheldon. The many beautiful and useful gifts showed the esteem and affection in which the bride is held by a large circle of friends. These unite in wishing the newly wedded couple a happy and prosperous journey through life.

GINES—SAVIN.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Nodwell, Reading, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday evening, Dec. 14th, when their adopted daughter, Edith Ethel Savin, was united in marriage to Mr. William Gines, of Edmonton, Alta. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. Munroe, of Grand Valley, in the presence of about fifty invited guests. The bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of Mr. Nodwell to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Munroe. The bride was prettily gowned in cream voile with satin trimmings and carried a shower bouquet of pink and white carnations and maiden hair fern. A dainty wedding breakfast was served after the ceremony. The many costly presents showed the esteem in which the bride is held by her friends. The groom's gift was a handsome gold bracelet. After spending a couple of weeks with friends in this vicinity the happy couple will take their departure for their new home near Edmonton. Among the guests present from outside points were Mr. and Mrs. John Nodwell, Grand Valley, Mr. Wesley Byers, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Roxborough, Fergus, the Misses and Mrs. Anthony, Ballinafad. The Banner joins the friends of the young couple in extending its hearty congratulations.

HIGH SCHOOL LITERARY.

The second meeting of the High School Literary Society was held in the Assembly Room last Thursday afternoon. An excellent programme was provided, consisting of the following numbers :—a piano solo by Miss Ruth Shaw; a paper on "Future Imperialism and Education" by J. C. Smith; an essay, "Mrs. Jones' Catastrophe," written by Earl Spence and read by Miss M. Denton; a recitation by Miss W. East; a solo by Mr. Ross McPherson; an essay on the recent Revolution in Portugal, by Miss Stella McManus and read by Miss Ruth Shaw. An exceptionally interesting feature was the reading by Miss Hulse of three poems, written by students in a contest to decide what student of the school could write the best piece of poetry. By a show of hands, after listening to the efforts of the three competitors, the students awarded the palm to Mr. Howard Langford, whose production, "De Cat an De Dog," a parody on the Wreck of the Julie Plante, we hope to publish in next week's issue.

—Subscribers, who are thinking of their renewals, are reminded that The Banner has clubbing arrangements with all the big dailies and weeklies.

McPherson & Johnston are showing attractive lines of Men's and Ladies' Slippers, suitable for Christmas presents.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WORK.

Proceedings of Recent Provincial Conuention in Toronto.

Interesting Paper by Mrs. Alex. Bell, of Cataract.

The following interesting report of the recent Women's Institute Convention was given by Mrs. Alex. Bell, of Cataract, at a meeting of Charleston Women's Institute :—

The Women's Institute Convention, held in Toronto, on Nov. 16th and 17th, 1910, in Convocation Hall, one of the beautiful buildings in connection with the University of Toronto, was a most decided success. The Convention opened on the afternoon of Wednesday, Nov. 16th, Mrs. (Dr.) Wilson, of Parkhill, presiding. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. A. M. Huestis, of Toronto, and replied to by Mrs. Bacon, of Orillia. Then followed an inspiring address by Rev. Canon Cody, of Toronto, on Christian citizenship. He impressed upon his hearers the importance of training the youth of the land in Christian patriotism, of impressing them with a sense of their mission to humanity, of making them see that nations and individuals expand only in the degree in which they have obeyed the laws of truth and right, that the great British Empire is based on ideals of justice, equality, freedom and progress, and that it was, first of all, and last of all, the Fear of God that made Britain great.

Next came the report af the Superintendent, Mr. Putman. He briefly reviewed the work done by the Institutes, showing how great an improvement had been made, what good work had been done by the different Institutes, and what great cause the members had for encouragement, and hope that the next year held even greater things for them than the past.

Then followed an address by Mrs. (Dr.) McPhail, of Manilla, a newly-organized Institute. Mrs. McPhail outlined very clearly the way in which their society was organized and carried on, and the great success that had attended their meetings. She enumerated some points that they had found very helpful. They appointed their officers from different parts of the community; they always had the vice-president at the table, along with the president; they tried to allot suitable papers to suitable people—that is, members were asked to contribute papers on subjects in which they were especially interested. They gave each member something to do; they did not have one lady on more than one committee. They were very prompt in beginning their meetings. They allowed a stated time for each paper, and adhered strictly to the time stated. If a paper they had expected failed to materialize, they conducted impromptu discussions.

Mrs. Darling, of Lansdowne, was the next speaker. In their Institute she said they took up the Principles of Nutrition. They had charts, and drilled on them. One chart showed a full picture of the animal furnishing beef, mutton, pork, etc., and the different cuts, with the nutritive value of each. Mrs. Darling said they had been very successful in getting young ladies to join their meetings, and these gave papers on music, on painting, and on literary subjects. They were buying a piano and had already raised a considerable sum towards it. At roll call, they had quotations from some poet—they selected, perhaps Shakespeare for one day, Tennyson for another, Milton, Browning, Longfellow, etc. They were thus able to enjoy beautiful thoughts from all the poets.

Mrs. Godfrey, of Port Credit, gave a most interesting talk on the work of their Institute in improving the appearance of their town. They gave special attention to the cultivation of flower-gardens. They gave prizes to the places which showed the greatest improvement. Mrs. Godfrey showed that children could do so much—nearly all the weeding in fact, if they were only interested. She said that the weeding in the garden that won first prize was all done by a fifteen year old girl. They also held shows in August and September, and gave prizes for the best varieties of cut flowers.

The meeting on Wednesday evening was presided over by Mrs. D. McTavish, of Port Elgin, who in her address, called herself the Mother of the Convention, and expressed much pleasure that her family had grown to such large proportions.

Mrs. Kitchen, of St. George, gave a paper on "A Country Housekeeper's Ideas." She thought that every country housekeeper should know what to plant as well as what to cook, and should try as far as possible to meet the individual tastes of the different members of the family. She should live within her income, should keep a record of expenditure and should teach the children to keep a savings account. Mrs. Kitchen laid great stress on cheerfulness and self-control in the mistress of the home, in her capacity of housekeeper, wife, and mother.

Dr. Margaret McAlpine, of Toronto, spoke fluently on the work of Women's Institutes in Northern Ontario. She had attended a Convention in Manitoulin Island, and was greatly impressed by the interest shown in the work there. People came from all parts of the Island to the Convention. They let no obstacles stop them from making it a great success. Dr. McApline spoke in glowing terms of Fort William, and of how perfect was the co-operation between the town and country people in that place. At the first convention held there, there were fifty delegates, but there were five hundred women present. The town people determined to make the Convention a success, had advertised it for weeks in their daily papers. They entertained the delegates royally. They spared neither trouble nor expense in trying to make this first convention a complete success. The interest taken in it was unbounded—some people even walked six miles to attend it.

The address of the evening was given by Dr. Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist, on the House Fly and its relation to Disease. This lecture was illustrated by lime light views, showing the different kinds of flies, the structure of them in their different stages, from the egg to the worm, chrysalis, and common fly. Dr. Hewitt tried to impress on his audience the fact that the house-fly is to this country what the mosquito was to the Southern States.—That it carries disease germs by the million and deposits them directly on the food that is taken into the mouth. He made a strong plea for the removal of their breeding-places, or for the keeping of these in a more sanitary condition. These breeding-places he named to be out-of-door closets, stable manure, and garbage pails. Milk left standing in a cow stable was found to contain 420,000 germs, while a swill barrel was found to contain 6,500,000 germs. Milk should never be left exposed to flies. It was often the means of carrying typhoid fever; indeed, in one case, where members of different families had died, the contagion had been traced to insanitary conditions in the handling of the milk supplied to these families from one central point. Each fly lays one hundred and fifty eggs at a time, and lays six times during the season; so that every fly is responsible for nearly one thousand others. They develop very rapidly, and are supplied with hair-like substances to which the germs adhere. These germs are deposited on food, or whatever they come in contact with. A fly caught in an ordinary room was allowed to walk over a "culture plate." This plate was afterwards heated, and it was discovered that this fly had deposited five or six different kinds of bacteria. Another fly caught in the street, deposited seven kinds of bacteria, and one caught in a garbage pail deposited eleven different kinds. In each of these cases it meant millions of germs.

Dr. Hewitt also stated that scientific experts, after investigation, have come to the conclusion that much of the "summer complaint" common to children under twelve months is the work of the house-fly. He showed charts in which the rise and fall of the disease was in proportion to the increase and decrease of the flies. He also stated that there had been only one exception in twenty years.

Dr. Hastings, Medical Health Officer, spoke very briefly and emphatically endorsed every word that Dr. Hewitt had spoken.

On Thursday morning the Convention met again, Miss I. K. Farlinger, of Morrisburg, presiding.

Miss Farlinger gave a very interesting address, the subject being a plea to dismiss worry, to cultivate poise, to make the home life attractive enough to keep the boys and girls at home.

There was a question drawer, but as the questions were many, and the time was short, Mr. Putnam thought it wise to answer the majority of them through the Canadian Home Journal, the official organ of the Women's Institute.

The question of refreshments at the meetings was, however, dealt with in an impromptu discussion. Speakers rose in different parts of the hall, sometimes two or three at once, to give their opinions on the subject. Some had refreshments at every meeting, some had them occasionally, some not at all. The question resolved itself into this: Each individual society must decide the question for itself, but it was the feeling of the Convention that too much stress should not be laid upon refreshments. Several of the speakers in favor of refreshments stated that they never expected the hostess to provide them; they were brought by the other members; the only duty of the hostess in this connection being to have the kettle boiling. In many societies, the young girls served the refreshments.

Miss Miller, who had been an Institute worker for years in Ontario, and had lately been doing Institute work in the State of New York, was asked by Mr. Putnam to speak for a few moments on the work there as compared with Ontario. She said that in New York State it was difficult to get the women to attend meetings for themselves alone. They had been accustomed for so long to meeting with the farmers, that it seemed hard for them to break away. However, they are now taking quite a lively interest in the work of the "Women's Institute," and are looking to us in Ontario for an example.

After Miss Miller's address, came representatives from several societies to speak on the place of the girls in the Institute. One speaker said in her society the girls always provide the music, the recitations, and the readings. Then, too, at one of their meetings they had a competition in cake-baking, especially for the girls. They gave prizes, the first prize being a cream pitcher and sugar bowl (the others similar)—something that would be useful to the girls when they began to keep house. This speaker said that they expected to have at their December meeting home-made candy, and the girls were to tell how they made it.

Mr. Nursey of the Department of Education, Toronto, gave an address on "Travelling Libraries." These are collections of books sent for circulation among those who cannot have access to a Public Library. They are sent to mining districts for use among the miners, to places where there are large mills for the benefit of the employees, to schools whose ratepayers cannot afford to buy a library. Collections of books on special subjects are sometimes sent to Public Libraries. With the aid of Miss Black, librarian in Fort William, eight of these travelling libraries were sent into the districts round about. There are in Ontario ten thousand of these volumes at the present time. In the United States, there are four hundred thousand.

Dr. Helen McMurchy gave a most interesting address on Medical Inspection, with especial reference to rural districts. She pointed out that the Canadian Parliament in 1797 adopted a measure undertaking the education of children. In this respect Canada is ahead of England, as it was not adopted there until 1870. The State becomes the parent of the child, and to be a good parent, it must be absolutely just—must treat all children alike. Every child must be studied individually, and any hindrances that may prevent its progress must be removed. This can be done only through medical inspection. A County Medical Health Officer should be appointed, and he should be so in touch with the teacher that he should be able to drop in any time he might happen to be passing the school, and examine any cases reported by the teacher. Dr. McMurchy went on to say that about one in twelve children do not see well. She spoke of one girl of whom the Principal of the school complained that she was slow — very slow — much below the average. Dr. McMurchy replied, "Yes, I know she is slow, but if you and I could see no better than that girl can, we would be slow too." The girl's eyes were examined, fitted with glasses, and she began to improve in her studies at once. Another instance was the case of a small boy who had been attending school for some time. He was at Church one morning, and asked his father the number of the hymn. His father called his attention to the large figures in the frame near the pulpit, but the boy declared he could not see them. Dr. McMurchy said the father gave his opinion of the boy's

Worst Case Of Eczema

Cure only came when doctors gave up and DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT was used.

Mrs. Wm. Miller, St. Catherines, Ont., writes:—"My daughter Mary, when six months old, contracted eczema and for three years the disease baffled all treatment. Her case was one of the worst that had ever come under my notice, and she apparently suffered what no pen could ever describe. I had three different doctors attend her all to no purpose. Finally I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and to my surprise she immediately began to improve and was completely cured of that long standing disease. That was four years ago when we lived at Cornwall, Ont., and as not a symptom has shown itself since, the cure must be permanent."

The record of cures which Dr. Chase's Ointment has to its credit have placed it alone as the standard cure for eczema and all forms of itching skin disease. Do not be satisfied with imitations or substitutes, 60 cents a box at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

One Barrel of Flour Instead of Two

YES, in the old way there was one kind of flour for bread and another for pastry.

Now, OGILVIE'S ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR is an all around flour. It makes not only the very best bread but also the very best cakes, pies, biscuits, rolls, muffins, pop-overs, pancakes, dumplings, anything that you want to make or bake from flour.

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" saves money and trouble. Instead of having two barrels of flour in the house you can get along much better with one. And you can be certain that it is always uniform—will always come out right whether for Bread or Pastry.

ROYAL HOUSEHOLD is made from the finest grade of wheat in the world, Manitoba Red Fyfe wheat, and milled by the very finest machinery, in mills that are a model of cleanliness.

"ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" costs a trifle more by the barrel than ordinary flour but this trifle extra proves real economy when the loaves are counted. For "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" goes farther than ordinary flour—farther in actual quantity of baked product.

Even if "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" cost a great deal more than ordinary flour it would be well worth it for it is more nourishing.

You can't afford to buy impoverished flour at any price. You can't afford to skimp on health. And you do skimp on health when you buy flour just because it costs less than "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD". 25 teacher, and she supposed the teacher held somewhat the same opinion regarding the fathers but it was really the work of a medical inspector to see to cases such as these. Often children are called stupid and bad, because they cannot see to do their work properly, or cannot hear what is said to them. The presence of adenoids affects almost every part, even the brain, and if they are not removed in time, permanent and irreparable injury is done to the child.

Miss Watson, of McDonald Institute, Guelph, followed Dr. McMurchy. She had a suggestion to make regarding the sending of trained teachers from place to place, these teachers giving a series of lessons, eighteen in all, on one subject, such as sanitation, the feeding of human beings, the rearing of healthy children, sewing, laundry work, etc. Groups of adjacent Institutes might employ one teacher, and meet at a central place one day in each week. Miss Watson reminded the Convention that in the Statutes of Ontario, permission is given for a County Council to employ such a teacher. The farmers have lecturers to teach them how to do certain things. Why should not the farmers' wives have similar privileges? She asked the Convention to think over the suggestion, and if any Institute should wish to take up any such systematic course of study, they might be sure of help and support from the Department.

Mrs. Horning, the representative from Stoney Creek, South Wentworth, spoke very enthusiastically on the subject of a memorial for the late Mrs. Hoodless, who founded the Women's Institute, by organizing the first one at Stoney Creek, on Feb. 25th, 1897. Mrs. Hoodless labored long and earnestly in behalf of this work, and died in Hamilton while addressing a meeting of the Women's Institute. Mrs. Horning thought that an average of $2.00 from each Institute would be sufficient to have a portrait of the late Mrs. Hoodless painted, to be hung in the McDonald Institute, Guelph. However, what each Institute could give was to be left to the discretion of the society itself. The Convention was unanimous in approving the suggestion and decided that it would be not only the duty of the Institutes, but their privilege to contribute to a memorial to the woman who had done so much for the cause of Women's Institutes in Ontario. Contributions are to be sent to Miss Clara M. Walker, of Stoney Creek, Secretary of South Wentworth.

The afternoon session on Thursday opened with Dr. Annie Backus, of Aylmer, in the chair. Dr. Backus gave an excellent address, sparkling with humor. She then called on a representative from Agincourt to give the experience of her society in procuring funds for the Institute. This lady said that there is a ploughing match in their vicinity every year, and the members of the Women's Institute cater for the ploughmen. They have done so for four years. They make use of a driving-house and tent. The cooking utensils, etc., are supplied by the ploughmen. The ladies buy meat with the funds of the Institute, and cook it at their homes. They buy a sack of peanuts and sell them by the small bag. They buy sugar and make taffy, which always sells well. This society bought a collection of knives, forks, and spoons, which they rent out of picnics, church socials, etc., at about ten cents a dozen. This brings in a little money. This Institute also had a concert, which was a great success.

One society purchased a vacuum cleaner for $25, and rented it for $1.00 a day to outsiders, and 75c. a day to Institute members. It was also rented sometimes by the hour.

The representative of the Burgessville Institute was very enthusiastic and progressive. Her society started in to stock a Public Library with books. They had a garden party at which they made $81. The County Council gave them $50. The Township Council gave them $25. They made $40 at a concert. Now they have $132 worth of books, and are working for more.

Mrs. W. R. Hollowell's talk on "Children" was the address of the afternoon. Mrs. Hollowell is a lady from North Carolina, and she expressed herself as grateful to the Women's Institute of Ontario for sending delegates to her native State to organize a Women's Institute there. She said she was a mother four times over—two boys and two girls—and a grandmother three times over, so she thought she should be able to speak with authority on the subject of children. She heartily endorsed what Dr. McMurchy said on Medical Inspection. She said the Women's Institutes in North Carolina are making an effort to have medical inspection introduced into the public schools of their State. She told of a little boy in one of their schools, who was apparently very stupid and stubborn. He would not copy his work correctly, and was reported to the Principal. He was about to be punished, when he cried out, rubbing his eyes, "I can't see very good, nohow." Examination showed that the child was nearly blind. Mrs. Hollowell said that a prominent statesman told her that he had suffered all his life from the handicap of deafness, simply because the adenoids were not removed in time. She begged of the mothers to attend to these matters before it was too late. She advised young and inexperienced mothers to subscribe to a magazine called, 'American Motherhood," printed in New York. By profiting by the suggestions contained therein they might be prevented from making mistakes that could never be remedied. Mrs. Hollowell advised all mothers to gain the implicit confidence of their children, and never to allow anything to destroy that confidence. She spoke of a little boy of five years, who was very much in love with a girl of fifteen, who had been good to him at school. He told his mother in a burst of confidence that he was going to marry this girl some day. That was his secret. The mother told this secret laughingly to the next person who called, and told it in the presence of the child, who can shrieking out of the room crying that he would never marry anyone. That mother outraged her child's confidence. The mother should get the child's viewpoint, and see things as he sees them. She should commend him for any discovery he makes. Especially should she celebrate in some manner the child's birthday—show him that she considers it an important anniversary. She should never complain that she has not time to train her child. Mrs. Hollowell said, "If you have not time for your children, what on earth have you time for?"

Miss Gertrude Gray, of Toronto, gave an address on "Courses of Study for Institutes," which was very interesting, and contained many practical ideas. She thought that a committee should be appointed to draft a course of study. This would encourage systematic work, and be an educating factor as well.

Mrs. Willoughby Cummings spoke on Government Annuities. Anyone from five years of age to one hundred years may buy an annuity. The smallest is $50, the largest $600. $3000 will buy an annuity of $200. It is not supposed to be paid until the purchaser reaches the age of fifty-five years, but if he meet with an accident, or contract a disease which makes him an invalid for life, the annuity will be paid at once.

On Thursday evening, Mr. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, spoke on the work that the Women's Institutes have done in abolishing cliques, in contributing to the social life of the women, in raising their ideals, in educating and enlightening them, and in helping them to keep their homes and train their children better than they would perhaps be able to do without them.

President Falconer, of Toronto University, gave an excellent address. He spoke especially on the duties of parents to establish permanence in the home life. Permanence in the home affected the type of character produced there—made it firm, steady, not easily moved. He thought that the moving, restless spirit, which seems to possess the people of Ontario now would not have the best effect on the character of the child. He spoke at some length of the superior character of a people, which for generations had lived, and developed its families in one place. President Falconer thought that a duty of the Institutes was to counteract the restless movement created at the present time by the rush of immigration. He thought it was not the poor who were the most restless, but those who seem to have all they need, but have no interests to take up their time and attention. Poor children are usually happier than rich children—they have larger interests, and less time for discontent. He begged of the mothers before him to cultivate an interest in the things that interest their children, so that the children should not get beyond them. The home was the permanent centre, which was to influence the country for morality, for comfort, for health.

Falling Hair.

Mrs. Jas. Harris, of Wappella, Sask., says :—

"I have found Parisian Sage to be the best scalp and hair tonic and dressing I have ever used. My hair had been coming out in combs full and was very dry and brittle and the scalp was always itching and full of dandruff. I have used two bottles of Parisian Sage and it has stopped my hair from falling, the itching and dandruff have disappeared and my hair is fine and soft and glossy. I would not be without this fine Hair Tonic for many times the price."

For women, men, or children Parisian Sage is without any doubt the finest preparation for the hair. Daintily perfumed, it is free from grease or stickiness and ought to be where every member of the family could use it daily. Large bottle 60 cents at all druggists or from the proprietors, The Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont., postpaid. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Sold and guaranteed by T. Stevenson.

ALBERT WHACKED UP.

Before the by-law to exempt Albert Hamel, of Hanover, from municipal taxation and extend to him free water for his proposed brush and broom factory was voted on, Albert entered into an agreement with the corporation of Chesley to forfeit $100 in case he did not carry out his agreement. The by-law was carried but Albert got cold feet and the factory never went on. The cost of publishing the by-law and conducting the election was about $50. The clerk wrote several times to Albert to send a cheque for $100 for non-fulfilment of contract. At last he sent along $50 which was returned and the town solicitor gave him a few days in which to pay the full amount of his bond or stand a suit at the next Division Court here. When Albert saw that the town was in earnest he replied promptly to Mr. Mickle's letter enclosing a cheque for $100 which will help to pay some town accounts in the year of grace 1910.—Chesley Enterprise.

TAKING AFTER DAD.

Richard Harding Davis at a football game in Philadelphia, praised the voices of the younger undergraduates shouting their weird college yells, "It makes me think of a Locust Street bride," said Mr. Davis smiling. "She turned to her husband one night at dinner and remarked; 'My dear, the first time I saw you was at Franklin Field. Your head was thrown back, your mouth wide open, and your face was very red—you were yelling your college yell.' 'Yes, I remember,' said the young man. 'And I noticed,' she continued, 'what a remarkable voice you had.' "Yes, you spoke of it at the time,' said he. 'But what makes you think of it now?' 'Oh, nothing,' said the bride. 'Only I wish the baby hadn't inherited it. That's all.' "

Mrs. John McNabb, of Stayner, when hurrying to catch the train last week in Collingwood, fell and broke her ankle bone.

Mr. W. J. Bryce was in Dundalk one day recently, and had with him a peculiarly shaped potato. It had arms and legs with perfectly formed claws and resembled an animal of the crab variety. It is Mr. Bryce's intention to have it preserved.

BARN DESTROYED.

H. L. Banks, an Amaranth Farmer, Sustains a Heavy Loss.

The fine bank barn on Hr. H. L. Banks' farm, lot 13, 4th line, Amaranth, was completely destroyed by fire late on Tuesday afternoon. The conflagration had made alarming headway when it was discovered and Mr. Banks and the neighbors who assembled when the alarm was given were only able to save part of the stock. A horse, 4 head of cattle, 12 sheep, 2 brood sows, 6 pigs, and a number of fowl were burned to death. The fire spread with great rapidity and within a few minutes after the first alarm the entire structure was a seething mass of flames. Mr. Banks and Rev. Mr. Whittle, junior pastor on Laurel Methodist Circuit, who boards with the Banks family, were among the first to reach the scene of destruction and by desperate efforts were able to save part of the live stock and some implements. The barn, which is a modern bank structure, 40 by 62, with a well-finished stable, is valued at $1500. The destroyed contents are estimated at another $1250 or $1300, making the total loss nearly $3000. The barn was insured for $1250 and the contents for $850. Both risks were carried by The Dufferin Farmers' Mutual. The only person about the building when the fire started was a home boy, 13 years of age. The lad says he was up in the barn when he noticed fire in the granary. He ran to give the alarm, but for some reason, as yet unexplained, went to a neighbor's across the road instead of going straight to Mr. Banks' house. There is some suspicion that the lad may have been smoking, but nothing definite is known. The fire, it is thought, originated in the stables. Great sympathy is felt for Mr. Banks, who is an honest, hard-working man. His loss is very discouraging and comes at a particularly bad time of the year.

Later.—We learn just before going to press that the Home boy confessed yesterday afternoon that he had started the fire. His story is that he struck a match he had taken from his pocket to see if it would light. Instantly the straw about him was a mass of flames and thoroughly frightened he ran out of the barn and across the road to Arch. McCabe's house to give the alarm. The boy ran away from Mr. Banks' place yesterday and hid in a nearby swamp. The extreme cold was too much for him and he returned to the house a few hours later thoroughly chilled. Shortly after coming back he broke down and made the confession.

MR. W. J. HUGHSON.

Mr. William James Hughson, a son of the late Alexander Hughson, who was one of the pioneer settlers of Amaranth, died at Battle Creek, Mich., on Saturday morning after a lingering illness of over eighteen months' duration. Deceased was born in Amaranth and spent his boyhood on the farm on the 1st line, now occupied by Mr. Geo. Hodgson. He was agent for the Dominion Express Co. in Orangeville for sometime, but left here 25 years ago going to Battle Creek, where he practised as a veterinary surgeon. He is survived by a widow and two daughters, Florence, of Minneapolis, and Mrs. Fred. Hamilton, living in Battle Creek. Alex. Hughson, West Broadway, Manson Hughson, Montreal, and S. W. Hughson, Toronto, are brothers and Mrs. Alex. Cotton, Grand Valley, is the only living sister. The funeral was held from the C. P. R. depot to Greenwood cemetery on the arrival of the Toronto train on Monday morning. The pallbearers were Messrs. Alex. and Manson Hughson, Wm. Cruikshank, D. B. Brown, Marshall Green and A. A. Hughson. Among the friends who were present from a distance were Mrs. Lynch, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Cotton, Grand Valley, M. H. Hughson, Montreal, and Mrs. Fred. Hamilton and little son, Hally, of Battle Creek.

THE MAPLES.

The Maples Presbyterian Church held its annual Christmas Entertainment last Friday evening. The affair was well attended and proved very successful. A good supper was provided by the ladies and was followed by an excellent programme. Rev. Mr. McCallum filled the chair in his usual able and acceptable manner. The musical part of the programme consisted of choruses by the children, violin selections by the Misses Trimble, and songs by the Simpson family, Miss Clara Cannawin, Mr. Percy Harding and Mr. James Hunter. Recitations were given by the children, assisted by Mr. Russell Black. The programme passed off without a hitch and every person went home feeling well pleased with the evening's entertainment.

GLENCROSS.

(Too late for last week.)

Christmas time is drawing near once more, and, if reports be true, we shall hear wedding bells in our vicinity this year.

Rev. Mr. Morris, of Orangeville, delivered a very pleasing address to the people of this community on Tuesday evening of last week.

Mr. Geo. Bagnell, of Bowmanville, Ont., has returned home after spending a three weeks' visit with his aunt, Mrs. Geo. Bagnell, of this place. As a consolation to parties, by whom he will be greatly missed, let them bear in mind that it is a world-wide experience, that even the best of friends must part.

We are very glad to hear that Master Lyle Still, who had his collar bone broken a week or so ago, is progressing quite favorably now.

As usual quite a large number attended Christian Endeavor Sunday evening. The topic was taken by Miss Jennie Pierson.

We are sorry to hear that some of our young people have had a bad attack of measles, which seem to be quite an epidemic just now.

Our young people are intending to have a box social in the Orange Hall on Tuesday evening next. As a really good time is anticipated, we hope that we shall be enabled to attend.

MARSVILLE.

A meeting of the Centre Wellington Farmers' Institute was held here on Tuesday of last week. Owing to the stormy weather the attendance was not as large as on previous occasions, yet those who were present were well pleased with the discourses of the speakers. Mr. T. H. Race, of Mitchell, and Mr. Dermott, of Elmvale, addressed the farmers in the afternoon and also spoke at the united meeting in the evening. Mrs. Thos. Shaw, of Hespeler, was the delegate to the Women's Institute, and all speak very highly of her instructive and interesting addresses in the afternoon and evening.

The annual meeting of the Marsville Branch Bible Society was held in the Presbyterian Church on Wednesday evening. Rev. W. E. Hassard, District Secretary, was present and gave an inspiring address on the work of the Society. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:—Pres., Rev. S. R. Scott; V. P., Jno. Dickson; Sec.-Treas., L. Boggs; Executive Committee, Wm. Leader, C. K. Boyle and Jno. Preston; Auditors, E. Simpson and R. Forgrave.

The Council held its final meeting here on Thursday, when only the usual business was transacted. Tax-Collector Platt was present and reports taxes coming in very slowly.

Municipal matters are very quiet as yet, but no doubt interest will increase as nomination approaches. The members of the past council have been faithful in the discharge of their duty, and we predict that they will again occupy seats at the green table.

Mr. Wesley Byers, of Toronto, is spending a few weeks with his parents in this village.

Miss Annie Price, of Victoria College, and Miss Belle Brown, of Toronto Normal School, are spending their vacation under their parental roofs.

Mr. Jno. Fleming, of Mono, has moved to the farm, which he recently purchased from Mr. J. T. Handley. Mr. Handley is now living in Orton.

Mr. John Smith of the Erin and Garafraxa townline, delivered last Friday in Fergus, the team of horses which have been sold to a Western buyer for $1000.

RELESSEY.

The entertainment in the Orange Hall on Friday night under the auspices of the Epworth League proved a great success. In spite of the drifted condition of the roads, the hall was packed to its utmost capacity. Although the programme was long and varied, the main feature, perhaps, was the debate on "Woman Suffrage," between the Rosemont and Relessey Epworth Leagues. Misses Gallaugher, Shaw and McCutcheon, of Rosemont, put up a very strong argument to show that a woman's true sphere is in her home, while the Misses Foster, Murphy and Bailey made a telling appeal for the franchise. The judges, Dr. Blair, of Rosemont, Messrs. G. F. Stewart, Mono Centre and J. A. Marshall, Camilla, after considerable difficulty, decided in favor of the suffragettes. Among other attractions were: guitar solos by Messrs. W. A. and R. J. Henry, Mono Centre, music by the orchestra and recitations by Miss Bertha Anderson, of Camilla. At the close of the program refreshments were served by the ladies of the league. The silver collection taken at the door amounted to $25.

Miss Annie Kendrew, of Primrose, is visiting friends here.

A number from the corner took in the concert at St. Paul's on Tuesday night, and all report a pleasant time.

Farmers hereabouts are thinking of getting in a telephone system.

We understand the Elder correspondent has finished telling all he knows.

PALGRAVE.

Mrs. G. Young, of Toronto, is visiting at present with her daughter, Mrs. Lunau.

Mr. Geo. Lavery has started a notion store on Church St., and is doing a rushing business.

Mr. Wm. Pulford, who has been section-foreman on the G. T. R. here for over twenty years, has accepted a better position with the same Company in the Collingwood Yards. He begins at New Year's.

The Methodist Sunday School Concert in the Town Hall on Monday evening was a grand success. A good programme was presented, consisting of recitations by Miss Ina Taylor, instrumental duets by Mr. F. Henderson, violin, and Wm. Carey, cornet, accompanied by Mrs. Lunau; a dairy maid's drill by twelve young ladies, songs and choruses by other members of the school, also a comic sketch entitled, "That Rascal Pat," which was received with great applause.

CHARLESTON.

One of the most successful Royal Arch meetings in the history of Caledon township was held in the Town Hall here on Tuesday night under the auspices of Warnock L. O. L. 250. There were five candidates, all sons of stalwart yeomen of Caledon township, viz., John Johnston, H. Hilliard, Wesley, Ernest and Almore Speers, who received the solemn obligation of this exalted degree. The Master's chair was taken by Bro. T. H. Bullock, of Melville L. O. L. 466, while Bro. S. L. Island, another well-known member of Melville lodge, acted in the capacity of receiver. After the initiations had been concluded, the secret work of the degree was exemplified by W. Bro. Bullock. Shortly before midnight, a short recess was declared, during which the members of the Caledon lodge, who are always noted for their generous hospitality, served a dainty luncheon, which was greatly appreciated by all. During the interval music was furnished by Bros. Jno. Warnock and C. Glassford. Among those present from outside lodges were R. Jacques, L.O.L., 112, Erin; S. L. Island, D. Armstrong and T. H. Bullock, Melville L. O. L., and several others. During past years, Caledon lodge has always been in the front rank of the great army of men laboring to advance the cause of Orangeism, and has been steadily adding new blood to its members, so that now it has a paid up membership of over sixty. At the annual election of officers, held some two weeks ago, Mr. W. J. Warnock was elected to the exalted office of Worshipful Master, and no doubt during his regime the Lodge will enjoy the same undisturbed prosperity that has fallen to its lot in the past.

A PRESENTATION.

Miss Gladys, daughter of Thomas Chambers, formerly of Orangeville, who has been a valued employee of J. T. Bell and Sons, Main Street, was remembered in a pleasant fashion by the firm and the staff yesterday afternoon, when she was presented with a handsome set of sterling silver toilet articles in a beautiful case. Miss Chambers has severed her connection with the firm, of which she was bookkeeper, to return to her home in Creemore, Ontario, and the gift was a token of the esteem of her co-workers and employers. The presentation was made by Mr. Tom Bell, who expressed in a brief speech the feeling which prompted the gift. Mr. Taylor seconded him on behalf of the employees. Miss Chambers has been very popular during her sojourn in Medicine Hat, and her departure is regretted by a wide circle of friends.—Medicine Hat (Alta.) News.

SALE REGISTER.

Mr. Herbert L. Banks, the Amaranth farmer, whose barn was unfortunately destroyed by fire on Tuesday afternoon, will hold an unreserved credit auction sale of his remaining farm stock and implements on Thursday afternoon, December 29th. The sale will be held on the premises of Mr. John Walker, lot 12, con. 3, Amaranth. The sale will begin at 1 o'clock sharp and will be positively without reserve. See advt. in this issue or posters for full particulars. Geo. McAllister, Auctioneer.

THE OLD HOME.

The following verses were composed by Mr. A. D. Glover, of Orangeville, upon the occasion of a visit to his boyhood home after an absence of forty years:—

I wandered back to the old home,
Where forty years ago
I played upon the mossy banks
About the cedar grove.

And thru the orchard and the garden
Down the same old path of yore,
At the little well I pondered
As oft I did before.

For now, I well remember,
When a boy I used to go,
To bring a pail of cooling water
From the little well below.

For there among those grand old trees
I squandered many an hour,
And chased the small birds from their nest,
And gathered many a flower.

The same old home stands there alone
The vines and flowers are dead,
And memory now can only tell,
Of happy days that have fled.

For there within those dear old walls,
Our family used to dwell,
And many a happy hour was spent
With stories we would tell.

But time alone with rapid wings,
Has changed the scenes of yore,
And now we're scattered far apart,
Perchance, to meet no more.

For some have gone to other homes,
In far off distant lands;
And many a mile lies now between
Our happy household band.

And some have gone from earthly toil
And now are safe at home,
In that bright world beyond the skies
Where parting is unknown.

Then other birds may come and sing,
And flowers may bloom as fair,
But we will never meet again
To greet each other there.

But there's a hope that cheers the heart,
No matter where we roam;
We, all will meet in Heaven at last,
A family gathered home.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Christmas Day comes on Sunday.

—Municipal nominations next Monday.

—Excellent Christmas weather this week.

—Yesterday was the shortest day of the year.

—Merchants have their windows prettily decorated for Christmas.

—A great deal of interesting news matter is unavoidably held over this week.

—Best quality butter wrappers, printed or unprinted, at The Banner Office.

—St. Andrew's S. S. will hold its annual 'Xmas Tree to-night. A good programme will be provided by the teachers and children.

—S. A. McCartney invites you to compare his $38 Steel Range with other Ranges at higher prices.

—The Roney Boys will give one of their famous concerts in the Town Hall Tuesday night. The organization appears here under the auspices of the Charity Society.

See our stock of felt boots and heavy rubbers.—McPherson & Johnston.

—Wm. J. Ferguson, formerly of Caledon, died in Toronto on Tuesday of last week, aged 79 years. The remains were interred in the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Thursday.

—We are pleased to be able to state that Mr. Wm. Collister, who has been quite ill for the last couple of weeks, is now recovering and will likely be soon restored to his wonted health and vigor.

Adamson Hardware Co. will keep their store open every night from now till Christmas

—Messrs. Ward McKitrick and Charles Crawley were successful in passing their Christmas exams. at the Ontario College of Pharmacy. Mr. McKitrick secured second-class honors. We congratulate the young men upon their success.

—We sell our Steel Range on 30 days' trial. No obligation to buy if you are not satisfied. S. A. McCartney, Hardware Merchant.

—On account of the storm and drifted roads, W. Bro. T. A. Duff, Organizer for the Orange Mutual Benefit Society, after consulting some of the members over telephone, decided not to drive out to Relessey last Thursday night. Bro. Duff will give the Relessey lodge a night sometime in the near future.

—A large roomy fire place and drop oven door are features of the popular Steel Range that McCartney, the hardware man, is selling for $38.

—Mr. Jas. G. Brown, until recently local manager at Barrie for the Bell Telephone Company, has been promoted to the important position of District Superintendent of Plant. Mr. Brown, is a former Orangeville boy, being a son of our esteemed townsman, Mr. D. B. Brown. We congratulate him heartily upon his promotion.

Those who have compared prices say that toy dolls and sleighs are very much cheaper at The Adamson Hardware Co. than anywhere else.

INSTITUTE MEETINGS

Meetings of the Dufferin Farmers' and Women's Institutes were held in Orangeville on Friday last, afternoon and evening. The Ladies' Institute held a well-attended meeting in the Methodist Church in the afternoon, the Men's Institute convening in the Council Chamber. A joint meeting was held in the Town Hall, at night, Mr. C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., presiding. The meetings were not attended as they should have been, the farmers, who are directly interested in Institute work, being themselves the greatest sinners in this respect. There were not more than thirty-five people at the evening meeting. Miss Edna Campbell gave a delightful reception and excellent addresses were delivered by Mr. Jas. McDermott, of Elmvale; Mrs. Thos. Shaw, of Hespeler, and Mr. D. H. Race, of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. We had hoped to give a report of the addresses, but lack of space has made this impossible.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Chas. Baughman, of Toronto, is visiting friends in Orangeville and Alton.

Mr. Chas. Dyer, of Hillsburg, was a caller at The Banner Office on Monday.

Miss Helen Freese, of the High School staff, is spending 'Xmas vacation in St. John, N. B.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred. Hatcher, of Southey, Sask., are visiting relatives in town and vicinity.

Mr. James Hillyard, of Cataract, was a caller at The Banner sanctum while in town on Saturday.

Mr. Oscar Canning, who is attending the Ontario School of Dentistry in Toronto, is visiting friends in town.

Mrs. H. D. Cruikshank, of Balcarres, Sask., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Braiden, Mill St.

Mr. Norman Davies and Mr. Gordon Davies, sons of Rev. B. Davies, are home for the holidays, from McMaster University, Toronto.

Mr. Norman Robertson, a first year student at Toronto University, is spending the Christmas vacation at the home of his father, Mr. J. S. Robertson, West Broadway.

Mr. Geo. Best, of Whitfield, and Mr. Wm. Shields, of Shelburne, President and Secretary of the Dufferin Farmers' Institute, attended the Institute meetings in Orangeville on Friday.

Mr. James Maharg, of Gagetown, Mich., and Mr. John Maharg, from Alberta, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Harshaw, of the American Hotel, and other relatives in Orangeville and neighborhood.

Rev. J. A. Black, the pastor of Mono Mills and Adjala Presbyterian Churches, arrived in town from Owen Sound on Tuesday evening. Mr. Black will be inducted into his new pastoral charge at Mono Mills this afternoon.

Miss Ethel Collins, daughter of our townsman, Mr. N. Collins, is leaving next week for Port Simpson, B.C., to engage in missionary work. Miss Collins is taking a position as teacher in Crosby's Girls Home, an institution for the education and training of young Indian girls.

Mr. H. W. Ritchie, Secretary of the B. and R. Co., Limited, of Calgary, dealers in Western Canada farm and city property, is visiting at his former home here. Harry looks well and is evidently making good in the bustling and progressive Alberta metropolis. He is optimistic as any native-born Westerner and thinks there is no place like the West for the young man.

We had a pleasant call on Tuesday evening from a former townsman, Mr. Wm. Turnbull, now residing in Ottawa. Mr. Turnbull has been spending a few days with friends here and in Mono before leaving for Happy, Texas, where he expects to reside until next, or perhaps the following spring. Mr. Turnbull looks hale and vigorous and carries the burden of his 76 years lightly.

THE CANADIAN WEST.

The members of St. Andrew's Young People's Society had the pleasure Monday night of listening to Mr. C. S. Oke, of Toronto University, on the subject, "Impressions of the Canadian West." The other numbers on the programme were a piano solo by Miss Marie Robinson, a solo by Mr. S. R. Frost and a trio by Mrs. J. B. Adamson, Miss Lamont and Miss Denton.

CAMILLA ENTERTAINMENT.

The congregation of St. Andrew's Church, Camilla, will hold their annual Christmas Entertainment on Monday night, December 26th. Miss Mae Dickenson, a Toronto soloist and guitar player, who has met with a flattering reception on many of the concert platforms throughout Ontario, will contribute to the musical programme. Hr. Percy Harding, of Orangeville, will give solos and banjo selections, and the Misses Patterson, of Shelburne, delightful entertainers, will be heard in solos and duets. Addresses will be given by C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., and other speakers. Admission, 25c. and 15c.

ANNIVERSARY ENTERTAINMENT.

Alton Methodist Sabbath School will hold an Anniversary Entertainment in the Congregational Church on Friday evening, December 23rd. The programme will consist of a humorous cantata, entitled, "Santa's Reception" and a humorous dialogue, styled "Untangling of Tony." Programme at 8 o'clock. Admission 15c.; children not belonging to the school, 10c. Following the entertainment anniversary services will be held in the Congregational Church on Sunday, December 25th, at 7 p.m. A choir of 150 voices will lead the singing. Address by the pastor and special collection in aid of S. S. funds.

Saugeen Presbytery rejected the basis of union by a vote of 14 to 9.

—Have you seen our new Steel Range. It has them all beat. S. A. McCartney.

An outbreak of mumps has caused the MacDonald Hall at Guelph to be closed, and the students of the Agricultural College were dismissed for the Christmas holidays a week earlier than was intended.

—See the Linen Note Paper and Envelopes which McGuire & McKitrick are selling for 25c. a lb. this week. Best bargain yet offered.

At the recent Poultry Show in Guelph a white Wyandotte was sold for $77. Mr. William McNeil, of London, who had charge of the poultry exhibit, said that any number of the birds were sold at from $10 to $30.

BANK OF HAMILTON.

Successful Year Closed With Evidences of Expansion.

The annual statement of the Bank of Hamilton shows the usual liberal margin of profits over the amount required for dividends. The bank is able to maintain its 10 per cent. rate, make provision for all contingencies and have a comfortable surplus left. The net earnings of the bank, after all the usual deductions, were at the rate of 16.32 per cent. upon the average paid-up capital of the year. This compares with 15.29 per cent. in the fiscal year 1909, 14.56 in 1908, 15.57 in 1907, and 15.03 in 1906. The 10 per cent. dividend has been maintained since 1901. On April 15 of this year the bank issued $500,000 of new stock at 10 per cent. premium. It will be seen that the business of the bank has been so active as to render necessary the use of emergency circulation. The further evidences of growth are to be seen in the expansion in deposits and discounts as revealed in the following comparison with the previous year:—

	1909	1910.
Net profits	$382,332	$422,090
Dividends	249,764	258,514
Written off	25,000	25,000
Allowance to former President	5,000	5,000
To reserve from profits		319,430
Circulation...	2,468,185	2,813,645
Total deposits...	30,981,464	32,310,001
Carried forward...	403,665	192,810
Reserve fund	2,500,000	3,000,000
Discounts ...	23,787,447	26,526,651

The annual meeting of the bank will be held in Hamilton on January 10.

A LARGE MARKET.

Last Thursday's cash produce market was probably the best held in Orangeville this season. The quantity of fowl and other produce offered was unexpectedly large in view of the stormy day. There were plenty of buyers, competition was keen and as a result excellent prices were realized. Prices were as follows:—Chickens, 13c. to 15c.; turkeys, 23c. to 25c.; geese, 14c. to 16c.; butter, 21c. to 23c.; eggs, 30c. to 40c.; ducks, 15c. to 18c. We understand that arrangements have been made with the buyers to continue the market after Christmas. The market will therefore be held Thursday of next week as usual. Farmers' wives will find it to their advantage to bring their butter and eggs to the market every Thursday.

STRANGE EXPERIENCES FOR BOYS.

The coming appearance in this town of "Roney's Boys" Concert Company on Tuesday, Dec. 27th, recalls the interesting fact that the experiences of these musical cherubs is strangely fascinating and interesting. From the executive mansion at Washington, where they received the enthusiastic admiration of President and Mrs. Roosevelt, and their 500 invited guests at the now historic Christmas Concert, given by them at the White House, to the gloomy prison cells in the great penitentiaries, is a wide gulf, yet their prison audiences are no less critical and appreciative than those at the Nation's Capital.

In the past few years Mr. Roney has given concerts to over 60,000 unfortunate inmates of penal and other public institutions in the United States. The effect of these marvelously sweet voices upon the criminal class is described as wonderful. The audience of thieves, burglars and murderers listens with rapt attention, many of them with tears running down their faces, and applaud with a frenzy of enthusiasm. They have several times sung in the cells of condemned prisoners awaiting the electric chair. Mr. Roney is usually allowed to take the boys along the tiers of cells and talk with the prisoners, and the gratitude they show for the pleasure brought into their monotonous lives reveals the good which lies even in such hearts as these, if it can be but reached. The prisoners often thank the boys with tears in their eyes, and give them souvenirs and presents.

ADDRESS BY REV. C. LANGFORD

"Why I left the Church of Rome," was the subject of a lecture delivered by Rev. Charles Langford, a Methodist minister, before a large audience in the Parliament Street Methodist Church last night. Up to 21 years of age the speaker said he was a devout Catholic. He was then converted to Protestantism, and studied for the Methodist ministry. In view of the present mission of the Paulist Fathers, the lecture attracted more than ordinary interest.—Mail & Empire, Tuesday, Dec. 13th.

Rev. Mr. Langford, as most of our readers know, is the pastor of Alton Methodist Circuit.

WALDEMAR TEA MEETING.

Waldemar Presbyterians will hold their annual Tea Meeting on Monday night, January 2nd. Tea will be served in the basement from 6 to 8 o'clock and will be followed by a varied programme, consisting of music by the church choir, Grand Valley trio and a quartette from St. Andrew's choir, Orangeville, recitations by Miss Edna Campbell, Orangeville, a New Year's address by Rev. W. M. Morris, Orangeville, and short speeches by Rev. R. S. Scott, Hillsburg, Rev. J. R. Bell, Laurel, Rev. J. Yule, Belfountain, A. D. McKitrick, Orangeville, and other speakers. Dr. G. L. Campbell, of Grand Valley, will occupy the chair. Admission to Supper and Entertainment, 25c.

3,500 TONS OF BLOOD.

Scientists say that this amount of blood is purified by the liver and kidneys of a human being in a year. Is it any wonder they get tired and sluggish and require the assistance of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills to arouse them to action and to restore their vigor.

FATAL SHOOTING TRIP.

Edwin Scott, Bruce Boy, Shot in Leg Dies From Loss Of Blood and Long Exposure.

The stories of fatal accidents for the hunting season of 1910 in the great wild woods of Northern Ontario will hardly disclose a more pitiful case than that of Edwin Scott, of Bruce, whose remains were buried in Port Elgin cemetery on Monday. The young man left his home, on the Lake Range, townline Saugeen and Bruce, during the forenoon of Nov. 22nd, to hunt in the bush, accompanied by his dog. In the afternoon he was found helplessly wounded and bleeding, after having lain in the snow for between four and five hours, a great part of the time unconscious. While getting over a log Edwin's toe caught an obstruction, he stumbled, the rifle was discharged and he remembered nothing more until he opened his eyes in the afternoon and saw two young men named Hodge approaching, when he again immediately fainted away. Scott's faithful dog had kept up a continuous barking from about 10.40 o'clock in the forenoon, and had finally attracted the attention of the Hodge boys and directed them to the spot. The latter knew by the bark whose dog it was and supposing that Edwin had treed some game, decided to go over and see what it was. They were little prepared for the sight they came upon. One of them carried Scott out to the clearing, from where he was taken in a sleigh to Frank Cotrill's house. The assistance of other neighbor men and women was procured, and the best possible efforts made to revive the sinking man, who was so far exhausted from exposure and loss of blood that another hour on the ground would have brought death in the woods. He was sufficiently restored to permit of his being removed to his home. There he was attended by the doctor, nurse and friends, but the loss of blood, exposure to cold, and an attack of blood-poisoning that set in proved too much for even the robust, young constitution, and he passed away on Friday last. The untimely fatality has cast a gloom of sorrow over the locality. The deceased was well liked by neighbors and acquaintances, and all mourn with and feel the deepest sympathy for the heart-broken parents in their loss.—Paisley Advocate.

Up at Dale's there is a newly arrived Englishman whose great ambition is to become a thorough Canadian. To be this one must be able to skate skillfully on the "erik." Our English friend assisted by several others undertook to perform the test act the other night somewhere on the creek near Guest St. What happened he describes something like this: "I took a tremendous stride on my skites then I fell jolly well on the back of my head, my stars I went to sleep." However, like all Englishmen this one is a plucky chap, and he will yet learn to "skite" on the creek.—Brampton Banner.

FRUIT IS THE SAFETY VALVE

That Regulates the Body

"Fruit-a-tives" Is The Only Medicine Made of Fruit Juices.

"The Creator, in His wonderful economy, has always constructed with a purpose. He has distributed fruit all over the earth and has caused them to mature at a time when the solid and carbonaceous foods are not needed by the body. The latter only clog the vital machinery resulting in disease, whereas the juicy, stimulating properties of fruit keep the vital forces properly balanced and regulated."

GEORGIA HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Unfortunately for those who live in Canada, fresh fruit is expensive and—in many localities—almost impossible to get. But everyone can obtain "Fruit-a-tives", the famous tablets made of fruit juices. "Fruit-a-tives" contains the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes—and is the greatest cure in the world for all troubles of Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys, Liver and Skin. In case of disease, and in preventing disease, "Fruit-a-tives" is far superior to fresh fruit.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

SURE SIGNS OF KIDNEY TROUBLE

If your back is constantly aching and if you experience dull shooting pains, your kidneys are out of order. If your urine is thick and cloudy or your passages frequent, scanty and painful, your kidneys and bladder are out of order. Neglect quickly brings on rheumatism, diabetes, lumbago, sciatica, etc.

Mrs. John Wagner, of 110 Hollis St., Halifax, N. S., says: "Dull shooting pains would catch me across the small part of my back and extend into my shoulders and neck, often causing me to suffer with severe headaches and spells of dizziness. Spots would dazzle before my eyes and everything would turn black. I would fall to the floor and be unable to get up again without assistance. A friend told me of Booth's Kidney Pills and I began their use. The first box gave me relief and I am now well and strong."

Booth's Kidney Pills

All druggists sell Booth's Kidney Pills 50c. a box with a guarantee to relieve or your money back. They are the world's greatest specific for Kidney and bladder trouble. Postpaid from the proprietors The R. T. Booth Co. Ltd., Fort Erie. Sold and guaranteed by T. Stevenson.

Judge Colter, of St. Thomas, ordered the city to pay $150 damages damages and costs to Ryckman & Mahee, liverymen, Aylmer, for the loss of a horse, killed by colliding with a post in front of a private residence. The post was on the street right of way and the Judge held the city was negligent in allowing it to remain there.

FARMER DROVE FOUR MILES DOWN C. P. R. TRACKS.

A miraculous trip in a cutter down the railway track, almost rivalling in its daring a trip over Niagara Falls in a barrel, was performed by a farmer en route to Markdale one evening recently. Some unkind person may suggest that this dare-devil trip would seem more appropriate had he been travelling in the opposite direction, but this man was on his way to town. At the "70" sideroad, four miles north of Markdale, he turned his horse onto the railway track and made the four-mile trip to Markdale down the C. P. R. tracks, arriving without mishap and apparently indifferent of the terrible risk he ran of coming in contact with a train en route. On the trip down two high, single-track bridges were crossed, where a slight swerve to the right or left out of the direct course might easily have precipitated both driver and outfit over the bridge into the deep water twenty feet or more below. Arriving at Markdale he turned his horse up Main street and came up town. Had he been ten minutes after he would have met the night train which arrived in Markdale a few minutes after when whistle in the distance was easily discernible when he switched off the track at the Main street. However there are no disastrous results of the trip to record, only "what might have been," and we would not advise anyone wishing a "short cut" to Markdale to come this route and run chances on arriving as safely as the lucky individual above reported.—Markdale Standard.

Concrete Stairs Need No Repairs

Easy to Build and Last Forever

NO matter how you view it wooden stairways can never be considered economical.

Wood deteriorates rapidly under ordinary usage, and requires frequent, and often extensive, repairs to keep it in good condition.

Concrete stairs will be as good fifty years later as the day they are first put up. Age, which proves so destructive to wood, serves only to intensify the strength and hardness of concrete. Needing no repairs or painting, concrete first cost is last cost.

Let us send you our new illustrated book free—"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete." Photographs and diagrams show many examples of concrete work as applied to the construction of farm utilities. Much of this work you'll find you can do in your spare time. Write for the book to-day. It may save you dollars, though it only costs a cent.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

The Hungry Boy.

Sometimes it seems just impossible to fill up a good healthy boy. Try Clark's Pork and Beans. Substantial extremely nourishing; taste first rate and cost much less than meat. Wm. Clark, Mfr., Montreal.

A week ago Tuesday a farmer from the country pleaded guilty to selling diseased pork to parties in Mount Forest, but protested that he did it in ignorance. The pig had had its leg broken and on that account had been killed and sold. A fine of $5 and costs amounting in all to over $12, was imposed.

Catharine Regan, widow of Patrick Regan, died in Orillia last week, in her one hundredth year, having been born in 1811. Mrs. Regan was a native of Killarney, Ireland, and came to Orillia with her husband in 1840. Of ten children, six survive, one being Mr. John Regan, the well known timber ranger, who is 76 years old.

On Tuesday morning, Dec. 13th, after his father had gone to work, Herbert French, who is about five years of age, of Elmvale, tried to rekindle the fire with coal oil. An explosion followed, which burst the can and set fire to the child's clothing, burning him so badly that he died about an hour later. Another young child was also slightly burned.

Hugh Clark, M.P.P., Centre Bruce, and G. G. Donley, M.P.P., South Bruce, brought a deputation to the Parliament Buildings last week to interview the Government on a scheme for the drainage of land in the township of Greenwich and Culverhouse. They propose that the Teeswater river be dredged for the purpose. Hon. Dr. Reaume, as Minister of Works, promised consideration of the request.

WHY SLEEP IS NECESSARY.

During sleep nature restores the cells and tissues wasted by the activities of life. Without sleep physical bankruptcy is quick and certain. Mrs. J. Derocher, 485 Bethune st., Peterboro, Ont., writes: "I can say for a certainty that Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a splendid medicine, for, besides steadying the nerves, it built up my system wonderfully and enabled me to eat and sleep well.

The poultry output of Canada last year was valued at $25,000,000, but even this enormous sum which the farmers' wives usually have for pocket money, did not pay for all the eggs and poultry consumed in the country, for large quantities were imported from the States. Something the growing importance of the poultry department of the farm is shown in the sale of a white Wyandotte hen at the Guelph Winter Fair, which brought the sum of $77.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hutchinson, of West Garafraxa, were very pleasantly surprised the other evening when a large number of their friends met at the old home prior to their removal to Belwood. Mr. Wm. Park was voted to the chair and he called on Mrs. Park to read an address, which expressed the genuine neighborly qualities they exhibited on all occasions. The address was accompanied by a Morris chair for Mr. Hutchison, a rocker for Mrs. Hutchison, and an easy chair for Miss Hutchison. Mr. Hutchison on behalf of his wife, his daughter and himself feelingly replied, after which several speeches called forth good feeling and kind words of farewell. Music was also enjoyed by all.

THE BANK ACT.

The Act which has just been introduced by the Premier for the renewal of the existing bank charters differs from past legislation in the main in providing more exacting guarantees of sale management and honest statement. The shareholders are to be entitled to an audit and directors are to be responsible for the truth of the statements required to be made to the public. While these provisions will probably tend to greater care by directors and officers, it is not to be doubted that they will increase the difficulties already great, of founding new banks and strengthen the monopoly enjoyed by existing banks. No one, now, but a chartered bank may even use the words bank or banker.

The banking facilities required in our widely extending settlements, will, therefore, be supplied by what we know under our system as branches, which we may say are not permitted in the United States. There are undoubted advantages of the branch system, but there are objections of great force. It is argued that it tends to the centralization of the savings and wealth of the people. Owing to the mere difficulty of administration the branch banks tend to become mere gatherers of the savings of the people, sweeping them into the head office, where they are likely to be used, it may be profitably enough, in the schemes of directors and even out of the country. It is admitted that the owners of money or wealth may with undisputed propriety invest where they please or where the returns are largest. While that is true, it is further contended that the logical result of branch banking as we have it is to limit the enterprise and activities of those who depend upon it. It has been said with some show of reason that the farmer has suffered from the branch system, his use of the banks having been mainly confined, it is said, to discounting his sales notes when he joins the exodus. In other cases, he must finance by the clumsy methodof mortgaging his land or his chattels. The banks answer that they must adhere to the sound rule of exacting liquid securities, that is, securities which may be negotiated or realized on at once. As few commodities are more readily realizable than live stock, there does not seem to be any good reason why the warehousing provisions of the act should not be extended, with proper safeguarding, to include live stock at least.

Objection has been made to the requirements of the Act which prevent the establishment of local banks with small capital, like the many thousands of banks having a capital of twenty-five thousand to a hundred thousand dollars admirably serving the rural communities of the United States. Such banks, properly safeguarded, would, it is argued, develop in bankers and customers skill in producing banking securities which would be liquid. We have already suggested to farmers the importance of using the Companies Act to promote co-operation in the purchase and use of steam and other machinery to overcome the lack of labor. The branch bankers, who have not devised sound means and suggested them, are not serving their customers well.

It is to be hoped that these and other matters suggested by the farmers in Ottawa will receive consideration while the bill is passing through the House.—The Weekly Sun.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES.
West Ward—T. J. Robinson (accl.)
North Ward—Dr. T. A. Carson (accl.).
East Ward—J. M. Deagle, R. E. Gillespie.
South Ward—Thos. Dawson, M. H. Denton.

Orangeville's nomination meeting on Monday night was the quietest held here for several years. There was a fairly large turnout of the ratepayers, and the various speakers were given an attentive hearing. Little opposition was manifested toward the old Council and there was little surprise when it was learned on Tuesday night that the entire Council had been returned by acclamation. The only new man in the Council is Mr. A. E. Annis, who takes the place of Mr. J. R. Gillespie. Mr. Annis is a newcomer in town, but has large property interests, and should make a useful representative. He is a ready speaker, progressive in his ideas and has had previous municipal experience.

For School Trustees Mr. T. J. Robinson was re-elected in the West Ward and Dr. T. A. Carson succeeds Mr. C. R. Wheelock in the North. R. E. Gillespie and J. M. Deagle are the candidates in the East. They are both new men. Mr. Gillespie, who is a successful business man, would make a useful representative and the electors of the East Ward will make no mistake by electing him. Thos. Dawson, a member of the old Board, and M. H. Denton are having an interesting though good-natured contest in the South Ward.

There were five or six nominations for Mayor, as many for each of the Reeveships and over a dozen for Councillors on Monday night. After the nominations closed, a public meeting was organized with Mr. A. A. Hughson, the returning officer, presiding. The meeting decided to limit Mayor Riddell to fifteen minutes, chairmen of committees to ten minutes and all other candidates to five minutes each.

Mayor Riddell, who was given a flattering reception, expressed his thanks to the electors of Orangeville for the confidence they had reposed in him a year ago. He had given a great deal of time to the duties of his office and if he had made any mistakes they were the fault of the head rather than the heart. Council had found it necessary to strike a tax rate of 26 mills, which was two mills higher than last year's rate. This was attributable in part to a decrease of $19,800 in the general assessment, a loss of $1075 revenue from hotel and shop licenses and a reduction in the assessment on hotel properties. Council had also to face an increase in the uncontrollable expenditure. The requisition for High School maintenance, for instance, called for an increase of $700. His Worship dealt at some length with the debenture debt of the town, showing that over $11,000 of the total revenue went to meet interest and principal charges. The total revenue of the municipality was $31,000 and of this over $25,000 was required to meet expenditures over which the Council had absolutely no control. Two issues of consolidated debentures, amounting to $11300 and $6000 respectively would fall due next year and would be paid out of Sinking Fund. Dealing with the controllable expenditure, Mr. Riddell said the Road & Bridge Committee had spent $1855. $550 of this represented the cost of the new Credit River bridge on East Broadway and $200 went to supplement the County grant for grading and gravelling on West Broadway. The new street lighting contract would mean a saving of nearly $1000 a year to the ratepayers. Under the old contract the town paid $2250 a year for street lighting, without including the public library. The amount paid now is $1560 a year, with the Public Library included. In conclusion His Worship made an earnest appeal for support for another year and after wishing his hearers and the town a happy and prosperous New Year resumed his seat amid hearty applause.

After thanking the ratepayers for the hearty support they had given him a year ago, Mr. Andrew Hill said that, as Chairman of the Industrial Committee, it had fallen to his lot to deal with applications from a number of people desirous of starting industries in Orangeville. The trouble with these when examined was that the promoters were usually men who had little or no money to put into their enterprises. During the early part of the year the Council and Board of Trade had spent considerable time negotiating for a knitting factory, but the proposition had fallen through owing to a disagreement over the question of security. Mr. Hill thought that citizens could do a great deal to further the interests of Orangeville by talking up its advantages. While in the West he had been greatly impressed with the fact that the people of every town he visited maintained that the town they lived in was one of the best in the country. He thought more of this optimistic spirit would be a good thing for Orangeville. The town was one of the best towns in Ontario, favorably located and possessing many natural advantages and if every citizens should do more knocking and less boosting and less about the town. Mr. Hill told his audience that as the result of a special committee of the Council to Barrie, Merritton and other towns last spring to investigate their lighting systems. The Committee had found that the town of Barrie, with an electric plant operated by steam, was lighting the town, supplying light and power to private consumers at very reasonable rates and still making a small profit for the municipality. Mr. Hill expressed himself strongly for municipal ownership of the electric lighting system and predicted that within five years it would be practicable for Orangeville to obtain electric energy through the Hydro-Electric Commission. He was not a candidate for Mayor and if he consulted his own feelings and interests would retire altogether from municipal life. However, he had consented to stand again for Councillor and would appreciate the honor of re-election. Mr. Hill's practical, commonsense speech won him a round of hearty applause at the close of his address.

Mr. J. L. Island, who was somewhat critical in his remarks, thought the most important advancement of the year was the advancement in the tax-rate. He found fault with the inclusion of the Furniture Company's mortgage among the current assets shown in the financial statement, pointed out that some of the taxes shown as assets were uncollectable and maintained that there was an actual deficit of between $2000 and $3000. This, in the face of a two mill increase in the tax rate, he regarded as a most unsatisfactory condition. The fact of the matter was that the expenditure of the municipality was increasing more rapidly than its population or wealth. Mr. Island argued that Orangeville's two great needs were a second line of railway and cheap electric power for manufacturing purposes. The incoming Council should use every effort to secure one or both of these boons.

Ex-Mayor McKitrick thought that the Council for 1910 deserved a great deal of credit for the showing they had been able to make under what must be regarded as exceptional conditions. Owing to the decrease in assessment and the loss of the revenue from liquor licenses, the revenue, outside of that from direct taxation, was considerably less than it had been in former years. On the other hand there had been an increase in the uncontrollable expenditure, so that the Council had no alternative except to increase the tax rate. Mr. McKitrick thought next year's Council should have rather easier sailing. For one thing the annual repayment by the Furniture Company would now be $1250 instead of $500. The retirement of the two debenture issues maturing next year would mean a reduction in the annual levy for the sinking fund. The speaker was not a candidate for any office, but wished as a ratepayer to express his approval of the course the Council had pursued during the year.

Mr. Thos. S. Hewson devoted the greater part of his time to the question of local option. After thanking the people of Orangeville for carrying the measure a year ago, he charged the Council with neglecting to secure the proper enforcement of the provisions of the by-law. He also charged the temperance people of Orangeville with being asleep and went after Constable Ewing and Nightwatchman Duke for "not doing anything." He found fault with the Council for moving the South Ward polling booth from the Fire Hall to the Queen's Hotel and wanted to know if the election returns would be announced from the upstairs of the Queen's.

Reeve Arnott was next called, but did not respond. The Banner has since learned that he was out of town on Monday.

Dr. Campbell, this year's deputy-reeve, thanked the ratepayers for electing him without the useless formality of a contest. He claimed that the Waterworks System and Fire Department were in better shape now than they had been for many years. He had endeavored to be as economical as possible and had advocated only what he considered necessary expenditures. He thought business men should give more time and attention to the public affairs of the town. Much could be done to improve existing conditions either through the Town Council or the Board of Trade. There was no room in Orangeville for a knockers' club and public sentiment should make it impossible for one to exist. Trade conditions, Dr. Campbell maintained, were such that it was imperative that the town secure manufacturing industries. It might be advisable to build another water reservoir, or enlarge the present one. There was plenty of water now going to waste, which if collected would make it possible to supply water for manufacturing purposes at a cheap rate or perhaps free of cost. Dr. Campbell concluded his address by announcing his acceptance of the nomination for deputy-reeve and returning his hearty thanks for the honor of being twice elected by acclamation.

Mr. A. E. Annis felt he had a substantial interest in the town and while he was not seeking office was willing to stand if the citizens thought he could be of any service to the town. A study of the financial statement would show that there was only about six mills of the total tax rate that was under the control of the Council. Much of the remaining expenditure was in the form of an heirloom, or legacy of debt from the past. Mr. Annis quoted from the Government Report to show that per head of population the people of Orangeville pay less taxes than do citizens of Deseronto, Oakville, Bowmanville, Brampton and other towns. The financial standing of the town would compare very favorably with the position of other Ontario towns of the same size. Orangeville was just as cheap a place to live in and had as many conveniences as any other town he knew of. Mr. Annis put in a word for the retired farmer. Had there been more retired farmers in Orangeville twenty-five years ago, the town would perhaps not have had its present legacy of debt. The retired farmer did not always object to paying. What he did object to was paying for anything he did not get value for.

W. J. Curry, who spoke briefly, announced his intention of standing for re-election. He had done his duty during the year, and if returned again would continue to serve the people as faithfully as he knew how.

The remaining nominees were called on in turn, but none of them responded and the meeting broke up shortly before ten o'clock. Before dispersing, a vote of thanks was tendered the Chairman for the tactful and impartial manner in which he had discharged his duties.

EAST WARD RATEPAYERS

are respectfully urged to work and vote for

EMERSON GILLESPIE

for Public School Trustee.

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

In compliance with the expressed wish of a large number of your ratepayers, I have decided to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for the Reeveship of Amaranth. I am strongly opposed to the proposed Good Roads scheme, and am in the field largely because I believe it is important that our representatives in the County Council take a decided stand against this movement. I respectfully appeal to you for your undivided support.

Yours Sincerely,
JOHN S. SPENCE.

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have been induced, in what my friends appear to believe the best interests of the township, to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for the responsible office of Reeve. Realizing that the great majority of the ratepayers of Amaranth are unalterably opposed to the Good Roads movement, I promise to vote and use my influence against the scheme should I be one of your representatives in the County Council. I trust that you will rally to my support and ensure my election.

Yours Faithfully,
JOHN BRYAN.

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have been induced, in what my friends appear to believe the best interests of the township, to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for the responsible office of Deputy-Reeve. During the two years I have sat in the Council I have used my best endeavors to serve and safeguard your interests. If you honor me with a continuance of your confidence, I promise you the same faithful service during the coming year. I respectfully solicit your votes and influence.

Yours Truly,
ALFRED MENARY

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have decided to offer myself for the office of Deputy-Reeve of your township. I have had several years' experience in municipal affairs, first as assessor and later as a member of your Council, and consequently feel that if I am elected I will enter on my public duties with some considerable knowledge of the affairs of the municipality. I respectfully solicit your support. Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, I am

Yours Truly,
NEWTON MYERS.

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am a candidate for re-election to the office of Councillor. I have already served you for one year in this positionand have spared neither time nor energy in my endeavor to serve your interests to the best advantage. If I am honored with your confidence I shall continue to look after your business faithfully and with diligence. I respectfully solicit your hearty support.

Yours Truly,
A. E. WILLIAMS.

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am again asking you to give me a chance to show that I can look after your interests to your satisfaction. As a lifelong resident and a ratepayer of the municipality, I have a deep interest in the welfare of my native township and if you make me one of your Councillors I will do my utmost to be of some service to you during the coming year. Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, I am,

Yours Sincerely,
W. T. LEADER.

To the Electors of Amaranth

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have decided to allow my name to go before you as a candidate for the office of Councillor. If elected I will make it my business to thoroughly inform myself regarding all business that may come before the Council and will do whatever I can do to avoid all unnecessary and wasteful expenditure. Give me a year's trial and I will do what I can to satisfy you that I am worthy to be one of your representatives. I respectfully solicit your support.

Yours Sincerely,
REUBEN WEST.

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I respectfully appeal to you for your hearty support for the office of Deputy-Reeve. Having had considerable experience in municipal affairs I feel that I can serve you to your advantage. If I am elected I assure you that I will devote my time and any ability I may possess to the furtherance of your interests. I am

Yours Sincerely,
G. F. STEWART.

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

At the solicitation of a large number of ratepayers, I am again a candidate for the position of Councillor. During the year I have inspected all the roads in my division, have seen that all necessary repairs were made and have succeeded in keeping the expenditure within my appropriation. I am in favor of strict economy and if re-elected will use any influence I possess to promote clean, honest and careful management of your affairs. Hoping you will see your way to give my candidature your hearty support, I am

Yours Faithfully,
GEO. LITTLE.

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have been prevailed upon to offer myself for the office of Deputy-Reeve of your municipality. I have had considerable experience in municipal work and feel that I can make claim to a good working knowledge of the affairs of the township. If you elect me I promise you faithful and conscientious service. I respectfully solicit your hearty support.

Yours Faithfully,
T. H. MOFFITT.

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

In response to the expressed wishes of a large number of ratepayers, I have decided to offer myself for re-election as Councillor. I have given close attention to the affairs of the municipality during the past year and if I am again elected will continue to discharge the duties of my office faithfully, impartially and to the best of my ability. Respectfully soliciting a continuance of your support, I am,

Yours Faithfully,
THOS. J. PARKS.

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am again in the field for the office of Councillor and respectfully appeal for your hearty support. I have given considerable attention to your affairs during the year and feel that I could serve you to your advantage if elected. Hoping that you will honor me with your confidence, I remain,

Yours Sincerely,
W. E. ISLAND

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen,—I desire to take this means of informing you that I am a candidate for the office of Councillor and of respectfully soliciting your votes and influence in my support, I wish also to give a public denial to the report that I intend leaving the municipality shortly. I intend to continue to make my home where I now reside. If you elect me I promise to look after your interests faithfully and to the best of my ability. One of the main planks in my platform is economy and I will do all I can to prevent any unnecessary or wasteful expenditure of your money. Wishing you all a happy and prosperous New Year, I am

Yours Sincerely,
JAS. A. MORTON.

To the Electors of Mono:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I have been induced by a number of ratepayers to offer myself for the office of Councillor. If I am elected I will do my best to serve your interests to your advantage. I shall hope to be favored with your hearty support at the polls and also during the campaign.

Yours Sincerely,
S. G. SHAW.

To the Electors of East Garafraxa:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am again in the field for the Reeveship of your township, and respectfully appeal for your support on the score of my past experience and consequent familiarity with the finances and general business of the municipality. If I am re-elected I feel that I will stand a fair chance of bringing the honor of the Wardenship of Dufferin to East Garafraxa for the coming year. I respectfully ask for your hearty support during the campaign and at the polls next Monday.

Yours Sincerely,
JOHN A. CORNEILJUS.

MISTAKE CORRECTED

Editor of The Banner:—

On August 3rd, William Smeaton drew on the County Treasurer for $665. I accepted the draft and charged it up to Caledon Good Roads. I am now informed that the money was to pay for two county bridges between Caledon and Erin. I make this correction on behalf of Mr. Smeaton. Trusting it will be satisfactory to the ratepayers of Caledon, I am

MONO CENTRE.

Mr. Frank Halbert spent Christmas at his home in Shelburne.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tisdale, of Niagara, spent Christmas with the latter's parents here.

Mr. Jas. Bower, of Red Deer, Alta., spent the holiday visiting friends in this locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Willred Avison spent Christmas in our midst.

Mr. Alex. Turnbull, of the Klondike, is paying a visit to his parental home here.

The nomination passed off very quietly this year despite the talk about high taxes.

Mr. Alex. Ross is going to London where we understand he has taken a position.

Mrs. Perry's many friends at Mono Centre and vicinity are pleased to see her in their midst again looking so well after her trip out West during the summer. While in the West Mrs. Perry received a welcome visit from her son, Mr. R. B. Perry, of Penticton, B.C., who spent a few days showing his mother some of the sights of the Prairie provinces. Mr. Perry is manager for a large B. C. engineering company and has done well since going to the far west. We are pleased to learn that he expects to visit his mother and other friends in Ontario in the not distant future.

ROSEMONT.

Miss Eleanor Walker, of Toronto, spent the holiday at Mr. Jno. McNabb's.

The Misses Florence and Gertrude Fletcher, Miss Melissa Hunter and W. T. Irwin, of Toronto, are holidaying at their homes here.

Miss Hazel Peacock, of Hamilton, and Mr. Wilfred Peacock, of Perm, are holidaying under the parental roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Little spent a few days last week with West Essa friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCann, of Yellowgrass, Sask., are spending a couple of months with the latter's parents here.

Mr. Wesley Allen, who is travelling for a Montreal boot and shoe company, is spending the holiday with his mother here.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe. Murphy gave their home for a miscellaneous shower for Miss Bertha McDowell, on Thursday evening last. An enjoyable time was spent in dancing.

CALEDON EAST.

A successful Christmas Tree Entertainment was held in the Methodist Church here on Wednesday evening, Dec. 21st. The Tree carried a generous load of gifts that gladdened the hearts of the little folk. The older people present were given an opportunity to contribute to the Deaconess Home in Toronto. A representative of the institution was present and gave an interesting address, explanatory of the work it is doing, concluding with an appeal for donations. The children of the school provided an interesting programme, consisting of dialogues, readings and recitations. The evening was enjoyed by everyone.

Mr. Whaley has sold 200,000 feet of maple to the Hanover Furniture Company. He is shipping it in the logs.

A successful shooting match was held in the village on Tuesday afternoon of last week. Turkeys and other fowl brought fancy prices.

The Christmas market a week ago Monday was well patronized. Some Toronto buyers were present. Eggs brought the fancy price of 40c. a dozen. Butter sold at 23c. and 24c., turkeys at 18c. to 20c. and geese at 14c.

RELESSEY.

One afternoon recently the pupils of S. S. No. 2, Mono, presented their teacher, Miss Foster, who has severed her connection with the school, with a handsome locket and chain and the following address:—

Dear Teacher,—It is with feelings of deepest regret that we are parting from you. You have been with us for two years and we feel that the time has come only too soon, when we are to part. Our two years have been very pleasant and we feel that you have always been interested in our welfare—not only in our school work but also in our lives. You have tried to inculcate into our minds those principles which would make us true men and women, and fit us to combat with the difficulties of the world. You leave us with our best wishes for your future happiness and prosperity, wherever it may be your lot to labor. Please accept this locket and chain as a token of our esteem for you and when you look at them may you always think of your Mono pupils.

Signed on behalf of the school.
Cora A. Irwin,
Lila Laverty,
Ellis Stinson.

Miss Foster, who was greatly affected by this convincing proof of the good will and affection of her pupils, acknowledged the gift in a few earnest and feeling words.

Mr. Percy Harding, of Orangeville, was in splendid voice in his numerous selections. Speeches were given by Councillors Little and Parks, Mr. Josiah Marshall, Mr. W. A. Henry and Mr. A. O. Scott. All were in fine form for speaking and did well. Rev. A. J. Fowlie made a capital chairman and everyone went home pleased with the night's entertainment.

A BAD ACCIDENT.

On Friday while at work on The Bell Telephone line at the Mennonite Church corner, Shrigley, John Campbell, one of the construction gang, fell and broke his leg. He was climbing a pole and when about eight feet from the ground lost his hold. There was no snow at the place and the ground was hard frozen though the fall was not far, the unfortunate fellow came down in such a way that a double fracture was sustained. The large bone is broken just above the ankle and the smaller bone about six inches higher. He was carried to James Stewart's where the fractures were set and next day conveyed to Dundalk He is now lying at his boarding place, John Gilmore's, and is as comfortable as he could well be under the circumstances. It is expected he will be able to go home to Camilla in a couple of weeks.—Dundalk Herald.

The injured man is a son of Mr. John Campbell, of Camilla.

CARDWELL.

The many friends of Rev. Mr. McLean will be glad to learn that he is now recovering from his serious illness. Mr. Geo. Bracken, a student of Wycliffe College, has charge of his pastoral duties during Christmas vacation.

The annual Christmas Tree and Concert, held last Thursday evening in the schoolhouse, was even a greater success than former years. The programme consisted of dialogues, songs, recitations, Christmas carols and drills. These were all appreciatively presented. The rendering of the dialogues and comic songs call for much commendation on the dramatic ability of local artists. The drills by the sixteen little girls dressed in white were gracefully and skillfully performed and their Carol singing was really sweet. Mrs. (Rev.) McLean, who trained the children for the drills and carols, deserves much praise for her painstaking work. There is every indication of a prosperous Sunday School and this is an important factor in the life of the church. It is the Sunday School which feeds the church.

Quite a number of people from this vicinity attended the funeral of the late Miss Mary Bracken, of Caledon East, which took place last Tuesday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Gandier conducted the service in St James' Church before the interment in St. James' cemetery. The deceased had reached the ripe age of eighty one years. For the last fifty-five years of her life she was almost a helpless cripple and yet, despite her physical suffering through so many years, she maintained a tranquil and cheerful temperament. The Rev. Mr. Gandier, in the course of his remarks, said that the deceased lady had been a living witness to the power of Christ in the mystery of pain. The late Miss Bracken is a sister of Mrs. E. Jenkins and Mr. Hugh Bracken of this community.

INDUCTION SERVICE.

Rev. J. A. Black Assumes Pastoral Charge of Mono Mills, Mono East and Adjala Presbyterian Churches.

Rev. J. A. Black, B.A., late pastor of Knox Church, Sydenham, in the Presbytery of Owen Sound, was inducted into the pastoral charge of Mono Mills, Mono East and Adjala Presbyterian Churches, in the Presbytery of Orangeville, on Thursday last, December 22nd. The induction took place in the Mono Mills Church, a special meeting of Presbytery having been convened for that purpose. A large congregation followed the proceedings with the closest interest. Rev. H. Matheson, of Caledon East, interim moderator during the vacancy, presided. Rev. S. R. Robinson, of Caledon, preached the sermon, Rev. J. G. Cheyne, of Claude, addressed the minister and Rev. W. M. Morris, of Orangeville, the people. At the close of the service, the session and managers expressed their appreciation of the services of Mr. Matheson as moderator by the gift of $15. The position is a responsible one and besides involves considerable travelling and other expenses and the way the people of Mono Mills remembered Mr. Matheson speaks well for the congregation.

The field is to be congratulated on securing Mr. Black as pastor. He has been pastor of Knox Church, Sydenham, and Woodford for the last 12 years and the people of these two charges were very reluctant to part with him. He is an excellent speaker and has shown both zeal and energy in his work. We have no fear but that he will find a warm and abiding place in the affections of the people of his new charge and hope he may long remain to minister to their spiritual needs.

Rev. Mr. Black is a graduate of Queen's University, having taken his B. A. degree at that seat of learning in 1891. He was ordained into the ministry in 1893 and spent five years near Belleville before assuming his Sydenham pastorate. Mr. Black, we might state in closing, will occupy the pulpit in St. Andrew's Church, Orangeville, next Sunday evening.

FOSTER—HARRISON.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon of Wednesday, December 21st, a very happy and interesting event took place at the home of Mrs. Joseph Harrison, 2nd line, east, Caledon, the occasion being the marriage of her eldest daughter, Miss Sarah J., to Mr. Wm. J. Foster, an enterprising young farmer, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Foster, 1st line, east, Mono. Owing to the illness of Rev. G. A. Rix, of Orangeville, the ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Perry, of Mono Mills, Mrs. Perry presiding at the organ. At the hour appointed the bride entered the parlor on the arm of her brother, Mr. Albert Harrison, and took her place under an arch of evergreen, where she awaited the coming of the groom. The bride looked charming in a dress of white mulle and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lizzie Harrison, who looked pretty in a dress of white mull and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was supported by Mr. R. H. Robinson, of Caledon. After the ceremony, the newly wedded couple led the way to the dining room, where a dainty wedding repast was served. The remainder of the evening was then pleasantly spent in music, dancing and other amusements. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and costly gifts, evidencing the esteem in which she is held. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome set of furs, to the bridesmaid a gold brooch and to the groomsman a gold watch chain. The following morning the happy couple left for Toronto, Hamilton and other points on a short honeymoon trip. The bride wore a neat travelling suit of navy blue cloth with picture hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Foster will take up their residence on the 1st line, east, Mono. Their many friends wish them many years of wedded bliss.

Kathleen Parlow's Success.

Kathleen Parlow, the brilliant Canadian violinist, has been having tremendous success on the continent says Musical Courier. At her recent appearance at the Kurhaus at Scheveningen, she met with extraordinary appreciation. The demand for admittance was so great that the prices for seats had to be extended far beyond the regular rates, but the place was crowded and the audience wildly enthusiastic. Miss Parlow is now in Norway and the press there has acclaimed her to be one of the greatest artists to visit that country. After the termination of her Norwegian tour she will return to Holland to fill some fifteen engagements, after which she will leave for the United States and Canada on a short tour.

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

A keen fight is in progress in Amaranth.

Mayor Riddell's address on Monday displayed a thorough understanding of the financial affairs of the town.

The reeveship fight in Amaranth promises to be decidedly close. Messrs Bryan and Spence are both proved men and many of the ratepayers will find it difficult to decide which man to vote for.

Parks and Little, of last year's Mono Council, are almost certain to be elected. They are both capable men and the ratepayers would make a mistake if they passed them over for inexperienced men.

The Banner congratulates Reeve McBride, of Caledon, on his re-election and wishes him every success in the impending contest for the coveted position of Warden of Peel.

Jas. A. Morton, one of the candidates for Mono Council, is an outspoken advocate of the strictest economy. If Mr. Morton is elected, the press may have occasion to refer to him a year hence as the watchdog of the Mono treasury.

Mr. W. E. Island is making a vigorous campaign for a place in the Mono Council. Mr. Island takes a keen interest in municipal matters and, if elected, will undoubtedly give unsparingly of his time and energy to the interests of his constituents.

Mr. Reuben West should head the poll for Councillor in Amaranth. Living in the Waldemar division, it so happens that he is the only candidate for councillor in the south half of the township. Mr. West is a young man with progressive ideas and will undoubtedly make a capable representative.

A. E. Williams and W. T. Reader, are likely to get places in the Amaranth Council. The former has a creditable year's record at the township board and the latter is a heavy ratepayer and a man with considerable business experience that should stand him in good stead in municipal affairs.

Mr. W. J. Limebeer will not suffer in the estimation of the electorate of Caledon because of his withdrawal in favor of Reeve McBride. There was a feeling that the latter should get another term and an opportunity of becoming Warden of the County. Mr. Limebeer's withdrawal shows that he understood and appreciated the situation.

Moffitt and Stewart should make a close fight for the Mono deputy-reeveship. Moffitt is pretty sure to carry Perry's and the Harshaw divisions. Stewart is equally certain to have majorities in the Rosemont and Primrose wards. Relessey and Camilla divisions are expected to break nearly even. Both men have had considerable experience.

Menary and Myers are making a pretty fight for Amaranth dep.-reeveship. The chief argument against Menary is his youth, but that is a fault time will cure. No young man can be blamed for having ambitions and Mr. Menary has shown in the last two years that he possesses the necessary business and administrative qualities. His opponent, Mr. Myers, has had three years experience in the Council and also filled the office of assessor some years ago. He is level-headed and capable and will undoubtedly run well. The interests of the people will be well looked after, no matter which man is elected.

Reeve Cornelius, of East Garafraxa, is in an interesting position. Two of the candidates for the Dufferin Wardenship, Messrs. Greer, of Mulmur, and Dryden, of Melancthon, are having the fight of their lives for the reeveship of their respective municipalities. Mr. Cornelius feels that if the fortunes of the day go against these stalwarts, he stands an excellent chance of being Warden of Dufferin next year. But then Mr. Cornelius himself has a fight on his hands that may put his popularity and resourcefulness to a severe test. His opponent, Mr. James Brown, is one of East Garry's popular young men. He has a creditable record in the township council and is going to poll a heavy vote.

COMING TO ORANGEVILLE.

Orangeville theatre goers are to be given a treat next week, when on Monday Kleen Lynbrook and Company open a 3 nights engagement at the Opera House, Orangeville, commencing Monday, January 2nd. "Master of the human mind" is the title given to Kleen. He hangs a man on the stage every night in the open. There are no screens used—the audience can see everything that goes on. Lillian Lynbrook is a natural born clairvoyant in assisting. Her acts of thought transference are said to be marvelous. Popular prices.

OUR CALENDAR.

In 1582 Gregory Introduced it as it Stands in Present Form.

The Julian year consisted of 365¼ days and exceeded by 11 minutes 13.95 seconds the solar year of 365 days, 5 hours, 46 seconds. In consequence of this, the equinox in the course of a few centuries fell back considerably. In the time of Julius Caesar, it corresponded to March 25, and by the sixteenth century it had retrograded to March 11. It was at this time that a physician of Verona named Ghiraldi proposed a plan for amending the calendar. He died before he had opportunity to carry it forward, but his brother presented it to Pope Gregory XIII., who assembled a number of learned men to discuss it. It was passed upon favorably and adopted, and thus was given to the world what has since been known as the Georgian Calendar. In 1582 Gregory issued a brief, abolishing the Julian Calendar in all Catholic countries, and introducing the reformed one.

The reform of the Georgian or new on the Julian or old consisted in dropping ten days after October 4, 1582, so that the 15th was reckoned immediately after the 4th. Every one hundredth year, which by the old style was a leap year, was to be a common year, the fourth century, divisible by four, excepted; that is 1600 was to remain a leap year, but 1700, 1800, 1900 were not to be reckoned as such, while 2000 is to be so reckoned. In this calendar, the length of the solar year is taken to be 365 days, 5 hours, 49 minutes and 12 seconds, the difference between which and the true length is immaterial.—The Christian Herald.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than regrets. One day my business led me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilled. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

AVIATION IN DREAMS.

In the current Atlantic Manthly, Mr. Havelock Ellis has a timely essay on Aviation in Dreams, treating the subject historically and physiologically:

Dreams of flying, with dreams of falling, with which they are sometimes associated, may fairly be considered the best known and most frequent type of dreams. They were among the earliest dreams to attract attention. Ruthes argues that the Greek conception of the flying Hermes, the god who possessed special authority over dreams, was based on such experiences. Lucretius, in his interesting passage on psychology of dreaming, speaks of falling from heights in dreams; Cicero appears to refer to dreams of flying; St. Jerome mentions that he was subject to them; Synesius remarked that in dreams we fly with wings and view the world from afar; Cervantes accurately described the dream of falling. . . . Raffaelli, the eminent French painter, who is subject to these dreaming experiences of floating in the air, confesses that they are so convincing that he has jumped out of bed on awakening, and attempted to repeat the experience.

It is significant that, of those who have had such dreams, extremely few have flown high. One almost always flies low, with a skimming manner, slightly, but only slightly, above the heads of pedestrians. What effect actual aviation will have upon dreams we shall, of course, learn before very long—almost certainly it will give them a higher wing. The chief factor in dreams of flying is said to be the breathing, which is proved "by the fact that many persons subject to such dreams are conscious on awaking of a sense of respiratory or cardiac disturbance." It strikes the writer as strange that, though dreams of floating in the air are so common, dreams of floating on the water seem to be rare. And in conclusion he notes that sensations of flying have not been confined to sleeping moments, citing several mediaeval saints who, in their close communion with God, have felt themselves lifted up above the ground. The case of Thomas Aquinas may be added to those which Mr. Ellis has gathered.

THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN

COLLEGE STREET, TORONTO

READY FOR MOTHER.

Appeals to Fathers and Mothers of Ontario on behalf of suffering children.

This Institution did more work in 1910 than ever before. Total In-Patients 1,224. Of these, 783 were from the city and 441 from the country.

Since its organization, the Hospital has treated in its cots and beds 16,837 children; 12,370 of these were unable to pay and were treated free.

There were 60 cases of club foot corrected last year.

THE HOSPITAL IS A PROVINCIAL CHARITY.

The sick child from the most remote corner of Ontario has the same claim as the child living within sight of the great House of Mercy in College Street, Toronto. Our cause is the children's cause. Could there be one that has a stronger claim on the people of this Province?

Perfect results in Harelip cases. 18 infants were relieved of this terrible deformity last year.

If the Hospital is to continue its great work, it must appeal to your pocketbook as well as to your heart. Let your Dollars be messages of mercy to the suffering little children of Ontario.

Please send your contribution to J. Ross Robertson, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer, The Hospital for Sick Children, College St., Toronto.

LAUREL.

(To late for last week.)

The annual entertainment and Chistmas Tree was conducted on Monday night by the Methodist Sunday School. A large attendance enjoyed the excellent programme given by the school. Miis Margaret Patterson and Mrs. George Nelson are to be congratulated upon the splendid way in which the scholars under their training rendered the various choruses, dialogues and recitations. Presents were given to the members of the four junior classes, and no child present was disappointed by Santa Claus.

Miss Ethel Hamilton has returned from a visit with her sister in New York. Miss Hamilton has recently been in attendance at Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, where she had obtained honor standing in vocal and instrumental music.

Our skating rink is well under way and the boys expect good skating for Christmas.

ROSEMONT.

Having been a resident of this thriving burg some years ago, I thought I would pay it a visit recently. On reaching Mr. William Irwin's on Friday afternoon, the first surprise I got was to hear of a Box Social in the Orange Hall at Violet Hill that evening. As the boys insisted that I accompany them, I decided to go and having the luck to get a good full box, I had a most delightful time. On my way home with the boys next morning, we met Milford Hunter at the 6th line corner. He had also been at the party. He said he had got both of his ears frozen on his way home from Allliston, and had about decided to go south for the winter. I decided to remain at Irwin's for a few days and attend a party at Mr. George Moore's, to which we had received an invitation. While driving up the 7th line on Sunday I overtook R. J. Morrison, snow to the head and without any polish on his boots, and on his way to Mr. G. Moore's. I arrived at the top of the hill in time to see Jack Maguire turning into Moore's gate. The time passed quickly until Monday evening, when we set out for the party at Mr. G. Moore's. We arrived in due time and soon the air was filled with the sounds of soft music and flying feet. We were not surprised to observe youth and old age walking hand in hand all night, but soon the little sma' hours of the morning crept in upon us and we were all ready to wend our way home, tired in body, but with buoyant spirits. I thought I had better direct my course westward, as I wished to reach Shelburne before the end of the week. Passing through Primrose, I met Lorne Halbert and Jack Galbraith, who informed me of the approaching ball in the Orange Hall and gave me a cordial invitation to attend. On my arrival at the appointed hour, I found everything in good shape for an excellent night's fun. The dance was going nicely until Perry Lindsay began showing some of his steps and the stovepipes collapsed. However, nothing more serious resulted than a few black faces. Luck seemed to be coming my way, for I received an invitation from Kenneth McKenzie, to a Croquet game the following week. Not seeing anything at Primrose to detain me any longer, I set out for Shelburne, where I am getting my skates in order for Christmas Eve.

PAT.

ELDER.

Having received an invitation to the Primrose Ball, which was held last Tuesday night, I decided to curtail my visit and take in the event. Arriving at the Goffite Church I met in with Joe Lindsay, who gave me a lift over to the next corner, where he turned north. When I reached Brett's I found I was in time to get a ride with Wyellie, behind his fast trotter. We soon reached the hall, where we found everything quite lively.

To this Ball, the boys from all round did come,
All full of mischief, frolic and fun;
They took me out upon the floor,
And made me step a dozen times
or more,
At Primrose Football Party.

The floor manager axed me for my name to gie me a leather medal and axed me for foty-graft to hang agin the wall, for he said it was me that led the dance at Primrose ball.

The next to toe was Granger in a row,
What they were good for I really don't know;
Elba came next, they are not a bad
lot,
Some that are good and some that are not.

Here's to the Camillaites who step out of tune,
We'll choke them right off, they can't die too soon.
Here's to the fiddler, here's to the twins,
You can't tell them apart, they're like as two pins.
Here's to the callers who set the pace
On the platform they were models of grace.
Here's to the ladies who did as they please,
Took their place in waltzes and snowdrifts with ease.

Here's to Primrose—the best of the crowd,
They're too modest to mention their praises aloud;
Here's to the balls, but we've drained the last drop,
So it surely is time this ditty should stop.

UNKIL JOE.

CHILDREN AND MANNERS.

Nothing was so resented in America two or three generations ago as Charles Dickens' strictures on the customs and manners of the people. They all felt insulted by the truthful mirror the great novelist held up to the new nation.

Earl Grey has shown great courage in making the statement he did at the boy scout conference yesterday to Canadians.

"Your children in some parts of Ontario are without manners."

It will be a foolishly self-satisfied locality that exempts itself from the implication, and it will be still stupider for any community that feels the charge to be just to feel offence at a statement that is made with the best intention. Canada will be all the better for an inward digestion of his excellency's remarks.

"I am not convinced that your schools are turning out boys fitted when they become men to be the reapers of a splendid destiny. Your children in some parts of Ontario are without manners. That is not their fault, but their parents' and teachers', and what is worse still, some poor benighted souls, excellent, but very ill-educated people, seem to have persuaded themselves that rough manners are a sign of manliness and gentle manners the sign of servility.

"God help the people whose teachers teach that irreverence is a mark of sturdy independence. Those people are nearer the truth who regard any man without reverence as worse than any beast. The humblest born and poorest man in the state who is moved by high ideals is a greater gentleman than a rich man without any. It is because the scout movement tends to supplement the efficiency of your educational system by implanting in your boys the ideals they do not seem to learn in their schools that I so earnestly commend to your acceptance the scout movement, which, if properly supported, promises to become a real blessing to this country."—Toronto World.

Itching Piles For 27 Yrs.

Despaired of ever getting relief until cure came 3 years ago with use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. John Johnson, Cawley, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of twenty-seven years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I could ever get from the terrible misery of piles.

"Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of sixty cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time now and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this Ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Any one doubting this can write direct to me."

Do not accept an imitation or substitute in place of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there has yet to be discovered a treatment which so promptly gives relief from itching and so thoroughly cures every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Royal Household Flour

The best for Bread and the best for Pastry

"The Little Brother of The Rich"

NOW, this is not a talk about money.

It isn't a contrast between the rich and the poor, for in some things we are all equally rich and there are no poor brothers.

The poorest woman in the land can have just as good bread as the richest. The children who walk can have just as delicious pies and cakes and "goodies" as the children who ride in carriages.

All the money in the world cannot buy better flour than "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD", for there isn't any better.

And the woman who does her own baking can have just as good bread as is served to the Royal Household of England, and that is made from ROYAL HOUSEHOLD FLOUR sent to England from Canada.

And then, a barrel of "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" produces many more loaves than a barrel of ordinary flour. The bread is better—sweeter, nicer to eat—and more wholesome—has more health and strength in it—makes more delicious pies, cakes, biscuits and doughnuts. Children, whose mothers use "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" at home, can have just as good baked things as the Princes and Princesses of England.

Although "ROYAL HOUSEHOLD" costs a little more per barrel than ordinary flour it contains so much more nourishment and makes so much more bread of superior quality it is in reality the most economical of all flours.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook" comprises 125 pages of splendid Recipes which have been tested and tried. Every woman who is interested in good things to eat should send and get it.

"I HAD ONE OF MY RAGING HEADACHES

When I First Used "Fruit-a-tives"

SHANLY, ONT. SEPT. 23, 1910.

WM. PITT

You certainly have the Greatest Discovered Headache Cure, in the world. Before "Fruit-a-tives" came before the public, I suffered tortures from headaches, caused mostly from stomach disorders. I tried many different remedies without any relief.

One of your travellers called on me shortly after you started selling "Fruit-a-tives", and on that day I had one of my raging headache, and had my head almost in a raw sore from external applications. I hated to see any person coming into the store (I am a general store keeper at the above address and have been in the same store 25 years) much less a commercial traveller, and I told him, very curtly, that I had a headache and "want none of his Patent medicine", but he very good-naturedly offered me a sample of "Fruit-a-tives", and insisted on my trying them. I did so, with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to preserve me in my present good health. I was 65 years old yesterday.

You are at liberty to publish this letter and my photo, if you think it would induce some others to use your splendid remedy. (Signed) WM. PITT.

"Fruit-a-tives" cures Headaches because it is the greatest blood purifying medicine in the world. "Fruit-a-tives" is also the only remedy made of fruit juices. Dealers everywhere sell "Fruit-a-tives" at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. If your dealer does not handle "Fruit-a-tives", send to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, enclosing regular retail price.

RICHARDSON—WEBSTER.

The wedding took place Wednesday evening, December 14th, at eight o'clock, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Geo. R. Webster, in Huron St., Toronto, of her daughter, Muriel Woodfield, to Mr. Thomas Alexander Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Richardson, of Grand Valley. The wedding music was played by the bride's cousin, Miss Grace Fletcher, and the Rev. Mr. Strachan, of Rosedale Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by her cousin, Mr. C. W. Barnes, and wore a lovely bridal robe of cream lace over liberty satin, with the regulation tulle veil, and a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a sheaf of white roses. There was only Miss Isabella Somerville, of Montreal, who made a dainty flower girl in lingerie frock with blue ribbons, and carried a basket of sweet peas. After the ceremony Mrs. Webster received, when she was wearing a handsome black net gown over white. The rooms were lovely with quantities of yellow chrysanthemums and white roses, ferns and palms, the bride's table being done entirely in white with ferns. Mrs. Richardson, the groom's mother wore a becoming black gown, and Mrs. Somerville, the bride's sister from Montreal, had a lovely black crepe gown with jewelled trimmings. Mrs. Smiley, of New Liskeard, the groom's sister, was present, and Mr. Austin Richardson, of Grand Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson left on the late train for their new home in Montreal, the bride wearing a smartly tailored brown diagonal serge suit, black velvet toque and Persian lamb furs. Their address in Montreal will be 49 Windsor Avenue, Westmount.

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Strathroy, Ont., writes:—My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A HANDSOME CHRISTMAS BOX.

The great advantage of the purchase of Canadian Government Annuities for their children should appeal to all parents, for the annual payments are so small that provision for their future may be made with little, if any, present sacrifice. For example, an Annuity of $100 payable at 60 may be secured for a boy who was 5 last birthday for an annual payment of only $4.75, or less than 10 cents a week, or for a total sum paid in of $261.25. In the event of the death of the child before he was 60, all the money that had been paid in with 3 per cent. compound interest would be refunded to his heirs. When the boy arrived at an age when he was earning for himself, he could carry his own contract to completion at a rate far below what he could have obtained at his then age.

It is the custom of many parents to spend on their children at Christmas time amounts which at other times of the year they feel they could not afford, and too frequently are the purchases made of no lasting or permanent benefit. Would it not be a better plan to start each child on the road to the purchase of a Canadian Government Annuity, and continue the "Box" every Christmas until he was able to carry it for himself? The child, if he lived, would remember with gratitude Santa Claus' visits.

The following extract from a letter received from the manager of one of Canada's leading Insurance Companies shows what he thinks of the Annuities' proposition.

"In discussing the system of Government Annuities with my friends from time to time I have always frankly stated that in my opinion the benefits offered for the rates charged are exceedingly liberal, and that I do not know of any institution which could possibly afford to offer terms so advantageous. If the general working population of Canada were able to realize the favorable basis on which Annuities could be secured from the Government, there would be very few among the thrifty and thoughtful who would not take advantage thereof."

Information as to how the purchase may be made and of the cost at any age will be supplied you at the Post Office, or by the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa.

NUMBER 23 THE PROPRIETARY

CALEDON COUNCIL.

Council Chamber, Dec. 15, 1910.

Council met, Reeve presiding; members all present. Minutes of previous meeting read and adopted.

Messrs. Cameron and Armstrong reported having let a job of building and repairing a bridge on fourth line west at lot 28, to Peter Blair, for the sum of $65.00. They recommended payment of $50.00, the balance to be paid when the contract is completed. Report adopted.

Messrs. the Reeve and Smeaton reported having let a contract of gravelling on 5 sideroad to J. McCannell, for the sum of $50.00. The work being done, payment was recommended.—Report adopted.

Mr. Smeaton reported having, in company with a commissioner from Chinguacousy, let a job of gravelling on the south town line, to H. Fudge, for the sum of $39.50.

Payment of $19.75, being half cost, was recommended. Report adopted.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Giles, that the Treasurer receive and place to the credit of the Township the sum of $7.50, being Caledon's share of the grant made by the Caledon Lake Co. for work on the north town line.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that the usual yearly grant of $80.00 be made to the Caledon Agricultural Society for the year 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McBride, seconded by Mr. Smeaton, that owing to errors made in the statute labor returns from Belfountain division for the year 1909, by which the following parties were charged on their taxes with road work already done, be it resolved that they be refunded the sums set opposite their respective names as follows:—George King, $2.00; Wm. Forbes, $2.00; John Drury, $2.00; John Davidson, $1.00; Mrs. Judson, $2.00.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Smeaton, that owing to removals and errors in assessment, the following rebates be made in dog tax: F. Hill, $2.00; Harry Amos, $1.00; John Weeks, $1.00; John Wellwood, $1.00; Wm. Pinkney, $1.00; E. Black, $3.00; Wm. Sutton, $1.00; D. Cunnington, $.00—Carried.

Pursuant to notice, Mr. Cameron moved, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, for leave to introduce a bill fixing the time and place for holding the annual meeting for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Reeves and Councillors for the year 1911, and for naming the Deputy-Returning Officers and Poll Clerks for holding the elections.—Leave granted.

The bill was introduced, read a first and second time and referred to a committee of the whole to fill in blanks.

Mr. Cameron in the chair. Committee rose and reported the bill with blanks filled, when it was read a third time and passed.

An order was drawn on the Treasurer for the payment of the salaries of the different officials of the Township as follows: John A. McBride, Reeve, $100.00; Wm. Smeaton, Deputy-Reeve, $89.00; Geo. Cameron, Councillor, $80.00; Geo. Giles, Councillor, $86.00; David Armstrong, Councillor, $85.00; J. L. Meek, Clerk, balance, $110.00; W. J. Warnock, Treasurer, $160.00; J. S. McDonald, Collector, $90.00; Thos. Patterson, Collector, $70.00.

Moved by Mr. Smeaton, seconded by Mr. Giles, that the Public Libraries at Caledon, Belfountain, Inglewood and Alton, be granted $15.00 each.—Carried.

The following accounts were examined, passed and the Reeve's order issued for their payment, viz.:—

"I HAD ONE OF MY RAGING HEADACHES

When I First Used "Fruit-a-tives"

SHANLY, ONT. SEPT. 23, 1910.

WM. PITT

You certainly have the Greatest Discovered Headache Cure, in the world. Before "Fruit-a-tives" came before the public, I suffered tortures from headaches, caused mostly from stomach disorders. I tried many different remedies without any relief.

One of your travellers called on me shortly after you started selling "Fruit-a-tives", and on that day I had one of my raging headache, and had my head almost in a raw sore from external applications. I hated to see any person coming into the store (I am a general store keeper at the above address and have been in the same store 25 years) much less a commercial traveller, and I told him, very curtly, that I had a headache and "want none of his Patent medicine", but he very good-naturedly offered me a sample of "Fruit-a-tives", and insisted on my trying them. I did so, with what I would call amazing results. They completely cured me and since then (nearly six years ago) it is only necessary for me to take one occasionally to preserve me in my present good health. I was 65 years old yesterday.

You are at liberty to publish this letter and my photo, if you think it would induce some others to use your splendid remedy. (Signed) WM. PITT.

"Fruit-a-tives" cures Headaches because it is the greatest blood purifying medicine in the world. "Fruit-a-tives" is also the only remedy made of fruit juices. Dealers everywhere sell "Fruit-a-tives" at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. If your dealer does not handle "Fruit-a-tives", send to Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, enclosing regular retail price.

RICHARDSON—WEBSTER.

The wedding took place Wednesday evening, December 14th, at eight o'clock, at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Geo. R. Webster, in Huron St., Toronto, of her daughter, Muriel Woodfield, to Mr. Thomas Alexander Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Richardson, of Grand Valley. The wedding music was played by the bride's cousin, Miss Grace Fletcher, and the Rev. Mr. Strachan, of Rosedale Presbyterian Church, performed the ceremony. The bride was given away by her cousin, Mr. C. W. Barnes, and wore a lovely bridal robe of cream lace over liberty satin, with the regulation tulle veil, and a wreath of orange blossoms, and she carried a sheaf of white roses. There was only Miss Isabella Somerville, of Montreal, who made a dainty flower girl in lingerie frock with blue ribbons, and carried a basket of sweet peas. After the ceremony Mrs. Webster received, when she was wearing a handsome black net gown over white. The rooms were lovely with quantities of yellow chrysanthemums and white roses, ferns and palms, the bride's table being done entirely in white with ferns. Mrs. Richardson, the groom's mother wore a becoming black gown, and Mrs. Somerville, the bride's sister from Montreal, had a lovely black crepe gown with jewelled trimmings. Mrs. Smiley, of New Liskeard, the groom's sister, was present, and Mr. Austin Richardson, of Grand Valley. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson left on the late train for their new home in Montreal, the bride wearing a smartly tailored brown diagonal serge suit, black velvet toque and Persian lamb furs. Their address in Montreal will be 49 Windsor Avenue, Westmount.

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—
Restoration obtained by using DR. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Strathroy, Ont., writes:—My nervous system creemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves." Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A HANDSOME CHRISTMAS BOX.

The great advantage of the purchase of Canadian Government Annuities for their children should appeal to all parents, for the annual payments are so small that provision for their future may be made with little, if any, present sacrifice. For example, an Annuity of $100 payable at 60 may be secured for a boy who was 5 last birthday for an annual payment of only $4.75, or less than 10 cents a week, or for a total sum paid in of $261.25. In the event of the death of the child before he was 60, all the money that had been paid in with 3 per cent. compound interest would be refunded to his heirs. When the boy arrived at an age when he was earning for himself, he could carry his own contract to completion, at a rate far below what he could have obtained at his then age.

It is the custom of many parents to spend on their children at Christmas time amounts which at other times of the year they feel they could not afford, and too frequently are the purchases made of no lasting or permanent benefit. Would it not be a better plan to start each child on the road to the purchase of a Canadian Government Annuity, and continue the "Box" every Christmas until he was able to carry it for himself? The child, if he lived, would remember with gratitude Santa Claus' visits.

The following extract from a letter received from the manager of one of Canada's leading Insurance Companies shows what he thinks of the Annuities' proposition.

"In discussing the system of Government Annuities with my friends from time to time I have always frankly stated that in my opinion the benefits offered for the rates charged are exceedingly liberal, and that I do not know of any institution which could possibly afford to offer terms so advantageous. If the general working population of Canada were able to realize the favorable basis on which Annuities could be secured from the Government, there would be very few among the thrifty and thoughtful who would not take advantage thereof."

Information as to now the purchase may be made and of the cost at any age will be supplied you at the Post Office, or by the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa.

CALEDON COUNCIL.

Council Chamber, Dec. 15, 1910.

Council met, Reeve presiding; members all present. Minutes of previous meeting read and adopted.

Messrs. Cameron and Armstrong reported having let a job of building and repairing a bridge on fourth line west at lot 28, to Peter Blair, for the sum of $65.00. They recommended payment of $50.00, the balance to be paid when the contract is completed. Report adopted.

Messrs. the Reeve and Smeaton reported having let a contract of gravelling on 5 sideroad to J. McCannell, for the sum of $50.00. The work being done, payment was recommended.—Report adopted.

Mr. Smeaton reported having, in company with a commissioner from Chinguacousy, let a job of gravelling on the south town line, to H. Fudge, for the sum of $39.50.

Payment of $19.75, being half cost, was recommended. Report adopted.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Giles, that the Treasurer receive and place to the credit of the Township the sum of $7.50, being Caledon's share of the grant made by the Caledon Lake Co. for work on the north town line.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that the usual yearly grant of $80.00 be made to the Caledon Agricultural Society for the year 1910.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. McBride, seconded by Mr. Smeaton, that owing to errors made in the statute labor returns from Belfountain division for the year 1909, by which the following parties were charged on their taxes with road work already done, be it resolved that they be refunded the sums set opposite their respective names as follows:—George King, $2.00; Wm. Forbes, $2.00; John Drury, $2.00; John Davidson, $1.00; Mrs. Judson, $2.00. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Smeaton, that owing to removals and errors in assessment, the following rebates be made in dog tax: F. Hill, $2.00; Harry Amos, $1.00; John Weeks, $1.00; John Wellwood, $1.00; Wm. Pinkney, $1.00; E. Black, $3.00; Wm. Sutton, $1.00; D. Cunnington, $.00—Carried.

Pursuant to notice, Mr. Cameron moved, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, for leave to introduce a bill fixing the time and place for holding the annual meeting for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Reeves and Councillors for the year 1911, and for naming the Deputy-Returning Officers and Poll Clerks for holding the elections.—Leave granted.

The bill was introduced, read a first and second time and referred to a committee of the whole to fill in blanks.

Mr. Cameron in the chair. Committee rose and reported the bill with blanks filled, when it was read a third time and passed.

An order was drawn on the Treasurer for the payment of the salaries of the different officials of the Township as follows: John A. McBride, Reeve, $100.00; Wm. Smeaton, Deputy-Reeve, $89.00; Geo. Cameron, Councillor, $80.00; Geo. Giles, Councillor, $86.00; David Armstrong, Councillor, $85.00; J. L. Meek, Clerk, balance, $110.00; W. J. Warnock, Treasurer, $160.00; J. S. McDonald, Collector, $90.00; Thos. Patterson, Collector, $70.00.

Moved by Mr. Smeaton, seconded by Mr. Giles, that the Public Libraries at Caledon, Belfountain, Inglewood and Alton, be granted $15.00 each.—Carried.

BRYAN AND SPENCE.

Hot Fight in Progress For Amaranth Reeveship.

Good Roads Scheme Denounced at Nomination Meeting at Laurel on Monday.

The Good Roads system, which Barrister G. M. Vance, of Shelburne, and the other men who planned the now famous automobile trip for Dufferin County Council last summer, are commonly supposed to be anxious to foist upon the farmers of this County, had very few friends at the Amaranth nomination meeting in Laurel on Monday. Former Reeve John S. Spence was most outspoken in his opposition to the system and nearly every other speaker followed his lead. Mr. Spence declared that the automobile trip was planned for the express purpose of committing the County Council to the Good Roads scheme. The trip, he averred, was arranged by the automobile owners of Shelburne, Orangeville and Grand Valley, who wanted a through automobile route from Toronto to Owen Sound. He objected to the system because of the heavy debenture debt in which it would involve the county, because the better the roads are made the more dangerous they are to travel by reason of automobile traffic and because the County of Dufferin might be compelled at any time to go to the expense of erecting a House of Refuge.

The expectation of a lively wrangle over a couple of drainage by-laws that have provoked a whole lot of ill-feeling brought the ratepayers of the municipality out in large numbers. The township hall, which will accommodate about 350 people, was crowded to the door and some late comers were unable to get in at all. Some of the older heads, mindful of the disorder of a year ago, and recognizing the need for a chairman of weight and experience, nominated and succeeded in persuading Rev. J. R. Bell to accept that position. The presence and kindly advice of this well-known and highly respected cleric acted like oil upon the troubled waters and, while there were some lively passages between members of the Council and ratepayers who essayed the role of interrogators, the meeting as a whole passed off quietly and without any untoward manifestation of feeling.

Nominations were as follows :—

Reeve—J. H. Hosick, Fred. Rayfield, W. J. Hamilton, John S. Spence, John Bryan.

Deputy-Reeve—W. A. Simpson, Newton Myers, Robert Curry, Alfred Menary.

Councillors—W. J. Hamilton, Alfred Menary, John Duncan, W. T. Leader, Reuben West, Alex. Patterson, A. E. Williams, Wm. Besley, Ed. Groskurth, John Banks, Robert McPherson and John H. Hicks.

Reeve Hosick, who was the first speaker, dealt briefly with County matters, before launching into township business. The financial statement showed a surplus of $471.64 and Council would have had a surplus of $800 or $900 had it not been for the accident to Dr. Campbell on the west townline. Mr. Hosick attributed the accident to the failure of the East Luther commissioners to see the culvert was guarded by lanterns. Much of Mr. Hosick's time was devoted to drainage matters and a spirited discussion with Mr. John Duncan, who took exception to some of his statements.

Mr. W. J. Hamilton, who spoke briefly, was uncertain whether he would stand for reeve or retire. If he decided to stand the reeveship would be a New Year's gift from the people of Amaranth that he would greatly appreciate.

Wm. Rayfield resurrected the Rayfield lawsuit of a decade ago and appealed to the Council and electorate to cancel the judgment that the municipality holds against his father.

John Bryan stated that he intended to stand for the reeveship and pledged himself to oppose the Good Roads scheme. He thought when the people of the municipality were so strongly opposed to the system, it was the duty of their representatives to vote against it. He had every respect for Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Spence and if he was opposed by either of them he hoped the contest would be fair, clean and marked by good feeling.

Alfred Menary was against the Good Roads scheme or any project that would involve the township in any great debt. He had been urged to stand for deputy-reeve and had decided to be a candidate for that office.

Robert Curry thought his withdrawal had gone far to prevent a contest a year ago and claimed credit for securing the township a deputy-reeve and therefore two representatives in the County Council. If he was a candidate for any office it would be the deputy-reeveship.

A. E. Williams expressed himself in favor of an effort to secure better winter roads and was in favor of special grants for road improvement. He was in the field again for Councillor.

Wm. Besley, Alex. Patterson, John Banks, W. T. Leader, John H. Hicks, R. McPherson and Reuben West spoke briefly. Shortly before the meeting closed Reeve Hosick and John Duncan figured in the hottest discussion of the day. The subject was of course drains.

The actual candidates are :—

Reeve—John Bryan, John S. Spence.

Deputy-Reeve—Alfred Menary, Newton Myers.

Councillors—John Hicks, W. T. Leader, Reuben West, A. E. Williams.

—A large roomy fire place and drop oven door are features of the popular Steel Range that McCartney, the hardware man, is selling for $38.

ANDERSON ELECTED.

Mono's Reeveship Goes By Acclamation.

Fletcher Stewart and T. H. Moffitt in Field for Deputy-Reeve.

Monday last, nomination day, was the occasion of a lively gathering at Mono Centre, where between two and three hundred of the electors of that prosperous township assembled in the famous "hayloft" to hear the township fathers for 1910 give an account of their actions during their term of office.

Clerk Geo. H. Harshaw was on hand bright and early and at 12 o'clock announced that he was "now ready to receive nominations." During the first half hour the clerk had quite an easy time, as the ratepayers were somewhat backward in proposing candidates, but before the nomination closed it became quite evident that Mono Council for 1911 would not be elected by acclamation. Sharp at 1 o'clock, Mr. Harshaw closed the nomination meeting, and announced the following slate :—

Reeve—S. Barber, Wm. E. Island, W. J. Dynes, J. A. Marshall and H. T. Anderson.

Deputy-Reeve—Geo. F. Stewart, Geo. Little, T. H. Moffitt and H. T. Anderson.

Councillors—T. J. Parks, W. E. Island, J. A. Morton, W. J. Henry, A. T. Lindsay, W. A. Henry, Geo. Little and S. G. Shaw.

After hearing the nominations, Mr. Harshaw was unanimously voted chairman and a public meeting held which, at times, waxed warm, but after hearing each of the speakers everybody seemed fairly well satisfied that the Council of 1910 had done its work in a business like manner.

In the absence of Mr. S. Barber, who was the first nominee, Mr. W. E. Island was the first to take the platform. Mr. Island referred to the financial statement with its balance of $1,745.44, which he claimed was quite unnecessary and thought that the Council would have done better to have had a smaller balance and be receiving, in place of paying, interest on such a large sum of money. He also made reference to the accounts for township bridges and thought the ratepayers of Mono, would soon be paying a snug rental for these new structures. The new bridges on the Prince of Wales and Hockley Road, Mr. Island admitted, were good structures. He also criticised the Council for the expenditure on the north town line, and declared that the road was only used by a small percentage of the ratepayers of Mono.

Reeve Dynes, in one of the best addresses of the day, gave an account of his stewardship at the township and county municipal boards. He stated that although the taxes for the current year were higher than for some years past it was not due to the extravagence of the township council and explained in a clear and concise manner how a large percentage of the money expended was beyond the control of the township council. Mr. Dynes made reference to the expense of installing new boxes in the registry office, and the money required to maintain the poor people of the county in the gaol. Mr. Dynes spoke of the increased salaries which are being paid to rural school teachers and believed that with a good salary a school board had a guarantee that the children of the school would receive the benefit and that first-class teachers would be secured. Mr. Dynes will not be a candidate for municipal honors at the election on Monday next.

J. A. Marshall, who has been a life long resident of Mono, stated that at the request of a large number of ratepayers he had, after an absence of five years from the Council, decided to allow his name to be placed on the nomination paper for the highest office in the gift of the township. One year ago, he said, the ratepayers were not given a square deal in regard to the election for reeve and were thus deprived of the right to exercise their franchise. Mr. Marshall referred to the absence of Reeve Dynes from the Council meetings during his trip to the West and thought that no man should accept such a responsible position unless he was prepared to fill it as he should. The McKim drain and the impending law suit for $500 were also dealt with. The speaker dealt with the Good Roads scheme, to which he stated he was very much opposed, believing that it was advocated mainly by the automobile owners. In conclusion Mr. Marshall spoke of the friendly feeling existing between himself and Mr. Anderson, who was also seeking the Reeve's chair and hoped that, should he allow his name to go before the people, the same friendly feeling would exist when the result of the vote was made known.

Mr. Anderson, who has successfully climbed the ladder of municipal fame in Mono, next took the platform. He spoke of the increase in taxes for the current year and by comparisons made with the taxes paid by the ratepayers of Amaranth, made it quite clear that the Mono ratepayers were not paying an excessive rate. He further stated that he was told by a responsible ratepayer of Amaranth, that the balance sheet for that Township would show a deficit of $1,400. Mr. Anderson compared the standing of the township this year with the standing when Mr. Marshall was reeve and stated that the expenditure today was a great deal greater and the taxes not much higher, and also spoke strongly against the proposed Good Roads scheme, stating that not one quarter of the people knew anything about it, and he thought it would be wise for the people of Dufferin to leave it alone.

This concluded the speeches from the nominees for Reeve and those nominated for Deputy Reeve were then heard.

G. F. Stewart stated he was pleased to be present and see the good spirit and friendly manner in which the meeting was being conducted. He spoke of the election of Reeve Dynes by acclamation one year ago, and although he was one of those nominated to oppose Mr. Dynes he could not see anything criminal in his withdrawal from the fight. He gave as his reason for withdrawing, that as there was considerable expenditure which had been undertaken by the old Council he thought that the Reeve should not be opposed. In concluding his remarks Mr. Stewart stated that he was in the field to stay and that if elected he would strongly oppose the Good Roads scheme.

Geo. Little, who is one of the best known men in the township, stated that he was in the field for Councillor to stay, and if elected he would, as in the past, be always found fighting for the rights of the people. In support of his candidature Mr. Little stated that as commissioner in the north-west quarter of the township he had inspected all the roads in his division, which, he stated, were all in good repair. All expenditures had been paid for and he had not gone beyond his appropriation. Mr. Little expressed himself as being opposed to the Good Roads scheme.

Thos. H. Moffitt, who will be the opponent of Mr. Stewart for the deputy-reeveship, gave a very satisfactory detailed statement of his work, done in the past year's Council. Mr. Moffitt stated that he stood on his merits in seeking promotion to the deputy-reeve's chair, and made a strong appeal for support.

Councillor T. J. Parks, who is seeking re-election, gave as the cause of the high taxes this year, the building of two new bridges, which he was pleased to state were paid for. He also gave an account of the monies he had expended in his division and hoped that the electors would see their way clear to give him their support.

James Morton stated that he was again in the field as a candidate for Councillor. He was not in favor of the Good Roads scheme, but was willing to abide by the decision of the majority of the electors. He was for economy from first to last, and if he was elected would do everything he could to avoid useless and unnecessary expenditure. Mr. Morton spoke in glowing terms of the work done by last year's Council.

Mr. W. J. Henry, a farmer living on the Prince of Wales Road near the north end of the township, intimated that he was in the field for Councillor until the last vote was polled and also made it very plain that he was opposed to the Good Roads system.

Sam. G. Shaw, also from the Primrose division, stated that he was in the field to stay and if elected would do his utmost to promote the best interests of the ratepayers.

Reeve Dynes was then given opportunity to reply to some of the criticisms of speakers who had followed him. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Dynes expressed the conviction that a couple of lawsuits now pending against the municipality would never be carried into court.

Before the meeting closed Mr. J. A. Marshall, in accordance with the promise given earlier in the day, made the declaration that he had decided not to oppose Mr. Anderson for the reeveship.

The list, after the expiration of the time for qualifying, stood :—

Reeve—H. T. Anderson (accl.).

Deputy-Reeve—T. H. Moffitt, G. F. Stewart.

Councillors—W. J. Henry, W. E. Island, Geo. Little, James Morton, T. J. Parks, S. G. Shaw.

NOMINATION RESULTS.

Contests in East Garry, Mulmur and Melancthon.

Caledon Elects Its Council by Acclamation.

The following are the results of Monday's nominations in a number of the neighboring municipalities :—

Caledon.

About three hundred of the ratepayers of Caledon attended the nomination proceedings and after meeting in the Township Hall in Charleston village on Monday afternoon. The gathering was quiet and very orderly and the speakers received an excellent hearing. Reeve McBride, who was one of the chief speakers, devoted the greater part of his time to the question of good roads. His address was lucid and well-delivered, and showed an intimate knowledge of the affairs of the municipality. Mr. W. J. Limebeer, who has been spoken of for the last two months as Mr. McBride's probable opponent, made an excellent speech. Mr. Limebeer has since pulled out of the contest, chiefly, we understand, because of the feeling that if re-elected Mr. McBride would stand a good chance of being made Warden of Peel. Mr. McBride therefore gets the reeveship again without a fight. The candidates nominated were :—

Reeve—Wm. Smeaton, W. J. Limebeer, J. A. McBride.

Deputy-Reeve—Wm. Smeaton, David Armstrong, Geo. Cameron, S. Cannawin, Geo. Giles, Thos. Quinn.

Councillors—David Armstrong, P. F. McDevitt, Geo. Cameron, S. Cannawin, Geo. Giles, Ben. Harrison.

All the candidates for deputy-reeve have retired except Thos. Quinn, who gets the seat by acclamation. Messrs. Armstrong, Cameron and Giles, the old Councillors, were also returned by acclamation.

East Garafraxa.

Until a few days ago it was generally supposed that Reeve Cornelius, of East Garafraxa, would be re-elected by acclamation. An opponent, however, has appeared, in the person of Councillor Brown, who will give Mr. Cornelius a run for the position. The slate is :—

Reeve—James Brown, John A. Cornelius.

Councillors—G. I. Nodwell, M. Ferns, P. Coulson, A. Richardson and Jos. Carney.

Shelburne.

Reeve—Dr. T. Babe, John Large.

Council—John Berwick, E. G. Button, T. J. O'Flynn, T. J. Gallaugher, J. A. Skelding, David Henderson, W. B. Murray.

School Trustees — Wm. Rowan, Hugh Ferguson, Geo. Rutherford, J. E. A. White, Chas. Mason.

Grand Valley.

Reeve—J. E. McIntyre (accl).

Council—Lewis Menary, Thos. Watson, Wm. Mutrie, Wm. McClellan, Austin Richardson, John G. Reith.

Reeve—Thos. Goodeve (accl.).

Councillors—James Sheehan, Thos. Walsh, Wm. Campbell, John J. Lawlor, Arthur W. Burke.

Horning's Mills.

Police Trustees—J. Fleming, James Thomas, A. Carlaw, Thos. Emerick, W. F. Redick, John Spanhouse, William McLean.

Melancthon.

Reeve—William McGhee, T. C. Dryden, Robt. Fawcett, Thos. Oldfield. Messrs Fawcett and Oldfield have retired.

Deputy-Reeve—Wm. G. Dynes, Jas. R. Clarke, James Higgins.

Councillors—W. E. Reid, John Prior, John Smith, Geo. T. Prentice, Robt. J. Cornett.

Erin Township.

Reeve—Edward Marshall, John W. Sutton.

Deputy-Reeve — Ephriam Barbour, Andrew McKechnie.

Councillors—Jos. Benham, George Bryan, David Gray, Henry Lane, Andrew B. Murray, Henry Reed.

Albion.

Reeve—Moffitt, Slack.

Councillors—Anderson, Gott, Horan, Hutchinson, Monkman, McCabe and Steele.

AIRING HIS OPINIONS.

There is a certain old gentleman, who partakes of the qualities of the diamond as it is mined, but whose lack of "polish" is a sad trial to his eldest daughter. This young lady makes a point of correcting her father's grammatical errors on every possible occasion.

But he "got his own back" the other day, when the family were gathered together in the library, one of the windows of which were open.

"That air—" the father began, but was quickly interrupted.

"Father, dear, don't say "that air;" say "that there," the daughter admonished.

"Well, this ear—" he again attempted, but was quickly brought to a halt.

"Nor, 'this 'ere;' 'this here' is correct," he was told.

The old gentleman rose with an angry snort.

"Look here, Mary," he said, with asperity. "Of course, I know that you have been to school and all that, but I know what I want to say, an' I am going to say it; I believe I find cold in this ear from that air, and I'm going to shut the window!"

THE HOSPITAL FOR SICK CHILDREN

COLLEGE STREET, TORONTO

READY FOR MOTHER.

Appeals to Fathers and Mothers of Ontario on behalf of suffering children. This institution did more work in 1910 than ever before. Total in-patients 1,224. Of these, 783 were from the city and 441 from the country. Since its organization the Hospital has treated in its cots and beds 16,857 children; 12,370 of these were unable to pay and were treated free.

There were 60 cases of club foot corrected last year.

THE HOSPITAL IS A PROVINCIAL CHARITY.

The sick child from the most remote corner of Ontario has the same claim as the child living within sight of the great House of Mercy in College Street, Toronto. Our cause is the children's cause. Could there be one that has a stronger claim on the people of this Province?

Perfect results in Harelip cases. 18 infants were relieved of this terrible deformity last year.

If the Hospital is to continue its good work, it must appeal to your pocketbook as well as to your heart. Let your Dollars be messengers of mercy to the suffering little children of Ontario.

Please send your contribution to J. Ross Robertson, Chairman, or to Douglas Davidson, Secretary-Treasurer, The Hospital for Sick Children, College St., Toronto.

SHARP WITTED GREEKS.

Maxim That Pure Athenians Can Outbargain Any Man on Earth.

(By Rodney Gilbert)

Travellers of a few generations back who knew just enough of "the glory that was Greece," to expand sentimentally on her abasement, led the world to believe that Greece was a degenerate people, fallen in intelligence, physique, and the love of culture that made the one time glory possible.

As a matter of fact, there is to-day not a race in Europe that inclines so readily to intellectual pursuits, and there is not an immigrant that comes eo America that is sharper witted or more facile in his powers of absorption than the heirs of Pericles' splendor. In the centres of population in Greece the blood of the true Greek has been considerably adulterated by its mixture with Slavs, Turks, and Albanians, but in the smaller towns, where the tourists do not penetrate, and in the country one still sees the true types which recall the ideal creations of Phidias, and the schools and universities are so well attended that the professions are overcrowded in Greece as in no other land.

One comes into villages frequently of 3,000 population where 75 lawyers and 25 doctors hang out their shingles. Long centuries of oppression have impoverished Greece as a nation, but they have not in any degree extinguished the spark of national genius. The same intellectual curiosity which excited St. Paul's wonder in Athens, is to be found in the square of the Constitution to this day, where men meet in the late afternoon to argue any topic which may be in the air and comment on the news of the day. Moreover, the merchants of the big ports are growing in wealth, and it is a well known maxim in the near orient that an Athenian Greek can out-bargain any man of any race on the face of the earth.

This mercantile adaptability is evident enough in any large American city, where the immigrants are prosperous business men a year after their landing. In Greece, moreover, the men who prosper are imbued with an unselfish patriotism which leads every one of them to give lavishly to the improvement of their land, for there is not a Greek who does not look up at the ruins of the Acropolis and swear that the day will again come when the city of Athens will be the centre of the cultured world.

THE PROFESSORS RAISING FRUIT.

While it seems to be granted that the far Western portions of our country are leading in new and advanced methods of producing and marketing fruit crops, the older States give evidence of their latent possibilities. Here labor—manual labor — is considered an honorable occupation, and in many parts is furnished exclusively by white men and women of intelligence, who find it agreeable and remunerative at the same time. Among these are university graduates, doctors, ministers, journalists, who follow horticulture as their only pursuit. The value of applied intelligence over against haphazard and easy-going methods is exemplified by striking facts. How otherwise is it to be accounted for that out of a restricted area in one State, roughly fifteen miles by fifteen miles, there is shipped and commercially disposed of more fine peach fruit than from twenty millions of peach trees in any other State of no mean proportions and more apples from the same section than from three other apple growing States?—The Christian Herald.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Now for New Year's resolutions.

—Municipal elections next Monday.

—Orangeville merchants did a heavy Christmas trade last week.

—Public and High Schools will reopen on Wednesday.

—WANTED—Fifteen people over 15 years old, either sex, to assist Kleen Lynbrook. Apply Grand Central Hotel, Monday, Jan. 2nd.

—Mr. Thos. Greason, Amaranth, has bought a 3 year old purebred Clydesdale stallion, sired by Durbar, from Mr. John B. Armstrong, Farmington.

—Mr. T. Hepton, of Snelgrove, was in town on Tuesday. Mr. Hepton has sold his 100 acre farm, for which he paid a little less than $7000 about two years ago, to his neighbor, Mr. Barber, for $8500. Our former townsman intends to retire from farming and will move either to Toronto or Orangeville.

—Mr. Norman and Miss Edith Storey, of Caledon, have returned home after a pleasant visit with friends at Sherwood, Concord, Richmond Hill and Toronto. Unfortunately, Norman's visit was marred by a rather serious accident. Through the upsetting of his cutter he sustained a fracture of his collar bone.

—The home of Mrs. J. W. Kennedy, Church St., was the scene of a happy family reunion on Christmas Day. Among those present were Mrs. Bert McGuire, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kennedy, and Mr. and Mrs. John Haley and children, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Sproul and children, of Shelburne, and Mrs. Clara Hamilton and children, of Tottenham.

HOME FROM DAWSON.

Mr. Alex. Turnbull, who left Orangeville to go to the Klondike in 1897, has been renewing oldtime acquaintaneeships in town this week. Mr. Turnbull was married in Seattle about a month ago and he and his bride are spending a portion of their honeymoon at his parental home near Mono Centre. Mr. Turnbull went in to the Yukon County in 1897, when Dawson City was a mere hamlet. The rush of '98 brought thousands of people into the country and Dawson grew rapidly until it had a population of 15,000. The population has now decreased to 5,000, largely on account of the displacement of the independent miners by the dredging system. Mr. Turnbull is convinced that Dawson City has an assured future and in proof of his assertion instanced the fact that it is the distributing centre for a large territory. Owing largely to dredging operations over $7,000,000 worth of gold will be shipped out from the Yukon this year, and Mr. Turnbull says that the district will furnish a goodly proportion of the world's gold supply for many years to come. Climatic conditions in the Yukon, he says, are not nearly so rigorous as is generally supposed. The summer is of course very short, not lasting more than three months. The winters are cold, but rather pleasant owing to the light snow fall and the absence of high winds. Oats, potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes and other grains and vegetables can be grown and ripened successfully. Oats are large and very plump and usually run 6 or 8 lbs. to the bushel over the standard weight. There is quite a large oat farm on one of the creeks a few miles from Dawson and the owner makes good money by selling the product of his enterprise in the city at from $80 to $120 a ton. Living expenses are still very high, although much cheaper now than ten or twelve years ago, The following are some of the ruling prices:—Eggs, 60c. to 70c. a dozen; flour $8 per cwt.; potatoes 8c. to 10c. per lb.; beef 30c. to 35c. a lb.; pork 40c. per lb.; tomatoes, 50c. a lb.; carrots, 8c. to 10c. per lb. Mr. Turnbull looks well and has changed very little in appearance since he left here. While modest about his own success in his quest for gold, it is quite evident that he has prospered.

3,500 TONS OF BLOOD.

Scientists say that this amount of blood is purified by the liver and kidneys of a human being in a year. Is it any wonder they get tired and sluggish and require the assistance of Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills to arouse them to action and to restore their vigor.

THE CHARITY SOCIETY CONCERT.

Roney Boys Gave Fine Programme.

The concert given under the auspices of the Charity Society in the Town Hall on Tuesday night was not nearly so well attended as it should have been. The attraction was the Roney Boys, an organization under the personal direction of Mr. H. B. Roney, of Chicago, who has spent many years in the development of juvenile musicians and has achieved marked success. The programme opened with an overture from the grand opera of William Tell, which is familiar to all concert goers. The suite, while somewhat showy, and appealing to those with little musical discrimination as well as the critical, has much beauty, and was exceedingly well interpreted by three young performers on the violin, flute and clarionet, assisted by Mr. Roney at the piano. The number was encored, and was responded to by a piece in a lighter vein. The programme was a long and varied one and included solos, duets, and choruses by the boys in picturesque costume. The eldest boy has a sweet soprano voice, which he uses with fine taste and simple unaffectation. The artist of the party is undoubtedly the little boy, with the unpronounable name of Kurt Dreterle, who, although but eleven years of age, delighted the audience beyond measure, and was pleasing in his methods to a high degree. Mr. Roney proved himself a very careful and efficient accompanist, and the demeanor of the boys left little to be desired. Those who failed to attend the concert missed a musical treat, and while the venture was not very successful from a financial point of view, the young ladies of the Charity Society are no less to be congratulated on their ambition to give our citizens the best entertainment available, and at the same time advance the laudable objects they have in view.

BANK OF HAMILTON REPORT.

The annual statement of the Bank of Hamilton, presented to the shareholders at the thirty-ninth annual general meeting held on the 16th inst. at the head office of the Bank of Hamilton, indicates that this institution is in a highly prosperous condition.

The profits for the year, after making the usual deductions for bad and doubtful debts, expenses of management, etc., amount to $422,000. The balance carried forward to the profit and loss account from last year amounted to $403,000 and the premium received on new stock amounted to $180,000 making a round million dollars in all. Of this sum $500,000 was carried to the reserve fund, the sum of $25,000 was carried to "rebate of interest" account, and another $25,000 was written off bank premises. $192,000 was carried to the credit of the profit and loss account, and $258,000 was devoted to dividends. The bank's reserve now amounts to $3,000,000, while the capital stock outstanding is $2,680,000, which condition of affairs must be looked upon as sound and conservative. The total assets of the bank are now upwards of $41,000,000, while a feature of the report is a large proportion of liquid assets, indicating that Mr. James Turnbull, general manager of the bank, well deserves his reputation of being among the soundest and most conservative of Canadian bankers.—Toronto Saturday Night.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC.

The Methodist Church choir rendered an excellent service of song during the regular Sunday services on Christmas Day. The numbers in the morning were an anthem "The First Christmas Morn," by Ernest Newton, a duet, "Christ, the King of Glory" by Misses Sprae Lathwell and Jessie Jenkins, and a solo "O Be Merciful" by Miss Claxton, of Toronto. In the evening the choir gave two anthems, "The Holy Babe of Bethlehem" and "When Christ was Born". A solo, "That Holy Song," was sweetly rendered by Miss Nina Faulkner, of the Westminster Abbey Choir, Toronto.

A RUNAWAY.

An Orangeville young man, who drove a couple of lady friends to the Camilla entertainment Monday night, had a decidedly unpleasant experience. When about to start for home his horse escaped and started down the Prince of Wales Road at a mad gallop. Near ten sideroad the runaway overtook and upset a cutter driven by Dr. Kyles, who was accompanied by Mrs. Kyles and child. The cutter and occupants were dragged some distance but fortunately escaped unhurt. The runaway steed was found on the Hockley Road next morning.

—The Roney Boys were registered at the Grand Central while in town.

McMILLAN & TORRIE.

The year just closed has been one of the best years in the history of our business in Orangeville, and we wish to take this opportunity of thanking our many friends for it. In asking for your patronage for 1911, we wish to say that we will be prepared to meet any competition from whatever source it comes.

Wishing you the compliments of the season, we are,

Yours truly,

A CORRECTION.

A couple of unfortunate errors occurred in Councillor T. H. Moffitt's letter in last week's issue of The Banner. The line "T. Allen, blasting stone, $2.00" was misplaced and appeared as part of the expenditure for straightening creek, when it should have been under the heading, "Filling in Approaches.". Through a typographical error the total expenditure under the heading "Straightening Creek and bal. County Grant" was given as $33.36 when it should have read $33.96.

PRECEPTORY OFFICERS.

Orangeville Preceptory of the Royal Black Knights held its annual election of officers on Friday night, when officers were elected as follows:—W. Preceptor, H. A. Duke; Deputy-Preceptor, J. Gilchrist; Chaplain, A. D. McKitrick; Registrar, T. J. Robinson; Treasurer, J. R. Hughes; Lecturers, Dr. A. J. Hunter, A. C. Wilson; Censors, Jno. T. Lawson, B. McGuire; Standard Bearers, Thos. Dawson, J. A. V. Preston; Pursuivant, Jas. A. Patterson; Committee, C. R. McKeown, W. J. Farnell, James Dynes, John Bennett; Guard, John Bailey.

FRANK H. BURT, MUS. BAC.,

of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, teacher of Voice, Piano and Theory. In Orangeville every Thursday. For information, inquire at Mr. R. H. Robinson's store, or write—891 Bathurst St., Toronto.

—We sell our Steel Range on 30 days' trial. No obligation to buy if you are not satisfied. S. A. McCartney, Hardware Merchant.

THURSDAY'S MARKET.

An immense quantity of poultry was offered for sale at the Orangeville weekly market last Thursday. Unfortunately there was a slump in prices and people, who had driven long distances in the hope of selling at the fancy prices that had prevailed the previous week, were naturally rather badly disappointed. It was the old story over again. In spite of the high prices that have been paid for the last month or longer, farmers all over the province had been holding their fowl. The result was a glut on the Toronto market Christmas week and the inevitable slump in prices. Under ordinary conditions the prices paid on Thursday would have been considered satisfactory, but they appeared low when contrasted with the abnormal figures of the preceding weeks.

—Subscribers, who are thinking of their renewals, are reminded that The Banner has clubbing arrangements with all the big dailies and weeklies.

Mr. John McCarthy, who for the past ten years has been proprietor of the Grand Central Hotel in Hillsburg has purchased the hotel at Ballinafad and will take possession at once. Mr. McCarthy has leased his property in Hillsburg, to Mr. W. F. Wall, of Hamilton.

The twelve year old son of Mr. J. McKinney, of Islington, had the misfortune to fall and break his arm while playing on the ice recently. The elbow is dislocated and the arm broken near the elbow but the little fellow is steadily progressing towards recovery.

Neil McLean, of Georgetown, went up to Grand Valley, and undertook to move things around. He hustled J. K. Hamilton in a barber shop, and J. K. hustled to a law shop laying an information for assault. Neil left town, but S. Tate imposed a fine of $5 and costs.

John J. Black, of East Luther, is convinced that there is money in poultry and particularly in geese. He has a good pair that last year and this year raised eighteen goslings each season. These he sold at an average of $1.50 each, and says nothing about the farm pays as well.

On Wednesday the 21st inst., a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Appleyard, of Acton, when their only daughter, Mary E., became the bride of Mr. L. L. Webb, of Ospringe, Rev. R. F. Cameron performing the ceremony.

The Chatsworth Sash and Door Factory, which has been doing a large business, largely with Owen Sound—has changed hands. Dr. J. Airth drops out and Mr. Walter Bumstead and an Owen Sound man takes his share, with the intention it is said, of moving the factory to the county town.

PITY THE BABIES.

All babies whose mothers do not know about Dr. Chase's Ointment are truly to be pitied. They are sure to have skin troubles of one kind or another such as chafing, skin irritation, scald head, milk rash or baby eczema and nothing can bring them comfort so quickly as Dr. Chase's Ointment. It stops itching promptly and heals the skin beautifully.

Alex. Marks, of Marks Bros., was robbed of diamonds, valued at $2000, in Cobalt recently. Marks had gone to Cobalt from New Liskeard to open an engagement. He left the hotel in the company of a man named Terry, and in less than a half-hour staggered into a store down town, dazed with a severe cut in the head. He had evidently been drugged as two rings which were tight on his fingers were removed and a 3-carat loose diamond was also missing.

Twenty-one years ago John Flanigan, township treasurer of Biddulph, left with his accounts short $400. Recently the amount was refunded. At the nomination proceedings in Lucan village last week a complimentary resolution was passed by the electors who were assembled for nomination proceedings. An interesting fact is that the township is really debtor to Mr. Flanigan for an equal amount, having never been paid for the rent of his hall and other services.

It cannot be reasonably claimed that Esquessing Councillors receive exorbitant fees for their services. They were as follows during 1910: William Thompson, Reeve, attending council meetings $22, mileage $1.10, commission work $45, total $68.10; George Wrigglesworth, council meetings $24, commission work $40.50, total $74.50; John Campbell, council meetings $22, commission work $45, mileage $4.80, total $71.80; Thomas Coxe, council meetings $24, commission work $18, mileage $10.80, total $52.80; James Brown, council meetings $24, mileage $6, total $30.

Kenneth, a five year old son of Mr. F. W. Wood, of Grand Valley, narrowly escaped a broken leg if not more serious injury a week ago Saturday afternoon. He was "hanging on" a sleigh driven by D. P. McDonald when he fell off and one runner passed over his leg. As Mr. McDonald had over 100 bushels of oats on at the time it was thought the lad's leg must be broken, and it seems a miracle how he escaped.

On Wednesday, 21st of December, at Chalmers' Church, Toronto, by the Rev. J. Gordon Cheyne, Claude, Ont., Mary Mitchell, youngest daughter of Andrew McDonald, of Campbell's Cross, Ont., and Dean Stanley Atkinson, of Inglewood, Ont., were united in marriage. A reception was held at the home of Mrs. Wellington B. Mitchell, Bricken Villa, Heath St., Toronto, in honor of the bride and groom.

An amusing story of a bear hunt comes from Cobalt. A captured bear broke away from its shackles and raided the cellar of a neighboring house. Among the contents of the cellar was a quantity of bottled beer. The animal broke bottle after bottle and began to lap up the beer. When the alarm was raised the animal was still busily engaged in the operation. By the time its owner appeared it had imbibed soo deeply that it did not recognize him, and with a deep growl chased him upstairs. Continuing to smash the bottles and drink the beer the attention of the animal was at length called off by some eatables. Many people contributed to the supply and at length the bear with a sigh of regret sank into a comatose state. In this condition he was rolled along the boards to his old quarters which were made secure against further outbreak. There was a considerable sensation in the town during the time the bear was loose.

THE LOCAL OPTION FIGHTS.

Erin and Grand Valley local optionists are to be heartily congratulated upon the splendid showing they made at the polls on Monday. Although defeated they have no reason to be discouraged. On the contrary the vote gives them almost positive assurance that success will be theirs when they make their next assault upon the liquor traffic as represented by the licensed barrooms. The fact that in both municipalities the local option principle was endorsed by handsome majorities will have a moral effect that will make its influence felt in the next contests. The temperance people of the two municipalities conducted their campaigns in a sane and judicious manner. The moderation of the speakers who were brought in to assist at their meetings secured the good-will and interest of thinking, business men and doubtless won many of their votes for the cause of temperance. The closeness of the results gives strong ground for the belief that the by-law could have been carried in both municipalities had it not been for the unwise and unwarranted platform utterances of an Orangeville local optionist, whose zeal for temperance is the only excuse that can be offered for his lamentable want of judgment and discretion. The antis made the most of the break in both places, going so far as to arrange with a local publisher to flood the two municipalities, and Brampton as well, with copies of his newspaper containing an extended report of the foolish and ill-timed speech.

LOCAL OPTION RESULTS.

Twenty - Six Municipalities Carried The By-Law.

Twenty-Two Places Gave Majorities, But Did Not Secure Three-Fifths Vote.

With ten municipalities yet to make final returns, the results of the voting on Monday show 26 local option victories in Ontario. 22 places gave majorities in favor of the by-law, but not the required sixty per cent. of the total vote polled. 23 places gave majorities against the by-law.

Municipalities in Ontario	816
Already "dry"	410
Contests this year	85
Local option sustained on repeal contests	3
New local option victories so far reported	26
Two towns, nine villages, fifteen townships.
Defeated by three-fifths clause...	22
(Seven towns, four villages, eleven townships)
Local option defeats	23
(One city, six towns, six villages, ten townships).
Places still to hear from	10

One of the disappointments was the defeat in Brampton, where the by-law was carried a year ago, but subsequently quashed. Monday's vote was 401 for and 376 against. Three-fifths of the total vote cast would be 520 1-5, so that the optionists failed by about 30 votes, although they had an actual majority of 115.

The by-law was also defeated in Guelph, the vote standing 1219 for and 1335 against.

DENTON AND DEAGLE.

Results of School Trustee Election in Orangeville.

Citizens of Orangeville were not wholly deprived of the joys and excitement of an election on Monday. True the entire town council, from the Mayor down, had been elected by acclamation, but the South and East Ward contests for Public School Trustees provided the necessary fireworks. The candidates and their friends went at it in dead earnest and judging from the number of vehicles that were in requisition and the crowds that gathered about the polling booths, a visitor to town on Monday might readily have formed the conclusion that Orangeville ratepayers were busy electing the full quota of municipal representatives. Both fights were close, Denton winning by 16 in the South and Deagle by 10 in the East. The vote cast was :—

South Ward.

M. H. Denton	103
Thos. Dawson	87

Majority for Denton, 16.

East Ward.

J. M. Deagle	84
Emerson Gillespie	74

Majority for Deagle, 10.

ANNUAL MEETING NOTICE.

The annual meeting of the Dufferin Trustee Association will be held in the Council Chamber, Grand Valley, on Monday, Jan. 16th. There will be two sessions, one at 1 o'clock in the afternoon, another at 7.30 in the evening. An excellent programme has been prepared. Among those outside the County who have consented to give addresses are :—N. W. Campbell, B.A., P.S.I., Durham, Ont., and J. J. Morrison, member of the Advisory Board, Arthur, Ont., It is the desire of the Executive that every School Board in the County send at least one representative. The fee is $1.00 a year for each School Board. Any trustee in connection with the Association can introduce a question not mentioned on the programme.

BRYAN THE WINNER.

Carried Amaranth Reeveship By 61 Majority.

Menary Downed Myers In Fight For Deputy-Reeve.

An unusually heavy vote marked the culmination of a keen and interesting fight for the various seats in the Amaranth township council. The reeveship contest between John Bryan and John S. Spence, both ex-reeves of the municipality and both admittedly capable men, gave rise to one of the most exciting fights the municipality has had during recent years. Mr. Bryan's majority of 61 was larger than was expected in view of the showing made by Mr. Spence in former contests. Bryan polled a big vote in the Laurel division and did unexpectedly well at Coleridge, where it was expected Spence would have a large majority. Mr. Spence did not enter the field until nomination day and this proved a handicap that he was unable to overcome. The fight was clean and good-natured, and the chief regret seems to be that two such popular and capable men should have thought fit to oppose each other. The vote by divisions was :—

	Bryan	Spence
Farmington	34	42
Laurel	59	32
Waldemar	54	29
Coleridge	52	63
Maple Grove	40	68
Bowling Green	51	25
	320	259

Majority for Bryan, 61.

Alfred Menary, of last year's Council, downed Newton Myers for deputy-reeve by a majority of 74. Menary will have the distinction of being the youngest member of this year's County Council. The figures in the deputy-reeve fight were :—

	Menary	Myers
Farmington	56	22
Laurel	89	31
Waldemar	72	10
Coleridge	24	88
Maple Grove	21	85
Bowling Green	62	14
	324	250

Majority for Menary, 74.

W. T. Leader got a bumper vote for Councillor, heading the poll with over 100 votes to spare. Mr. A. E. Williams, of the old Council, ran second and Reuben West, another new man, was third. It seems the general opinion that the new men will make capable and public-spirited representatives and Amaranth appears to have elected a strong Council. The vote for Councillors was as follows :

	Leader	Williams	West	Hicks
Farmington	71	32	46	27
Laurel	104	72	89	32
Waldemar	52	34	69	6
Coleridge	103	70	25	56

A CLOSE CONTEST.

Local Optionists Nearly Won In Grand Valley On Monday.

Needed 155 Votes, But Only Got 146.

Out of a total possible vote of 290, no less than 264 votes were polled for and against local option in the village of Grand Valley on Monday. The fight was the keenest in the history of the municipality, and each side polled practically every available vote. Up to ten days or so before the polling, the antis were very confident of victory and some of the more sanguine made the claim that they would poll a majority of the vote cast. As the campaign neared a close, the prospects for local option brightened rapidly and late last week some of the antis virtually admitted defeat. The injudicious speech delivered by Thos. Hewson, an Orangeville local optionist, at the nomination meeting here a week ago Monday, made splendid eleventh hour campaign literature for the antis and had undoubtedly considerable to do with the adverse result from the local option standpoint. As it was the local optionists polled 146 votes to 112 against the by-law, securing a majority of 34 votes. Three-fifths of the total vote cast is 154 4-5, so that the measure was defeated by a margin of 8 4-5 votes.

The Councillors-elect are Lewis Menary, Thos. Watson, J. A. Richardson and W. H. Mutrie. The figures are : —

MOFFITT WON.

Defeated Stewart For Mono Deputy-Reeveship by 12 Votes.

Parks, Little and Henry Are The Councillors.

Owing to the bad roads and the fact that there was no contest for the reeveship, a comparatively light vote was polled in Mono township in Monday's municipal election. Whatever interest there was centred in the fight between Thos. H. Moffitt and Fletcher Stewart for the position of deputy-reeve. Moffitt won by the narrow majority of 12 votes, notwithstanding the fact that he polled an exceedingly light vote at Perry's School, which was considered a Moffit stronghold. Stewart ran well at Harshaw's School, but fell down badly in the Camilla division. He carried the Rosemont and Elba wards, but his majorities were not sufficient to offset Moffitt's lead of 65 in the other four divisions. The figures are :

	Moffitt	Stewart
Perry's	38	23
Relessey	52	37
Rosemont	12	41
Harshaw's	48	48
Camilla	78	43
Elba	39	63
	267	255

Majority for Moffitt, 12.

For Councillors Parks of last year's Council headed the poll, with his colleague, George Little, a good second. W. J. Henry captured third place, beating James Morton out by 35 votes. W. E. Island, who was commonly supposed to stand a good chance of election, polled a disappointing vote outside of the Harshaw and Camilla divisions.

	Henry	Island	Little	Morton	Parks	Shaw

MELANCTHON ELECTS McGHEE.

Defeated T. C. Dryden By 158 Votes.

Higgins Won Three-Cornered Fight For Deputy-Reeve.

The popular aversion to automobiles and the Good Roads movement contributed materially to the undoing of "Tom" Dryden in Monday's fight for the reeveship of Melancthon township. His opponent, William McGhee, a former reeve of the township, was outspoken in his opposition to the Good Roads scheme and the great majority of the people of Melancthon evidently approved of his position. The deputy-reeveship was extremely close, Higgins winning by 15 votes. Cornett, a tried municipal servant, headed the poll for the council, W. E. Reid, a new man, coming in second place. Reid, by the way, is a son of Mr. J. C. Reid, our genial County Clerk. The details of the voting are:—

POLICE TRUSTEES.

The voting for trustees in the police village of Horning's Mills resulted as follows :—Jas. Fleming, 46; Thos. L. Emerick, 40; Jas. Thomas, 35; John A. Spanhouse, 32; Alex. Carlaw, 18; J. W. Hodgson, 12.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

The only case tried in the Orangeville Division Court on Tuesday was an action by William White, of Alton, and J. C. Reid, of Orangeville, executors of the estate of the late James Fawcett, against John Johnston, an East Garafraxa farmer. The executors sued for judgment on a promissory note for $100. Johnston's defence was that he had paid Fawcett $75 in one of the rooms of the Commercial Hotel on February 24th, 1909. Fawcett, he swore, had given him a receipt, which he had the misfortune to lose. Judgment was reserved. C. R. McKeown for plfs.; A. A. Hughson, for deft.

CORNELIUS RE-ELECTED.

Won East Garry Reeveship By 62 Majority.

Councillors Coulson, Ferns and Nodwell Re-Elected —Richardson the Only New Man.

Nearly 400 votes were polled in the East Garafraxa reeveship contest on Monday. The ratepayers evinced a decidedly keen interest in the race between Mr. John A. Cornelius, last year's reeve, and Mr. James Brown, who had a seat in the 1910 Council. Outside of Mr. Cornelius' home division, The Maples, the voting was very close, Cornelius having only 11 votes to the good in the other four divisions. At The Maples he had a lead of 51, giving him the comfortable majority of 62. Both candidates worked hard, but the contest was clean, good-natured and entirely devoid of disagreeable personalities. Philip Coulson headed the poll for the Council with Manasseh Ferns a good second. Richardson, a new man, whose home is in the Hereward ward, finished in third position, and George Nodwell, a member of the old Board, captured the last place. Nodwell, who was married last week, has been away on his honeymoon trip and stated from the platform at Marsville Monday night that he had not canvassed an elector. Under the circumstances he polled a very creditable vote. The vote was :—

ALBION ELECTED SLACK.

J. H. Moffatt, Last Year's Reeve, Defeated By 118 Votes.

Steele, Hutchinson, Horan and McCabe the Successful Councillors.

Joseph Slack, of Mono Road, was elected Reeve of Albion township on Monday, defeating J. H. Moffatt, last year's Reeve, by 118 votes. Last year's fight was three-cornered, Moffatt, Slack and James Gott being the contestants. Moffatt won by 26 votes, Gott finishing in third place. This year the greater part of the 165 votes polled by Gott appear to have gone to Slack, who won rather easily. The winner polled a heavy vote in the Palgrave, Lockton and Macville divisions. Both candidates live in the Caledon East ward, which naturally split pretty evenly. Slack is a grain dealer at Mono Road and is known to nearly every farmer in the township. The vote by divisions was :—

	Slack	Moffatt
Mono Mills	36	22
Caledon East	59	68
Bolton Station	40	47
Palgrave	80	50
Lockton	50	19
Castlederg	25	34
Macville	89	21
	379	261

Majority for Slack, 118.

Isaac Steele, of last year's Council, headed the poll for Councillors, Wm. J. Hutchinson, John F. Horan and Anson McCabe following in the order named. Those left at home were John Anderson, James Gott and W. H. Monkman. The following is a detailed statement of the vote polled :—

MARSVILLE.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Leeson was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday of last week when their daughter, Miss Annie, was united in marriage to Mr. W. R. Carmichael, of Wiste, Alta. Promptly at 5 o'clock to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Clara Duncan, of Toronto, the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father. The nuptial knot was securely tied by the Rev. W. Burns, of Hastings. The bride was prettily attired in cream serge, wore the customary bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bridal ring of flowers. Clara Hoar, the bride's niece, of Orangeville, was a dainty little flower girl and was prettily attired in pink silk. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the dining room, where a sumptuous wedding repast was served in excellent style. The tables were adorned with pink and white roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a sable muff and to the flower girl a pearl ring. After visiting relatives and friends for a few weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael will leave for their new home near Wiste, Alta.

Early Tuesday morning there passed away one of the oldest residents of the community in the person of Mrs. Richens. She had been living with her daughter, Mrs. S. Boggs. She was 83 years of age and had been a sufferer for the past few years. The funeral took place on Thursday to Price's burying ground. The service at the house and grave was conducted by Rev. Mr. Cole.

Mr. Jas. Byers has been spending a couple of weeks visiting relatives in Pickering township, the scene of his birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forgrave, of Harris, Sask., are spending a few months with their relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McGowan arrived last week from the West and will visit friends for a couple of months.

The election on Monday proved very quiet and didn't bring any surprise Mr. Jas. Brown had his first contest and made a good showing against his strong opponent, J. Cornelius. Mr. Cornelius' chance for the Wardenship was in his favor and many thought a little more experience for Mr. Brown in the Council would be beneficial before seeking higher honors. Mr. Carney's defeat for the Council was no surprise. He has been in the Council for a number of years and reeve for two years and his time to stand aside has come. Mr. Richardson, the new man, gives every promise of proving himself a worthy servant.

GLENCROSS.

It is a great wonder to some of the people around here how Councillor Moffit got the black mackintosh coat, but it is just as great a wonder how Mr. Jeffers got the Glencross church. This church was built by the congregation some thirty-five or forty years ago and there has been service and Sunday School in it pretty regularly ever since, until Mr. Jeffers moved into it. Some folk seem to think that it is for the good of his soul, but if he opens his Bible and looks up the Scripture he will not take his New Year's dinner in the Church.

MELANCTHON.

Three new members will sit at the Council Board during 1911. Monday's election returned the following:—Reeve, William McGhee; Deputy-Reeve, James Higgins; Councillors, Messrs. Cornett, Reid and Prentice.

Rev. Mr. Miller, of Corbetton, preached in the Gravel Road Church last Sabbath.

Dr. R. D. Sloan, of Leamington, visited his parents here last week.

Mr. S. Sawden and family moved to Shelburne last week and will reside in the house that Mr. Sawden recently purchased from the Reburn estate on Wellington Street.

Mr. Alex. Hogg visited friends at Brampton last week.

Rev. Mr. Adamson, of Shelburne, visited in this neighborhood last week.

LAUREL.

Now that the municipal elections are over we will be able to settle down to normal conditions again. With the newly elected Reeve, Mr. John Bryan, so ably supported by Mr. Alfred Menary as Deputy and a good, strong Council, we feel that our township is in good shape for the coming year.

Among the many holiday visitors we were pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bell and daughter, Madeline, of Toronto.

Miss Mary Fyfe has gone back to her school after spending the holidays here.

Miss Gertie Hamilton spent the holiday at her home here.

The Farmers' Institute will hold meetings in the Town Hall at Laurel on Thursday, January 12th, afternoon and evening. The delegates, Mr. Emberson and Mr. Scott, are good practical speakers and come prepared to talk on subjects that are beneficial to any farming community. The ladies are cordially invited to attend the evening meeting. Be sure to come and bring your friends as this meeting will be of interest and profit to everyone.

ROSEMONT.

At five o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 27th, a very happy and interesting event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McDowell, of Eden Valley, when their youngest daughter was united in marriage to Mr. James Christian, a prosperous Adjala farmer. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by her sister, Mrs. Will Stephens, the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father and took her place under an arch of evergreens. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. N. Blodgett. The bride was unattended and was prettily attired in a gown of rose silk. She wore a long tulle veil with wreath of orange blossoms and carried a sheaf of bridal roses and maiden hair fern. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple led the way to the dining room, where a dainty wedding repast was served. The remainder of the evening was then spent in music and games. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and costly gifts, evidencing the general esteem in which she is held. The groom's gift was a brooch set in pearls. The young couple left the following morning amid showers of confetti for a short trip to Welland, Niagara Falls and other points, the bride travelling in a pretty costume of amethyst and diagonal cloth with white beaver hat. Mr. and Mrs. Christian will take up their residence near Ennis in Adjala. The Banner joins with their many friends in wishing the young couple bon voyage.

Mr. Edgar Moore is visiting Toronto friends.

Miss Myrtle Robinson, of the Queen City, spent a few days last week with her sister, Mrs. John McDowell.

The young men gave a box social and dance in Hanna's hall last week. A very enjoyable time was spent.

Mr. James Robb, from the West, one of our old boys, who has been renewing former acquaintanceships around Rosemont, will have taken unto himself a bride ere this appears in print.

FRAXA JUNCTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sherrad held a small dance Monday evening in honor of their guests, the Misses Cowan and Mr. Clarridge, of Cheltenham. Others were also present from Waldemar and Laurel. Mr. Alex. and Miss Lottie Patterson provided the music. Dancing was indulged in until the "wee sma" hours in the morning, when all departed after having spent a very enjoyable evening. The Misses Cowan and Mr. Clarridge left for Cheltenham on the morning train.

CAMILLA.

Miss Maggie Parks, of Toronto, is visiting friends here.

Miss Ella Henry, of Mono East, is visiting at Mr. Wm. Canning's.

Mrs. (Dr.) Falconer, of Sarnia, is spending a few days at "Pleasant View."

Miss Rhoda Phoenix, of Toronto, has returned to the city after spending her vacation with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Miss McNaughton.

Rev. Mr. Fowlie is in Waubaushene this week officiating at a wedding.

Mr. Fred. and Miss Berdita Thompson spent New Year's in Shelburne.

Miss Myrtle Langtree, of Toronto, is home for a few holidays.

Miss Lucy Rayfield entertained a number of friends last Thursday evening and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all.

Mr. Ernest Curtis was in Toronto last week.

Mr. Foy Marshall, of Shelburne, is holidaying at Mr. Robt. Thompson's.

Mr. Thomas Campbell spent Sunday in Dundalk with his brother, John, and brings home the good news that "Jack" will be able to be removed home in a few weeks.

PRIMROSE.

St. James Church was re-opened for divine service on Sunday, Dec. 18th, after having been closed for repairs for the last few weeks. The painting, repairs and decorations reflect great credit on the contractor, Mr. Wm. Mandley, of Shelburne, and the Committee, Messrs. Hicks, Thompson and Brett. The services were conducted by the rector, Rev. J. R. S. Adamson. The sermons were delivered by Rev. Prof. Cotton, of Wycliffe College, Toronto. The subject of the first was the churches of this and other lands and of the second, those who will compose the Church triumphant in Heaven and their occupation throughout Eternity.

The annual entertainment of St. James' Church was held on Tuesday evening, Dec. 20th, when a very enjoyable time was spent, listening to the choice and varied programme. This consisted of the popular temperance drama "Out in the Streets," excellent music by the Elba String Band and Miss Florence Patterson and a quartette of singers from Shelburne, who were heartily encored and added greatly to the success of the entertainment. Some excellent songs and recitations were given by the children. Rev. J. R. S. Adamson, the rector, made an admirable chairman.

Amongst the visitors at Elba for Christmas were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freemantle and Miss Mary Dowdall, of Toronto. Mr. Jesse Freemantle visited his brother at Palmerston.

Amongst our New Year's visitors were Mr. W. J. Little and wife, of Toronto, and Mr. Brinkman Shaw, of Hamilton.

The regular meeting of Primrose L. O. L. No. 1277 was held on Monday evening, Dec. 26th, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—W.M., S. Buchanan; D. M., W. J. Henry; Chap., Wilfrid Turner; Secretary, Thos. Little; Treas., Samuel Hicks; D. of C., S. Phoenix; Lecturers, R. J. Little and Percival Lindsay; Committee, J. Freemantle, Wm. Gracy, A. McDonald, J. Lee, C. Dawson. The Lodge meets regularly on Monday night on or before the full moon.

S. S. CONVENTION.

The twenty-eighth annual Convention of the Dufferin County Sabbath School Association will be held in the Methodist Church in Grand Valley on Friday, Jan. 6. DOCTOR ORDERED "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

AFTER ALL ELSE HAD FAILED

AND "FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED MRS. CADIEUX

Plantagenet, Ont., Jan. 31st, 1910.

About March 1st, 1909, I was taken deathly sick with Stomach Trouble, Backache and General Breakdown. I failed from 125 pounds down to 80 pounds, was confined to bed for eight weeks, and was unable to eat or keep anything on my stomach.

The doctors said they could do nothing for me and as a last resort, one doctor told me to try "Fruit-a-tives"—if they would not cure me, nothing would.

I started taking "Fruit-a-tives" at once, and inside of ten days I was able to leave my bed. My stomach got strong and I could eat and retain my food. I gained rapidly and soon had my usual good health back again and to-day I weigh as much as ever—125 pounds.

Mrs. LAURENT CADIEUX.

Even the doctors realise that these wonderful tablets made of fruit juices will cure Stomach Troubles, Indigestion, and Dyspepsia.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

BROWN—WIGGINS.

On Wednesday evening, Dec. 28th, at the hour of 8 o'clock, the marriage of Miss Margaret L. Victoria Wiggins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wiggins, and Mr. Richard Brown, of Niagara Falls, N.Y., was solemnized at the bride's home, 258 Belwoods Ave., Toronto. Rev. Mr. Gilray, pastor of College St. Presbyterian Church, was the officiating clergyman and Mrs. W. J. Brown played the wedding march. The drawing room was prettily decorated for the occasion and Christmas colors prevailed in the dining room. The bride, who wore a pretty dress of white mull, was given away by her father. She wore a pretty bridal wreath of lillies of the valley and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brown, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brown, La Salle, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hurrell, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wiggins, Miss Edna Wiggins, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Wiggins and many others. A very enjoyable evening was spent in dancing and other amusements, music being provided by Mr. Frank Island, of Orangeville, and Mrs. W. J. Brown, of Toronto. The bride received many very handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Brown will make their home in Niagara Falls.

CHRISTIAN—McDOWELL.

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McDowell, Tossorontio, on Tuesday, December the 27th, when their youngest daughter, Bertha, was united in marriage to James G. Christian, of Adjala, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Christian, of Beeton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. N. Blodgett, of Rosemont, under an arch of evergreen, in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties, who were unattended. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Stevens, the bride entered the parlor at 5 p. m., escorted by her father, who gave her away. She was attired in rose liberty silk, wore a veil and carried a bouquet of carnations and white roses. After congratulations all repaired to the dining-room, where a sumptuous dejeuner was served, followed by the usual toasts, responses and short speeches. The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents. The newly-wedded couple left by G. T. R. to spend the honeymoon in Welland and Toronto, the bride's travelling suit being diagonal serge with hat to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Christian will reside at their home near Ennis, and their many friends wish them a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.—Beeton World.

HASLAM—JOHNSTON.

The marriage took place on Wednesday, Dec. 28th, at the Parkdale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, of Miss Eva M. Johnston, second daughter of Mrs. Robert Johnston, of Caledon, Ont., to Mr. George Haslam, of Markham, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Haslam, John Street, Orangeville. The Rev. A. L. Geggie officiated. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Haslam left for Detroit and other points and on their return will reside in Markham.

NODWELL—CLARK.

The home of Mrs. Andrew Clark, West Broadway, was the scene of a pretty event on Thursday afternoon last, the occasion being the marriage of her daughter, Lillias Ida, to Mr. George I. Nodwell, a well-known young farmer residing in East Garafraxa. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, at the hour of 3 o'clock and was witnessed by a select company of guests, mostly near relatives of the bride and groom. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Andrew Clark, of North Erin, wore a dainty and becoming gown of mauve duchesse satin. The bridal party entered the drawing-room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Lucy Rowan, a niece of the bride. Another niece, Miss Bernice Rowan, made a dainty little flower girl. After the marriage service, the newly wedded couple, who had in the meantime been receiving the hearty congratulations of the assembled friends, led the way to the dining room, where a daintily prepared wedding breakfast was served. The bride, who is popular and highly esteemed amongst a large circle of friends, received numerous pretty wedding gifts. The groom's gift was a gold locket and chain and to the flower girl a gold bracelet. The bride and groom took their departure on the evening train for Toronto and other Ontario points, the bride wearing a neat travelling suit of green basket cloth and a black hat. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. Thos. and Miss Marguerite Young, Erin, Miss Katie Clark, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Forgraves, Harris, Sask., and Mr. H. Clark, Delisle, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. Nodwell will make their home on lot 2, con. 18, East Garafraxa. The Banner joins their many friends in extending hearty congratulations.

CANADA'S NATIONAL OUTLOOK.

"A community of autonomous, self-governing, yet allied nations, is in the making in Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, wherein the Golden Rule of Righteousness will replace the law of the jungle, in realization of Tennyson's 'Federation of the World.'"

Thus are the signs of the times interpreted in an eloquent editorial which adorns the first page of reading matter in the handsome 1910 Christmas number of "The Farmers' Advocate and Home Magazine." Answering the question, what shall preserve this galaxy of nations from the decay and dissolution that overtook powerful states in the past, the writer, reading the plain warnings of history, concludes, "Would Canada flower and reproduce herself in national greatness, this sublime achievement will not be by armies nor navies, nor railways, nor waterways, nor acclaiming multitudes, nor palaces, nor pageantry, but by Men—the product of a vivified church, regenerated schools and Christian homes—Men who know their duties and maintain their rights. The vastness of her problems, the rigor of her environment and the complexity of her public stimulate the travail of self-sacrifice and high endeavor, out of which a nation destined to live gloriously has been born."

Among the many other superlative articles in this handsome number we note "Draft-horse Opportunities," recording the preliminary results of a personal inquiry into the horse business in our leading Canadian cities. This article shows that prices for heavy drafters have risen about $35 in the last decade, and are still trending upwards. "Beef from Birth to Block" is a sensible article by Prof. F. R. Marshall, an ex-Canadian Professor of Animal Industry across the line. "Queens of the Dairy World" is an illustrated symposium, setting forth the records of the most famous dairy producers in the world. The results of the second year's work in "The Farmer's Advocate" demonstration orchard are candidly discussed, and we are pleased to observe that in spite of a general flat failure of the apple crop in Middlesex Co., our enterprising fellow-journalists succeeded in making up from their three-acre orchard nearly all the hundred dollars annual rent their contract calls for. "The Tale of the Pioneers" is vividly told in a prize essay, based on personal experience in the early days of settlement. "Contentment at the Plow" and "Peat Reek" will tickle the cockles of the Scotchman's heart, and please everyone else besides, while Lyman C. Smith's daringly imaginative poem, "Aviation as Applied in Agriculture," is a classic in its way.

The Home Magazine is particularly good, comprising articles by such writers as Mrs. Tucker-Wilcox, Peter McArthur and Miss L. M. Montgomery. The front cover is worthy a frame, the text illustrations are first-class, and the letterpress even beyond the high standard that has come to be associated with Canada's leading agricultural magazine.

The price of this special issue to non-subscribers is 50c. New subscribers will receive it as a premium while the supply lasts.

HAIGHT—GEAR—In Toronto, on Dec. 20th, 1910, by Rev. W. F. Wilson, Clifford G. Haight, of Toronto, to Miss Lucia Gear, daughter of Mr. Donald Gear, of Grand Valley.

KIRKWOOD—GIBSON—In Erin township, on Wednesday, December 28th, by Rev. P. W. Currie, Christena Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Gibson, to George Sharp Kirkwood, son of the late John Kirkwood, of Rackford Farm, Caledon.

Municipal elections and the local option fight are making matters lively in Brampton. At the nomination meeting Ex-Councillor Ashley and Mayor Thauburn got into an argument, which had an exciting culmination, when Ashley stepped up to the Mayor and gave him a couple of love taps on the face. A week ago Sunday night Landlord Mossack, of the Queen's, got into a street argument with Rev. Canon Walsh and it is said called the clergyman a liar.

GOOSE RAISING.

A Profitable Industry if Given Ordinary Care and Attention.

At what time in the world's history the goose became a domestic animal literature fails to inform us; but the service she has rendered will live so long as written language shall endure.

No kind of poultry keeping can be carried on at so little expense for buildings and equipment as goose raising, because of the hardiness of the birds and their desire to remain in the open air. Geese dislike confinement. The more freedom they have the better.

The simplest kind of houses can be used for shelter. An open shed facing the south, with plenty of dry straw for bedding, is all that is required. There is no fowl that will respond to treatment or furnish better results than the water fowl. They will mature just as rapidly away from streams as near them, a generous supply of drinking water is all that is required. Water can be supplied during the breeding season in tubs, or half barrels sunk in the ground, and during the fall and winter a supply of water in pails to serve for drinking will be quite sufficient.

On the average farm it is a recognized fact that poultry culture is given less care than any other branch. Above all others the farmer is the one that has free range in abundance for his flocks, and can raise his own feed, and take the greatest profit from poultry raising. The farmer should be encouraged to give proper care and attention to the production of poultry. This work should be equal to that of any other in the farmer's life, and also be thought as much of as other grades of live stock kept on the farm. The fowls can be produced for less per pound and be sold for more than any other stock (by the pound) on the farm.

The goose occupies the same place among poultry that sheep do among live stock, and if cared for are just as profitable in proportion. It is just as necessary to pluck the feathers from the geese as to shear the wool from the sheep, and the product has a great demand. The Toulouse is one of the largest breeds of geese, and are very profitable, as they attain an enormous size, and when fattened bring a high price in the market.

Goose raising is fast becoming a leading industry.—W. M. Sawyer, in "Poultry Monthly."

A BILIOUS HEADACHE.

Bile in the blood is poison and causes pain. Mrs. Thos. Covert, Highland Grove, Ont., writes: "For years I suffered with biliousness, stomach trouble and terrible headaches. Having used Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills will say unhesitatingly that this is the most effective treatment obtainable for these troubles."

POULTRY FARMING.

The raising of poultry is an industry found on more farms than any other. Most farmers keep a few chickens which find their living from the waste products of the farm. They are thus practically no expense and all of the product is profit. From thirty to seventy-five hens can thus be kept on an ordinary farm. The magnitude of this form of the industry is so great that it interferes materially with the special poultry farm. It is probable that more failures are made in poultry farming than in any other type of farming undertaken by beginners, yet it is decidedly one of the best and most profitable types of farming when properly conducted. It is highly essential to begin in a small way, in order to learn the details of the business before much capital is invested in it. There is an enormous amount of good literature relating to poultry raising easily available to anyone who wishes to learn the industry.

There are five common types of chicken farming, namely, (1) the production of eggs for the general market; (2) the production of eggs for hatching, (3), the production of broiler hatching, (3) the production of broilers; (4) the breeding of fancy poultry and (5) the hatching of chicks for sale as soon as they are hatched. Nearly all successful poultrymen began in a small way by producing eggs for the general market. By careful breeding up the flock and developing its egglaying capacity they have finally been able to embark in the production of eggs for hatching purposes, for which there is a ready sale for men who have earned a rezutation for producing good stock. The breeding of fancy poultry is, as a rule, not a very profitable industry. It requires a large amount of special knowledge, and, while a few men have made an eminent success in this branch of the business, a very large proportion of those who have tried it have failed.

While boarding the Toronto train after it had started at Acton station, Warner Nicklin had the misfortune to fall beneath the wheels and his right arm was crushed from the elbow down. He was removed to Guelph Hospital.

OUR MOUNTAIN HERITAGE.

Canada's Alps Constitute Twenty Switzerlands In One.

In estimating the assets of Alberta, Canada, one important item is nearly always omitted—its mountain region. In Eastern Canada and in the United States the Canadian mountains are supposed to lie entirely within the confines of British Columbia. Let us look at the facts. The boundary between these two provinces is defined as the continental watershed. With the swing it takes to the west, it places the largest portion of the great Columbian ice field, said to contain an area of 200 square miles within the Province of Alberta. And so on to the north.

"What does it matter, anyway?" says the "Practical" man who knows it all. "There is no mineral and no money in those mountains." Certainly there is no money at present for anybody except the railway company with brains enough to exploit the mountain centres of beauty. Look at the little republic of Switzerland, which understands the value of mountains to a nation. In 1907, the latest date on which we have authoritive figures, the income to hotel keepers from tourists was over eighty million dollars, and this is steadily increasing. Now, hotel keepers are not the only ones who benefit. The hotels have to be supplied with food and necessaries; horses and carriages are in large demand, and even such a business as the curiosity and "notion" seller becomes important to a degree that is almost incomprehensible to us. The societies of guides, practically trade unions, are important corporations, handling large sums.

Canada possesses 200,000 square miles of high snow-clad ranges, unique in their scenic beauty and Alpine attractions. "Twenty Switzerlands in one," is the oft-quoted remark of the celebrated mountaineer, Edward Whymper. But such comparisons, true as they may be, are really of little value. It is the difference that gives our mountains their charm, not their similarity to those of other mountains of finer outline and of greater height, but there are nowhere such lakes as Louise or O'Hara, or those in the region from whence flows the great Saskatchewan. And so long as there remains inherent in healthy human nature the love of adventure, of exploring the wilderness, Canada's mountains will afford the means of satisfying it. Among the giants of the snow-clad ranges men can get away from their business cares, from themselves, and obtain real recreation.

But is not mountaineering very dangerous? To that one may reply that we take greater risks than those involved in the sport every day in our crowded cities, and think nothing of them, because they are commonplace. A great English schoolmaster, of the end of the nineteenth century, refused to recognize lawn tennis as a school game because there was no danger connected with, and, therefore, no discipline of character. This gives food for thought.

The exploitation of all high ranges the world over: the Alps, the Himalayas, the Caucasus, the Andes, the high Alps of New Zealand, has, in the first instance, been carried out by members of Alpine clubs. The earliest, the parent and most famous of them all, is the Alpine Club of England, organized in 1857, and among the youngest is the Alpine Club of Canada. Before this was started in 1906, there were practically no Canadian mountaineers. A few American citizens, a few English people passing through on their way from India or Australia, along with a few scientists, made up the meagre roll of climbers. Now the club is well on the way to a membership of six hundred, and though started as a national organization, it has become international, with connections reaching to Great Britain, the United States, Australia, South Africa, Switzerland, Holland and Italy. With ramifications spreading throughout the vast area of Canada, the club keeps in constant touch with its members by means of local committees in Vancouver, Calgary, Winnipeg and Toronto. A local committee also has been formed in New York, of which committee the president and vice-president of England's Alpine Club are members.

The "Know-all" sees no sense in a club for climbing mountains. It is surprising, however, how a little knowledge of real—not assumed—facts clears the air.

Canadian Soil In Scotland.

Few visitors to the parade ground of the historic castle of Edinburgh are aware that they stand on what is legally Canadian soil. In 1621, eight years after James VI. went to London, and the two crowns were united, the King, desirous to give an outlet to his countrymen, gave Sir William Alexander of Memstrie, afterwards Earl of Stirling, a charter of all the country between the River St. Croix, the St. Lawrence, Newfoundland, and New England. This territory was named New Scotland, St. Croix River became the Tweed, and Cape Breton became New Galloway. This new colony for administrative purposes was by a legal friction connected with Edinburgh. In order to raise men to help to found the colony the King instituted the Order of Baronets of Nova Scotia. This hereditary title was to be given to a gentleman of good birth, who arranged to send a certain number of men and to pay a certain sum of money for the expenses of this plantation of New Scotland; and there were many families among the old nobility who had still among them titles of Baronet of Nova Scotia. In 1625, immediately after the death of King James, the Order was instituted and the ceremony took place in the courtyard of Edinburgh Castle. For the purpose of the institution by royal decree the place was declared to be an integral part of the new colony. As the decree has never been annulled it still remains intact and the parade ground is legally an integral part of Nova Scotia.

Lucky to Get That.

WHAT A C.P.R. FIREMAN OWES TO ZAM-BUK

George H. Duffus of Robertson St., Fort William, a C. P. R. fireman, says: "The water gauge of my locomotive burst and scalded the whole left side of my face terribly. I had a box of Zam-Buk in my pocket, which I was using for a sore on my lip, and when I had recovered from the first shock of the accident, I produced the balm and had it applied freely to the scalded parts. I was suffering acute agony, but within a wonderfully short time Zam-Buk gave me ease. I was able to continue my journey and upon reaching home, I obtained more Zam-Buk and continued the treatment. Zam-Buk acted wonderfully well, and in a few days had the wound nicely healing. I don't know anything so fine as Zam-Buk as a healer of burns, scalds, cuts, and similar injuries, which workers are so liable to, and, in my opinion, a box of Zam-Buk should be kept handy in every worker's home."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price.

Sinking Spells Every Few Days

"At the time I began taking Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I was having sinking spells every few days. My hands and feet would get cold; I could scarcely breathe, and could feel myself gradually sinking away until I would be unconscious. Those about me could not tell there was life in me. After these spells I would be very weak and nervous, sleepless and without appetite; had neuralgia in my head and heart. After taking the remedy a short time all this disappeared and in a few weeks all the heart trouble was gone."

IDOLS IN THE WORLD.

Myra Goodwin Plantz

"Another Maacah has been disposed, not only lost her crown but her idol in the grove is about crushed," remarked Mrs. Westlake to her sister.

"Mary, what connection do you see between the going to the asylum of our dear Esther Blake and Asa's mother?" returned Mrs. Hamlin.

"You remember your dear Hebrew history better than I expected," laughed Mrs. Westlake. "Maacah was doubtless warned by her good son, who honored her with a seat on the throne; no doubt he pleaded with her to give up the idol that stood for such evil things, but no, in the most beautiful part of the grove her idol stood and she worshipped it, you remember, until the son tore it down, stamped it in the dust, and burned it, sending its ashes journeying toward the Mediterranean."

"Or the brook Kidron, but what connection with our lovely Esther?" asked Mrs. Hamlin.

"Esther has made the husband the idol of her life instead of her dearest comrade," was the reply. "She has comrade,done without help in the kitchen to give her husband a secretary, and she has kept the children from disturbing the gifted man at night, and troublesome old ladies and book agents were cared for through the day. She had to be well dressed because he admired pretty women, and the house had to be well kept because he frequently brought home distinguished guests. He wanted Esther present at every church meeting, and brilliant social gathering, and she was fool enough to humor him. He was so busy with his lectures and writing books and big sermons, that going with him was about all she saw of him, anyway."

"Of course everybody knows that Dr. Blake owes much of his great success to his gifted wife, but she idolized him. It made her happier to see him eat white meat than to have it herself," said Mrs. Hamlin, warmly.

"True, it's Esther's own fault that her splendid husband thought only of himself and his work until Esther's reason gave way under the strain. He is crushed now and I doubt if he ever recovers from the blow, for it is a hopeless case. It set me to looking around at the idols people are setting up in their groves," went on Mrs. Westlake. "Why did you give up the Junior League when it had to disband?"

"O, my own children take all my time."

"Have you given up going abroad with your husband?"

"Certainly," replied Mrs. Hamlin, firmly. "Edith needs to study the master paintings if she is to take painting."

"You will certainly get a new spring suit, Jessie. You look shabby."

"No, Mary, it will take every cent I can rake and scrape to fit the girls out as they feel. O, I see you think I make an idol of my children," pettishly replied Mrs. Hamlin.

"You are getting warm, Jessie. I wouldn't dare say as much to sister Bess, who worships her feelings. Men are just as foolish as we are. Sometimes its money or business success; my John bows down to his own opinion, bless him. I just put garlands on his idol and use my own judgment. Men care more for their own personal comfort than we do. When the husband and wife are both dead tired prayer meeting night, the wife is apt to go alone, and who ever heard of a man giving up his bed and sleeping in the attic for delegates, or seeing the joke of falling over the step-ladder and scrub pail housecleaning time?"

"I suppose you haven't any idols, Mate," her sister said dryly.

"Bless you, the meanest in the grove. Just as our blessed mother bowed down to the fear of father's death until they had lived together for over sixty years, I am shadowed with the dread of the poorhouse. That is why I have entertained so little and did not belong to a missionary society. John is free-hearted and the salary is small and I have saved until I enjoy it. Really, Jess, I can't stand a maid, for I feel faint if I see soap melting in the dishpan or the girl eating between times. Never mind what opened my eyes. I'm giving for missions and have doubled our subscription to the Church, and hired a maid, too, so I can be more with John and the children, and I'm looking with delight to the old ladies' home or poorhouse, if that is the price of comfort now. I'm thankful I learned the lesson without having my husband or children taken away, to make room for God first."

"I've noticed the change, dear," said the sister. "I'm glad, then, but I must be going. Lie down; you sew so hard for the girls you are worn out, poor child."

"Poor child, indeed," thought Mrs. Hamlin, as she sank wearily on the sitting-room couch. Her life seemed all sacrifice and no appreciation, but she had begun when they were babies to put her children on pedestals, and they had refused to come down to give her a chance for the good things of life.

Perhaps she fell asleep, perhaps it was a day dream; but she found herself in a grove of fine old trees, through which ran a brook. "The brook Kidron," she thought, sure enough, the grove was full of idols. As might have been expected, the huge, unsightly thing marked "Mammon" had on Mr. Shank's name. Every one knew he worshiped money. "Ah, what an ugly thing this green idol is," she said; "'Jealousy,' I might have known, and I am not surprised that it has Mrs. Smith's name on it. She would hardly allow her husband to admire a statute or mention the beauty of Cleopatra. The grass is well worn before most of the idols, showing much time is spent in this grove." It was very interesting wandering through the grove and discovering the pet sins of her friends and neighbors. Occasionally she found an empty pedestal, and the idol had been broken and burned, and in the grass she discovered names of people she knew who had given up some golden calf and gone back to the living God. Mrs. Hamlin was feeling quite superior until she came to a large, foolish-looking image marked "Selfishness," and under it her own name.

"That is a mistake," she cried. "Everyone calls me the most unselfish mother in the world. Perhaps it is only working for myself, after all. I can't deny my children come before my Church or my good husband, but, surely not before God, and yet this idol looks as if it had constant worship. If God should take away my children or if my slavish attention should keep them from seeking God—O, I'll break that idol now."

"Mother, what are you going to break?" Lillian was saying, giving her mother a gentle shake.

"I am glad it was only a dream nd I will still have time—"

"To make my new party dress I hope, mother," said the daughter. "Miss Jones cannot make it, and if you do not make it I will have to wear my old one."

"You will have to wait for Miss Jones and wear the old dress," said the mother, pleasantly, but very firmly. "I am not going to sew any more this fall, for that is what gives me that pain in my side, the doctor says. I am going to the city to-morrow to get the prettiest fall suit I can find and to attend an all-day missionary meeting. I'm hungry for something bigger than my home cares. And next week I will get together the scattered Junior League."

WHAT WILL MAKE YOU GLAD?

When the years have slipped by and memory runs back over the path you have trod, you will be glad you stopped to speak to every friend you met, and left them all with a warmer feeling in their hearts because you did so.

And you will be glad that you were happy when doing the small, everyday things of life, that you served the best you could in life's lowly round.

You will be glad that men have said all along your way: "I know I can trust him; he is true as steel."

You will be glad there have been some rainy days in your life. If there were no storms the fountains would dry up, the sky would be filled with poisonous vapors, and life would cease.

You will be glad that you stopped long enough every day to read carefully, and with a prayer in your heart, some part of God's message to those He loves.

You will be glad that you shut your ears tight against the evil things men said about one another, and tried the best you could to stay the words winged with poison.

You will be glad you brought smiles to men, and not sorrow.

You will be glad that you have met all the hard things which have come to you with a hearty handshake, never dodging out of them, but turning them all to the best possible account.

Do You Know Your Ailment

Or is it a complication which can be reached only by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

There is only one medicine that can prove thoroughly satisfactory in complicated ailments of the liver and kidneys, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney Liver Pills.

They begin by regulating the bowels and awakening the action of the liver, thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the excretory system. By thus removing the poisons from the system they lighten the work of the kidneys and gradually restore them to health.

Nobody who once learns of the definite and certain action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating and invigorating the kidneys, liver and bowels, is willing to take chances by experimenting with other medicines.

Such ailments as biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and kidney disease yield readily to this treatment.

Free to Stock and Poultry Raisers

We will send, absolutely free, for the asking, postpaid, one of our large thirty-two-page booklets on the common diseases of stock and poultry. Tells you how to feed all kinds of heavy and light horses, colts and mares, milch cows, calves and fattening steers, also how to keep and feed poultry so that they will lay just as well in winter as in summer. No farmer should be without it.

At a cost of only two-thirds of a cent a day per Animal, Royal Purple Stock Specific makes each Animal worth 25 per cent. more.

You never heard of any other Specific, or "Stock Food," doing likewise.

Royal Purple will permanently cure the Bots, Colic, Worms, Skin Diseases and Debility, and restore run-down Animals to plumpness and vigor.

It will increase the milk-yield three to five pounds per cow a day inside of from two to three weeks. It makes the milk richer than ever before.

MR. ANDREW WEGRICH, of Wainfleet, Ont., says: "This is to certify that I have tried your Royal Purple Stock Specific for two weeks, on one cow. On the 16th I weighed her milk as 17 pounds. I noticed a change after 5 or 6 days, as there was an extra weight of milk. On the 29th, I carefully weighed the milk, and she gave 22 pounds. I am giving an order for 5 boxes, as I consider it the best I have ever used."

"Stock Food" will not do this. Because "Stock Food" is nothing more or less than a mixture of the very things which you, yourself, grow on your own farm.

It is not more food your Animals need. They must have something to help their bodies get all the nourishment from the food they are getting. So that they will fatten, and stay fat, all the year 'round.

They need something to prevent disease, to cure disease, and to keep them in the best of health, all the time.

Not a Stock Food

Royal Purple is not a "Stock Food," nor a "medicine." It is a Conditioner.

It does not contain Grain, nor farm products. Nor does it contain "Dope," or any other injurious ingredient. Royal Purple does not merely temporarily bloat or inspire the Animal. It fattens and strengthens it, permanently.

No other Specific known adds flesh so quickly as Royal Purple. It makes 6-weeks-old Calves as large as ordinary-fed Calves are at 10 weeks.

Royal Purple makes naturally-thin Animals fat and heavy. And it builds up the health and restores the former plumpness and vigor of run-down stock, in little or no time.

The very best time to use this Conditioner is NOW. It digests the hard food properly and prevents the animals getting indigestion or losing flesh.

50 per cent. Cheaper

One 50-cent Package of Royal Purple will last one Animal 70 days. This figures a little over two-thirds of a cent per day.

Most "Stock Foods" in 50-cent Packages last but 50 days, and are given three times a day.

But Royal Purple Specific is given only once a day, and lasts 50 per cent. longer.

(A $1.50 Pail, containing four times the amount of the 50-cent Package, lasts 280 days.)

So, you see, it is only necessary to give Royal Purple Specific once each day.

Just think of making each Animal worth 25 per cent. over its cost! What will that mean to you, Mr. Stock Owner!

It makes the Hens lay Eggs in Winter as well as in the Summer.

MRS. WM. BURNHAM, Sanford, Ont., says: "Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have used two boxes of your Poultry Specific for my hens. They laid so well while feeding it to them, I wondered if you would mind sending me word how or where I could get some this winter. I bought it from your agent last winter. I had 32 hens, and some days I got two dozen eggs a day in February and March, while feeding them the Specific."

Royal Purple Poultry Specific prevents Fowls losing flesh at moulting time, and permanently cures every poultry disease. It makes their plumage bright and keeps them always in prime condition.

It makes your Poultry worth more than they could ever be without it.

Yet one 50-cent Package will last 25 Hens 70 days. Or a $1.50 Pail will do 25 Hens 280 days. This is four times more material at only three times the cost.

Centralia, Ont., Feb. 7, '10.
The W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:
Gentlemen—We have been using Royal Purple Poultry and Stock Specific for the last three weeks, and must say that results are remarkable. Am feeding the Stock Specific to two milking cows, and they have increased 30 per cent. in their milk. The Poultry results are even more marked than this. We have about 60 hens, laying age. When we commenced feeding, we were getting five and six eggs a day, and in the last five days the same flock of hens laid 150 eggs, almost an average of 31 each day, and those five days have been the coldest this winter.

You can see results plainly in two or three days after the use of "Royal Purple," and the poultry have the same hustle and appearance as in the summer time. With cows and poultry we are using exactly the same feed and care as before starting to feed "Royal Purple."

When farmers and stockmen get acquainted with Royal Purple, it will have a greater demand than all other tonics and stock foods on the market combined.
Yours truly, ANDREW HICKS.

W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:
Gentlemen,—Last Fall we had a mare belonging to Mose Clouston, of Montreal. We could not feed her any bran on account of causing violent scouring, consequently causing her to become weak and thin. We commenced using your Royal Purple Stock Specific, and the results were wonderful. After using it three weeks, we found we could feed the animal bran or any other soft feed without scouring her, and she actually took on in this time twenty-five pounds of flesh, we working her at the same time through the hunt. I can heartily recommend your Stock Specific.

Royal Purple
STOCK AND POULTRY SPECIFICS

Royal Purple creates an appetite for food, and helps nature to digest and turn it into flesh and muscle.

As a Hog fattener, Royal Purple has no equal.

Never Off Feed

Dan McEwen, the horseman, says:
"I have used Royal Purple Stock Specific persistently in feeding 'The Eel,' 2.02¼, largest winner of any pacer on Grand Circuit in 1908 and 1909, and 'Henry Winters,' 2.10¼, brother of 'Allen Winters,' winner of $36,000 in trotting stakes in 1908.

"These horses have never been off their feed since I started using Royal Purple Specific. I will always have it in my stables. Your Cough Powder works like magic."

For Poultry

Royal Purple Poultry Specific is our other Specific. It is for Poultry—not for stock.

Make This Test

Every ounce of Royal Purple Stock and Poultry Specific is guaranteed.

To prove that Royal Purple has no equal, we want you to make this test:

Feed Royal Purple to any one of your Animals for four weeks. And at the same time feed any other preparation to any other Animal in the same condition.

If Royal Purple does not prove to you, by actual results, that it is the best you ever used, we'll return your money.

And we'll ask no questions—make no excuses. You will be the judge—not us.

This is an honest test, isn't it? We ask you to make it because we know that Royal Purple is the best Conditioner on the market.

If you are not satisfied, after testing it, you don't lose anything, do you?

NEW YEAR'S IN MANY LANDS.

The manner of observing the outgoing and incoming of the old and the new year is as varied in the various countries as is their mode of life and other customs. In no country does there seem to be a greater variety of ways of spending the New Year festival than in Germany. The prettiest custom is that observed in the region of Frankfort-on-the-Main. On the night of Dec. 31st, all the city and country side watch the old year out and the new year in. Family parties or gatherings of friends are to be found in every home. Games, stories, music and kindred diversions with honorable attention to eating and drinking serve to speed on the last hours of the dying year.

As the first stroke of midnight sounds its warning from the great cathedral dome, every house throws wide open its windows, and all the dwellers lean out of the casement, old and young together, each with glass raised in hand and there suddenly bursts forth on the air, thousands of voices shouting "Happy New Year." Thus the whole city salutes itself with the greeting of the season, invoking a blessing for the coming year in its first moment. Before the last clang of the twelve from the cathedral dome has melted into silence, the toast of the hour has been drank, the windows have been closed and the hush of midnight settles once more over the deserted streets of the city or the countryside.

In the section about Berlin, New Year's Eve or St. Sylvester's night, as it is called, is celebrated in a very different manner. It is turned into an evening of rough sport and amusement. As an outgrowth of an old custom in vogue for many years, each person is privileged to strike a blow with his fist on every tall silk hat which he sees out after dark. This becomes very embarrassing to the visitor from other German provinces or to the stranger in the city, who, ignorant of the peculiar customs of the day, strolls blithely down the street, clad in the garments customarily worn by elegant gentlemen of that section, and on his head, a silk hat. He is suddenly and without any warning attacked by a mob of howling ruffians who good naturedly leave him with the rim bursted and the crown knocked off; and on the whole, a very undignified individual.

Resort to the police on such an occasion is unavailing, for these individuals are quite in sympathy with the joke-makers.

In his boyhood and even in his earlier monarchial days, the present Emperor of Germany sailed forth incognito on New Year's Day to take part in this popular diversion. He suddenly decided to abandon it, however, after he had encountered an old gentleman who, with the view of getting even with the young men who had destroyed his hat on seasons before, had equipped himself with a skull-cap, studded with nails, points upward. The consequence was that when the imperial list came down with crushing force on the inviting looking hat, it encountered the nails which lacerated his hand in so serious a manner as to necessitate a surgeon.

In gay Paris the streets are noisy with crowds going to and fro. The streets of the fashionable part of the city are a forest of carriages, buggies and hacks, standing at every door, and whirling back and forth in feverish haste.

On New Year's day, the beggars swarm out from every nook and corner of Paris, for it is one day in the long year when they beg in freedom. Ragged little fellows scarcely large enough to walk, toddle up with a swing of their torn caps, and demand a gift as if such a thing as refusal had never entered their minds. If they do not get the soupice they ask for, off they scamper singing a street ditty.

Many of the prettiest customs of the British Isles are now obsolete, but like all the good old-fashioned things, they are retained to a certain extent in the country districts. In Scotland it is considered most propitious to one's friends to go into their homes at the hour of the New Year's birth with a little gift of cakes, cheeses or drinks of hot pint. Formerly in Edinburgh the streets were more thronged from twelve to one on New Year's than they were at midday.

The custom of begging from door to door by the little children still exists in the country and small towns in Scotland, much as is in Paris. Their boon is a dole of wheat, bread or cakes.

In Ireland, where the same custom prevails, round oaten bannocks, with a round hole in the middle are specially baked for gift cakes. In other parts of Ireland a cake is thrown outside the door on New Year's eve to keep out hunger during the coming year.

No English holiday of ancient times was complete or even of much account which was not observed with the flowing bowl. The wassail and the posset-pot were the two favorites for New Year's.

Although the general custom of keeping New Year's may vary in different countries, yet that of watching the old year out and the New Year in is universal the world over and is generally accepted as a most propitious sign of good luck.

In the competition for dressed poultry at Montreal, Armstrong Bros., of Fergus, won first for the best 24 dressed chickens, and first for the 12 best dressed geese.

Wm. St. John, of Melville, who, with his wife and family moved to the West a couple of years ago, has returned. The cause for their return was that they did not like the country.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Lyons, Minto, recently, when their second daughter, Bertha, became the bride of Mr. Alexander Clayton, of East Luther. Quite a number of guests from Grand Valley were present among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clayton, father and mother of the groom.

Dufferin's M. P. Registers Protest Against Over Payment of Officials

Mr. Best Also Holds That Members Should Pay for Printing of Their Speeches.

Mr. Best, the member for Dufferin, has twice called attention during the present session to certain illegal expenditures of the Senate which are dealt with in the Auditor General's Report. On the 9th of December he called attention to a passage in the introduction of the Auditor's Report for last year complaining that illegal payments have been made by the Clerk of the Senate, by order of that august body, to certain employees whose salaries had been illegally increased despite the protest of the Auditor General, who was supported in his objections by the Department of Justice.

The Auditor in his Report says :—"The staff of the Senate is under the Civil Service Act. The Senate was a party to the passing of the Act and now declines to be governed by its provisions. If they can override the law in this instance, then they can pay whatever salaries they please to the staff and expend their appropriations in any manner, legal or otherwise, as they see fit."

Mr. Best said in referring to this matter :—"I would draw the attention of the Government to pages 3, 4 and 5 of volume 1 of the Auditor General's Report. The Auditor General here makes some grave charges that the Senate have been overpaying employees. As the Auditor General is the principal safeguard against overpayments, I think that these statements ought to be looked into by the Government, and that official should have the assistance of the Government in seeing that these overpayments have been refunded, and, if not, why not."

The Auditor also reported to Parliament that a number of the members of the House of Commons had failed to pay for extra copies of their speeches printed for them at the Government Printing Bureau, and publishes in his Report a communication from the Clerk of Commons stating that arrears owing by members cannot be deducted from their indemnity, notwithstanding the fact that the Committee on Public Accounts had recommended in 1909 that such action should be taken.

Mr. Best has twice called attention to this matter, in connection with which he is reported in Hansard as saying :—

"The Auditor General's Report showed that some members of the House had not paid for the printing of their speeches. It does not matter to me whether the members, thus referred to, are on this side or on the other side; if they have not paid for their speeches they ought to be required to pay for them. We are sent here to protect the public treasury. I asked if refunds had been made, and that question has not been answered yet."

It is likely that by this time the delinquents will have paid up and that the Auditor will have no further complaint to make when members find that there are men in Parliament honest and fearless enough to expose such loose methods of doing public business, without regard to the personal sensibilities or politics of those responsible.

It is by such work as this that private members can best show their usefulness in the House, rather than by the delivery of long-winded speeches which seldom interest anyone but the speechmaker, and not only waste the time of Parliament, but are a source of expense to the country as well, prolonging as they do, the length of the session from two to three months every year. It is to be hoped that Mr. Best will continue to follow the course he has begun in watching closely the manner in which the money is expended, which he and all the members of Parliament are called upon to vote.

The incidents above referred to are not yet closed and it is more than likely that the member for Dufferin will be heard from again when the votes for the maintenance of the House of Commons and Senate are being discussed.

MEN FIRST—CAPITAL SECOND

Mr. D. H. Plummer, President of the Dominion Steel Corporation, one of the contributors to The Globe's Annual Financial Survey, published on the first business day of the year, says :—

"The consumption of iron and steel in Canada is growing rapidly. The plants are being largely extended, but they will scarcely overtake the demand, and, so far as one can judge, we are merely at the beginning of things so far as this great basic industry is concerned. Given reasonable tariff conditions, it should grow until it holds relatively as important a position here as in the United States. We have men, ore, coal, limestone and capital, and it will be our own fault if we do not in a few years become, in this as in other lines, manufacturers for other lands as well as for our own. It may be observed that I put 'men' first and 'capital' last, but that is the order in which they should come. In our early days we put these requisites the other way. When we had found the capital we thought our difficulties were at an end, but they were really just beginning, and we thereby courted 'a heavy blow and great discouragement.' All that is fortunately past, and the outlook is satisfactory in every respect."

ERIN STAYS WET.

Local Option By-Law Defeated By A Narrow Majority.

J. J. Carroll Downs Long For Reeveship.

The licensed barroom had a close call in Erin village on Monday. The local optionists polled 88 votes out of a total vote of 153. This means that 92 affirmative votes would have carried the by-law, so that the measure was only defeated by the narrow margin of 4 votes. The reeveship fight resulted in the re-election of Reeve Carroll by a majority of 24. Doherty, Russell, Wilson and Small were the successful candidates for councillors. The results were :—

SUTTON RE-ELECTED.

But McKechnie Defeated Barbour For Deputy-Reeveship of Erin Township.

Mr. J. W. Sutton was re-elected Reeve of Erin township on Monday, defeating Edward Marshall by a majority of 145. The surprise of the election was the defeat of Ephriam Barbour, last year's deputy-reeve. Barbour is well thought of and with a good year's record behind him was regarded by his friends as almost sure to win out. In his own division, Hillsburg, he received one of the largest votes ever polled for any municipal candidate, but McKechnie easily overcame this in the three south divisions of the township. George Bryan, a former Dufferinite, made a good run for Councillor, being defeated by only a few votes. The results were :—

IN EAST LUTHER.

McKee Won Reeveship and Cann was Defeated for Council.

S. C. McKee is reeve-elect of East Luther, having won that honor by defeating Wm. Baxendale on Monday. It was a close contest, but McKee had 18 votes to the good. There were five Councillors in the field. Lewis Cann, of last year's Council, was the rejected man. The vote stood :—

GREER WON OUT.

Re-Elected Reeve of Mulmur By A Majority of 35.

Charlie Mitchell Won Deputy-Reeveship By Majority of 2.

Archy Greer is still in the saddle in Mulmur township. Monday's contest was one of the most memorable in the history of the municipality, and an exceptionally heavy vote was polled, notwithstanding the unfavorable condition of the roads. John Reaburn, who came within one vote of defeating Greer a year ago, increased his vote from 348 to 375, but in spite of this Greer increased his majority from 1 to 35. The most important change took place in the Randwick division in the northeast of the township. Greer spent the day at this polling place and managed to increase his vote from 53 to 71. The Reaburn vote on the other hand slumped from 48 to 31. The presence of a third candidate in the person of Seymour Newell resulted in the defeat of Wm. Lawrence, last year's deputy, for the deputy-reeveship. Charlie Mitchell, Lawrence's unsuccessful opponent a year ago, won the seat by two votes. The council was elected by acclamation. The vote:—

LARGE AT LAST.

Won In Third Fight For Reeveship of Shelburne.

John Large, reeve-elect of the village of Shelburne, has learned by experience that time and perseverance usually bring their reward, even in municipal affairs. Two years ago Mr. Large entered the lists against Dr. Babe for the reeveship of Shelburne and was beaten by a majority of 55. Last year he made a second effort to win the coveted honor and managed to cut Dr. Babe's majority down to 16. On Monday the two opponents tried conclusions for the third time, Large winning by 30 votes. It is said that opposition to the proposed system of sewers had a good deal to do with Dr. Babe's defeat. Two members of last year's council, Messrs. Skelding and O'Flynn, sought re-election. Skelding was successful, but O'Flynn, who was an advocate of the sewers scheme, was badly beaten. The chief incident of the election for school trustees was the defeat of Police Magistrate Rutherford, who has been on the Shelburne school board for a number of years. The vote was :

OLD COUNCIL RE-ELECTED.

Light Vote Polled in Adjala on Monday.

Very little interest was taken in the election for Councillors in Adjala township this year and, as a result, only a little over half of the available vote was polled. There were only five candidates in the field—the four old Councillors and Mr. Arthur Burke, who has the reputation of being a sort of free lance in municipal politics. The ratepayers gave last year's representatives another term. This year's Council will therefore consist of :—

Reeve—Thos. Goodeve (accl.).

Councillors—James Sheehan, Thos. Walsh, Wm. Campbell, John J. Lawlor.

A JUBILEE ISSUE.

The Montreal Witness is deserving of unstinted praise for the attractive and creditable souvenir Jubilee number which it issued a couple of weeks ago. The number contained a great deal of useful and interesting information about Montreal. There are few newspapers in Canada that have a record that will compare with that of the Witness. During the half century since it was founded, the newspaper has stood consistently for clean, wholesome and reliable journalism. Its influence has been exerted against evil and demoralizing tendencies in social and political life. Its ideals represent the highest and best aims of Canadian life. It is a newspaper of which the Canadian people have reason to be proud and its jubilee number served to emphasize the splendid character of the enterprise whose name it bears.

MISS CAESAR.

Miss Mary Caesar, who died at Mono Road, on December 14th, after a lingering illness, was born in Chinguacousy township at lot 32, con. 3, east, in the year 1837. She spent the greater part of her life there and about five years ago, with her brother and sister, removed to Caledon East, where she died. She was taken ill with heart trouble about four months ago. Her funeral took place on December 17th, to Caesar's burying ground, and was very largely attended by old friends and neighbors. Miss Caesar was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her quiet, unassuming life and kindly manner endeared her to all. She was for many years a consistent and faithful member of the Methodist church. During her illness her faith and hope gave her fortitude to meet her coming end and she died in peace. She is survived by three brothers and one sister, namely, William, of Toronto, James of Campbell's Cross, and Andrew and Eliza; of Caledon East.

MRS. JOHN VANCE.

It is with deep regret that we record the demise of Mrs. Alice Vance, wife of Mr. John Vance, a well-known Caledon farmer. The unfortunate event occurred at her husband's home near Mono Mills on Saturday and marked the culmination of a protracted and trying illness. Death was caused by tubercular meningitis. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Vance was Miss Alice Crawford, of Palmyra, Kent County. During her comparatively short residence at Mono Mills she had made a number of warm personal friends, who, with the people of the community generally, will regret greatly her untimely death. She was only 32 years of age and besides her husband, is survived by her parents and two brothers and a sister, living at Palmyra. General sympathy is felt for the husband and other relatives in their bereavement. The funeral was held from her late home to the C. P. R. depot in Orangeville on Monday afternoon, the remains being taken from here to her old home at Palmyra for interment. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and neighbors. Rev. R. J. W. Perry, rector of Mono Mills parish, performed the burial service of the Anglican Church at the house. The pallbearers were Messrs. John McCutcheon, W. A. Dowling, R. J. Speers, G. C. Lemon, A. M. Speers and George Adair.

On Another Errand.

The Gaekwar of Baroda was one of the first of the native Indian princes to take up motoring, and his state car is a really gorgeous affair.

In this connection he tells an amusing story of a minor prince who brought a motor-car some years ago. It was a matter of considerable difficulty for him to get regular supplies of petrol, while his tire difficulties were more than usual. Upon one occasion the Gaekwar met this prince, gravely driving along in his motor-car, to which he had fitted a pair of shafts and in them was harnessed an old horse!

Upon another occasion the Gaekwar was visiting Windsor, and entered a chemist's shop to make some purchases. A little girl came running towards the shop and tumbled just outside the door. The Gaekwar at once went to her assistance, and, having picked her up, said:

"How did you come to fall?"

"I didn't come to fall," replied the child with great dignity, "I came for some turpentine."

Would Make a Big City.

Were Berlin and Waterloo to unite now, the new city thus formed would jump ahead of the smaller cities, right on the heels of Kingston and Brantford. Waterloo's returns show an increase for the year of 106, and the present population is 4,620, which, with Berlin's 14,600, leaves less than 800 necessary to pass the 20,000 mark. In ten years the increase of Berlin alone was 4,914, so that it is now considerably larger than were the two towns together a decade ago.

STRUCK MAYOR IN FACE.

Lively Time at Brampton—Ex-Councillor Ashley Left Hall With a Constable After Smiting Mr. Thauburn.

Brampton, Dec. 28.—Nominations have been made for the different municipal offices. Thomas Thauburn will be re-elected by acclamation for the mayoralty and J. S. Beck re-elected by acclamation for the reeveship. The candidates nominated for the council are :—F. W. Wegenast, J. W. Williams, Mark Henderson, Aaron Coates, J. Pickering, J. P. Allen, R. B. Ashley, Jas. York, F. Early, Edwin Armstrong, R. H. Pringle, John Fingland, J. H. Boulter, W. Fendley, J. F. Cole and W. C. Young.

There will also be a contest for the position of Water Commissioners, the candidates being Dr. J. G. Roberts, B. F. Justin, W. Fendley.

The following were re-appointed school trustees : Jas. R. Fallis for the East Ward; W. B. McCulloch for the North Ward; W. Packham for the West Ward, and T. W. Duggan for the South Ward.

At the public meeting a stormy altercation took place between Mayor Thauburn and ex-Councillor R. B. Ashley.

The former charged the latter with non-payment of water and electric light accounts.

Mr. Ashley sprang to his feet and struck the mayor a violent blow in the face. Peace was restored, Mr. Ashley leaving the building with the constable.

The local option contest becomes keener as the day of polling approaches. Meetings are being held almost nightly by the friends of local option, who are also making a house-to house canvass of the voters.

The antis are circulating literature purporting to show the evil effects of local option.

The shameful attack upon Canon Walsh on Sunday evening, when he was struck with an egg, has aroused the greatest feeling against those who are responsible for the cowardly act. It is the first time in the history of Brampton that such treatment has been given to a clergyman of any denomination.

The opponents of local option who believe in fair play are denouncing the conduct of the scoundrel who would throw an egg at a minister on Christmas night, and a number of them have declared that they will show their disapproval of such work by voting in favor of the by-law.

The Christmas services at Christ Church were especially inspiring. The church was tastefully decorated and the music of a very high order. Before the morning service Choirmaster W. C. Young was presented with a handsome copy of the new hymnal by the members of his choir as a slight mark of their appreciation of his painstaking services. The offertory, which is given to the clergyman, was the most generous in many years, if not in the history of the congregation.

Rev. Dr. Long, pastor of Grace church, was called away suddenly to Dresden on account of the death of his brother, who was killed in the recent fire which occurred in that town.

A PERJURY CHARGE.

James Peacock, an Alton man, was fined $100 and costs a couple of weeks ago for selling liquor in violation of the Caledon township local option by-law. One of Peacock's witnesses was a young Englishman named Martin. The evidence of the lad created a good deal of surprise. The sequel came this week when he was arrested and committed for trial on a charge of perjury. The preliminary hearing took place at Alton yesterday.

ANNIVERSARY SERMONS.

Rev. G. W. Ray, of Toronto, will preach anniversary sermons in Orangeville Baptist Church on Sunday January 15th. On Monday evening following Mr. Ray will deliver a lecture in the Town Hall on the subject, "Missionary Work in South America."

FORESTRY CONVENTION.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—His Excellency the Governor-General has graciously consented to open the Forestry Convention which will meet, at the call of the Premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at Quebec City on January 18, 19 and 20, under the auspices of the Canadian Forestry Association. Preparations for it are now in an advanced stage.

The president of the Association, Senator W. C. Edwards, will preside, and many prominent Canadian speakers, as well as representatives from the United States, will take part. Among those who are expected besides a number of official representatives are Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Mr. R. L. Bordon, M.P., Hon. Clifford Sifton, Chairman of the Commission of Conservation; Hon. Sydney Fisher, Hon. Frank Oliver, Sir Lomer Gouin, Hon. Jules Allard, Hon. Frank Cochrane, Hon. W. C. H. Grimmer, Mgr. Lapointe, Vicar General of Chicoutimi; R. H. Campbell, Dominion Superintendent of Forestry; H. S. Graves, Chief Forester of the United States; Dr. H. S. Beland, M.P., Dr. B. E. Fernow, Dean of the Faculty of Forestry of the University of Toronto; E. Stewart, formerly Supt. of Forestry; E. E. Ring, Forest Commissioner of Maine; Achille Bergeron, of the Quebec Fish and Game Protective Association; and Dr. C. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist.

Anyone who expects to be present will greatly assist by communicating as soon as possible with the secretary, Mr. Jas. Lawler, Canadian Building, Ottawa, from whom programmes and all information may be received. The Legislature of Quebec will be in session, and the Commission of Conservation will hold its annual meeting in Quebec on Jan. 17th. The railway companies have already granted a single-fare rate for the journey to Quebec and return, on the standard certificate plan, from all points in Canada east of Fort William. It is hoped also to secure reduced rates from points west of this.

LOCAL NEWS.

—How about your renewal?

—Monthly fair day next Thursday.

—Municipal Councils will meet next Monday.

—Mr. Robt. Patterson, Mayor-elect of Kincardine, is a cousin of Mr. J. D. Torrie, 1st Avenue.

—Orangeville District L. O. L. will meet in L. O. L. 427 hall on West Broadway next Tuesday afternoon.

—Mr. and Mrs. T. Allen, of Fillmore, Sask., have removed to Orangeville and are now residing on East Broadway.

—Mr. N. B. Calhoun, formerly of Orangeville, is now on the road for The McLauchlan Biscuit Co., of Owen Sound.

—Rev. Mr. Wylie, lately from Scotland, will take the services in Alton nd North Erin Presbyterian Churches on Sunday.

—Mr. Nelson Black was elected last Wednesday to succeed the late W. H. Hunter as one of the trustees of The Maples school.

—Orangeville Bachelors and Benedicts will hold their annual Ball in the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, January 17th.

—The annual meeting of the Patrons of the Laurel Cheese Factory will be held on Wednesday, January 11th, at 2 p.m.

—Mr. and Mrs. Arch. Reid, 9th line, Erin, gave a dance to about one hundred and fifty of their friends last Thursday night.

—Mr. J. A. Hadcock, a former superintendent of the Superior Cement Works, moved his family and effects to Toronto last week.

—The Banner understands that Mr. J. E. Booth, a well-known local hotelman, is negotiating for the control of the Revere House in Brampton.

—George Barbour, a Hillsburg liveryman, fell from the top of a ladder, while getting into his hayloft, the other day, and was badly cut and bruised.

—The Daughters of the Empire intend holding an entertainment in the Town Hall on Friday night, January 20th. Further particulars will be given next week.

—Miller Gray, of Mono Centre, was lodged in the County jail here on Tuesday on the charge of insanity. He will likely be taken to the Hamilton Asylum shortly.

—Rev. Mr. Davies, of the Baptist Church, will give an address at the Methodist Epworth League meeting next Monday evening. Subject, "A New Year's Missionary Message." Everybody welcome.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Foster, 1st line, east, Mono, had a happy family re-union on Christmas day, all their children and grandchildren being present. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. D. Henderson, of Cheltenham.

—The Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mrs. R. W. Ritchie, Thursday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Ritchie's mother, Mrs. Kenney, who is an old member of the Society.

—While playing about the home of his grandfather, Mr. Hugh Maguire, of Relessey, on Saturday, Master Walter Robinson, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Robinson, Zina St., sprained one of his ankles severely. The injury was so painful that the lad could not be brought home until Tuesday.

—Last week Miss Phoenix called at The Banner office to advertise a valued gold bead necklace, which she had lost. A couple of days after last week's issue appeared the missing article was left in our office by an honest finder in the person of Master Ralph Endacott, the young son of Mr. Henry Endacott.

MESSAGE FROM CALIFORNIA.

In a letter to Mrs. B. McGuire, Mrs. James Robinson, of Pasadena, Cal., who is well-known to many Banner readers, says:—

Another year has passed away and we are still in this beautiful land of sunshine and roses. We wish The Banner another year of success and through its columns desire to extend to our many friends our best wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year and to all those who have lost their dear ones during the past year our heartfelt sympathy in their sorrow. We are having beautiful weather here at present. Pasadena is preparing for another Tournament of Roses to end the old and begin the new year. A great effort is being made to surpass all former Tournaments and if the weather continues as it is at the present time there is every likelihood that the expectations of those interested will be realized. I wish you were here to enjoy it, for it is certainly a pretty sight to see the beautiful floral parade in the winter season. My youngest daughter and two of her sons from San Francisco are with me for the holidays. My sister's youngest son, John A. Leighton, was with me for Christmas dinner. It was good to see him again. He is on his way home from Alaska and expects to leave for the East after the first of the year.

Mr. Thos. Young, the veteran clerk of Erin township, gave The Banner a friendly call while in town last Thursday. Mr. Young has been Clerk of Erin for 31 years and has the reputation of being a careful, painstaking and thoroughly competent official.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Des Islets returned to Montreal on Monday evening, after spending a pleasant holiday with Mrs. Des Islet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dale. They were accompanied by Miss Jennie Dale, who intends visiting in Montreal for some time.

Mr. John McCartney, of Emerson, Man., and little daughter are visiting relatives in Orangeville and Caledon. Mr. McCartney, who is a brother of Mr. S. A. McCartney and Mrs. Wm. McConnell, was a member of the Farmers' deputation, which waited on the Government at Ottawa a few weeks ago.

PEEL'S NEW SHERIFF.

SHERIFF HENDERSON

Mr. Nathan Henderson, of Palgrave, who was selected a short time ago to succeed the late George Broddy, of Brampton, as Sheriff of the County of Peel, entered upon the duties of his new office on Monday. Sheriff Henderson was born in Artemesia township about forty-seven years ago, but has been a resident of Albion for upwards of twenty-five years. He spent his boyhood in the west side of Caledon township and is a brother of the late Hugh Henderson, an ex-reeve of that municipality. Mr. David Henderson, of Belfountain, is another brother, and Mr. James Barber, of Alton, a half brother. Mr. Henderson has for a number of years taken an active interest in municipal and political affairs and has been treasurer of the township of Albion for a couple of years. Of excellent physique and prepossessing appearance he is well qualified physically and intellectually to do honor to the responsible and dignified position he now fills. Sheriff Henderson's appointment has been received with general approval and The Banner feels that in wishing him a long and honorable official career it is only expressing the sentiments of the people of the County of Peel, regardless of their political affiliations.

OUR HOLIDAY WEEK.

Next week The Banner will take its annual mid-winter holiday, and consequently there will not be another issue of the paper until Thursday, January 19th. The office will be open as usual for general business and orders for job-work will receive prompt attention

GOING TO REGINA.

Orangeville is likely to lose another of its esteemed citizens in the person of Mr. Jno. T. Lawson, a well-known business man, who is negotiating for the purchase of a boot and shoe business in Regina. Mr. Lawson will leave for the West next week and if he finds the business what it has been represented will take immediate control and remove his family to Regina in the spring.

RETURNED TO THE WEST.

Mr. Harry W. Howard, C. N. R. Agent at Kindersley, Sask., and bride, who have been spending part of their honeymoon with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Howard, of Orangeville, left here for their home in the West this week. Mr. Howard was married at Swan Lake, Man., on December 14th last, to Miss May Leary, an accomplished and popular young lady of that town. Harry's many Orangeville friends wish him and his charming bride many years of happiness.

ONE FARM PAPER.

There is one farm paper in Canada that in over twenty years has never missed an opportunity of promoting the interests of the farmer, and has in no small way assisted in securing the passage of every measure that has been obtained for the improvement of his condition. That paper is The Weekly Sun. The Sun's market reports have no equal for accuracy. They are each week of special interest and value to every man who works the land. Every farmer should be a reader of The Sun.

Before renewing your subscription to any paper drop a card to The Sun, 61 John Street, Toronto, for their clubbing list.

Miss Gertie Ritchie, of Dundalk, spent New Year's at her parental home here.

Miss Ethel Langtree, of Toronto, visited friends here and at Camilla over the New Year.

Miss Moffatt, of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Moffatt, of Blount.

Mr. H. B. McClellan, of Fullarton, paid friends here and at Alton a short visit last week.

—Rev. F. W. Anderson, Secretary of the Presbyterian Branch of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, will take the services in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday. Mr. Anderson will also speak at Glencross at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

—As a rule the annual school meetings, which were held last Wednesday, passed off quietly in this neighborhood. One of the exceptions was the Speersville school in Caledon, where T. C. Glassford and Wm. Duke figured in a keen contest for the vacant trusteeship. Glassford won by a single vote. There is some talk of holding another meeting on account of alleged irregularities.

CITY AND COUNTRY.

One of the Sourier's correspondents, who lives in an Ontario village, puts the blame for boys leaving the farm, not upon education, but upon the conditions existing on farms and in the country, and asks why any boy of ambition would want to stay in the narrow confines of country life as represented in his district with the world before him. This writer evidently assumes that city life is full of sunshine, with no failures. He sees only one side of it, and that a very small side too. Many boys who have left the farm for the city have made good, and are holding prominent positions in the professions and in mercantile life. But how many there are who have never got beyond the mediocre stage since leaving the farm. The successful ones are talked about and written about, the others are rarely heard of. They become part of the great city's masses, who never get beyond the earning of enough for clothing to wear and food to eat. That food and that clothing may be better than many boys and girls get on the farm. If this is a measure of success sufficient to induce boys to leave the farm, we pity the boys so influenced. It is not a bright failure for old age. The boy on the farm may have to work hard, he may not have the social advantages of the city chap, and may have to wear less attractive clothing—though it is our opinion that any well regulated farming community to-day can show as well dressed a lot of young people as are to be found in the cities, leaving the very wealthy out of the reckoning—yet, he has this satisfaction of always having the farm at his back, a sure provider for old age and for the growing family.—Canadian Farm.

Miss Susie Morgan, of Georgetown, ran a needle into her hand a few days ago and as doctors were unable to locate it, she went to Toronto to have the X-rays put into use.

MOTHER.

When I bin swimmin' all day long,
An' had a fight or two,
An' come home in the ev'nin' time
There's just one thing that always seems
My angry thoughts to smother;
An' I ferget 'em when I see
The smilin' face of mother.

An' father sez when he comes home
From troubles on the street;
He sez that gentle smile, it makes
The whole blamed world look sweet.
An' Carlo's dog talk sez so, too,
An' so does sis and brother;
I tell you they ain't nothin' like
The smilin' face of mother.

It kinder brightens every place,
And I know what I know,
That when I die and go away—
Coz we all have to go—
I'll need one proof to show me where
I'm at, don't need to other,
I'll know it's Heaven, when I see
The smilin' face of mother.

Thinking of Building a Silo ?

Better Build it of Concrete

THE construction of a Silo affords an excellent example of what the farmer can do with Concrete—and of the superiority of Concrete over all other material for various structural work about the farm.

The usual wooden silo, besides being expensive, is far from satisfactory. In the first place, it does not endure; and, more important still—being far from weather-proof—its contents become water-logged—producing an unsanitary condition.

A Silo built of Concrete, on the other hand, is practically everlasting—it is proof against heat, cold and moisture—and it has the merit of comparative economy.

This economy feature is further explained in our free book—"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete."—which tells how to mix and use Concrete for the making of silos and other buildings on the farm.

HE WHO WAITS.

Wooed and Won His Bride as a Poor Young Man.

By CLARISSA MACKIE.

[Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.]

"Yes," said Fred Livingston as he skilfully threaded the maze of tables in the hotel dining room and led his mother and cousin to desirable places in a cool corner, "I rather pride myself on having found rooms for you here in the Crag House. They claimed they were filled to the brim, but I jingled my purse, the eagle screamed, and they passed the trick. How do you like it, Stella?"

The girl, half smiling at her cousin's rattling talk, was idly watching the gay scene of which she was a part.

"It's lovely, isn't it, Aunt Ju?" murmured the girl in a low tone that she might not interrupt Fred, who was ordering the meal. "I wonder if we will meet any acquaintances here."

Mrs. Livingston patted her stiffly arranged white puffs, pushed in a loose hairpin and twinkled her earrings with a slight toss of her head. "I trust we shall not meet any undesirable acquaintances," she said significantly.

Stella Hewitt flushed rosily, and her pretty teeth closed on her red lip. "To borrow Fred's simile, I suppose desirability is gauged by the scream of the eagle on the dollar."

"WHO WERE YOU SMILING AT, STELLA?"

"Vulgarity is not wit," returned her aunt tartly.

Fred turned a rubicund, good natured countenance toward them.

"Wrangling again?" he asked cheerfully. "What about now?"

Mrs. Livingston stared coldly at her son, and Stella merely acknowledged his question with a contemptuous little smile.

"Did you notice the chap that took our order?" asked Mr. Livingston, no whit abashed by their coolness.

"You mean the waiter?" Mrs. Livingston's strongly marked brows were elevated.

"Yes, the waiter. He's in my class at college. Don't get excited, mother. Lots of those chaps work their way through in this sort of way. They wait on table at these summer hotels and make a pretty penny."

"What is his name?" demanded Mrs. Livingston.

"Schneider," returned Fred nonchalantly—"a mighty nice little Dutchman too."

"Was that waiter at the Pines in Bellairy, the one who presumed to speak to Stella on the street one day—was he a college student?" This time Mrs. Livingston's voice was vibrant with eagerness.

Stella's color faded, leaving her face singularly white and strained. "Is it necessary to bring me into the discussion, Aunt Ju?" she asked disdainfully.

Fred looked uncomfortable. "You mean Forrest, Jim Forrest, I suppose. Oh, yes, he's a senior now. Good fellow too."

"I should think he might find a more dignified method of obtaining an education," sniffed Mrs. Livingston.

"Didn't uncle keep a chophouse?" asked Stella, with sudden clearness of tone.

"Hush!" Mrs. Livingston's face crimsoned angrily. "How dare you, Stella?"

"I'm sure he told me that once he kept a chophouse and an oyster parlor. He said he waited on the customers himself," persisted Stella wickedly.

Just then the diminutive Mr. Schneider arrived with the dinner, which he served most deftly and with an element of respect that must have been divided between the loveliness of the young woman he served and the recollection of the Livingston dollars as represented by young Fred, his classmate.

The conversation shifted to less dangerous ground, and the meal passed pleasantly. Fred strove to make himself agreeable to his indifferent cousin, while his mother aided with infinite tact to smooth the girl's ruffled composure.

Their stay at another mountain resort had been rather disastrous from Fred's point of view. Their first meal at the Pines had been marked by an accident. A candle had fallen over, and the flame had leaped to Stella's delicate lace sleeve and would have speedily enveloped her filmy gown had not the tall waiter who, unnoticed, had served them stripped off his coat and wrapped it about the girl, extinguishing the fire.

He had scorned Fred's generously proffered reward, received with urbanity Mrs. Livingston's patronizing commendation and thrilled at the gratitude in Stella's dark eyes. He had pretended not to see the soft little hand she graciously extended and, slipping on his coat, had rearranged the table, served the dessert and sent the hotel physician to see them.

The week that followed was a strange one for Stella Hewitt. Proud and high spirited, resenting the love-making of her cousin, abetted by his mother, who was Stella's guardian as well as aunt, the girl found herself deeply interested in the individuality of the man who waited on the table. He had never presumed by so much as a glance upon the incident in the dining room, and Stella liked him the better for it. One day she had met him on one of the mountain paths, and she had stopped and thanked him prettily for the service.

"I'm going to let you thank me some other time," he had said gravely.

Just at that moment Fred had appeared, and he had uttered some sharp words that divulged the fact that he knew who the waiter was.

The next day the waiter disappeared, and two days afterward Mrs. Livingston found it convenient to move on to another resort. Stella understood and smiled a bitter little smile.

Now she felt a little throb of exultation that her instinct had not been wrong. She had recognized in the man who had saved her life some claim to distinction. She admired him for his pluck and perseverance. She felt that he was more to be respected than Fred, who lazily accepted what the gods (and his industrious father) had provided and was without ambition of any sort, if one excepted his desire to wed Stella.

Dessert was served, and Stella, playing idly with her spoon, looked across the large room and saw Jim Forrest looming large in the distance, bearing a tray carefully poised on one palm. Their eyes met across the intervening space, and Stella smiled. Forrest did not return the greeting.

"Who were you smiling at, Stella?" demanded Fred hastily.

She did not reply.

Mrs. Livingston had seen, however, and so it was the very next day they gave up the rooms Fred had engaged and went back to town where there would be no doubt as to who would serve the soup and where there were no dangerous candelabra on the table.

September came, and Fred went back to college, a rejected suitor. Stella was most unhappy with her aunt, who could not conceal the bitter disappointment she suffered in her son's failure to win Stella.

The girl was very gentle with the older woman, who chided her with ingratitude and coldness. At last she sent Stella away for a long visit to another relative in the west, while she turned her thoughts to other matters and tried to forget the failure of her cherished plans.

In March Fred suddenly married a pretty girl—the sister of one of his classmates—and his college career came to an abrupt close.

One night at dinner a telegram was brought to Mrs. Livingston. She read it and uttered a startled exclamation.

"Why—Stella is married!" she exclaimed.

"To whom?" asked Fred.

"She doesn't say—merely 'Will be with you during our honeymoon. Letter explains.' Who can it be? She hasn't mentioned any one in her letters."

"Some cowpuncher," suggested Fred a little drearily, then with more animation, "I say, mother, you remember that chap, Jim Forrest, who waited on table at Bellairy last summer—the one who saved Stella's life?"

"Yes."

"Why, he's turned out to be all sorts of a big gun. Seems his father made him work his way through college—told him he didn't care what he did so long as the labor was honest—and now the old man's dead and Forrest is worth a cool ten million!

Mrs. Livingston flushed deeply. "It would have made a splendid match for Stella," she said regretfully. "But that's always the way. If she had chosen him it would have turned out he was a beggar."

"You could trust Stella to pick out the right party, only, you see, you scared them both off, mother. I don't believe either one of them thought of love or anything else. He was merely polite, and Stella was grateful to him. If they had been left alone it might have developed into a pretty romance, eh, Florrie?" He grinned across at his pretty little wife.

She nodded wisely. "Poor old Stella!" she said condescendingly.

The letter from Stella never came, but Stella came herself, with her husband in tow—none other than big Jim Forrest himself.

"I won her as a poor man," he said proudly to Fred, "first as a waiter, and afterward I met her on the Rose Leaf ranch, in Wyoming, of which I am part owner. As a cowpuncher I made her love me, and I have only told her today that she won't have to count the pennies, and, say, she's disappointed, I do believe!"

But those who looked at Stella's happy face, with its radiant eyes and expression of perfect love and trust in her husband, felt that, whatever disappointment Stella might have as to her husband's fortune, she was quite satisfied with him.

CLIMBING MOUNT ROBSON.

English Mountaineer and Swiss Guide Admits It Is Too Much For Him.

The mountain climber is the only one real aerial artists. Your aviator is not an artist—he doesn't work. The lank-haired chap who occasionally deluges editorial desks with beribboned manuscripts only imagines that his cranium is in the clouds. Really, the rustling femme charmante who strives for the high notes in the social scale approaches more to the climber.

Mr. A. L. Mumm, an Englishman, lately has been trying some high performing in the West at Yellowhead Pass out Rocky Mountain way. He has attempted to foot it up Mount Robson, whose peak pokes its head into the misty vapors seventeen thousand, five hundred feet above terra firma. That's somewhat harder than picking your way upstairs at two a.m.—plus. The mountain climber has no engine to pump him up. He just digs his heels in the mud and climbs every step of the way. And when he gets there, and looks down at the ants and their mole hills! Monarch of all he surveys is your mountain climber in hackneyed phraseology. With head on the dome of heaven, he is statesman and poet rolled into one.

Mr. Mumm did not conquer Robson. He started out there in July, and for two months has been waiting for the snow to melt on the side of the monster. The slides on Robson frightened even his Swiss guide. Mumm has just returned to Edmonton and says that Robson is too much for him. He has given the project considerable of his time. Last year he and L. M. Amery, Earl Grey's journalistic friend, went out to Robson in August. They got into a snow-storm and slide reminiscent of the glacial epoch. Messrs. Mumm and Amery climbed into their winter underwear and went home. Says Mumm:

"I think that Robson is a peak that will never be climbed very often." Robson has been captured once. A mild, retired clergyman, Rev. A. Kinney, and packer Phillips of the G.T.P. got to the top—nearly dropping their lives. The jaunt up and back took them two whole days.

Climber Mumm has done some tall work in the Alps. In the Rockies, his altitude record is eleven thousand feet made this summer on a neighboring hill of Robson's.

A Remedy Suggested.

The two things which struck the people who came in contact with Father Vaughan while he stayed in Canada were his vigor and the very practical nature of everything he said. He seemed to be a man who could not possibly deal in abstracts, which characteristic will doubtless keep him in the public eye. When he speaks he may always be counted upon to "say something," and he has the courage of his convictions, even when they do not prove very popular. One little anecdote about him indicates that he is equally practical in his actions, and does not believe in spending his time upon futile trips or in unproductive effort.

His schedule did not allow him to stay in Toronto as long as he would have liked, and his friends wished him to make some changes so as to see more of that city. He consulted Father Burke, who informed him that if he stayed in Toronto it would be necessary to curtail his visit to Niagara Falls.

"Well, I would not mind that," said Father Vaughan, "is there anything to see there except water?"

There is a sequel to this little incident, which shows that the now famous remarks about Protestantism displeased even some members of his own faith. They may have agreed with his views, but experience of living in a community of mixed religions had taught them to use a little tact in voicing some of their convictions. One of these priests, who doubtless feared a little hard feeling in his own parish, heard the remark of the practical English orator concerning Niagara Falls, but he did not seem at all amused by it. He may have resented the reflection upon Ontario's chief side-show, or the Montreal speech may have been worrying him. "He should have been told that it is an excellent place for some persons to soak their heads," was his only comment.

Poor Boys' Academy.

J. J. Kelso, who looks after neglected children in Ontario, has an idea. He is advertising for $50,000 to carry it out. Mr. Kelso wishes to build a poor boys' academy. At present the poor boy takes a chance at the rich boys' school. That is the good poor boy. The bad poor boys are committed to the Industrial School, where they wear a uniform, and, as Mr. Kelso remarks, are placed under the stigma of the criminal. Mr. Kelso's suggestion is open to discussion. Would he mix good and bad poor boys at his academy?—Canadian Courier.

Twitching of the Nerves

Wonderful cure brought about by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

It is only by watching the symptoms of nervous exhaustion and applying restorative treatment that you can ever hope to ward off locomotor ataxia and paralysis.

Mrs. E. J. Vanderburgh, of Eastern Welland Ave., St. Catherines, Ont., states:—"For twenty-one years I was badly afflicted with heart trouble, nervousness and cramps in the limbs, also twitching of the nerves and nervous headaches. I became weak, debilitated and emaciated. My condition was distressing and I was made worse through worry and loss of sleep.

"I tried a hundred remedies in vain. After having used half a dozen boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food my old trouble had entirely vanished, and I was enjoying better health than I had since girlhood."

Such cases as this prove the wonderful efficiency of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food. It cures in Nature's way by enriching the blood and for this reason by enriching the blood and its benefits are lasting. 50 cts. a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

AFTER SUFFERING TEN YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

MARLTON, N.J.—I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has given me new life. I suffered for ten years with serious female troubles, inflammation, ulceration, indigestion, nervousness, and could not sleep. Doctors gave me up, as they said my troubles were chronic. I was in despair, and did not care whether I lived or died, when I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; so I began to take it, and am well again and relieved of all my suffering."—MRS. GEORGE JORDY, Box 40, Marlton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., from women who have been cured from almost every form of female complaints, inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration. Every suffering woman owes it to herself to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

Mr. Butler Talks On St. John.

Mr. M. J. Butler, Dominion Iron & Steel Co., made some important remarks at the Canadian Club in St. John the other night. Mr. Butler thinks that city ought to be the model port of America. He says Montreal is to be Canada's summer port and St. John the haven of the winter mariner. He commented on the facilities of St. John—in the front row with the best of any town in the Dominion to-day. Courtenay Bay on the east of the harbor gave the ex-railroader an idea. Why does not enterprise get a spade and dredge the bay and knock a few more wharves into shape? Another point of Mr. Butler's:

"With proper freight handling mechanism between the wharves and steamers, your port, figuratively speaking, would be on an average of about 250 or 300 miles inland." He fished out a map during his lecture to the club, and traced the future of St. John. He reminded the diners that they would be sure of roping in the transcontinental roads—St. John would be a big terminal point in five years. He also referred to the Hudson Bay dream fast approaching reality. Mr. Butler set out to prove that if Hudson Bay and Straits are navigable, the Maritime Provinces will find it much easier to ship their stuff up to Port Nelson, across the Bay to the West. And where does St. John come in if this is so? Mr. Butler's answer: "St. John is the natural port of the Maritime Provinces."

George Gandler conducting the services. Mr. Beamish was a member of the Orange Order and of the Masonic Lodge, the members of the latter Order attending his funeral.

Mr. Pat Young was found lying unconscious in his brother's meat shop in Brampton one afternoon recently. The young man was engaged in scraping a cutting block when through some mischance his feet slipped and he fell forward on the sharp part of the scraper which caught him on the temple. He was rendered unconscious and continued that way for some time after he was found. The young man was alone in the shop when the accident occurred and might have bled to death had not a neighbor stepped in and found him. Mr. Young will be around in a day or so.

MOTHERS APPRECIATE BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Because they are the only medicine which gives the guarantee of a Government analyst to contain no opium, morphine or other harmful narcotic. This means the mother can give this medicine to her youngest baby with absolute safety. Thousands of mothers know this and will give no other medicine to their little ones. The Tablets cannot do harm—they always do good. When the little one has a cold, baby indigestion, colic; when he has worms or his teeth are troubling him, Baby's Own Tablets will prove their worth. Concerning them Mrs. E. Merriam, Shetland, Ont., writes:—"I use Baby's Own Tablets for my three little ones and consider them the very best medicine during the teething period. The Tablets are sold at 25 cents a box by all medicine dealers or direct from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BANK OF HAMILTON PROSPERING.

"Year's Statement Shows Increase in Total Assets and a Generally Healthy Condition."

The shareholders of the Bank of Hamilton have reason to feel pleased over the evidences of prosperity, contained in the Annual Statement presented to them at the Thirty-ninth Annual Meeting of the Bank, which was held on the 16th of January.

From $39,000,000, a year ago, the Bank's total assets have increased to $41,314,369.21.

On the 30th of November, 1909, the balance at credit of Profit and Loss account was $403,665.32. This has been augmented by the past year's profits and by premium received on new stock, to a total of $1,006,325.34. Out of this latter sum, $500,000 has been carried to the Reserve Fund; $25,000 carried to Rebate of Interest account; and $25,000 written off Bank premises; the dividends, amounting to 10 per cent., disposed of another $258,514.53—thus leaving $192,810.81 to be carried to the credit of Profit and Loss Account.

Deposits show an increase over the previous year. In 1909 they were $30,981,464.63. In 1910 they increased to $32,310,001.03.

The Reserve Fund has been augmented from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000; while the capital stock is $2,680,570.

The increasing of the Reserve is an indication of sound, conservative policy; while further evidence of good management is to be found in the large proportion of liquid assets shown by this Statement. These latter include $636,263.15 in Gold and Silver Coin, and $3,399,611.00 in Dominion Government Notes; notes of and cheques on other Banks covering another million-and-a-half; $3,725,337.26 is held in Canadian Municipal Securities and foreign Public Securities, and $725,079.79 in Bonds, Debentures and Stocks.

Altogether the Report shows a highly satisfactory condition and furnishes further proof of that careful direction of the Bank of Hamilton's affairs that has brought this institution to the position it occupies among leading Canadian banks.

A WORTHY CITIZEN.

Mr. Jno. T. Lawson Presented With An Address and a Fur-Lined Overcoat.

About one hundred of the business men and citizens of Orangeville met in the Public Library Auditorium on Saturday night, Jan. 7th, at 9.30 o'clock for the purpose of bidding farewell to Mr. Jno. T. Lawson prior to his departure for Regina. Mayor Riddell occupied the chair and, after expressing the general regret the announcement of Mr. Lawson's approaching departure had occasioned, called that gentleman to the platform and read the following address:—

Orangeville, Jan. 7th, 1911

Dear Mr. Lawson,—We, your friends and fellow-citizens, beg to assure you that it is with sincere regret that we have heard that in a few days you are going to leave Orangeville to take up your abode in Western Canada. You have occupied so prominent a place, and have taken so active and intelligent an interest in all that pertained to the welfare and upbuilding of this town that your departure leaves vacant a place that will not easily be filled. You have resided here the greater part of the time for thirty years, and have filled many important offices with efficiency and acceptance.

An Elder and a Manager of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, a member, and for some years Chairman of the Public School Board; for a short time a member of the Town Council; Vice-President for Orangeville of the Dufferin Liberal-Conservative Association—in all these important offices you have by suavity, devotion to duty and liberality of view endeared yourself to all classes of citizens, while as a business man you have won success by fair and honorable dealing.

That the feeling of regret at your departure is general has been shown by the ready even eager responses to the call to present you with some tangible evidence of the high esteem in which you are held by us all.

Kindly accept from us this furlined overcoat as a souvenir in future days of the old friends you left behind in Orangeville.

We wish you and your family much happiness and prosperity in your new home in one of the Western Provinces of our Great Dominion.

Signed on behalf of your friends and the citizens of Orangeville.

W. H. RIDDELL,
Mayor.
A. D. McKITRICK.

The presentation was made by ex-Mayor McKitrick. Mr. Lawson, who was visibly affected, replied briefly, referring in a feeling manner to the many kindnesses he had received from the people of Orangeville during his business career in the town. Short addresses were afterwards delivered by Principal Steele, of the High School, C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., ex-Mayor Endacott, Geo. McIntyre, A. D. McKitrick, Geo. A. Campbell, James Dodds, Andrew Hill and several others. Before dispersing all united in singing, "Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Lawson left for Regina on Monday morning, carrying with him the hearty good wishes of his fellow-citizens here. Through his removal Orangeville loses and Regina gains a useful, upright and public-spirited citizen.

—January fair day was a hummer in town. The crowd approached the record mark. There was a whole regiment of horse-buyers here and considerable buying was done, although the farmers were as a rule asking fancy prices.

CONSERVATIVES IN SESSION.

Dufferin County Association Held Its Annual Meeting In Shelburne on Friday.

Representatives at Ottawa and Toronto Made Speeches on Questions of the Day.

The annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the County of Dufferin was held in the Town Hall in Shelburne last Friday afternoon. The meeting, which was one of the largest in the history of the Association, was attended by over 150 Conservative stalwarts from all parts of the constituency. Nearly every sub-division in the County had one or more representatives present.

Although the meeting was called for one o'clock, it was nearly half an hour later, when President Wm. Pacey took the chair, and, after a few introductory remarks, announced that the Association was ready for business.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. E. C. Campbell, of Shelburne, then read the minutes of last annual meeting, which were confirmed as read.

The election of officers, which was the next order of business, resulted as follows:—

Hon.-President — Paul Gallaugher, Mulmur.

President—Wm. Pacey, Amaranth.

Vice-President—Dr. A. J. Hunter, Orangeville.

Sec'y.-Treasurer—Dr. E. C. Campbell, Shelburne.

Vice-Presidents of Municipalities — Melanethon, Wm. Keys, Corbetton; Mulmur, Arch. Greer, Perm; Mono, H. T. Anderson, Camilla; Amaranth, Geo. Davis, Campania; East Luther, Geo. Johnston, Tarbert; East Garafraxa, T. J. Duffy, Grand Valley; Orangeville, Dr. W. H. Riddell; Shelburne, Dr. Thos. Babe; Grand Valley, Dr. M. W. Berwick.

Following the election general business was taken up and several questions relating to the welfare of the Association were threshed out.

Messrs. John A. Best, M.P. and C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., Dufferin's two Parliamentary representatives, were present and were called upon to address the Association.

Mr. Best, who was given quite an ovation when he ascended the platform, was in excellent form, and delivered a fluent and convincing address. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Best gave an instructive explanation of some of the rules of the House and the manner in which they work out. He also dealt with the functions of the Public Accounts Committee and the Senate. The latter he characterized as a useless body, whose members did little except draw their salaries of $2500 per annum. Mr. Best also spoke of the attitude he had taken on the Miller Bill, or Anti-Gambling Bill, which he said he supported in the House on moral grounds. Much of the address was devoted to the naval question and an explanation of the difference in the attitude taken by the Government on the one hand and Mr. Borden and his followers on the other.

Mr. C. R. McKeown, who was also given a rousing reception, dealt at some length with the subject of bi-lingual schools. He was proud to be able to state that Premier Whitney had taken up this perplexing question in a serious manner and was utilizing every means he could command to put the educational system of the Province on a sound and satisfactory basis. The Premier, Mr. McKeown averred, would settle the question of bi-lingualism in the schools, even if it meant the sacrificing of several seats in Western Ontario. Mr. McKeown also made reference to the Banking Act now before the House of Commons and concluded with the prediction that after taking the census this year the Laurier Government would put through a Redistribution Bill in the hope of strengthening their position before again appealing to the country.

Before the meeting was brought to a close those present united in singing the National Anthem.

REFORMERS CONVENE.

County Association Re-organized in Shelburne Last Friday.

Hugh Falconer, of Shelburne, Succeeds James McCue as President.

Dufferin County Reform Association held a well-attended meeting in the Council Chamber in Shelburne at 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon. About 75 or 80 prominent Reformers from the various municipalities were present when the President, Mr. James McCue, of Dundalk, called the gathering to order. The President expressed his satisfaction at the excellent representation and said that the chief reason for holding a meeting at the present time was the desire to secure a better and more effective organization.

Officers were elected as follows:—

President — Hugh Falconer, Shelburne.

Secretary-Treasurer—T. J. O'Flynn, Shelburne.

Vice-Presidents—Orangeville, A. E. Annis; Shelburne, Geo. McAllister; Grand Valley, James J. Reith; East Luther, G. R. McWhirter; East Garafraxa, Wm. Park; Amaranth, Ed. Groskurth; Mono, George Dodds; Mulmur, James Williamson; Melancthon, Wm. Hunter.

These, with the President and Secretary-Treasurer, will constitute the Executive of the Association.

On motion of D. B. Brown, Orangeville, and Chas. Mason, Shelburne, a vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers.

A resolution expressing confidence in the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was enthusiastically adopted on motion of A. E. Annis, seconded by D. B. Brown.

On motion of Robt. Irvine, seconded by Robert Mann, the Association also expressed implicit confidence in the leadership of Hon. A. G. MacKay, who commands the Liberal Opposition in the Ontario Legislature.

The fact that the Liberal-Conservative Association of the County was holding its annual meeting in the Town Hall, directly over the Council Chamber, afforded opportunity for a unique, and shall we add significant, interchange of courtesies. Shortly after the Reformers got down to business, it was moved by D. B. Brown, seconded by T. R. Huxtable, that Warden Reith, Mr. Huxtable and the mover be a Committee "to convey the greetings of this Association to the Conservative Association now assembled in this village."

The expression of good-will brought an almost immediate response in the same kindly spirit, for a little later in the afternoon Mr. Robert Irvine introduced a deputation from the Conservative Association consisting of Messrs. G. M. Vance, Wm. McIntyre and Archie Greer. Mr. Vance read the following resolution:—

"Moved by C. R. McKeown, seconded by John A. Best, that we, the Conservatives of Dufferin, in our annual meeting assembled take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the kindly sentiments expressed in the greetings conveyed to us by the Liberal Association of Dufferin now assembled. We wish to reciprocate these kindly sentiments and express the hope that while we may differ in our political opinions we will all work for the general good of our beloved Dominion of Canada."

Mr. Vance added emphasis to the sentiments embodied in the resolution by a few well-chosen words, which were received with hearty applause.

The Association will hold next year's meeting in Shelburne on the second Tuesday in January.

AN INTERESTING CONTEST.

The Library voting contest which is being started this week promises to be an extremely interesting event. Already we have had many enquiries for particulars from interested parties outside as well as in the town. In another column will be found the names of the Orangeville merchants who will give votes during the five months of the contest. This elegant Library, with a handsome Macey sectional bookcase, will be given free to the Lodge, Society, School, Church or Institute having the largest number of ballots when the contest closes on June 30th. Send in your first votes with the name of your Church, Lodge, School, etc., which will serve the purpose of nominating the institution you wish to get the votes, and get right after the Library, which is one any organization should be proud to own. Remember that 10 votes with each 10 cent. purchase will mean a lot to one who deals with "Library" merchants.

UNION LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Mono East Union Literary Society held its weekly meeting in the Orange Hall on Saturday night, a good crowd being present. The following programme was provided and was greatly enjoyed by all:—Song by Hugh Crombie; Union Saturday Night paper read by Miss Annie Holmes; gramaphone selections by Mr. Reid; reading by Miss Greta Crozier; organ solo by Miss Mary Holmes; a reading by Miss Effa Dodds and two minute speeches by all the boys present. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close. A good programme has been arranged for next Saturday, including a debate on the subject, "Resolved that a Man will do more for Honor than Money." Everybody welcome.

—Help to swell the Hospital Fund by attending the High Tea and Concert in the Town Hall Friday night.

H. S. LITERARY.

The High School Literary Society held a very pleasant meeting on Thursday afternoon. The most interesting feature on the programme was a debate. "Resolved that Monarchical Government is Superior to Democratic Government." The affirmative was supported by Miss Enid Frank and Mr. Harry Lewis and the negative by Miss Mildred White and Mr. Charlie Brown. The negative won the decision. Miss Estelle McManus gave a well rendered piano solo, Miss J. Richardson read an essay prepared by Miss Greta Crozier and Miss Grace McLaine gave a humorous reading. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

BANK OF HAMILTON PROSPERING.

"Year's Statement Shows Increase in Total Assets and a Generally Healthy Condition."

The shareholders of the Bank of Hamilton have reason to feel pleased over the evidences of prosperity, contained in the Annual Statement presented to them at the Thirty-ninth Annual Meeting of the Bank, which was held on the 16th of January.

From $39,000,000, a year ago, the Bank's total assets have increased to $41,314,369.21.

On the 30th of November, 1909, the balance at credit of Profit and Loss account was $403,665.32. This has been augmented by the past year's profits and by premium received on new stock, to a total of $1,006,325.34. Out of this latter sum, $500,000 has been carried to the Reserve Fund; $25,000 carried to Rebate of Interest account; and $25,000 written off Bank premises; the dividends, amounting to 10 per cent., disposed of another $258,514.53—thus leaving $192,810.81 to be carried to the credit of Profit and Loss Account.

Deposits show an increase over the previous year. In 1909 they were $30,981,464.63. In 1910 they increased to $32,310,001.03.

The Reserve Fund has been augmented from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000; while the capital stock is $2,680,570.

The increasing of the Reserve is an indication of sound, conservative policy; while further evidence of good management is to be found in the large proportion of liquid assets shown by this Statement. These latter include $636,263.15 in Gold and Silver Coin, and $3,399,611.00 in Dominion Government Notes; notes of and cheques on other Banks covering another million-and-a-half; $3,725,337.26 is held in Canadian Municipal Securities and foreign Public Securities, and $725,079.79 in Bonds, Debentures and Stocks.

Altogether the Report shows a highly satisfactory condition and furnishes further proof of that careful direction of the Bank of Hamilton's affairs that has brought this institution to the position it occupies among leading Canadian banks.

A WORTHY CITIZEN.

Mr. Jno. T. Lawson Presented With An Address and a Fur-Lined Overcoat.

About one hundred of the business men and citizens of Orangeville met in the Public Library Auditorium on Saturday night, Jan. 7th, at 9.30 o'clock for the purpose of bidding farewell to Mr. Jno. T. Lawson prior to his departure for Regina. Mayor Riddell occupied the chair and, after expressing the general regret the announcement of Mr. Lawson's approaching departure had occasioned, called that gentleman to the platform and read the following address:—

Orangeville, Jan. 7th, 1911

Dear Mr. Lawson,—We, your friends and fellow-citizens, beg to assure you that it is with sincere regret that we have heard that in a few days you are going to leave Orangeville to take up your abode in Western Canada. You have occupied so prominent a place, and have taken so active and intelligent an interest in all that pertained to the welfare and upbuilding of this town that your departure leaves vacant a place that will not easily be filled. You have resided here the greater part of the time for thirty years, and have filled many important offices with efficiency and acceptance.

An Elder and a Manager of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, a member, and for some years Chairman of the Public School Board; for a short time a member of the Town Council; Vice-President for Orangeville of the Dufferin Liberal-Conservative Association—in all these important offices you have by suavity, devotion to duty and liberality of view endeared yourself to all classes of citizens, while as a business man you have won success by fair and honorable dealing.

That the feeling of regret at your departure is general has been shown by the ready even eager responses to the call to present you with some tangible evidence of the high esteem in which you are held by us all.

Kindly accept from us this furlined overcoat as a souvenir in future days of the old friends you left behind in Orangeville.

We wish you and your family much happiness and prosperity in your new home in one of the Western Provinces of our Great Dominion.

Signed on behalf of your friends and the citizens of Orangeville.

W. H. RIDDELL, Mayor.
A. D. McKITRICK.

The presentation was made by ex-Mayor McKitrick. Mr. Lawson, who was visibly affected, replied briefly, referring in a feeling manner to the many kindnesses he had received from the people of Orangeville during his business career in the town. Short addresses were afterwards delivered by Principal Steele, of the High School, C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., ex-Mayor Endacott, Geo. McIntyre, A. D. McKitrick, Geo. A. Campbell, James Dodds, Andrew Hill and several others. Before dispersing all united in singing, "Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Lawson left for Regina on Monday morning, carrying with him the hearty good wishes of his fellow-citizens here. Through his removal Orangeville loses and Regina gains a useful, upright and public-spirited citizen.

—January fair day was a hummer in town. The crowd approached the record mark. There was a whole regiment of horse-buyers here and considerable buying was done, although the farmers were as a rule asking fancy prices.

CONSERVATIVES IN SESSION.

Dufferin County Association Held Its Annual Meeting In Shelburne on Friday.

Representatives at Ottawa and Toronto Made Speeches on Questions of the Day.

The annual meeting of the Liberal-Conservative Association of the County of Dufferin was held in the Town Hall in Shelburne last Friday afternoon. The meeting, which was one of the largest in the history of the Association, was attended by over 150 Conservative stalwarts from all parts of the constituency. Nearly every sub-division in the County had one or more representatives present.

Although the meeting was called for one o'clock, it was nearly half an hour later, when President Wm. Pacey took the chair, and, after a few introductory remarks, announced that the Association was ready for business.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. E. C. Campbell, of Shelburne, then read the minutes of last annual meeting, which were confirmed as read.

The election of officers, which was the next order of business, resulted as follows:—

Hon.-President — Paul Gallaugher, Mulmur.

President—Wm. Pacey, Amaranth.

Vice-President—Dr. A. J. Hunter, Orangeville.

Sec'y.-Treasurer—Dr. E. C. Campbell, Shelburne.

Vice-Presidents of Municipalities — Melancthon, Wm. Keys, Corbetton; Mulmur, Arch. Greer, Perm; Mono, H. T. Anderson, Camilla; Amaranth, Geo. Davis, Campania; East Luther, Geo. Johnston, Tarbert; East Garafraxa, T. J. Duffy, Grand Valley; Orangeville, Dr. W. H. Riddell; Shelburne, Dr. Thos. Babe; Grand Valley, Dr. M. W. Berwick.

Following the election general business was taken up and several questions relating to the welfare of the Association were threshed out.

Messrs. John A. Best, M.P. and C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., Dufferin's two Parliamentary representatives, were present and were called upon to address the Association.

Mr. Best, who was given quite an ovation when he ascended the platform, was in excellent form, and delivered a fluent and convincing address. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Best gave an instructive explanation of some of the rules of the House and the manner in which they work out. He also dealt with the functions of the Public Accounts Committee and the Senate. The latter he characterized as a useless body, whose members did little except draw their salaries of $2500 per annum. Mr. Best also spoke of the attitude he had taken on the Miller Bill, or Anti-Gambling Bill, which he said he supported in the House on moral grounds. Much of the address was devoted to the naval question and an explanation of the difference in the attitude taken by the Government on the one hand and Mr. Borden and his followers on the other.

Mr. C. R. McKeown, who was also given a rousing reception, dealt at some length with the subject of bi-lingual schools. He was proud to be able to state that Premier Whitney had taken up this perplexing question in a serious manner and was utilizing every means he could command to put the educational system of the Province on a sound and satisfactory basis. The Premier, Mr. McKeown averred, would settle the question of bi-lingualism in the schools, even if it meant the sacrificing of several seats in Western Ontario. Mr. McKeown also made reference to the Banking Act now before the House of Commons and concluded with the prediction that after taking the census this year the Laurier Government would put through a Redistribution Bill in the hope of strengthening their position before again appealing to the country.

Before the meeting was brought to a close those present united in singing the National Anthem.

REFORMERS CONVENE.

County Association Re-organized in Shelburne Last Friday.

Hugh Falconer, of Shelburne, Succeeds James McCue as President.

Dufferin County Reform Association held a well-attended meeting in the Council Chamber in Shelburne at 2 o'clock last Friday afternoon. About 75 or 80 prominent Reformers from the various municipalities were present when the President, Mr. James McCue, of Dundalk, called the gathering to order. The President expressed his satisfaction at the excellent representation and said that the chief reason for holding a meeting at the present time was the desire to secure a better and more effective organization.

Officers were elected as follows:—

President — Hugh Falconer, Shelburne.

Secretary-Treasurer—T. J. O'Flynn, Shelburne.

Vice-Presidents—Orangeville, A. E. Annis; Shelburne, Geo. McAllister; Grand Valley, James J. Reith; East Luther, G. R. McWhirter; East Garafraxa, Wm. Park; Amaranth, Ed. Groskurth; Mono, George Dodds; Mulmur, James Williamson; Melanethon, Wm. Hunter.

These, with the President and Secretary-Treasurer, will constitute the Executive of the Association.

On motion of D. B. Brown, Orangeville, and Chas. Mason, Shelburne, a vote of thanks was tendered to the retiring officers.

A resolution expressing confidence in the Government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier was enthusiastically adopted on motion of A. E. Annis, seconded by D. B. Brown.

On motion of Robt. Irvine, seconded by Robert Mann, the Association also expressed implicit confidence in the leadership of Hon. A. G. MacKay, who commands the Liberal Opposition in the Ontario Legislature.

The fact that the Liberal-Conservative Association of the County was holding its annual meeting in the Town Hall, directly over the Council Chamber, afforded opportunity for a unique, and shall we add significant, interchange of courtesies. Shortly after the Reformers got down to business, it was moved by D. B. Brown, seconded by T. R. Huxtable, that Warden Reith, Mr. Huxtable and the mover be a Committee "to convey the greetings of this Association to the Conservative Association now assembled in this village."

The expression of good-will brought an almost immediate response in the same kindly spirit, for a little later in the afternoon Mr. Robert Irvine introduced a deputation from the Conservative Association consisting of Messrs. G. M. Vance, Wm. McIntyre and Archie Greer. Mr. Vance read the following resolution:—

"Moved by C. R. McKeown, seconded by John A. Best, that we, the Conservatives of Dufferin, in our annual meeting assembled take this opportunity of expressing our appreciation of the kindly sentiments expressed in the greetings conveyed to us by the Liberal Association of Dufferin now assembled. We wish to reciprocate these kindly sentiments and express the hope that while we may differ in our political opinions we will all work for the general good of our beloved Dominion of Canada."

Mr. Vance added emphasis to the sentiments embodied in the resolution by a few well-chosen words, which were received with hearty applause.

The Association will hold next year's meeting in Shelburne on the second Tuesday in January.

AN INTERESTING CONTEST.

The Library voting contest which is being started this week promises to be an extremely interesting event. Already we have had many enquiries for particulars from interested parties outside as well as in the town. In another column will be found the names of the Orangeville merchants who will give votes during the five months of the contest. This elegant Library, with a handsome Macey sectional bookcase, will be given free to the Lodge, Society, School, Church or Institute having the largest number of ballots when the contest closes on June 30th. Send in your first votes with the name of your Church, Lodge, School, etc., which will serve the purpose of nominating the institution you wish to get the votes, and get right after the Library, which is one any organization should be proud to own. Remember that 10 votes with each 10 cent. purchase will mean a lot to one who deals with "Library" merchants.

UNION LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Mono East Union Literary Society held its weekly meeting in the Orange Hall on Saturday night, a good crowd being present. The following programme was provided and was greatly enjoyed by all:—Song by Hugh Crombie; Union Saturday Night paper read by Miss Annie Holmes; gramaphone selections by Mr. Reid; reading by Miss Greta Crozier; organ solo by Miss Mary Holmes; a reading by Miss Effa Dodds and two minute speeches by all the boys present. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close. A good programme has been arranged for next Saturday, including a debate on the subject, "Resolved that a Man will do more for Honor than Money." Everybody welcome.

—Help to swell the Hospital Fund by attending the High Tea and Concert in the Town Hall Friday night.

H. S. LITERARY.

The High School Literary Society held a very pleasant meeting on Thursday afternoon. The most interesting feature on the programme was a debate. "Resolved that Monarchical Government is Superior to Democratic Government." The affirmative was supported by Miss Enid Frank and Mr. Harry Lewis and the negative by Miss Mildred White and Mr. Charlie Brown. The negative won the decision. Miss Estelle McManus gave a well rendered piano solo, Miss J. Richardson read an essay prepared by Miss Greta Crozier and Miss Grace McLaine gave a humorous reading. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

For the cure of all diseases arising from impure blood, that horses are subject to, and particularly inflammation of the bladder and kidneys. By their use the horse's appetite is improved, and they tend to give to the coat a sleek and smooth appearance. We also specially recommend them for worms and swelled legs.

We have been manufacturing this powder for 21 years, and have yet to see the one that can surpass it. It has no equal, and if it will not do all we claim, we will refund you your money. Price 25c. a package; 5 packages for $1.00.

MONO MILLS.

Bishop Sweeney, of Toronto, will be present for the induction of Rev. R. J. W. Perry on Wednesday 18th inst. Induction services will be at St. John's Church, Mono, beginning at 3 o'clock p.m. There will also be a service at the Church in Mono Mills beginning at 7 o'clock p.m., followed by a social evening in the hall.

Mr. David Patterson, one of the oldest residents of Albion, was buried in St. John's cemetery, Mono, on Sunday afternoon last.

Mr. Selwyn Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, of Neepawa, Man., spent New Year's with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson here.

Mr. Samuel Jackson, also of Neepawa, is spending the winter here.

The young people of the Methodist Church here have organized a literary society and are holding their first meeting at the home of Mr. W. A. Dowling on Tuesday evening of this week.

The annual meeting of the Mono Mills Telephone Association, which took place on Tuesday, Dec. 27, 1910, showed that this concern is in a good thriving condition, with a full paid up membership of over eighty subscribers, and with a balance on hand of about $260. During the coming year the company expect to extend their lines in many directions to meet the demands of those who are anxious to become members of the Association. The following are the names of the officers for the year 1911:—

President—Dr. M. Dunning.
Vice-President—Mr. Wesley Duke.
Secretary—Mr. J. A. Vance.
Treasurer—Mr. Ira Stork.
Directors—Messrs. A. M. Speers, W. A. Irwin, W. Kee, W. J. McKinley, Geo. Holmes and John E. Jackson.
Board of Management—Dr. Dunning, Messrs. Geo. Lee and Geo. McManus.

At this meeting a communication was read by the Secretary from the Consolidated Telephone Co., of Caledon, making application for a connecting arrangement between the two systems.

LAUREL.

The many readers of The Banner will be pleased to learn that the new skating rink in our little town was opened on Wednesday evening, Jan. 11th. The rink was free to all comers for the opening night and upwards of fifty young men and ladies enjoyed a very pleasant evening upon the ice. The manager, Mr. J. Maltby, intends making the rink an enjoyable place for the young people to spend a social and enjoyable time together and extends an invitation to all the young people of the neighborhood to patronize the rink. We would like to see the venture a success, as our young people have spent a great deal of time and money on the undertaking. Manager Maltby will do his best to make his guests comfortable.

Farmington District L. O. L. held its annual meeting in L. O. L. 330 hall on Tuesday of last week. A goodly number of the members were in attendance. The reports showed an increase of membership in the district. Officers were elected as follows:—W. M., Bro. Geo. Davis, Campania; D. M., Bro. W. J. Hamilton, Whittington; Chaplain, Bro. Robt. Wansbrough, Bowling Green; Rec.-Secretary, Bro. Thos. Bryan, Laurel; Fin.-Secretary and Treasurer, Bro. Wm. Stewart, Bowling Green; Lecturer, Bro. Jos. Langtree, Laurel; Director of Ceremonies, ——— After the Lodge closed the visiting members were treated to a sumptuous lunch in the hall, after which all dispersed, feeling that it was good to be there.

The Patrons of the Laurel Cheese Factory held their annual meeting in the Hall on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Considering the inclemency of the weather and the unfavorable condition of the roads there was a good attendance. Prospects for next season are bright. The Company has had the good fortune to again secure the services of our popular cheesemaker, Mr. Samuel Ranton. This is surely a matter for congratulation, as Mr. Ranton is a good man in every particular. The officers for the ensuing year are:—

President—Robt. Wansbrough.
Vice-President—George Nelson.
Sec.-Treasurer—John Johnston.
Salesman—Herbert Hughes.
Auditors—Albert Banks, John Walker.
Referee Committee—John Greason, Thos. Hamilton, Louis S. Johnston.

With such an efficient staff of officers to assist the cheesemaker, we have every confidence in the success of the factory next season.

On the 6th day of February next at 2 o'clock p.m., the patrons of the Cheese Factory will meet again in the Township Hall to receive the report of the canvassing committee and make final arrangements for the season's business.

We are pleased to learn that at their meeting on the 7th inst., The Dufferin Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company paid Mr. Herb. Banks' insurance claim of $2000 in full. Mr. Banks' total loss was over $3000, but he carried only $2000 insurance. The Dufferin Farmers' Mutual is true to the interests of its policy holders and its promptness in settling claims should be a strong recommendation to the farmers of the county to patronize it.

The Dufferin Farmers' Institute held its annual January meetings at Laurel on the 12th inst. The meetings were well attended and a great success. The afternoon and evening sessions were addressed by Mr. Gurney and Mr. Emerson. Mr. Gurney's subject in the evening, "The Horse and How to Train Him" was admirably handled and proved very interesting. The speaker also gave a very profitable talk on Spraying Fruit Trees. Mr. Emerson gave an extremely practical, interesting and inspiring address on the theme, "Home and Country."

L. O. L. 330 will hold a Royal Arch meeting in the Hall here on Friday evening, the 20th inst.

Over 150 of the young people of Amaranth disported themselves on the new Skating Rink on Saturday night. Manager Maltby had the ice in fine shape and the young people had an excellent evening's amusement.

(Another correspondent).

The annual social gathering in connection with the Laurel branch of the Ontario Women's Institute was held on Thursday evening, Jan. 5th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Greason, Sr. The President, Mrs. (Rev.) T. R. White, presided during the programme. Addresses were given by Rev. J. R. Bell and Rev. T. R. White, and instrumental music by Mr. Marshall Curry and Mr. John Maltby. Miss Jessie Johnston gave a reading. Mrs. Edward Richardson gave a report of the Ontario Women's Institute Convention held in Toronto in November. The local Secretary, Mrs. Geo. Nelson, presented a very encouraging report of the work of Laurel branch this far in the year. Each month the programme has been carried out according to the printed programme. The average attendance at the meetings was the largest in the history of the branch, and there is the largest paid up membership. A dinner party contest added much to the evening's pleasure. The ladies served refreshments at the close —67 present.

Miss McCartney, the Travelling Deaconness for the Methodist Deaconess Home and Training School, delivered three instructive and helpful addresses on the Laurel Circuit on Sunday, Jan. 8th.

The Dufferin Farmers' Institute met in the Township Hall on Thursday. There was a good attendance of the farmers of the community. In the afternoon Mr. Robt. Wansbrough presided and addresses were given by Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Gurney. The former gave a very practical and interesting lecture on "Dairying and The Growing of Corn and the Construction of a Cheap and Durable Silo." Mr. Gurney gave a very instructive address on "Horse Breeding." In the evening Mr. George Best, of Whitfield, County President, occupied the chair. Addresses were given by Mr. Gurney on "Training Horses," and "The Orchard," and Mr. Emmerson, on "Canada," which presented high ideals of citizenship. Mrs. (Rev.) T. R. White, President of the Laurel branch of the Ontario Women's Institute, conveyed the greetings of this Branch of the Women's Institute. Mr. Shields, Secretary of the Farmers' Institute, was also present, looking after the membership of the Society and received a large number of renewals, and also new members.

MARSVILLE.

(Intended for last week).

Court Shakespeare A. O. F. held its annual banquet and oyster supper in the hall, Orton, on Thursday evening of last week. The members and their wives, to the number of sixty, attended and greatly enjoyed the social event. An excellent menu was served, after which a good programme was rendered. Bro. V. Armstrong, C. R. very ably presided. Instrumental music was provided by Miss Boles and Mr. J. McArthur. Readings were given by Bro. D. Haws and Bro. N. Cook. Bro. T. Dearing and S. Depew gave short speeches. Bro. F. G. Butt, of Toronto, Superintendent of Organization, was present and gave a good address on the Order. On the following night Mr. Brett initiated six candidates into the secrets of the Order and also installed the following officers for the ensuing year:—P.C.R., Jas. Boggs; C.R., V. Armstrong; S.C.R., N. Dearing; Treas., D. Black; Secretary, L. Boggs; S. W., S. Dearing; J. W., C. Nevills; S. B., J. Haws; J. B., J. Mooney.

The Council held its inaugural meeting on Monday, when only the usual business was transacted. The members are the same as last year, with one exception. Mr. Jas. Brown is replaced by Mr. A. Richardson. The following are the township officers:—Clerk, Jno. Preston; Treasurer, J. H. Simpson; Assessor, D. M. Haws; Collector, Jno. Platt; Auditors, A. J. Simpson, S. Boggs.

A shooting match was held in the village on Saturday. Nearly every marksman of the neighborhood was present. The contest was for honey and our local apiarist succeeded in reducing his stock considerably. Each contest was for a 5 lb. pail and some of the contestants had several pails to their credit in the evening. True sportsmanship prevailed and all dispersed happy with the afternoon's outing.

Mr. Jas. Roxborough, Jr., has rented his farm on the 9th line, to his brother, William, and is having a sale next week. He intends going West in the spring.

—Dr. Bruce Smith, of Toronto, Inspector of Prisons, will speak on hospital work during the concert in the Town Hall on Friday night.

—Mr. J. H. Corbett, reeve for many years of the township of Proton, was defeated in this year's contest by a small majority. Mr. Corbett's undoing was not due to any loss of his oldtime popularity, but on account of the popular feeling against the by-law to raise $36000 for the purpose of aiding a company to build an electric railway, which was to cross the municipality.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your NEW METHOD TREATMENT for a serious blood disease with which I had been inflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the NEW METHOD TREATMENT for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish. W. McKITERICK—SARGENT.

There was a very happy gathering of relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Sargent, 3rd line, Erin, on Wednesday, Dec. 28th, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Nellie Sargent, to Mr. George McKiterick, farmer, of East Garafraxa. The groom was attended by Mr. J. P. Sutton and the bride by Miss L. Sargent, sister of the bride. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. R. Fowlie, at the close of which the bride and groom were heartily and happily congratulated by all present. The young couple go to reside near to the village of Waldemar, and the good wishes of a large circle of friends accompany them.

McGUIRE & McKITRICK,

HER PHYSICIAN ADVISED

Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound during change of life. My doctor told me it was good, and since taking it I feel so much better that I can do all my work again. I think Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fine remedy for all woman's troubles, and I never forget to tell my friends what it has done for me."—MRS. E. HANSON, 304 East Long St., Columbus, Ohio.

Another Woman Helped.

Graniteville, Vt.—"I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and strength, and proved worth mountains of gold to me. For the sake of other suffering women I am willing you should publish my letter."—MRS. CHARLES BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Rev. J. S. Duncan, pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Lucknow, was wedded to Miss Kate McIntyre, at Hespeler, a short time ago.

At the municipal elections Fergus voted on a by-law to loan Beatty Bros., $25,000 to extend their works, and carried it by 291 for to 18 against.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hostrawser, of Amaranth, have moved to Toronto, where Mr. Hostrawser has taken a position with the Massey Harris Company.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals throat and lungs . . 25 cents.

Reeve Carroll, of Erin Village, and the Local Option By-Law ran a very even race, He received 89 votes, Local Option 88. His opponent polled 65 and the liquor men 67.

In October the Kincardine light and water commission passed a resolution to inspect the water and light installations. This was carried out lately and it was found that patrons of the town's electric light service had been using 32 candlepower instead of 16 and that there were 110 lights from which the town was receiving no revenue.

A BILIOUS HEADACHE.

Bile in the blood is poison and causes pain. Mrs. Thos. Covert, Highland Grove, Ont., writes: "For years I suffered with biliousness, stomach trouble and terrible headaches. Having used Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills will say unhesitatingly that this is the most effective treatment obtainable for these troubles."

David Ross is the new president of Welland's Board of Trade.

The by-law to spend $200 a year, for five years, for street lighting in the police village of Horning's Mills, was carried by a vote of 39 to 26.

Edward Clark, of Glenvale, fell on a hay cutter, and his left leg was badly cut. He had to place the leg on a sleigh and shove it a distance of 200 yards to the house.

Samuel Sheardown, a farmer near Flesherton, had three cattle die of an ailment closely resembling rabies. A neighbor, F. W. Nicholson, lost several animals from the same cause. A head has been sent to Toronto for analysis.

A despatch from Cobalt says that John Terry has started suit against Alex. Marks, the showman, for $1000 for malicious arrest in connection with the disappearance of Marks' diamonds, valued at $1100, on the night of Dec. 17th.

The Secretary of Peel Lodge, 468, A. F. & A. M., read at their last meeting from a clipping of an old newspaper of the date Dec. 12th, 1800, the minutes of a meeting and a motion that was passed in Barton Masonic Lodge, No. 10, Hamilton, Ont., being an expression of regret at the death of George Washington, Grand Master of the Masonic Order of the United States.

A MODERN MIRACLE.

He Had Eczema 25 Years and Doctors Said "No Cure."

Yet Zam-Buk Has Worked Complete Cure.

This is the experience of a man of high reputation, widely known in Montreal, and whose case can readily be investigated. Mr. T. M. Marsh, the gentleman referred to, lives at 101 Delorimier Avenue, Montreal, and has lived there for years. For twenty-five years he had eczema on his hands and wrists. The disease first started in red blotches, which itched, and when scratched became painful. Bad sores followed, which discharged, and the discharge spread the disease until his hands were one raw, painful mass of sores. Just think of this state of affairs continuing for twenty-five years!

In that time four eminent medical men tried to cure him, and each gave up the case as hopeless in the end. Naturally, Mr. Marsh tried remedies of all kinds, but he, also, at last gave it up. For two years he had to wear gloves day and night so terrible was the pain and itching when the air got to the sores.

Then came Zam-Buk! He tried it, just as he had tried hundreds of remedies before. But he soon found out that Zam-Buk was different. Within a few weeks there were distinct signs of benefit, and a little perseverance with this great herbal balm resulted in what he had given up all hope of—a complete cure! And the cure was no temporary cure. It was permanent. He was cured nearly three years ago. Interviewed the other day, Mr. Marsh said: "The cure which Zam-Buk worked has been absolutely permanent. From the day that I was cured to the present moment I have had no trace of eczema, and I feel sure it will never return. Having suffered for twenty-five years, I had naturally concluded that my case was incurable, and I regard my cure as a modern miracle."

If you suffer from any skin trouble, cut out this article, write across it the name of this paper, and mail it with one cent stamp to pay return postage, to Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. We will forward you by return mail a free trial box of Zam Bak. All druggists and stores sell this famous remedy, 50c. a box, or three for $1.25 Refuse harmful substitutes.

CALEDON COUNCIL.

Council Chamber, Jan. 9th, 1911.

The following members-elect, having made and subscribed to the statutory declaration of qualification and of office, took their seats as council for the year 1911, viz.:—John A. McBride, Reeve; Thomas Quinn, Deputy-Reeve; George Cameron, George Giles, David Armstrong, Councillors.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. Quinn moved, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, for leave to introduce a bill appointing Auditors; also bills appointing Assessors and Collectors, and fixing salaries for Township Officers for the year 1911.

Leave granted.

The several bills were introduced and read a first and second time and referred to a Committee of the Whole to fill in the blanks.

Mr. Quinn in the chair.

Committee rose and reported the bills with blanks filled when they were read a third time and passed.

Auditors—L. H. Willis, F. Killeen
Assessors—E. H. Delaney, M. C. Hillock.
Collectors—J. S. McDonald, Thomas Patterson.

Moved by Mr. Armstrong, seconded by Mr. Giles, that David Henderson be re-appointed a member of the Board of Health for the ensuing term.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cameron, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that Samuel Howard be appointed Caretaker of the Township Hall at a salary of $18 per year for the year 1911.—Carried.

THE POWER OF COMPOUND INTEREST.

Here is a simple rule for finding the number of years in which a sum of money will double itself at compound interest. Divide 69.3 by the rate per cent. and add to this .35. Thus at 3 per cent. we find the number of years by dividing 69.3 by 3, which yields 23.1, to which we add .35 years, making the time 23.45 years.

At 3 per cent. simple interest it takes 33 1-3 years for money to double itself.

And so you will find that compound interest has a very great advantage over simple interest in doubling power, the ratio of one force to the other being for all ordinary rates of interest about as 10 to 7.

This power of compound interest may be illustrated in another way. Three young men save $50 each a year for 40 years.

A, being a very cautious youth, puts his money in a strong box at home. At the end of 40 years he has saved $2,000.

B places his money with a banker who says he will allow him simple interest at 3 per cent. At the end of the 40 years he has at his credit $3,230.

C deposits his money in the Post-Office Savings Bank at 3 per cent. compound interest, and at the end of 40 years he has $3,883 at his credit.

But D has discovered a more excellent way. He pays his money to the Dominion Government for the purchase of a Canadian Government Annuity. He is now aged 20, and the Government says to him that if he dies during the 40 years of saving, his estate will be as well off as C's estate, for it will receive back all that he has paid in with 3 per cent. compound interest, and if he survives to the age of 60 he will receive from the Government an income of $500 as long as he lives.

At 3 per cent. C's $3,883 would, if he spent a portion of his capital each year, give him $500 a year for less than nine years, and at 70 he would find himself without a penny and in debt if he had no other means of support. This is worth thinking about, and you may obtain further information on the subject of your Postmaster or by addressing the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa.

SHE CURED HER, HEART DISEASE.

When She Cured Her Kidneys with Dodds' Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Henry J. Jacques Found a speedy relief for all her troubles, and now enjoys the best of health.

St. Rose du Lac, Man. Jan. 16.—(Special)—That Heart Disease is one of the results of disordered Kidneys, and is consequently easily cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills, is the experience of Mrs. Henry J. Jacques of this place.

"My heart troubled me all the time," said Mrs. Jacques in an interview, "And I knew what terrible results might follow. The fact that my limbs would swell and my back ache led me to believe that I also suffered from Kidney Disease, so I determined to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought four boxes, and before I had gone, my back was well, and my heart no longer troubled me. I am now in the best of health, and I owe it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Heart Disease is one of the troubles that come from unhealthy Kidneys. They fail to strain the impurities out of the blood, and those impurities are bound to affect the heart, which is the engine that propels the blood through the body. To cure Heart Disease cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills; to prevent Heart Disease keep the Kidneys toned up and healthy by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

FOR THE COLT'S SAKE.

The man who is not taking good care of the weanling colt at this season looks very much like the fellow at the market who declares that there is no money in raising horses. The colt must have plenty of daily exercise, pure air without exposure to drafts, and plenty of wholesome, nutritious, bone and muscle building foods. These things are not inaccessible on most farms, and humanity as well as self-interest demands that they be supplied. No special skill is required to crowd a colt into a stuffy, poorly-lighted, ill-ventilated stall, and leave it there for the winter, giving it such straw and coarse hay as will insure its development into a scraggy-looking, pot-bellied, stunted, sluggish yearling by spring. One never has to visit the farms of the country to find the men who manage thus; standing in the street corner any Saturday afternoon in the village, one can see them driving teams that look as though they started out to be respectable draft horses, but receiving no encouragement they stopped on the way. There can be no money, no pleasure or satisfaction in raising colts in that fashion. They should have clean, bright, fresh, tender hay; the best of oats and bran; skim milk can be given them to the very best advantage. Remember that they are babies pretty much yet, and give them some solicitous care at the season when appetizing foods do not abound.

NOTHING DID HIM GOOD

EXCEPT "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Completely Cured Of Constipation By These Fruit Juice Tablets.

HARDWICKE, N.B. JAN. 17th. 1910.

"Chronic Constipation was the complaint I suffered with for years, and my general health was miserable as a result of this disease. I was treated by physicians without the slightest benefit, and I tried all kinds of pills but nothing did me any good.

I saw the letter written by our Senator, Hon. John Costigan, in favor of "Fruit-a-tives" so I tried it. The effect was marvellous, and now I am entirely well from the Chronic Constipation from which I suffered for many years. My general health is once more excellent, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives."

A. G. WILLISTON.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world that will, can and does cure Constipation—because "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that acts directly on the liver. "Fruit-a-tives" is made of fruit juices and tonics and will always cure Constipation, Biliousness, Torpid Liver and all diseases of digestion. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

HORSES.

Ninety-nine out of every hundred horses that turn out vicious become so through vicious training rather than from inheritanee.

The two-year-old draft colts should be thoroughly accustomed to the ways of work during these winter days. Gradually accustom them to harness, bits, mouth pressure, and expect to take time to the task. A colt so near maturity should never be depreciated in value by bungling his education.

Nervousness and irritability in many horses are the result of those same traits in their masters. Especially in the training of young things, quietness, calmness, fearlessness, firmness and kindness, control the movements of the master workman.

Beware the presence of the pot-bellied weanling colt! Every farmer may accept such an appearance in his foals as certain proof that he has been grossly negligent. He may also accept it as advance information that the selling price of that colt when grown is being cut twenty-five dollars or more by his carelessness.

WHY HESITATE ?

An Offer That Involves No Risk For Those Who Accept It.

We are so positive our remedy will completely relieve constipation, no matter how chronic it may be, that we offer to furnish it free of all cost if it fails.

Constipation is caused by weakness of the nerves and muscles of the large intestines or descending colon. To expect a cure you must therefore tone up and strengthen those organs and restore them to healthier activity.

We want you to try Rexall Orderlies on our guarantee. They are eaten like candy, and are particularly ideal for children. They act directly on the nerves and muscles of the bowels. They have a neutral action on the other organs or glands. They do not purge or cause any inconvenience whatever. They will positively overcome chronic or habitual constipation and the myriads of associate or dependent chronic ailments. Try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown.

A farewell reception was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Carey and family, at the Orange Hall, Corbetton, on the eve of their departure for Toronto, where they will reside. The large gathering was a very fine tribute to the popularity of the family. They will indeed be missed very much in social, church and musical circles in this community, and their removal is to be regretted. It was a happy gathering, however, which met to do them honor. Mr. and Mrs. Carey were presented with an address accompanied by a silver service of five pieces with tray. To Mrs. Forde was given a handsome music cabinet, to Miss Bertha, a silver mounted toilet set, including brushes, combs, etc.; to Mr. Roy Carey, a gold watch fob.

Now Cured of Rheumatism

Cost him $100.00 for medicines which failed—Cured by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. James Clark, Maidstone, Sask., writes: "I suffered for four years with rheumatism in my shoulders and could not lift my arms above the head. I tried nearly all the advertised remedies but none of them gave me relief. It cost me at least $100.00 for medicines before I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

"With the use of this medicine, I soon found relief. I followed up this treatment for six months and was then quite free from rheumatism. While using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I also used Dr. Chase's Backache Plaster when so stiff that I could scarcely bend. They always found the weak spot and gave relief while the internal treatment was bringing about a thorough cure."

The success of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills has been phenomenal. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes will be sent free on request.

WHEN WHISTLER FIXED IT.'

Lord Northcliffe, the English journalist, praised at a dinner the Unionist party, to which he belongs.

"I like the Unionists," he said, "because they work on clean cut, scientific lines. The Liberals are muddlers. They muddle along. They make me think of an anecdote about the famous painter, Whistler.

"Whistler visited his school one morning in the Latin quarter and found fault with the ground against which the model was posing. He had the background changed to brown. Then, sitting before a pupil's canvas, he proceeded to cover the pupil's background of yellow with a brown one.

"But the ugly yellow tones kept showing through the rich brown. Whistler scraped out his work and painted it over with brown again. Still the yellow showed. He scraped viciously, then daubed on brown, but the result was still bad, and he scraped off the paint once more.

"His pupils, grouped behind him, watched these proceedings reverently. Whistler took up another brushful of brown and said:

"'I suppose you all know what I'm trying to do here?'

"'Oh, yes, sir; yes, sir,' the pupils answered.

"'Well,' said Whistler, with a sour laugh, 'you know more than I do, then,' and, seizing his flat-ribbed hat, long wand and sulphur colored gloves, he made a dash for the boulevards."

Rev. J. W. Magwood, of Oakville, has accepted an unanimous invitation to the Euclid Avenue Methodist church, Toronto, and it is expected that he will be transferred to that city next summer.

Free to Stock and Poultry Raisers

We will send, absolutely free, for the asking, postpaid, one of our large thirty-two-page booklets on the common diseases of stock and poultry. Tells you how to feed all kinds of heavy and light horses, colts and mares, milch cows, calves and fattening steers, also how to keep and feed poultry so that they will lay just as well in winter as in summer. No farmer should be without it.

At a cost of only two-thirds of a cent a day per Animal, Royal Purple Stock Specific makes each Animal worth 25 per cent. more.

You never heard of any other Specific, or "Stock Food," doing likewise.

Royal Purple will permanently cure the Bots, Colic, Worms, Skin Diseases and Debility, and restore run-down Animals to plumpness and vigor.

It will increase the milk-yield three to five pounds per cow a day inside of from two to three weeks. It makes the milk richer than ever before.

MR. ANDREW WEGRICH, of Wainfiett, Ont., says: "This is to certify that I have tried your Royal Purple Stock Specific for two weeks, on one cow. On the 16th I weighed her milk as 17 pounds. I noticed a change after 3 or 6 days, as there was an extra weight of milk. On the 29th, I carefully weighed the milk, and she gave 22 pounds. I am giving an order for 5 boxes, as I consider it the best I have ever used."

"Stock Food" will not do this. Because "Stock Food" is nothing more or less than a mixture of the very things which you, yourself, grow on your own farm.

It is not more food your Animals need. They must have something to help their bodies get all the nourishment from the food they are getting. So that they will fatten, and stay fat, all the year 'round. They need something to prevent disease, to cure disease, and to keep them in the best of health, all the time.

Not a Stock Food

Royal Purple is not a "Stock Food," nor a "medicine." It is a Conditioner.

It does not contain Grain, nor farm products. Nor does it contain "Dope," or any other injurious ingredient. Royal Purple does not merely temporarily bloat or inspire the Animal. It fattens and strengthens it, permanently.

No other Specific known adds flesh so quickly as Royal Purple. It makes 6-weeks-old Calves as large as ordinary-fed Calves are at 10 weeks.

Royal Purple makes naturally-thin Animals fat and heavy. And it builds up the health and restores the former plumpness and vigor of run-down stock, in little or no time.

The very best time to use this Conditioner is NOW. It digests the hard food properly and prevents the animals getting indigestion or losing flesh.

50 per cent. Cheaper

One 50-cent Package of Royal Purple will last one Animal 70 days. This figures a little over two-thirds of a cent per day.

Most "Stock Foods" in 50-cent Packages last but 50 days, and are given three times a day.

But Royal Purple Specific is given only once a day, and lasts 50 per cent. longer.

(A $1.50 Pail, containing four times the amount of the 50-cent Package, lasts 280 days.)

So, you see, it is only necessary to give Royal Purple Specific once each day.

Just think of making each Animal worth 25 per cent. over its cost! What will that mean to you, Mr. Stock Owner?

It makes the Hens lay Eggs in Winter as well as in the Summer.

MRS. WM. BURNHAM, Sanford, Ont., says: "Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have used two boxes of your Poultry Specific for my hens. They laid so well while feeding it to them. I wondered if you would mind sending me word how or where I could get some this winter. I bought it from your agent last winter. I had 32 hens, and some days I got two dozen eggs a day in February and March, while feeding them the Specific."

Royal Purple Poultry Specific prevents Fowls losing flesh at moulting time, and permanently cures every poultry disease. It makes their plumage bright and keeps them always in prime condition.

It makes your Poultry worth more than they could ever be without it.

Yet one 50-cent Package will last 25 Hens 70 days. Or a $1.50 Pail will do 25 Hens 280 days. This is four times more material, at only three times the cost.

Royal Purple
STOCK AND POULTRY SPECIFICS

Royal Purple creates an appetite for food, and helps nature to digest and turn it into flesh and muscle.

As a Hog fattener, Royal Purple has no equal.

Never Off Feed

Dan McEwen, the horseman, says: "I have used Royal Purple Stock Specific persistently in feeding 'The Eel,' 2.02¼, largest winner of any pacer on Grand Circuit in 1908 and 1909, and 'Henry Winters,' 2.10¼, brother of 'Allen Winters,' winner of $36,000 in trotting stakes in 1908.

"These horses have never been off their feed since I started using Royal Purple Specific. I will always have it in my stables. Your Cough Powder works like magic."

For Poultry

Royal Purple Poultry Specific is our other Specific. It is for Poultry—not for stock.

Make This Test

Every ounce of Royal Purple Stock and Poultry Specific is guaranteed.

To prove that Royal Purple has no equal, we want you to make this test:

Feed Royal Purple to any one of your Animals for four weeks. And at the same time feed any other preparation to any other Animal in the same condition.

If Royal Purple does not prove to you, by actual results, that it is the best you ever used, we'll return your money.

And we'll ask no questions—make no excuses. You will be the judge—not us.

This is an honest test, isn't it? We ask you to make it because we know that Royal Purple is the best Conditioner on the market.

If you are not satisfied, after testing it, you don't lose anything, do you?

Centralia, Ont., Feb. 7, '10.

The W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—We have been using Royal Purple Poultry and Stock Specific for the last three weeks, and must say that results are remarkable. Am feeding the Stock Specific to two milking cows, and they have increased 30 per cent. in their milk. The Poultry results are even more marked than this. We have about 60 hens, laying age. When we commenced feeding, we were getting five and six eggs a day, and in the last five days the same flock of hens laid 150 eggs, almost an average of 31 each day, and those five days have been the coldest this winter.

You can see results plainly in two or three days after the use of "Royal Purple," and the poultry have the same hustle and appearance now as in the summer time. With cows and poultry, am using exactly the same feed and care as before starting to feed "Royal Purple."

When farmers and stockmen get acquainted with Royal Purple, it will have a greater demand than all other tonics and stock foods on the market combined.

Yours truly, ANDREW HICKS.

Aug. 28, 1910.

W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—Last Fall we had in our stables a young mare belonging to Miss Clouston, of Montreal. We could not feed her any bran on account of causing violent scouring, consequently causing her to become weak and thin. We commenced using your Royal Purple Stock Specific, and the results were wonderful. After using it three weeks, we found we could feed the animal bran or any other soft feed without scouring her, and she actually took on, in this time twenty-five pounds of flesh, we working her at the same time through the hunt. I can heartily recommend your Stock Specific.

WALDEMAR.

The regular annual "No 3 Hops" oyster supper was held at Waldemar on Friday evening. Supper was served in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, and the entertainment, which is always of an high order, was given in the Orange Hall. During the meeting it was clearly brought out that other politic divisions in Amaranth were jealous of "No 3 Hops," claiming that the funds for the annual oyster supper were "rung" onto the municipal candidates. This is not the case. Mr. Candidate does just what all the "No 3 Hops" do—contributes what he likes of his own coin, towards defraying the expenses of this most successful supper and entertainment.

CAMILLA.

Miss Lucilla Marshall has returned home from Toronto.

Miss Mayme and Miss Lillian Buchanan spent the last two weeks with Kimberly friends.

Miss Birdie McCarty returned to Toronto on Saturday after a pleasant visit at her home here.

Mr. Eccland, of Tullamore, visited at Mr. Robt. Thompson's last week.

Mr. Fred. Rayfield left last week for a visit with his brother in Montreal. From there he will go to his work in Broadview, Sask.

Mr. Dave Scott, of Primrose, was home over Sunday.

Mr. Peter Pool, of Alliston, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. James Irwin.

The congregation of St. Andrew's Church purpose holding their annual meeting Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Jack Campbell, whose serious injury was reported by The Banner a couple of weeks ago, has been brought to his home near Camilla and is recovering rapidly. We are glad to be able to report that he will likely be able to be about again in a couple of weeks.

CHARLESTON.

The young Bachelors of Caledon held their annual Assembly in the Town Hall in this village on Friday night, January 6th. The event was one of the most successful affairs of the kind ever held here. There were about 225 guests present, the merry gathering including visitors from Toronto, Orangeville, Brampton, Palgrave, Erin, Alton, Caledon East and other outside points. The hall looked very inviting in its attractive decking of red, white and blue bunting. Excellent music was furnished by the well-known Unionna orchestra. Mr. Norman Smith made an efficient floor manager. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge during the evening. The Committee, to whom is due most of the credit for the success of the Ball, consisted of F. Baxter, Secretary-Treasurer; Dan Sweeney, Duncan Ferguson, Peter Ferguson, James Brisbie, John Kirk, Wm. Vickery, Harry McCabe and Ian McArthur. The rule requiring guests to present their invitations at the door was strictly adhered to this year and worked out very satisfactorily.

VIOLET HILL.

Not having seen any news from Violet Hill in The Banner for a long time, I thought I would write and let you know that we still exist.

Mr. R. G. Canning has sold his large sawmill to a firm in Toronto, and intends shipping the mill away in a few days. Mr. Canning will use the portable mill from now on.

Sam Shaw has let the sawing of 50 acres of bush to Harry Baker, of Mono Centre. Mr. Baker intends moving his sawmill up in the spring.

Quite a large number of invited guests attended the wood bee and party at Wm. Newton's last week.

Mr. John Scott, of Grangar, has bought the material for a frame barn, 40 by 64 feet, from Mr. R. G. Canning.

R. J. Wake has rented the old Robinson farm for a number of years.

Quite a large number of men gathered in the Grange Hall to attend the Institute meeting, which was to have been held there on the 9th inst., but the speakers as usual failed to put in an appearance.

Mr. Sam Parson, of Strathcona, Alta., is visiting friends and old acquaintances here.

Miss Violet Hammond, of Orangeville, is visiting her cousin, Miss Sarah Newton.

Miss Bessie Newton, who has been visiting her brother, Thomas, in Saskatoon, is on her way home.

Joe. Hand, T. Rutledge and George Hand attended the Mono district meeting, which was held at Rosemont.

Miss Carson, of Shelburne, has commenced teaching in the Public School, with quite a large attendance.

We are sorry to report the death of Mr. James Stewart, who departed this life on January 11th. Deceased had been in fairly good health up to a few days before his demise. Mr. Stewart was born in Ireland 83 years ago and came to Canada while a young man. He settled on lot 28, 4th line, west, Mono, where he resided until his death. He was married to Miss Rebecca Fines about 50 years ago. He leaves a wife and a family of three sons and three daughters — George at home; Sam. J. at Dundalk, William at Camilla, Mrs. Henderson in the West, Mrs. Allen at Dundalk and Mrs. Charlie Vale at Primrose.

MARTIN—EWING.

On Tuesday of last week a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ewing, Mono Centre, when their daughter, Margaret, became the bride of Mr. Cambridge Martin, of Regina, Sask. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. L. Partridge, of Rosemont, in the presence of the immediate friends of the contracting parties. At five o'clock, while the wedding march was being played by Miss Gladys Ewing, the bride entered the parlor escorted by her father. Little Miss Reta Lewis acted as flower girl. The bride wore cream satin with all-over net and carried a bouquet of carnations. After receiving the hearty congratulations of their friends at the close of the service, the wedding party repaired to the dining room, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served. The bride was the recipient of many handsome presents, among them a beautiful fur-lined coat, the gift of the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Martin have gone to Niagara Falls and other points south, where they will visit before returning to their home in Saskatchewan.

ROBERT HOUSTON.

Mr. Robert Houston an old resident of West Caledon, died at his home in Alton on Monday of last week. Deceased had attained the ripe age of ninety years and retained his health and the unimpaired use of his mental faculties almost to the last. He had been living retired in Alton for several years. The funeral was held on Wednesday, January 11th, the remains being interred in Alton cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM DUKE.

Mrs. Duke, widow of the late William Duke, an early resident of Mono, died at the home of her son, Mr. Wilson G. Duke, lot 2, 6th line, east, in that township, early yesterday morning, after only five days' illness with pneumonia. She was 73 years and 3 months of age and had resided in Mono continuously since her marriage about fifty years ago. The funeral will be held from her son's home to St. John's cemetery, Mono, at 1.30 o'clock Friday afternoon. A fuller notice will appear in next issue.

MRS. ELEANOR WANLESS.

Mrs. Eleanor Wanless, of Toronto, died in the hospital in that city on Sunday, January 8th, following an operation for the removal of a tumor from her neck. Mrs. Wanless, who was in her 50th year, was the third daughter of Mr. Joseph Warnock, of Caledon, and was married to Mr. Duncan Wanless, C. P. R. Inspector of Bridges, about twenty-five years ago. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Mrs. Geo. Sweet and Mrs. Austin Hasenflug, both of Toronto. Mrs. Wanless was very popular among her numerous friends and her untimely demise will be sincerely regretted. Great sympathy is felt for the bereaved husband and daughters.

DEATH OF MRS. JOHN VANCE.

A young life was ended on Saturday, Dec. 31st, when Mrs. John A. Vance passed away at the family residence near Orangeville at the early age of 31 years after a lingering illness. The remains were brought to Ridgetown on Tuesday and from there to the home of her father, Mr. Archie Crawford, Talbot Road, from which place the funeral took place at two o'clock yesterday to Trinity Church cemetery. Service was conducted in the church at Palmyra by Rev. Jas. Iller. Deceased was married about ten years ago and is survived by her husband, a highly respected young farmer in Peel County. She also leaves her father and mother, one sister, Maggie, and two brothers, Chester and Arthur, at home here, to mourn her loss. The late Mrs. Vance was a fine young lady, loved and esteemed by a wide circle of friends here, who are deeply pained to learn of her death. The pallbearers, who bore the remains to their last resting place, were all schoolmates of deceased as follows:—Ernest Russell, Thomas McAuliffe, Archie Armstrong, Richard Gillard, Joseph Irvine and Jason Eberlee.—The Ridgetown Plaindealer.

LECTURE ON SOUTH AMERICA.

Mr. G. W. Ray, a South American traveller, who has had a strange and adventurous career, addressed a large congregation in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday night and lectured to a good-sized audience in the Town Hall on Monday evening. Mr. Ray went to South America as a missionary 21 years ago and was subsequently employed as a Government explorer by the State of Brazil. He is a gifted speaker and gave an unusually interesting portrayal of customs and conditions that he met with during his travels. His story of the ignorance, degradation and superstition of the people of some of the countries of the Southern continent was a revelation and showed a need for education and missionary effort surpassing even that of darkest Africa. Mr. Ray carries with him a large collection of curios, which were on exhibition in the hall Monday night and were frequently referred to in the course of his lecture. The distinguished visitor is the author of a book, entitled, "Through Five Republics," that has gone through two or three editions and is said to be very instructive and wonderfully interesting. On account of Mr. Ray's visit, the Baptists withdrew their Church service on Sunday night and united with St. Andrew's congregation. Mr. Ray, we should add, came to Orangeville under the auspices of the Baptist Church.

THE TOWN COUNCIL.

At the inaugural meeting of the Town Council a week ago Monday the following Standing Committees were appointed, the member first named being the chairman in each instance:—

Finance—Andrew Hill, Walter Fairburn.
Fire and Water—Deputy-Reeve Dr. Campbell, A. E. Annis.
Streets—W. J. Gordon, Geo. Hepton.
Street Lighting—Reeve Arnott, W. J. Gordon.
Town Property—Walter Fairburn, W. J. Curry.
Industrial Committee—Messrs. Annis, Arnott, Hill, Campbell and Fairburn.
Court of Revision—Messrs. Curry, Annis, Fairburn, Gordon and Hepton.

At the regular meeting on Monday night, the following municipal officials were appointed:—

Assessor—H. Endacott, salary $125.
Chief of Police—S. Ewing, salary $400 from Feb. 1st.
Nightwatchman—Thos. Dawson, who goes on duty Feb 1st, at the salary paid Nightwatchman Duke.
Medical Health Officer—Dr. A. J. Hunter.
Auditors—J. M. Bennett, John Norris.
Chief of Fire Brigade—Chief Ewing.
Captain of Fire Brigade — John Nason.
Lieutenant Fire Brigade—Fred. Falconer.
Sanitary Inspector—S. Ewing.

Fenceviewers—O. Hayward, Geo. Island, Thos. Barber.
Poundkeeper—A. Ferguson.
Rep. on H. S. Board—Jos. H. Hulse.
Rep. on Library Board—A. Steele.

Nightwatchman Duke handed in his resignation to take effect on Feb. 1st. We understand Mr. Duke is resigning to accept a position as travelling salesman with his former employer, Mr. G. McIntyre.

A SUCCESSFUL BALL.

Orangeville Bachelors and Benedicts held their annual Ball in the Town Hall on Tuesday night. The affair was a splendid success, being attended by about 150 young people, quite a number of whom were visitors from outside places. The floor was in excellent condition for dancing and the ball room was very prettily decorated with bunting, union jacks, etc. Fralick's orchestra delighted everybody with their exquisite music. Among the outside guests were noticed Mr. and Mrs. J. A. M. Alley, Toronto, Miss Reid, Woodbridge; Mr. and Miss Madill, Alton; Misses Bessie and Kathleen Reid, Toronto; Mr. Jas. Maguire, London; Miss Wylie, Miss Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Bingham, Shelburne; Messrs. H. and F. Hill and Dr. McArthur, Markdale; Miss Phoebe Algie, Alton; Miss Anderson, Arthur; Mr. McDonald, Guelph; Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McAllister and Mr. G. E. Barlett, Toronto. The Committee, to whose energy and capable management much of the credit for the success of the function is due, consisted of T. J. Brown, Secretary; T. C. Webster, C. Johnston, C. B. Matthews, E. A. Warren, H. S. Footner, Dr. G. H. Campbell, A. L. C. Kirkwood and R. A. MacInnes. The patronesses were Mesdames Hyland, Johnston, Kirkwood, Brown, McKeown, Lugsdin, McIntyre and Bowles.

CURLING CLUB OFFICERS.

At a meeting of the Curling Club in the Library Auditorium on Friday night officers were elected as follows:—Hon.-President, Mr. Maitland McCarthy; President, Dr. R. W. Rooney; Vice-President, Mr. Chas. Bowles; Secretary, Mr. A. L. C. Kirkwood; Treasurer, Mr. A. A. Hughson; Chaplain, Rev. Dr. Harper; Auditors, D. B. Brown and E. C. Clark.

The debaters were:—affirmative, Miss Greta Crozier and Mr. J. A. Holmes; negative, Miss Annie Holmes and Mr. W. P. Dodds. The negative won the decision by one vote. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

I. O. O. F. OFFICERS.

Maple Leaf Lodge, Independent Order of Oddfellows, held its annual election and installation of officers on Wednesday night, January 4th, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—N.G., J. Hilts; V.G., Jas. A. Arnott; Recording Secretary, Harold E. White; Fin. Secretary, T. T. Paul; Treas., Andrew Hill. A. E. Wrigglesworth, Deputy District Grand Master of Wellington District, was present and installed the newly-elected officers. There were also the following visitors present:—Messrs. Fred. Rapley, of Pilot Butte, Sask.; G. C. Walker, of Dundas; H. Trotter, of Peterborough, and A. McPherson and R. W. Rooney, of Orangeville. After the election and installation, the officers and members did justice to a good oyster supper.

THERAULT NOW.

The Banner has received a letter from Mr. Frank Therault, of Toronto, asking us to make a note of the fact that his name should be spelled Therault (pronounced Thero) instead of Tero. Frank has been delving into the family records and finds that Therault is the proper spelling. He change to Thero and from that to Tero can be readily understood in view of the pronunciation of the original surname.

—Mr. Luke Varey, 7th line, east, Mono, was thrown out of his cutter and had his right shoulder dislocated in a runaway Tuesday night. His wife and two children who were with him escaped uninjured. The frightened horse ran 4 miles before it was stopped. Dr. Carson attended to Mr. Varey's injuries and he is getting along nicely.

—How about your renewal?

RESERVE FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17th.

For the Welsh Choir Concert in the Town Hall, Orangeville, under the auspices of the Adult Bible Classes of St. Andrew's Church. This famous Choir consists of eighteen ladies from Cardiff, Wales, under the conductorship of Mme. Hughes Thomas. It is acknowledged to be the finest choir in Wales and among one of the first choirs in Great Britain. The concert will be positively one of the best ever heard in Orangeville and local music lovers should not miss hearing this superb choir.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Miss Daisy McKinnon is spending her holidays at her home here.

Mr. J. W. Burt, of Coningsby, was among Orangeville's fair day visitors.

Mr. W. J. Jeffers, of Shelburne, was a visitor at the monthly fair last Thursday.

Mrs. J. A. M. Alley, of Toronto, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Marshall.

Miss Bertha Bowen, of Wilkie, Sask., is visiting at her home near Farmington.

Mr. Wm. Fountain, of Toronto, renewed old acquaintanceships in town last Thursday.

Miss Alma Romnele, of Ekfrid, is taking a a course in shorthand at the Orangeville Business College.

Mr. W. A. Campbell, of Detroit, was the guest of his father, Mr. G. A. Campbell, for a few days last and this week.

Mr. A. M. Speers, of Mono Mills, returned home yesterday morning after spending a few days with friends in Brampton.

Mr. W. H. Gillespie, of Fort William, is spending a few days with his brother, Mr. R. E. Gillespie, and other friends in town.

Police Magistrate Hamilton, of Grand Valley, attended Orangeville Fair on Thursday and favored The Banner with a friendly call while in town.

Miss Viola McCague, of Mono Centre, enrolled at the Orangeville Business College last week. Miss McCague is taking the Commercial Course.

Miss Henrietta Wallace, organist in St. Andrew's Church, has resumed her studies at the Toronto Conservatory of Music. Miss Wallace is studying piano under the tuition of Prof. Welsman and theory under Dr. Anger.

W. C. T. U. CONCERT.

A high-class concert will be given in the Town Hall, Orangeville, Friday evening, February 3rd, under the auspices of the local branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The leading artist will be Mrs. Ruby Harkness Hamilton, of Guelph, formerly of Detroit, a soprano, who holds a place in the very front rank of American singers. Mrs. Hamilton has held important positions as soloist in several prominent churches and has also achieved an enviable reputation on the concert platform. Her approaching visit to Orangeville is being looked forward to by local music lovers with the keenest interest. Plan of hall will open at The Banner Office on Monday, Jan. 30th. Admission 50c., 35c. and 25c.

HIGH TEA.

A High Tea and Concert will be given in the Town Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of Lord Dufferin Chapter, Daughters of the Empire. Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Hospitals, will be present and deliver what should be a very interesting address on hospital work. An excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music will be provided by local talent. High Tea will be served from 5.30 o'clock. Programme at 8. Admission to supper and entertainment only 25c.

SALE REGISTER.

Mr. J. W. Burt, "Aberdeen Farm," lot 17, con. 7, Erin township, will hold a credit auction sale of pure bred Angus Cattle and Clydesdale Horses on Tuesday, January 24th at 1 o'clock. For list and full particulars see advt. elsewhere in this issue. Geo. McAllister, Auctioneer.

Mr. L. K. Johnston will hold a clearing auction sale of his farm stock, implements, etc., on the premises, lot 30, 2nd line, west, Caledon, on Monday, January 23rd, commencing at one o'clock sharp. Everything will be sold without reserve as Mr. Johnston has given up farming. For list and further particulars see advt. in this issue or posters. Jas. A. Patterson, Auctioneer.

ANOTHER RUN-OFF.

Owen Sound Express Left Track Near Bolton Tuesday Evening.

A broken rail ditched the southbound C. P. R. Owen Sound passenger train a short distance this side of Bolton station on Tuesday evening. The engine did not leave the rails, but all the coaches were overturned and three of them skidded along the bank a distance of twenty yards or more. There were about fifty passengers, but fortunately no person was fatally injured. Those most seriously hurt were William Griffith, of Melita, Man., rib broken; William Davie, of Earlton, New Ontario, formerly of Amaranth, cut and bruised about the head and chest, and W. Edwards, baggage man, foot broken. The three men were taken to the Western Hospital in Toronto. Edwards, the baggageman, is a son-in-law of Mr. S. Cruikshank, 2nd line, west, Mono, and is well known in Orangeville. Others injured were:

John Ostrander, Shelburne, cuts on head; F. H. Elliott, Harriston, Ont., cut head and twisted back; Mr. W. L. Young, Markdale, left shoulder and right leg bruised; Mrs. Young, side injured; C. Simpson, Alberta, arm bruises. Another lady was quite badly cut over the right temple, and a traveller said to represent the Ogilvie Company, of Montreal, was bruised.

"DOT, THE MINER'S DAUGHTER"

Laurel Presbyterian Guild will put the popular four act play, "Dot, the Miner's Daughter" on the boards in he Town Hall, Laurel, on Friday evening, Jan. 27th. Good music between acts. Admission 25 cents.

"AL MARTIN'S COUNTRY STORE."

This Play is an amusing five-act comedy, depicting an old-time country store and post-office with all its peculiar environment. The life-like reality of all that takes place gives an irresistible charm to the proceedings. There is a graceful plot that gathers interest as the play proceeds and culminates in a brilliant climax. The play will be given in the Orangeville Town Hall, on Thursday evening, January 26th, under the auspices of the Liebander Bible Class, by F. M. Kay, Director, and F. von Zuben, crayon artist and comedian. Admission, 25c.; reserved seats, 35c. Plan of Hall opens at Brown's Drug Store, Monday morning, January 23rd, at 9 o'clock.

A SUCCESSFUL SALE.

Mr. Chas. Storey's auction sale in Caledon last Friday was quite successful. There was a large crowd in attendance and good prices were realized. Mr. and Mrs. Storey gave a very enjoyable party to a number of their friends at night. Among the friends from a distance who were present were:—Mr. Stanage Shaw, Orillia; Mr. Percy and Miss Lily Evans, Sherwood; Mr. Will and Miss Pearl Swanzenburg and Miss Hart, of Erin; Mr. E. Irvine, Belwood; Mr. Leonard Harding, Ballinafad; Mr. Will Brush, Belfountain; Mr. Will and Miss Bessie Sproat, Grand Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Will Anderson, Elba; Mr. Aikens, Rosemont, and others.

LIBRARY CONTEST.

The voting contest for the splendid Library of 110 Volumes given by a number of Orangeville business firms opened this week. On another page of this issue will be found the names of the Orangeville merchants from whom votes may be obtained, while the contest is in progress. This competition is open to Societies, Churches, Institutes, Libraries and Schools and the Library, which may be seen in Marshall Green & Co's show window, will be found well worth going after. Read the advertisement elsewhere in this issue very carefully, secure your ballots and send in your votes nominating the Society or other organization that you desire to secure the Library. Every organization in Orangeville and neighborhood should get right after these books which are really worth while. If your Church, Society, School or Women's Institute hasn't a Library these 110 volumes will be a great start. If it has they will be a valuable addition as the books are well selected, nicely bound and put up in an elegant Macey sectional case. Remember that 10 votes with each 10 cent. purchase will mean a whole lot each week. Get busy right away and keep at it until June 30th.

THE AVERAGE WOMAN NEEDS MORE BLOOD.

Nerves Easily Irritated, She Worries Over Little Things.

To the woman in the home — the woman closely confined to the house either through household duties or the care of children, or both — Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a positive blessing. The average woman has too little blood. Her nerves are easily irritated; she worries over little things; has severe headaches and backaches and is sick most of the time. With the woman who uses Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the condition is different. She is always well and the care of her children, or her household duties is a real pleasure. This is because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills enrich the blood supply and bring bounteous health and strength. Here is proof. Mrs. Fanny Shepherd, Girvin, Sask., says: "I am the mother of a large family and was worn out, weak, and irritable. I kept going to my doctor about every six weeks, and he would give me something "to keep me going a little longer." But it was like winding up a clock, I soon got run down again, and although life seemed hardly worth living, I did not wish to die because of leaving my little children. I continued like this for some years, but at last summoned up enough energy to strike out a new departure and got a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I hardly hoped they would help me, but to my surprise, before I had been taking them long I began to feel like a different woman. I still continued taking the Pills for some time, and they made me as well and strong as any woman need wish to be. Once more I could enjoy life thoroughly and have done so ever since. I never need a doctor now, and everything seems bright and cheerful. I shall always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anyone who in my opinion needs a tonic of any kind."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

—Mr. Jas. P. Crawford, of Sheldon, was a caller at The Banner sanctum on Saturday.

—The Daughters of the Empire should have a bumper house at their High Tea and Concert Friday night.

—An excellent programme of vocal and instrumental music will be given at the Daughters of the Empire Concert on Friday night.

Mr. Robert Hewitt, of Toronto, spent a couple of days last week with Mr. James Hewitt, whose serious illness is reported elsewhere.

—We are pleased to learn that Rev. Wm. McLean, rector of Mono parish, is recovering from his recent severe illness and trust that he will soon be enjoying his wonted health and strength.

O. B. C. LITERARY.

The Orangeville Business College staff and students organized a Literary Society on Tuesday, January 6th, with the following officers:—

Hon.-President—Mr. Geo. Spotton.
President—Miss W. McPherson.
Vice-President—Mr. W. Graham.
Secretary—Miss M. Durkin.
Committee—Mr. W. H. MacDuff, Miss A. Wylie, Miss Lewis, Mr. F. Eden, Mr. D. Mundell.

The Society will hold its meetings each Thursday.

CHORAL SOCIETY ORGANIZED.

The young people of St. Andrew's Church, who are musically inclined, met on Monday night of last week, and organized a Choral Society, with the following officers:—

Hon.-President—Rev. W. M. Morris
President—Mr. A. Steele.
Librarian—Mr. Ross McPherson.
Treasurer—Miss Sadie Watson.
Membership Committee—Miss Watson, Miss Lamont, Mr. Harry McGuire, Mr. R. McPherson and Mr. S. R. Frost, who has consented to act as leader. While the Society is organized by the people of St. Andrew's Church, it was decided not to make it denominational, but to invite any singers or those desiring to be singers from other churches who may desire to attend. The object of the Society is to foster the musical spirit among the young people of the town, and to train them in music, particularly along vocal lines. Those desiring to become members should communicate with any of the Membership Committee.

What Has Dandruff Got To Do With Baldness?

You see the statement every day that the one cause of baldness is dandruff. But is it?

True, dandruff often precedes the departure of the hair.

It is equally true that you know men with a shock of hair you can hardly pull a comb through, who have carried around a dandruff laden collar as long as you have known them.

You have also seen men whose scalp was kept as clean as a baby's whose hair was surely departing.

That dandruff talk sounds well and convinces a good many of us, but let us not fool ourselves.

Of course dandruff isn't a good thing to carry around, but it is only an indication.

The same trouble that causes the hair to fall out usually causes dandruff, so if you get at the cause and arrest the loss of hair, you will stop dandruff too.

Those who use Nyal's Hirsutone find it the most satisfactory hair healer and hair dressing they have ever used.

It does stop the hair from falling out.

It will also stop dandruff.

Your Nyal Druggist cheerfully recommends it—$1.00 and 50c in sprinkler bottles.

CHARITY SOCIETY EUCHRE PARTY.

The second progressive Euchre Party, given by the young ladies of The Charity Society, was held a week ago Friday evening at The Grand Central Hotel, and was equally as successful as the former party held in the Queen's Hotel a few weeks ago. The pillars in the corridors were festooned with wreaths of evergreens, and the large dining room, where the players assembled, was decorated with flowers and palms. Over a hundred ladies and gentlemen were present, and some twenty-four tables were in requisition. The booby prizes were won by Dr. F. Frank and Mrs. Thos. Stevenson, which is, however, no evidence that they are poor players. The awards for the most "Lone Hands" played went to Mr. A. L. C. Kirkwood, and Miss Park, while Mr. Fred. Atkinson and Mrs. Richard Stoutt landed the premier honors, securing the coveted prizes. Mrs. F. Marshall, and Miss Marshall, assisted by Mrs. Smith, hostess of the Grand Central, with the members of The Charity Society, did all in their power to make the evening an enjoyable and memorable one. Refreshments were served to the guests at the conclusion of the play, and a very short programme of dances was engaged in.

Miss A. C. Jaffary, of Maeville, spent Friday with friends in town.

Mrs. R. H. Brett, of Stratheona, Alta., and little daughter, Louie, are visiting the former's numerous friends in Orangeville and neighborhood.

We, the undersigned Auditors, have examined the Secretary-Treasurer's books, accounts, milk sheets and invoice of all cheese sold, both general and local, with vouchers and cheques, and find all correct.

ROBT. J. WALLACE, ALBERT R. BANKS } Auditors.

We are gradually losing our old-time fear of fresh air. With it is passing superstition about the peculiarly deadly properties of "night" air. Up-to-date physicians now laugh at the idea of night air being harmful. One prominent Canadian medical man has been waging an educative campaign, urging people to open their windows at night and close them in the day time to keep out germs and dust. This latter point, of course, would apply chiefly to city homes in summer, but the gospel to open bedroom windows during sleeping hours is being enthusiastically endorsed by tens of thousands of people, both delicate and rugged, who find the fresh night air invigorating as a draft of wine, without the reactive consequences of indulgence in alcoholic beverages. Fresh air, pure water—what priceless blessings of nature are these! And how afraid of them so many of us have been!

IT GROWS HAIR.

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove At Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course, in none of these cases were the hair roots dead, nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed, and will not gum or permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair, and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. A. Brown, one of the old residents of the township of Caledon, in his 69th year. Mr. Brown, who was born in the township, has resided there practically all his lifetime and was universally respected. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Jas. Nunn, of Brantford; two others, a son, Albert, and a daughter, Mrs. W. Thompson, having passed away some years ago. Mr. Brown was a Liberal in politics and a member of the Presbyterian church. The funeral took place from his late residence on the 5th inst., to Alton cemetery, the Rev. C. Langford taking charge of the service.

Had Eczema In Both Legs

Remarkable cure of Chronic Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the cure of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and tried in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended.

Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Ont., writes:—"My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema."

Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Dr. Chase's Recipes sent free.

Ephraim's Luck

A Cat and a Girl Both Win

By EVELYN WINTHROP

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Amy Wallace slammed the gate of the chicken yard and came down the path with tragedy written on her stormy countenance and in the very pose of her outstretched hand from which dangled the lifeless remains of a promising young broiler.

"Another one?" queried her sister disconsolately. "That makes—let me see—seventy-two chickens killed in the last six weeks. At a dollar a pair those broilers would have fetched $36!"

"It is an outrage," sputtered Amy, flinging the defunct chicken far from her sight. "That cat must be killed at once!"

"Did you send Mrs. Beemer a bill for the chickens?" asked Louise, intent on her needlework.

Amy nodded. "Sent it Monday."

"Heard from her today?"

"Ye-es."

"Did she say she was a soldier's widow and that the gray cat was her only solace?" Louise smiled mischievously.

"Word for word. Laugh, if you must, young woman," went on Amy gloomily, "but remember, please, that I am not astalented female artist who can earn the price of a gown with a few daubs of paint. I am a mere, commonplace plodder, and I haven't a talent in the world save for poultry raising, and now I begin to doubt my ability to succeed at that."

"I'll see Mrs. Beemer myself," announced Louise, arising and folding her work with an air of decision. "She must either pay you $36 and promise immunity from further annoyance from the cat or she must kill the beast."

"She won't do either," mourned Amy from the piazza as Louise passed out of the gate and crossed the street to the abode of the Widow Beemer.

Louise Wallace found the Widow Beemer seated on the back stoop in the act of placing a saucer of milk before the huge gray cat, Ephraim.

"Evening, Louey," remarked the widow amiably. "It's some warmer today."

"It is," agreed Louise coldly. "Mrs. Beemer, that cat has got to go."

"You mean Ephraim?" quavered the widow.

"Of course."

"I'm a soldier's widow"— began Ann Beemer in the melancholy tone she reserved for that oft repeated statement, but Louise lifted a slim finger warningly.

"And Ephraim is your only solace," added the girl dryly. "We know all that, Mrs. Beemer, and we are very sorry, but you must see that we can't continue to lose chickens at this rate. It's preposterous. Ephraim seems to kill just for the mere pleasure of the deed. He's a cold blooded old murderer."

The pale gray Ephraim turned a light yellow eye in her direction, and a faint sneer lifted his black lip. Then his red velvet tongue darted in and out of the milk, and his eyes were hidden.

Ann Beemer sighed. "Very well," she sniffed tearfully. "I'll have to give him up, I guess. He's the only comfort I've got now. But you can just take him away and kill him, Louey. I'll kiss him goodby if you don't mind."

"If you will put the cat in a bag, Mrs. Beemer, I'll find somebody to dispose of him," interposed Louise impatiently.

With a hard little glitter in her black eyes, Ann Beemer brought a covered basket and thrust the scratching, spitting Ephraim within. She tied the cover securely and gave the basket into Louise's hands. Then she threw her checked apron over her head and rocked mournfully to and fro.

Louise paused at the gate and, looking backward, felt a pang of pity for the old woman. Then she thought of the mournful Amy across the street and Ephraim's bad reputation in the community as a chicken slayer and passed through the gate.

"I'll run around to Latimer's and see if one of the boys won't chloroform the cat. Amy will be relieved, indeed, when I return and tell her that Ephraim has gone to join his forefathers."

It was no light task to carry the shaking basket within which the big gray cat fought tigerishly for escape. Her hands were quite sore when she reached the Latimer place and found herself in the midst of a curious group of boys and girls at the back door. Mrs. Latimer came out and joined them.

"I want somebody to chloroform a cat," said Louise. "It's Ephraim, you know; he's been killing off our broilers. I thought one of the boys might. I'll give a dollar."

Mrs. Latimer shook her head. "I don't want any of my folks to kill a cat, Miss Wallace; it's awful bad luck, you know. Perhaps Peter Swanson's folks will do it for you. Swedes don't believe in luck and such things."

"Very well," said Louise wearily. "Will you let Billy carry the basket for me? Ephraim's very heavy."

"I guess there won't be any harm in that—and he was wishing this morning that he could earn a quarter," insinuated Billy's shrewd mother.

"I'll see that he gets a quarter for the job," smiled Louise. And then, followed by the curious Billy and trailed by the remaining Latimers, they sought Peter Swanson, the blacksmith.

"I couldn't kill no cat, miss," said Peter apologetically, when Louise had told her story. "They tell me it brings bad luck. Yust now I can't afford no bad times. Maybe the Eyetalians in the Holler might"—

Louise sought the Italian settlement in the Hollow. Pietro Roncaglia averred that Ephraim possessed the evil eye and crossed his brown fingers shudderingly. Even the rattling crispness of greenbacks failed to break his resolution.

Old Abraham Johnson's black face expressed mingled greed and alarm when approached by Louise and her funereal train. He gazed longingly at the money and then clutched the voodoo charm that hung about his throat.

"I hate to dis'pint yo', Miss Louey, honey, but it am pow'ful bad luck to kill a cat. De bery debbil's in dat Ephraim. Folks say he's de recarnival ob ole Eph Beemer, hisself! I need de money right bad, too, miss—t'ank you, honey."

These were examples of the various interviews that Louise held that morning. Noon time found her at her own gate tugging the heavy basket containing the still active Ephraim. Her sister drew forward a rocking chair in the porch and Louise fell into its comfortable embrace.

"What is in the basket?" asked Amy.

"Ephraim."

"Tell me about it—do," crowed Amy.

Louise told her: "I can't find a person who will make way with that cat for love or money, and I believe Mrs. Beemer knew I couldn't—she gave Ephraim into my hands almost too willingly," she ended plaintively. "I didn't realize that intelligent people could be so silly and superstitious."

"We must dispose of the cat ourselves, then," said Amy firmly. "We are not superstitious."

"No, we are not, but it's horrible to kill anything like that, you know. I'll go out this afternoon and see if I can't find some boy who will do it. They can't all be fools."

At that instant the basket containing the doomed cat swayed violently on the grass where Louise had dropped her burden; then the cover flew up, and with a spiteful hiss Ephraim dashed out and scrambled up the black walnut tree over their astonished heads.

"That impish Tommy Latimer must have untied the cords," said Louise bitterly. "I saw him quarreling with Billy over the basket—and I gave them 50 cents too."

Amy had picked up a large stone and weighed it in her hand. "I believe I could hit that cat," she said viciously. "If I can it will stun him—perhaps kill him." She shuddered slightly, aimed the missile carefully at the crouching Ephraim, threw the stone and turned her back. Louise had closed her eyes tightly.

They heard the stone crash through the branches and then there followed a slight groan. After that, silence.

"I believe I killed him," moaned Amy.

"You certainly came very near it," said an exasperated masculine voice, and the sisters turned to view the indignant countenance of Mr. Rupert Ames. That young gentleman clutched one shoulder as if in pain.

Over his head Ephraim crouched, spitting angrily and sharpening his claws on the rough branch to which he clung.

"Did I strike you, Rupert?" demanded Amy penitently. "I was trying to hit the cat, you see."

"You must be very fond of him," observd Mr. Ames, drawing near to them.

"I'm very sorry. I hope you are not badly hurt. Fetch the witch hazel, please, Louise." Amy let her hand rest in Rupert's close clasp longer than he had dared hope. "We hardly expected to see you," she added pointedly.

"I felt that you needed me," lied Mr. Ames cheerfully. "My inner consciousness told me you were in trouble of some sort and required masculine assistance. What can I do for you?"

When Louis returned with the lotion they told the story of Ephraim and the slain broilers. "Will you kill the cat, Rupert?" they pleaded tearfully.

Mr. Ames shook his head. "I couldn't," he said regretfully. "You see, I'm superstitious, too, I am," he asserted in the face of their incredulous looks. "I know if I killed that cat and every one of his nine lives were extinguished—why, I'd never have a chance of marrying Amy after all!"

Louise smiled, and the swift color came to Amy's cheeks. "That was all settled six months ago," she said coldly. "I'm going to be an independent business woman and"—

"Very good," said Mr. Ames crisply. "I must be running along, now. My motor's down the road a piece—had a breakdown, you know, and just thought I'd drop in and see you. Hope you get the best of Ephraim."

Louise disappeared into the house, and Amy's face lost its color. "Then you won't kill Ephraim?" she faltered.

"I cannot, Amy, but I'll tell you how you can get rid of him. Just marry me and give up this notion of poultry raising. Louise is dying to get back to town, and I want you—I need you. Let Ephraim shift for himself."

"You merely happened in here. You had a breakdown," said Amy severely.

"My resolution not to see you broke down," confessed Rupert, drawing her into his arms. "For my part, it's great good luck not to kill a cat, eh, Ephraim?"

But the cat, taking advantage of lovers' meeting, was merely a pale gray streak headed for the welcoming arms of the Widow Beemer.

PITY THE BABIES.

All babies whose mothers do not know about Dr. Chase's Ointment are truly to be pitied. They are sure to have skin troubles of one kind or another such as chafing, skin irritation, scald head, milk rash or baby eczema and nothing can bring them comfort so quickly as Dr. Chase's Ointment. It stops itching promptly and heals the skin beautifully.

Fred. Barrett, of Cross' Corners, went out to the barn and saw an owl perched on one of the beams. Fred climbed up and caught the bird. Hanging to one of its claws was a watch chain, which he took off and is now wearing. Speculation is rife as to how the chain came to be there, the most probable explanation being that it was lost by someone in a wood, the owl chanced to step on it and the claw passed through a link and became so tightly wedged it was unable to extricate it from the chain.

Miss Anna Parsons, of McKay's Corners, who is attending school in Ridgetown, fell at the skating rink a couple of weeks ago, and was rendered unconscious. She remained in that condition for some time, and afterwards suffered from convulsions. When she recovered from her injuries it was found that she had lost her voice. The other day, while walking to a neighbor's house she slipped and fell again. The shock of the second fall caused her voice to return, and she is now fully recovered from her temporary affliction.

Brampton town council has appointed the following municipal officials for the current year:— W. C. Young, clerk, $550; J. J. Manning, Treasurer, $300; T. J. Blain, Solicitor, $400; James Harvey, Constable, $480; Samuel Rayson, Caretaker, $425; Johnston Barrett, Nightwatchman, $100; Dr. C. Y. Moore, Medical Health Officer, $75; Dr. R. G. Edwards and C. J. Packham, members of the Board of Health. W. A. Robinson, High School Trustee. W. G. Peacock, Member Public Library Board, Hugh Galbraith, Jas. Packham, Wm. Harrison, Fenceviewers; Water Commissioner, J. H. Boulter.

ON THE VERGE OF A BREAKDOWN

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the Only Hope for Weakened Nervous People.

This warning will be read by thousands of people who only just succeed in getting through the day's work without a breakdown. If you feel always tired out, have but little appetite and a poor digestion, cannot sleep well, suffer from headaches, backaches and nervousness, it may mean that you are on the verge of a serious breakdown.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure weak nervous, troubled men and women because of their direct action on the blood. Every dose of these Pills helps to make new, rich blood, which tones the vital organs, strengthens the nerves and brings renewed health and strength. Mr. Geo. Johnston of Lequille, N.S., suffered for some years as a result of overwork and strain, but found no help for his condition until he began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Johnston says:—"While working on a railway handling heavy ties I hurt my back and had to give up work. Later I was able to do light work, but for about six years I suffered from dreadful pains in the back and down my legs. This condition became aggravated by indigestion and chronic constipation, and my life was one of constant misery. During those years I was treated by different doctors, but did not get any help. One day a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and proved his faith in them by presenting me with a box. It was more to please him than from any belief that they would be of service to me that I began taking the Pills. Before the box was finished, however, they seemed to be helping me; the pains in my back and legs grew less intense and the bloating in my stomach, caused by the indigestion disappeared. I continued taking the Pills until I had used over a dozen boxes, when I found myself fully restored to my former health. I am now able to do heavy farm work, and for the past year have not lost a day, or had the least symptom of my former troubles, and I attribute it entirely to the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or may be had by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.—cine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Acton will require twenty-five new houses to accommodate the growth of the present year.

Mr. A. G. McNabb, of Rosemont, who has a large miscellaneous collection of curios, has increased it recently by Indian relics, numbering somewhere between two and three hundred. These consist of flints, celts, grooved adzes, suckers, gambling stone, rubbing stone, butterfly stones, Indian arrow, spear points, whorl, pottery gorget, scrapers and drills, and others as yet unclassified. These have been used by the Mohawks or Neuters, and have been found in the Attewandron vicinity in Massachusetts, and Long Island.

That is what thousands of mothers say of Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets promptly and surely cure all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood, and what is more they are absolutely safe—they have never been known to harm the youngest baby—they never will harm anyone—they are good for babies of all ages. Concerning them Mrs. Wm. Higgins, Karn Ont., writes:—"I shall never be without Baby's Own Tablets in the house as long as my children are small. They are a wonderful medicine and are as good as having a doctor in the house. I gave them to my little boy for colic and they quickly cured him. I am always glad to recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Wm. Armstrong, whose home is said to be near Auburn, fell from the roof of the Western Canada Flour Mills in Goderich. He was engaged with others on the roof of the building, which was very slippery, and was not accustomed to working at such a height. He slipped and fell to the ground, a distance of 130 feet, and strange to say, when picked up, was conscious, and spoke frequently while on his way to the hospital. His left arm was fractured and he had several minor injuries, but the 130-foot fall seemed to have done him no great harm.

GREER IS WARDEN.

Was Chosen by Unanimous Vote of the County Council.

Inspector of Prisons Thinks Dufferin Should Build House of Refuge.

Mr. Arch. Greer, Reeve of Mulmur township, was unanimously chosen by the County Council on Tuesday to fill the responsible and exalted office of Warden of the County of Dufferin. What makes Mr. Greer's selection the more significant is the fact that he was not present when the Council made the appointment. Three years ago Mr. Greer was unavoidably absent from part of the November session of the County Council through the death of his mother. By an unusual coincidence he was again absent on Tuesday on account of the death of his father, whose funeral took place at Perm, in Mulmur township, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Greer was the only absentee when the County Clerk, Mr. J. C. Reid, called the 1911 County Council to order in the Court House at 2.30 o'clock. The representatives answered the roll call as follows :—

Mono—H. T. Anderson, reeve; T. H. Moffitt, deputy-reeve.

Mulmur—Charles Mitchell, deputy-reeve.

Melanethon—Wm. McGhee, reeve; James Higgins, deputy-reeve.

Amaranth—John Bryan, reeve; Alfred Menary, deputy-reeve.

East Luther—S. C. McKee, reeve.

East Garafraxa—John Corneilius, reeve.

Orangeville—Thos. Arnott, reeve; Dr. G. H. Campbell, deputy-reeve.

Shelburne—John Large, reeve.

Grand Valley—J. E. McIntyre, reeve.

Before calling for nominations for Warden, the Clerk read a letter from Mr. Greer in explanation of his absence. In his communication Mr. Greer intimated that he was in the field for Warden and asked the Council to give his candidature the same consideration as if he were present.

When nominations were called for, it was immediately moved by Reeve Anderson, of Mono, seconded by Deputy-Reeve Mitchell, of Mulmur, that Mr. Greer be Warden for the year 1911. The motion was carried by a unanimous vote and the Clerk's announcement of Mr. Greer's election was followed by a round of hearty applause.

In the Warden's absence, Reeve John A. Corneilius, of East Garafraxa, was appointed chairman pro tem.

On motion of Mr. McKee, Messrs. Bryan, Arnott, Anderson, McGhee, McIntyre, Corneilius and the mover were appointed to strike the various Standing Committees.

After an adjournment of half an hour, the Committee presented its report appointing the following committees, the member first named being the chairman in each instance :—

Finance—McIntyre, McKee, Moffitt, Menary and Arnott.

County Property—Arnott, Corneilius, McIntyre, Moffitt and McGhee.

Assessment — McGhee, Mitchell, Campbell, Bryan and Anderson.

Education— Corneilius, Campbell, Higgins, Large and Mitchell.

Printing—McKee, Menary, McIntyre, Large and Moffitt.

Roads and Bridges—Anderson, Bryan, McKee, Mitchell, Higgins and Corneilius.

Legislation—Bryan, McGhee, Campbell, Large and Anderson.

One of the most important documents laid before the Council was the report of Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons, on his annual inspection of the Orangeville gaol. The report read :—

An official visit of inspection was made to Orangeville Gaol on Jan. 21st, 1911, when there were 16 prisoners in custody. 1 of these prisoners was an infirm man whose physical condition would not warrant him being sent to the Central Prison. 1 man was detained charged with being insane, the remaining 14 were indigents from the County of Dufferin, who should have been cared for in a House of Refuge. There were only 30 commitments to this gaol during the past year.

On inspection the general condition of the building, as regards cleanliness, the beds and bedding, corridors and cells, closets, drainage, ventilation and water supply were all found satisfactory.

The health of the prisoners is good. The old people seem properly clothed and cared for. There were 30 suits of clothing on hand.

The prisoners are bathed weekly and are provided with wholesome food in accordance with Gaol regulations. There were no complaints in regard to the quality of the food supplied. The cost of rations for the past quarter was only 11c. per day. The supplies are obtained by contract.

On examining the books I found the entries were correctly made up to date.

The management and discipline at this Gaol are necessarily different from any other Gaol in the Province on account of nearly all those in custody being indigents who should be provided for in a House of Refuge. Gaols are only intended for the custody of the criminal class and those awaiting trial on criminal charges. Old age is not a crime and the failure on the part of the County of Dufferin to comply with the Statute, which says every County in Ontario must erect a House of Refuge for the care of its poor, is to be deplored. It rests with the ratepayers to say whether the present conditions shall continue, for, as the Statute regarding Houses of Refuge reads, any ratepayer can compel the County of Dufferin, as was done in Wentworth, to provide a House of Refuge.

The cost of rations for the past quarter at Orangeville Gaol was only 11c. This would indicate that the old people must be given gaol fare and not provided with fare as at the House of Refuge. For example :—A House of Refuge with 16 inmates would use at least 6 or 8 quarts of milk per day and other articles of dietary to correspond. The inference must, therefore, be drawn that the gaol is conducted carefully and economically in accordance with the Rules and Regulations for the government of the Common Gaols of Ontario but not as a House of Refuge.

A STARTLING FATALITY.

Section Foreman Thomas Hiley Killed by a Freight Train Thursday Afternoon.

Engineer Saw Body Across Rails, but Could not Stop Train in Time.

A terrible fatality occurred on the railway track about a mile south of the C. P. R. station last Thursday afternoon. As a heavy way freight of 34 cars rounded the curve about a mile below the station, the engineer was horrified to see the apparently lifeless form of a man lying across the rails. He applied the emergency brakes, but on account of the heavy downgrade was unable to stop the train until the engine and a number of the cars had passed over the prostrate form.

The mangled remains turned out to be those of Thomas Hiley, foreman of the Orangeville section, and one of the best known railroad men in this town. How he came to be on the track is a mystery, but the theory that is generally accepted is that he had gone down the line to inspect the track, had slipped on some ice and falling across the rails had been stunned and was run down by the train before he regained consciousness. Hiley was a strong, healthy man of about 37 years. He was a good worker and steady in his habits. Thursday was pay day and at the noon hour he cashed his cheque in the Royal Hotel, the landlord, Mr. D. McLean, giving him six $10 bills, two $1 bills and about 70 cents in silver. When his clothing was examined $61 in bills was found in one of the pockets. After cashing his cheque, Hiley went home to dinner and was seen early in the afternoon by James May, a member of the section gang. May appears to be the last man who saw him alive. The remains were mangled horribly. Both legs were severed and were found several rods from the trunk. The head was cut and bruised terribly, the face being gashed almost beyond recognition. Coroner James Henry, who was notified of the sad occurrence, proceeded immediately to the scene. The remains were collected and brought to the freight shed on the yard engine and later were removed to J. H. Hulse's undertaking rooms, where they were prepared for burial. The Coroner broke the awful news to the widow as gently as possible. She was almost prostrated by the heart-rending announcement.

Hiley was a son of Joseph Hiley, an old railroad man, who has been a cripple for several years and is a well-known figure around the C.P. R. depot. A brother was killed on the railway several years ago. Besides his widow (formerly Miss McKibben) Hiley leaves two little girls.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was held from his late home, corner William St. and South Townline, to the Forest Lawn Cemetery on Saturday afternoon. Rev. W. M. Morris, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, conducted services at the house and grave. Among those in attendance were a number of representatives of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen, with which deceased was connected. There were numerous beautiful floral tributes. The remains were borne to their last resting place by Messrs. S. and W. Lackie, James May and S. Mossop, Orangeville; William Carr, Shelburne, and Robert McIntosh, Owen Sound.

NEW YEAR DINNER.

Very Pleasant and Enthusiastic Gathering of Red Rose Tea Staff.

(Special from Toronto, Jan. 10th.)

The New Year dinner of the Ontario branch of the Red Rose Tea Company was held at the offices and warehouse in this city on Saturday night. About fifty of the travelling, office, and warehouse staffs and their wives sat down to an excellent repast, spread by Coles, in the boardroom. Marking the close of a very successful year's business, and every indication pointing to a very large increase in the sales of "good tea" this year, much enthusiasm pervaded the gathering.

Mr. Geo. F. Campbell, the manager, presided. A telegram of greeting was read from Mr. T. H. Estabrooks, of St. John, N. B., the proprietor, who was unable to be present, and his health was drunk with great heartiness. The progress of the toast list was enlivened with a racy line of narrative and jest, and there was a ball-throwing contest for the ladies, which created much amusement. It was an evening of great sociability and thorough enjoyment presaging greater success for Red Rose Tea.

NEARLY DIED OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

GIN PILLS SAVED HIM

513 JAMES ST., HAMILTON, ONT.

"Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of The Bladder—intense pains in back and loins, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor.

My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once and the attacks were less frequent.

In six weeks, the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how now I am healthy and able to work, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me." JOHN HERMAN. 48

GIN PILLS are sold at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price if your dealer does not handle them. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. Money back, if GIN PILLS do not give full satisfaction. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. A. Toronto.

MRS. WM. DUKE.

An Old Resident of Mono Passed Away Last Week.

Mrs. William Duke, an old and greatly respected resident of Mono, passed away at the home of her son, Mr. Wilson G. Duke, 6th line, east, in that township, on Wednesday morning of last week after a very short illness. Deceased lady had been enjoying her usual health until Friday prior to her demise, when she was taken suddenly ill with pneumonia. Medical aid was at once summoned but the malady speedily assumed an acute form and she became rapidly worse in spite of the care of her doctor and the constant and watchful attendance of those near and dear to her.

The late Mrs. Duke was born in Armagh, Ireland, 73 years ago. She came to this country when a child, with her father, Mr. William Speers, settling in Mono, where she spent the greater part of her girlhood years. 55 years ago she was married to Mr. William Duke and shortly afterwards the young couple took up their residence on the 6th line, east, Mono. The union, which was an extremely happy one, was blessed by a large family, of whom five sons and six daughters survive. The sons are Thomas, a prominent business man in Vancouver, B.C., and a Past Grand Master of the Provincial Grand Orange Lodge of British Columbia; W. J. and R. H., also in business in Vancouver, the latter being Secretary of the British Columbia Permanent Loan and Savings Co.; Ernest O., of Suffield, Alta., and Wilson G. on the homestead. The daughters are Mrs. J. Ewart, of Vancouver, Mrs. J. Allen, Mrs. W. Snell and Mrs. Geo. Campbell, Toronto; Mrs. S. Patterson, Mono, and Miss Beatrice Duke at home. The late Mrs. Duke was a staunch member of the Anglican Church and was for a great many years a regular attendant at St. John's Church, Mono Mills. She was a devoted mother, a loving and loyal wife and a kindly, sympathetic neighbor. Greatly beloved by the members of her own family circle and occupying a warm place in the affections of the community, her demise will be sincerely mourned by her own friends and the people of the neighborhood as well. There was a large turnout to the funeral, which was held from her late home to St. John's cemetery, 7th line, east, Mono, at 1.30 o'clock Friday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Perry, the newly inducted rector of Mono Mills parish. The pallbearers were three sons-in-law, Messrs. W. Snell and Geo. Campbell, Toronto, and S. Patterson, Mono, and three nephews, Messrs. Jas. Duke, Henry and Richard Speers, of Caledon. The floral tributes included a pillow from the family, pillow from the grandchildren, sheaf of wheat from Mrs. Breckenridge and family, Toronto, and a spray of lillies of the valley and violets from Miss Mary Ewart.

MR. J. H. WILCOX.

Mr. J. H. Wilcox, of 155 Harrison St., Toronto, passed away at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. A. M. Harkness, early on Thursday morning. The deceased had been in poor health for the last three years and spent most of the past summer at his cottage near Sprucedale in Parry Sound. He returned home late in the autumn and having improved considerably toward the end of the year came to Orangeville, accompanied by his wife, to spend Christmas with relatives here. While here he had a recurrence of his malady in an acute form and a slight stroke of paralysis a week ago Sunday hastened the end. Mr. Wilcox represented the Singer Sewing Machine Company in Orangeville about 20 years ago. He moved from here to Stratford and subsequently to Toronto, where he was manager of the Cyclone Woven Wire Fence Company. He leaves a widow, but no family. Jacob Wilcox, Cookstown; Harvey Wilcox, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Darius Wilcox, Strongfield, Sask., are brothers. Mrs. A. M. Harkness and Mrs. J. S. Robertson, this town; Mrs. Greshaw, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Miss Abbie Wilcox, Toronto, are the surviving sisters. The funeral was held from the home of Mr. Harkness to Greenwood cemetery on Saturday afternoon, Rev. Dr. Harper conducting the services at the house and grave.

—Don't fail to see Squire Holdon, the meanest man in town, and Weary Willie with his lemon machine at "Al Martin's Country Store," Town Hall, Jan. 26th.

MR. DAVID PATTERSON.

We overlooked making any reference in last week's issue to the death of Mr. David Patterson, an old resident of Albion, who passed away at his home in that township, on Friday, January 13th, at the ripe age of 82 years. Deceased had been poorly for some time with stomach trouble, but pneumonia was the immediate cause of his death. Mr. Patterson was born in the north of Ireland, but came to Canada while quite young and shortly afterwards settled in Albion. He was a man who enjoyed the respect and good-will of the entire community. He is survived by one son, John Patterson, Albion and three daughters, Mrs. Albert Rolley, Palgrave; Mrs. David McMullen, Mulmur, and Mrs. Wm. Heatherington, Alliston. He was a member of the Anglican Church and a stalwart Conservative. There was a large attendance at the funeral, which was held to St. John's Church cemetery, Mono, Sunday afternoon, January 15th, Rev. Mr. Perry, rector of Mono Mills parish, conducting the services. The pallbearers were Messrs. George and John J. McMullin, Geo. and Edward Patterson, John and Robert McElwain.

A RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Councillor and Mrs. W. J. Gordon were the victims of a rather serious runaway accident on Tuesday afternoon. While driving down Broadway in a cutter their horse became frightened and started down the street at a hard gallop. The roadway is very icy, which made the predicament of the two occupants of the vehicle all the more perilous. The steed rounded the Second St. corner at a terrific pace, upsetting the cutter and throwing Mr. and Mrs. Gordon on the hard, icy street. The occupants were badly unnerved and pretty well shaken up from the shock and excitement, but had the good fortune to escape without any broken bones. The horse continued its mad flight, turning up 1st Avenue and then south on 1st St. At the corner of 1st St. and Broadway the cutter collided with an electric light pole and was badly wrecked. The horse turned down Broadway and opposite The Banner office freed itself from the remains of the vehicle. By this time the equine was tiring and had slackened its gait considerably. When it reached the Mill St. corner it was stopped and captured by a number of men.

THE WELSH LADIES' CHOIR.

In Wales, a country known proverbially as "The Land of Song," the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir is regarded as the leading interpreter of Welsh national music, whilst in every city where it has sung in Great Britain, Ireland, France and America it has been acclaimed as a combination of unsurpassable musical talents.

The Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir will appear in the Town Hall, Orangeville, on Friday evening, Feb. 17th, under the auspices of The Adult Bible Classes of St. Andrew's Church.

ROSEMONT.

Some of your readers, Mr. Editor, have been asking what has become of "Traveller." The last "Traveller," it was said, soon ran out of news, but we had nothing to do with him. Meeting my old chum one day he advised me to take a trip with him and invited me to take the stage with him to Violet Hill, and from there visit a number of our old friends. Perhaps, he said, we might have the luck to get to Willie George Newton's party. I finally agreed to go. On Monday morning along drove Billy Allen and away we went. I asked if we would stop at "Parkdale," but the driver informed me that the first halt would be at Mulmur Corners. Approaching the Corners I blew the horn and the Postmaster immediately answered. No time was lost there and we were soon on our way again. Nearing Enos Brett's we saw a fellow coming down the grade. "Hello" said Billy. "Hello" responded the stranger. "Fine night," said Pat. "This is morning" came the answer. Passing on I enquired who the fine looking fellow was. The driver informed me he was Henry Shaw, of Rosemont, who had recently come home from Detroit. "I'll bet a cent," he added, "he is coming from Cotton's, for I mind one time before I gave him a ride and he told me he was there." Nothing further of interest transpired until we reached Violet Hill post office. Mr. Thompson informed me that there was a letter there for Mr. Reilly. I told him I was the individual. Upon opening the epistle I was surprised to find it was an invitation to Willie George's party. Passing on to the village we met Thos. Barber, our old friend, and decided to stay with him until Tuesday night. Tom took us over to Shelburne Monday afternoon to have a hair cut and on Tuesday we rested for the big party in the evening. We put on our Ball suits and started for the dance. On arriving Willie George met us and took us to the spare room and told us to leave our wraps there. Soon the room was filled so we went out and sat by the fireside. Along drove Mr. and Miss Downey, of Alliston, Edgar Moore and sisters, Russell McDowell and sister. W. G. seemed to be overjoyed, but appeared somewhat troubled, for some reason that I was only able to guess at. During the evening I overheard Fred. Wake remark that he must go down to Downey's at Alliston, where he thought he would have the time of his life. I don't think Pat or I missed a dance that night. Next morning we went home with Fred, who promised to take us out driving and to visit an old friend who was looking for me. He also gave us a pressing invitation to stay with him until next week.

MONO MILLS.

Rev. A. C. Watt, of Bondhead, formerly a rector of the parish here, and Rev. Mr. Nurse, of Beeton, were present at the induction services last week. The Bishop of Toronto conducted the services and gave a most helpful and encouraging address.

Mr. J. E. Gray, of Wycliffe College, attended the funeral of the late Mr. William Duke on Friday last.

The members of the Women's Institute treated themselves and their husbands to a fowl supper in the Orange Hall on Monday evening of last week. Speeches were delivered by the resident ministers and a most enjoyable evenning was spent.

A large number of the young people from around here took part in the entertainment held in Adjala Presbyterian Church Hall on Friday evening last.

SPEERSVILLE.

Things are not running as smoothly in this section as they might. We are having another school meeting on January 25th, as the meeting on December 28th was not legal. Accordingly another meeting has been called for the purpose of electing a trustee. Wm. Duke and Thos. C. Glassford are after the position and we hope they will both be satisfied with the result next time and that whoever is elected will do his best to avoid any further trouble throughout the year.

ALTON.

The members of the Orange Lodge, Alton, held an oyster supper last Monday evening, at which their friends were invited.

Miss Alma Patterson, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is improving.

The remains of Mrs. John Scott, who died last Thursday, January 19th, were interred in the Alton cemetery last Saturday.

Miss Cora Hayward, of Orangeville, spent over Sunday with Miss Cora Dowswell.

Mr. Lorne Shaw, the genial manager of the Skating Rink, reports business good.

The Barber Carriage Co. is working full time, getting out their buggies for shipment.

Local Option, instead of being detrimental to the business interests of the town, has made it considerably better; so the business men say.

Miss Ethel Barber is ill with la grippe.

Oliver Martin has secured a situation with the Barber Carriage Co.

Mr. R. Ross, who met with a severe accident to his left eye, is improving.

Mr. W. Algie, Jr., has moved his household goods into the house lately vacated by Mr. L. Lemon.

Miss Scott, of Brandon, Man., who has been spending the last ten days with friends in the village, returned to the West last week.

HALL'S CORNERS.

Messrs. Wm. Shields and George Best are home again after conducting a series of Institute meetings throughout the county.

Mr. Carter and son, of Dundalk, spent the beginning of the week at Wm. Small's.

All of our young people are spending their spare evenings skating at the new rink in Shelburne.

Mrs. Hobson, who has been very ill for the past few weeks, is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Reid visited at G. F. Gabriel's on Wednesday last.

Mr. Wm. Crawley, of Honeywood, renewed acquaintances here last week.

Mr. Jno. Hall has purchased a fine black driver at a fancy figure.

Mr. W. J. Jeffers has also purchased a driver.

Messrs. Stewart and Hamilton have taken the contract of cutting two acres of bush for G. F. Gabriel.

CORBETTON.

There is an abundance of snow in this locality and the leading roads coming to the village are beginning to drift.

The recent municipal contest was one of the hardest fights for the position of Reeve and Deputy-Reeve that has taken place in the township for years, as three old and tried councillors competed for the latter position, Mr. James Higgins winning the race. Mr. Higgins will, however, be a new man at the County Council Board. Nevertheless we have no fear but that he will discharge his duties with credit to himself and the township he represents. Reeve-elect McGhee has been there before.

Corbetton's leading general store has changed hands, Mr. S. M. Carey and Son having sold out to ex-Reeve Thos. Bolen & Co. Mr. Carey is having an auction sale of household furniture to-morrow (Wednesday) prior to moving to Toronto.

Mr. Edward Bell, who recently moved from Shrigley into the village, died very suddenly on election night, aged 60 years. The funeral was held to Badjeros on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleck visited Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Woods.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Gibson, of Battleford, have been visiting at the home of the former's brother, Mr. J. Gibson.

Our school opened after Christmas holidays with Miss Barnus, of Durham, in charge.

We notice that only one member, (Mr. Cornett) of the Council for 1911 resides in the New Survey. The Old Survey will have the heavy pull this year.

CAMILLA.

Mr. and Mrs. Galbraith spent a few days with Shelburne friends last week.

We are glad to report the improvement of Mrs. H. McKim from her serious attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Thompson attended the funeral of a cousin at Tullamore, Tuesday.

Miss Sherman, of Primrose, was the guest of Miss Nina Bremner, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Rintoul, Mr. Will Henry and Miss Birdie Curry attended the Ball in Orangeville last week.

Master Laurence Marshall has almost recovered from his recent severe illness. The family will soon be out of quarantine again.

Miss Merril Pattullo has been engaged to teach at Gleno school for the coming term.

Mr. Jack Campbell is once more in our midst and hopes to be out in a few days.

Preparatory service will be held in St. Andrew's Church next Friday afternoon at 2 p.m. Communion service will be held Sunday.

We would like to know:—

If Billie P. wishes he had had more practice in Muskoka for he would like to be a hunter so much.

STILL ANOTHER POSTMASTER TELLS

Why He Pins His Faith to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Doctors Failed to Cure His Bright's Disease, but he Found Relief in the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

Clam Point, Shelburne Co., N.S., Jan. 23 (Special)—Joshua Nickerson, postmaster here, is among the many in this neighborhood who tell of pains relieved and disease banished by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I am sixty-two years old," says the postmaster, "And I'll tell you why I think so highly of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Owing to a bad cold my kidneys commenced to bother me, and the trouble developed into Backache, stiffness of the joints, and finally Bright's Disease.

"I was treated by a doctor, but that did not help me much, and it was six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills that brought me relief."

Everywhere you go in Canada people tell you of the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing, and everyone who tells you can give the reason why. That reason simply is that there is no case of Kidney Disease Dodd's Kidney Pills cannot cure. These people have tried them and proved this true. Backache, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Diabetes, Lumbago, Heart Disease and Bright's Disease are some of the more serious troubles that Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure, simply because these are all either Kidney diseases or are caused by diseased Kidneys.

If Fred. T. will meet any late trains this year.

If Jack C. has been Neil-ing lately.

If Alex. B. ever goes any way but South.

If Tom K. still has a hankering for a school marm.

If Jim L. will attend the millinery openings to see the latest in hats.

If Peter F. left his heart in Toronto.

If Tom C. will keep the Centre Road open with his new cutter.

If everyone was lost Sunday evening.

The Camilla Branch of the Dufferin Women's Institute will meet at the home of Mrs. Josiah Marshall on Wednesday, Feb. 1st, at 2.30 p.m. Subjects, "Character Building" and "A Child's Influence in the Home." All are welcome.

LAUREL.

The Epworth League of the Laurel Methodist Church held their monthly Literary meeting on Tuesday evening of last week. There was an unusually large attendance. As prearranged a number of the young people gave short sketches of the lives of noted Bible characters, such as Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. The President, Mr. Louis Johnston, was down to speak on the Origin of the Bible and What It is, but was unfortunately unable to be present and take the part assigned to him on account of illness. In his absence Mrs. E. Richardson took the subject and discussed it in a very interesting and instructive manner. Afterwards the young people gave their sketches in turn, giving much information on the lives of several of the eminent characters of the Bible times. The meeting was thoroughly interesting and very profitable as well.

The Skating Rink is in good shape and was well patronized every night last week. Manager Maltby is doing his best to make it a success. We would like to see the enterprise well patronized and the young people enjoy themselves while the ice is in good shape.

While skating on Thursday evening last, our cheesemaker, Mr. S. T. Ranton, slipped on the ice and fell dislocating and also fracturing his shoulder. Dr. White, of Shelburne, who was summoned, thought it advisable to have him removed to the General Hospital for treatment. He was taken down Friday morning and, we are glad to learn, is doing as well as can be expected.

There has been a good deal of sickness in and around our burg. Little Carrie Jelly has had the measles, but we are pleased to see her able to be around again. Messrs. H. Hughes and Louis Johnston are both laid up with la grippe. Mr. Albert Trimble is very ill with pneumonia.

Mr. S. J. Brown is slowly but surely recovering. We trust that he will be able to be around again in a few weeks.

Mr. John Banks has disposed of all his property in Amaranth and intends moving to the West in the early spring. Mr. George Hepton, of Snelgrove, has bought the home-stead farm of 150 acres, paying $10,000. Mr. Robert Fife has purchased the Balsam Grove property for $1400. We regret that Mr. Banks and family are leaving our neighborhood. They are a highly respected family and will be much missed in the community. We wish them every success in their new home.

Mr. E. B. Cooney is in Brampton at present attending to his brother, John, who is very ill.

Miss Jessie Johnston is visiting friends in Brampton and Toronto. She expects to be away a couple of weeks. We hope that she will have a good time.

Mr. Marshall Curry has been taking the short course in judging at the Guelph Agricultural College. He speaks very well of the College and the time he spent there.

Rev. and Mrs. T. R. White have gone to Toronto to attend the wedding of a friend.

John Banks, Jr., attended the Rink Monday night and accidentally slipped on the ice, breaking one of his legs. Drs. Kyles and Rooney set the fractured limb and he is doing as well as can be expected.

HIGH TEA AND CONCERT

Daughters of the Empire Entertained Large Audience Friday Night.

The high wind and stormy disagreeable weather had the effect of keeping many people from turning out to the High Tea and Concert given in the Town Hall on Friday night under the auspices of Lord Dufferin Chapter Daughters of the Empire. The affair was nevertheless well attended. The ladies served an excellent supper in the old Council Chamber, which had been attractively decorated for the occasion. Each of the tables was presided over by two of the ladies of the Chapter and these were assisted by a bevy of pretty waitresses who seemed to anticipate every want of their guests.

Mr. C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., occupied the chair during the after programme in the auditorium. Two specially interesting features of the programme were the report of the Treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Dahl, which appears elsewhere, and an excellent address by Dr. Bruce Smith, Inspector of Prisons. The musical programme consisted of piano duets by Misses McMaster and Hulse and Misses Ritchie and Hulse, duets by Messrs. Frost and Harding and solos by Miss Eva Hughson and Mr. E. A. Warren. The singers were in fine voice and all four were enthusiactically encored. Miss C. C. Wright acted as accompanist.

The hospital spirit, Dr. Smith asserted, was as old as time. It was an evolution of Christian progress that had its manifestation in the growth of the spirit of philanthrophy. Christianity had become a religion that aimed at doing good. The speaker said he remembered the time when there were only 11 hospitals in Ontario. To-day there are no less than 75 general hospitals in the province. Last year no less than 47,000 persons received treatment in these institutions. No less than $2,600,000 was spent in hospital construction and maintenance. Nearly every county in the Province has its hospital. In the neighboring county of Simcoe there are no less than four hospitals — Collingwood, Midland, Barrie and Orillia. Each of these four institutions was practically self-sustaining. There had never been a general hospital in the province that had been obliged to close its doors. Even in the town of Wingham, a place about the same size as Orangeville, the hospital had proved practically self-sustaining from the commencement.

The hospital, Dr. Smith pointed out, played an important part as an educational factor. It was a centre from which emanated much valuable instruction on the treatment of disease, sanitation, dieting, etc. Such an institution was bound to have a beneficial influence on the community in which it was established. The time had come when there should be a general hospital in the County of Dufferin. Its absence indicated a lack of the spirit of philanthropy so general in other parts of Ontario. The time had gone by when the poor invalid who requires skilled medical attendance should find it necessary to take a long journey to the city hospital.

In this connection Dr. Smith made the significant observation that town hospitals were the best in the province and town doctors just as good as those in the cities. The mortality, he pointed out, is lower in town than in city hospitals. This he attributed to the fact that in the smaller institutions doctors and nurses, having fewer patients on their hands, were able to give each case closer supervision and more constant attention.

In closing the speaker expressed the hope that the Daughters of the Empire would have the enthusiasm and zeal to go right ahead with the splendid project they had undertaken. The establishment of a hospital would be helpful to the town and to the surrounding country as well. Let civic pride and philanthropy join hand in hand to found an institution that would be a source of pride and a lasting blessing to the community.

At the close of his address, Dr. Smith, the chairman and the artists who contributed the musical programme were tendered a hearty vote of thanks on motion of Col. Preston seconded by ex-Mayor McKitrick.

"AL MARTIN'S COUNTRY STORE."

This Play is an amusing five-act comedy, depicting an old-time country store and post-office with all its peculiar environment. The life-like reality of all that takes place gives an irresistible charm to the proceedings. There is a graceful plot that gathers interest as the play proceeds and culminates in a brilliant climax. The play will be given in the Orangeville Town Hall, on Thursday evening, January 26th, under the auspices of the Liebander Bible Class, by F. M. Kay, Director, and F. von Zuben, crayon artist and comedian. Admission, 25c.; reserved seats, 35c. Plan of Hall opens at Brown's Drug Store, Monday morning, January 23rd, at 9 o'clock.

EXPRESSION WAS BEAUTIFUL

Miss Harkness has a voice such as is rarely heard in our city. Her phrasing and expression were beautiful and she held her audience entranced. Her best number was "I Will Extol Thee" from the Oratorio "Eli" by Costa. This received an excellent interpretation, showing a perfect blending of the registers of the upper and lower notes. All her numbers were given in a perfect artistic and pleasing manner.—St. Thomas Evening Journal.

Orangeville music lovers will have an opportunity to hear this gifted artist at the W. C. T. U. Concert on Friday evening, February 3rd.

The Bald Headed Man may Look Wise

But If He Had Been He Would Have Hair Now

You do not want a scientific treatise on the hair follicle—you are not particularly interested in the name of the German scientist who isolated the bug that is said to cause baldness. What you do want to know is how to save the hair you have and make it strong and lustrous.

Nyal's Hirsutone will do it better than anything else.

It is not claimed that Hirsutone is a wonderful scientific secret—but is the concrete result of all that is proven in the scientific treatment of sick and diseased hair and scalp.

It is a happy combination and you will notice a prompt improvement in the feeling of the scalp and the look of the hair.

Hirsutone loosens and removes all scaly and matted deposit on the scalp—stimulates the hair bulbs and gives new life and vigor to the hair itself.

Nyal's Hirsutone gives back to the hair and scalp just what it has been robbed of by your neglect and abuse.

It is time to start right. Use Hirsutone.

It is one of the Nyal remedies and no higher recommendation can be given on it. They are all good. Ask your Nyal Druggist. He recommends it.

Sold and guaranteed by Dr. A. J. Hunter & Co., A. T. Howard, Thos. Stevenson, Orangeville.

W. C. T. U. CONCERT.

A high-class concert will be given in the Town Hall, Orangeville, Friday evening, February 3rd, under the auspices of the local branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The leading artist will be Mrs. Ruby Harkness Hamilton, of Guelph, formerly of Detroit, a soprano, who holds a place in the very front rank of American singers. Mrs. Hamilton has held important positions as soloist in several prominent churches and has also achieved an enviable reputation on the concert platform. Her approaching visit to Orangeville is eagerly looked forward to by local music lovers with the keenest interest. Plan of hall will open at The Banner Office on Monday, Jan. 30th. Admission 50c., 35c. and 25c.

DUFFERIN TRUSTEES ASSOCIATION.

Annual Convention in Grand Valley Last Week a Success.

Rev. J. R. Bell, of Laurel, Re-elected President for Another Year.

Rev. J. R. Bell, of Laurel, had good practical ideas when he succeeded in launching the Dufferin Trustees' Association, on organization tending towards closer and more intimate association of the trustees of the county, and looking towards a reform in and a more practical curriculum in the public schools. The Association is yet in its infancy, has all the obstacles and prejudices of modernism to contend with, but with all is doing good work.

At the meeting in the council chamber on Monday about 50 were present. Mr. J. J. Morrison, of Peel township, a member of the Advisory Board, made a good practical address on the needs of a change in the present school system. Fully 95 per cent. of all the pupils attending end their education with the public school. They cannot have the advantages of high school, collegiate institute or university education. It was therefore required that the public school should give every pupil a finished and practical education, so that the pupil would be equipped for the ordinary day walk of life.

Rev. J. R. Bell spoke entertainingly and with profit on the advantages of teaching agriculture in the schools, the innovation at Orangeville high school being largely the result of an agitation begun by him some years ago. He also made a good suggestion about securing a proper history of pioneer life in this county. The trustees of each section might give each teacher their information of conditions 40 years ago, and of the men who shaped the future of this county. This information could be left with the Municipal clerk, and properly prepared into a connected story, and the whole filed with the county clerk. It is a matter worth considering, and certainly in years to come would be of incalculable value.

The following officers were elected for 1911:—

President—Rev. J. R. Bell, Laurel.

1st Vice-President—J. A. Best, Shelburne.

2nd Vice-President—J. J. Sproule, Black's Corners.

Secretary-Treasurer — John Johnston, Laurel.

Directors — East Luther, George Lyons, Jessonville; Garafraxa, Albert Simpson, The Maples; Mono, George Little, Ella; Amaranth, Fred. Hammond, Black's Corners; Melville, Jos. Noble, Stanton; Melancthon, Wm. Stone, Melancthon; Grand Valley, M. G. Varcoe; Orangeville, J. M. Beagle; Shelburne, Chas. Mason.—Star & Vidette.

1st Class.—Harold White, Ralph Hamilton.

Average attendance, 20. Those coming out first in their respective classes have earned a half holiday; also Lydia Sproule and Ruby Barnhardt for good behaviour throughout the month.

Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, Teacher.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless It Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which are odorless, tasteless and colorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients, it gives a perfect bowel regulator, vitalizing, invigorator and strengthener. Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit, but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physics, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store — The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown.

RESERVE FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 17th.

For the Welsh Choir Concert in the Town Hall, Orangeville, under the auspices of the Adult Bible Classes of St. Andrew's Church. This famous Choir consists of eighteen ladies from Cardiff, Wales, under the conductorship of Mme. Hughes Thomas. It is acknowledged to be the finest choir in Wales and among one of the first choirs in Great Britain. The concert will be positively one of the best ever heard in Orangeville and local music lovers should not miss hearing this superb choir.

The late Hon. David David once said: "Each year every local paper gives from $100 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is located. No other agency can or will do this. The local editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any other ten men, and in fairness, man with man, he ought to be supported, not because you happen to like him or admire his writings, but because a local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliant or crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit to a community than a preacher or teacher. Understand us now, we do not mean morally or intellectually, but financially, and yet on the moral question you will find the majority of local papers are on the right side of the question. To-day the editors of local papers do the most work for the least money of any men on earth. Subscribe for your local paper, not as a charity, but as an investment."

IN SUNNY ALBERTA.

Warm Weather and Almost Constant Sunshine During December.

Mr. D. McPheeters Gives Banner Readers His Impressions of the West.

The Banner has received the following interesting letter from Mr. D. McPheeters, who went from Melville Cross to Alberta early last spring:—

Big Valley, Alta., Dec. 28, 1910.

Editor of The Banner.

Dear Sir,—You will find enclosed my subscription for another year. We like to hear the happenings around the old town. I will write a few lines to let your readers know in a general way how I am impressed with things in the West.

I arrived here on the 15th of April last. Most of the seeding was already finished. The snow disappeared the last of February and seeding commenced about the 1st of March. In this district there was very little snow and no spring rains to start vegetation. Consequently the crops did not get as good a start as other years and were a failure from here to Calgary, a distance of about one hundred miles. Thirty miles north of here there was a good deal of rain and they had splendid crops. The people here are very hopeful, despite the set-back, and are looking for better things another year. In the year 1909 oats yielded from 60 bus. to 100 bus. per acre and weighed as much as 45 lbs. per bush. Wheat gave a yield of from 20 to 40. bus. per acre and flax 10 bus. per acre. With land that will produce crops like this it is a poor man, who will get discouraged over a failure for one year.

The coldest weather in 1909 was in November, when the thermometer dropped as low as 40 degrees below and remained there for nearly the whole month. It was much warmer for the remainder of the winter. We had a few pretty cold days in November, 1910, the lowest being about 10 below zero. However, the snap only lasted for a week. We have about two inches of snow. I have just passed through the finest December weather I ever experienced. The thermometer averaged from 20 to 30 above zero, with the sun shining every day. This is surely sunny Alberta. Mild winters are of more frequent occurrence than severe. At the same time it occasionally turns very cold and has been known to drop as low as 65 below zero. This however, occurs very rarely.

I am located on section 36, township 33, range 20, about six miles from Rumsey, a town on the C.N.R. branch, built last summer from Edmonton to Calgary. They expect to have trains running regularly on the line by next June. The weather is so fine that building is going on in these small towns as if it were spring. There is a good opening for a medical doctor in Rumsey. The town is surrounded by a good agricultural country. The nearest physician is 40 miles from here. It costs from $50 to $75 a visit and they do not seem to care to come. The land here is rolling and the good land is mostly taken up. The C. N. R. coming in last year caused a rush of settlers. There is a range here called the Imperial lease. These lands ought to be thrown open for settlement, as they are quite close to the railroad. Mr. Pat. Burns, the millionaire cattle man, and Mr. Shaw, local M. P. P., must have great influence with the Government, when they can hold land in this manner. A hindrance of this sort to the settlement of the country should not be allowed.

I may say that two-thirds of the rangers and settlers are Americans, and I believe that the majority of them would rather see the Stars and Stripes flying over the country than the Union Jack. They have 4th of July picnics and if they could manage it they would have the Stars and Stripes on the school houses. Fortunately the Government does not engage American teachers if it can get Canadians. The Union Jack should fly on all our western schools on national holidays and patriotic songs should be taught in the schools, so that the boys and girls will become staunch and local Canadian citizens.

I see by The News that a delegation of Western farmers has gone to Ottawa to interview the Government. I believe that more than two-thirds of the delegation are Americans. There is a great deal of selfishness in the demands of these Americans, as a greatnumber of them are interested in American machinery, and do not care how much the Eastern provinces suffer, so long as they get things easier for themselves. Farm machinery is 15 to 20 per cent. higher here than in Ontario. The same is true of everything shipped here. Salt is $2.50 a barrel. The freight on a barrel of apples is $3. I might say in closing that the farmers are not doing as much kicking as the delegation that visited Ottawa is trying to make out.

In closing, Mr. Editor, allow me to wish you and my old friends in Ontario a happy New Year.

Yours Faithfully,
D. McPHEETERS.

Eczema's Tortures

All treatments failed for three long years—Cure complete with DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., writes: "After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of the grand ointment I obtained relief. A few boxes were sufficient to a thorough cure. It is six months I was freed of this wretched disease, and as there has been no sign of the trouble I consider the cure a permanent one."

Such cures are not brought by imitations and substitutes. Dr. Chase's Ointment, 60 cents a box, is necessary for you to get the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous receipt book, are on the box you want. All dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free sample Dr. Chase's Recipes.

E L B A.

Allow me space in your valuable paper to note down a few of the happenings of this vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Little, of Toronto, spent New Year's with the former's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dermott spent Christmas with friends in Detroit and Toledo.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Freemantle spent Christmas with the former's mother.

Mr. John Elgie spent Christmas with his mother in the city.

Mr. Fred. Buchanan gave a very enjoyable party one night recently, at which a large crowd attended.

The young folk gathered in a crowd,
Some came the fields, some came the road,
George McKenzie plied that awful good,
To get to Buchanan's party.

At eight o'clock the dance begun
For old and young were bent on fun
And to the music they did hum
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

The music it was superfine,
The Dermott Bros. were right in line,
And Bob was not a bit behind,
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

The calling it was good and loud,
Of callers too there was a crowd,
And at their will the dancers bowed,
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

The clogging was done up nice and neat,
For Irish Bob has such big feet,
And all the rest did well compete,
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

George Lindsay did the claw fish glide,
With the dark eyed girl close by his side,
And in the parlor they went to hide
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

The supper—well, 'twas hard to beat,
Tom Lindsay said he had a treat,
For all the mince pies he did eat,
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

The evening was right gayly spent
In the wee sma' hours we homeward went,
For all had danced their heart's content,
At Fred. Buchanan's party.

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial.

This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

My Own Son Was A Martyr to Dyspepsia

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Him

ALEX. LARUE

INKERMAN, ONT., SEPT. 23, 1910.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the best remedy I keep for sale. I am in the General Store business, at the above address, and have been a resident of Inkerman for thirty-seven years, and since I started this store, (four years ago) I have found your remedy the most satisfactory one I have sold. Many of my customers having used them with the most beneficial results, and I can truthfully say that I know of two particular cases, among my patrons, that have been completely cured of Dyspepsia. They had previously been treated by physicians without being cured, but I advised them to try "Fruit-a-tives", and since taking that remedy their troubles have vanished.

My own son was a martyr to the same complaint, or Dyspepsia, and after a short course of "Fruit-a-tives", he is enjoying the best of health. I recommend "Fruit-a-tives", on every possible occasion, and would say that if every general store keeper, who stocks medicines, would keep "Fruit-a-tives" prominently displayed, he would increase his business many fold.

You have my authority to publish this letter along with my photo, if you think it would aid the sale of "Fruit-a-tives". (Signed) ALEX. LARUE.

The sales of "Fruit-a-tives" are increasing by leaps and bounds. Thousands of people, who have been cured by "Fruit-a-tives" are telling the good news to thousands of others, and these in turn are recommending it to still others. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit. 50c a box—6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or sent post paid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

GEORGE ANDREW NOLAN.

Died in Tottenham, on Thursday, January 5, George A. Nolan, in his eighty-first year. Deceased, who was a native of Tecumseth, moved to Tottenham in 1857 and conducted a woollen mill and saw mill, besides engaging in farming. In 1865 he built and equipped a roller mill, which was one of the best in the township, and conducted it up to about five years ago. Mr. Nolan took an active part in public affairs, having been reeve of the township for a number of years and after the incorporation of Tottenham became the first reeve of the village. In religion he was a member of the Society of Friends, and in politics a staunch Liberal. Fifty-eight years ago he married Sarah Richmond, who survives him. Besides his wife he leaves two daughters, Mrs. C. Armstrong, Toronto, and Miss Eva, at home, and three sons, William, Toronto; Harry, Saskatchewan, and Seneca, at home. Miss Sarah Nolan and Mrs. John Wilson, of Tottenham, are sisters. The remains were interred in Mount Tegart cemetery the following Saturday. Services were conducted at the home and grave by Rev. H. D. McCuaig, assisted by Rev. J. J. Ferguson.—Tottenham Sentinel.

DE CAT AN' DE DOG.

(A Parody on the Wreck of the Julie Plante)

The following verses, written by Howard D. Langford, a High School student and a son of Rev. Chas. Langford, of Alton, were read at a meeting of the High School Literary Society in December. Several compositions were submitted at this meeting and Mr. Langford's was unanimously voted the best.

De moon she up, de stars dey out,
De sky it bright, bright, bright;
But I know 'for I long in bed,
It would be awful night.
For tom-cat howl upon de fence,
Bime-by he howl some more;
I near bus' up dat winter night,
To hear dat tom-cat roar.

Chorus.

De tom-cat howl upon de fence,
Bime-by he howl some more;
I near bus' up dat winter night,
To hear dat tom-cat roar.

I was no sooner shut de eye,
And have won lofly snooze,
Dan ole tom-cat he howl an' howl,
Lak ver' ole Nick was loose.
De clock it strike for ten—'lebin'—twelve,
An' still dat cat keep on,
An' den I say to dat ole cat,
"You sing wan udder song."—Cho.

An' den I give wan great beeg jomp,
An' hit de shin on chair;
An' when I go for light de lamp,
De matches dey not dere;
An' den I step upon a tack,
An' den I stub de toe,
An' den I swear by all de saints,
Dat tom-cat he mus' go.—Cho.

I raise de window ver' mock queek,
An' speak de mind to cat,
I trow de boots at heem bang! biff!
But he no stop for dat;
An' den I get mos' awful mad,
An' stamp upon de floor,
De cat he never wink de eye,
An' never stop de roar.—Cho.

I was in fit of wild despair,
When wid de bark an' growl,
De dog he come upon de scene,
An' tom-cat stop hees howl.
There was de mos' unearthly yell,
De tom-cat he no more,
But I fall in wan small, cold heap
Upon de bedroom floor.—Cho.

Oh! Dogs dey are de noble race,
Dey bid de cat to cease,
When he begin to get too loud
He make heem keep de peace.
'Spos tom-cat de begin to yell,
When you have start for snore,
If you have dog upon de job,
He no yell no more.

THE CORONER'S INQUEST.

Jury Thinks Hiley Must Have Been Dead or Unconscious When Freight Train Struck Him.

Engineer Saw Body Across Rails, But Was Too Near To Stop Train in Time.

The Coroner's inquest on the death of the late Thomas Hiley, whose tragic fate is reported elsewhere in this issue, was opened before Dr. James Henry, the presiding Coroner, and a jury at the home of the deceased, corner William St. and the South Townline, at 10 o'clock last Friday morning. The Coroner and jury examined the body, after which the inquest was adjourned until 7.30 in the evening, when it was resumed in the Public Library. After viewing the remains the jury walked down the track to the scene of the sad fatality and made a minute inspection of the surroundings.

There was an audience of nearly one hundred people in the Public Library Auditorium when the enquiry was resumed on Friday evening.

The first witness called was Mr. Donald McLean, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, near the C. P. R. station. Mr. McLean told of cashing the deceased's pay cheque last Thursday, and said he had given him six $10 bills, two $1 bills and some silver. Hiley had a few drinks of lagerine, in company with some other men who happened to be in the hotel at the time, and then left the house for his home.

James May, a C. P. R. employee, swore that he left the Royal Hotel in company with the deceased at noon on the day of the accident. Each of them went to his own home for dinner. He saw deceased again at 1.30 p.m., which was the last time he met him alive.

The principal witness of the evening was F. E. Oakes, the engineer on the freight train responsible for Hiley's death. It was expected that Oakes would be able to throw a good deal of light on the tragedy and particularly to make it clear whether Hiley was alive or dead when the engine struck him. On this point unfortunately the engineer was uncertain, although he ventured the conjecture that the unfortunate man must have been dead when struck. Oakes said he left the Orangeville station at 3.05 p.m. with a train of 34 cars. On rounding the curve about 1¼ miles south of the station he saw the apparently lifeless form of a man lying on the track only a few car lengths ahead of the engine. The body was lying across the rails face downward with the arms outside of the rail. He immediately applied the emergency brakes and brought the train to a standstill before he reached Melville. He got down from the engine, accompanied by his fireman, and told of their finding part of the remains under the tender. The head and a portion of the body were found about thirty yards beyond Hiley's own section. On reaching Melville Cross Oakes notified the section boss there of the accident.

N. Le Bon, fireman on the freight-train, corroborated the evidence of the engineer.

Wm. Carr, foreman, and Thos. Hewitt, both of the Melville section gang, J. A. Wilson and Geo. Fleming gave evidence, but none of them was able to throw any light on the actual cause of death.

Dr. T. H. Henry, who performed the autopsy, read his report, which was explained to the jury in detail.

Coroner Dr. James Henry told the jury of the finding of the body and the discovery of deceased's money, about $60, in his clothing. The jury then retired and after an absence of about twenty minutes returned shortly after 11 o'clock with the following verdict:—

"We find that the deceased came to his death by being run over by a southbound freight train, engine No. 699, and, although the engineer and train crew made every effort to stop the train, the distance where the body was first seen by the engineer, only two car lengths, or eighty feet ahead, and the large train of thirty-four cars and steep downgrade at this point made it impossible to stop. The jury are unable to say how the deceased came to be lying across the track, but think he must have been dead or in an unconscious state when the train ran over him.

"We further find that the deceased was a very strong, healthy man; not subject to fits or drinking habits, and this makes the case more mysterious."

Mr. A. A. Hughson was present in the interests of the Crown and Police Magistrate Pattullo appeared for the C. P. R.

The members of the jury were:—T. J. Bennett (foreman); John Norris, R. A. Irwin, Isaac Newton, Jas. Hayes, Josh. Wiggins, George Hill, Wm. Hughes, F. Prior, W. G. Snooks, Geo. W. King, Thos. Legate and John Patterson.

UNION LITERARY SOCIETY.

The Mono East Union Literary Society held a very pleasant meeting on Saturday evening. The most interesting feature of the programme was a debate, "Resolved that a man will do more for honor than for money." The affirmative was supported by Miss Viola Crombie and Mr. O. Woodland and the negative by Miss Katie Woodland and Mr. T. E. Holmes. The affirmative won by four points. Other numbers were a reading by Miss Minnie McEwen, mouth organ solo by Mr. Harold Moffatt, a recitation by Mr. Adolphus Holmes, a duet by Misses Annie and Fanny Holmes, an organ solo by Miss Myrtle Dodds and a story by Mr. R. Robinson. Next Saturday, Jan. 28th, the Society will hold a social evening, for which a good programme has been arranged, including a debate on Whether Local Option is a Benefit to a Town or not. After the programme luncheon will be served and a silver collection taken. Everybody welcome. Saturday night's meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

DISTRESSING HEADACHES.

Headaches are largely the result of disordered kidneys.

Mrs. Hall, 84 Flora Street, St., Thomas, Ont., says:—"I suffered for years with headaches of a most distressing nature. They would come on me suddenly, and would last for days at a time. These were usually accompanied by spells of dizziness that would leave me unable to attend to any house duties. My back was weak and caused me much suffering through the night. I had doctored for years, but all to no avail. Nothing benefited me and my condition was gradually becoming worse. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills. One box gave me a complete and lasting cure. I have not had a headache or dizzy spell since and I feel like a new person."

Booth's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists, 50c. box, under a guarantee to refund your money if they fail to relieve any disease having its origin in the kidneys or bladder. Postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by T. Stevenson.

CALEDON AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

Report of Annual Meeting at Charleston on Saturday.

The annual meeting of the Caledon Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall, Charleston, Saturday, January 21st, 1911. Mr. W. J. Limebeer, 2nd Vice-President was called to act as Chairman of the meeting, and Rev. S. R. Robinson, as Secretary protem. The reports of the Auditors, Directors and Treasurer were read and adopted. The meeting decided not to have Departmental Judges, but voted in favor of the Department's proposition to insure Societies against Fair failures through bad weather.

The following officers were elected for the year 1911:—President, Wm. Wilson; 1st Vice-President, George Patterson; 2nd Vice-President, W. J. Limebeer; Directors, Messrs. J. A. McBride, P. Garrity, D. Sweeney, Chas. Atkinson, Ben Harrison, W. T. Harris, H. Nelson, E. J. Ellis, Jas. Pinkney; Auditors, Rev. S. R. Robinson and Thos. Smith.

At the meeting of the new Board of Directors held at the close of the annual meeting. Thos. Quinn was reappointed Treasurer, and Wm. Rutledge Secretary. Messrs. E. J. Ellis and Chas. Atkinson were nominated elegates to the annual meeting of the Association of Fairs and Exhibitions to be held at Toronto on Feb. 8th and 9th. The Board decided to hold their next Fair on October 5th and 6th, 1911.

A BILIOUS HEADACHE.

Bile in the blood is poison and causes pain. Mrs. Thos. Covert, Highland Grove, Ont., writes: "For years I suffered with biliousness, stomach trouble and terrible headaches. Having used Dr. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills will say unhesitatingly that this is the most effective treatment obtainable for these troubles."

ENDURING VALUE

Observe how highly every MASON & RISCH is prized by its owner—how years of constant use only heighten their appreciation of it. MASON & RISCH PIANOS in use for twenty-five years are still in such good condition as to give no reason for wanting a new instrument. Think how seldom you find a exchanged for a new Piano of another make. When one is offered it is considered much above the average value, a very special bargain even at a higher than average price.

MASON & RISCH

This permanent satisfaction and enduring value is due to innate soundness of construction and its varying excellence of material, fortified with the exclusive Aliquot System, by which beauty of tone is built into the Mason & Risch as to be as permanent a part of the instrument as the case itself.

DUFFERIN AGR'L SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of The Dufferin Agricultural Society, which was held in the Public Library Auditorium Tuesday afternoon of last week, was attended by quite a large number of the officers and members. The retiring President, Mr. J. E. Booth commented on the excellent financial showing for the past year. The gate receipts were the largest for many years and the amount distributed in prizes exceeded any previous year in the history of the Society. The Society is entirely out of debt, and the auditors' report showed a balance of $71 in the hands of the Treasurer. Officers were elected as follows:—

President—G. A. Leighton, Orangeville.
1st Vice-President—W. M. Green, Orangeville.
2nd Vice-President—Jos. Gillespie, Amaranth.
Directors—Orangeville, Dr. A. J. Hunter, Jos. Darraugh; Caledon, E. J. Ellis, J. J. Ellis; Amaranth, John B. Armstrong; Mono, J. F. McNaughton, James Woodland; East Garafraxa, Peter Norris, Nelson Black.

At an adjourned meeting on Tuesday Mr. H. Endacott was appointed Secretary-Treasurer.

A section foreman named Doyle was adly hurt at Edwards, Ont., when a M. C. R. train struck and demolished a speeder.

Dr. George Shoults, who had been practising his profession in Lisle for about two months, was found lying dead on the bed in his room a week ago Monday morning. The doctor, who was fifty-five years of age, had not been well for a few days. On Sunday night he was preparing to retire when he was apparently seized with a vomiting spell. On Monday morning his body was found lying on the bed with his face in a vessel he had been using. He had, apparently, been dead several hours. Dr. Harper, coroner, was summoned and concluded death was due to apoplexy. The remains were taken to London, where the family of deceased reside.

Reeve McKnight, of Collingwood township, has a municipal experience that should make him the envy of others who give their time to the public in this way. Mr. McKnight has had a seat continuously for nineteen years at the council board in that township. For eleven years he has been reeve and he was deputy-reeve for two years. Seven times he was elected by acclamation and in not one of these nineteen elections was he ever defeated.

Mr. Ewers, principal of Laurel School, has resigned, and has accepted charge of the Science department of Caledonia School.

Melancthon township officials for 1911 are:—Assessor, Jos. McDougall, salary, $100; Auditors, George Mortimer and W. H. Green, $10 each; Solicitor, G. M. Vance, fees; Commoner, M. Waters, $10; Board of Health, Dr. Keyes, fees, James Fleming, one year, John A. Corbett two years, Jas. R. Phillips, three years.

AN UNEQUALLED CHOIR.

"Music lovers of this city who were fortunate enough to attend the Concert in the Russell Theatre last night by the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir, will long remember it as one of the finest exhibitions of choral singing ever heard in Ottawa.—Numerous singing organizations have in the past visited Ottawa, but undoubtedly none have ever equalled the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir in perfection of chorus singing and solo work."—Ottawa Journal.

AS GOOD AS HAVING A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE

That is what thousands of mothers say of Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets promptly and surely cure all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood, and what is more they are absolutely safe—they have never been known to harm the youngest baby—they never will harm anyone—they are good for babies of all ages. Concerning them Mrs. Wm. Higgins, Karn Ont., writes:—"I shall never be without Baby's Own Tablets in the house as long as my children are small. They are a wonderful medicine and are as good as having a doctor in the house. I gave them to my little boy for colic and they quickly cured him. I am always glad to recommend them to other mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25c. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Daughters of the Empire Have Raised Nearly $3,000 for Hospital Fund in Last Three Years.

Mrs. Dahl, Treasurer of the Society, Gave an Interesting Report at Friday Night Entertainment.

At the Daughters of the Empire Entertainment in the Town Hall on Friday night, Mrs. W. C. Dahl, Treasurer of the local Chapter, presented an instructive report, showing the result of the Society's efforts to raise funds for an Hospital in Orangeville. The report shows that the ladies have raised almost $3,000 in the last three years. This is surely a most creditable showing and carries the assurance that the hospital will be a reality in the near future. The text of Mrs. Dahl's report is as follows:—

Mr. Chairman, Ladies & Gentlemen.

As Treasurer of Lord Dufferin Chapter of The Daughters of the Empire, it affords me great pleasure to submit the following statement, showing the many ways in which we have tried to raise funds for an Hospital, which I am sure you will all agree is needed in our town. It is three years ago last October since this Chapter was first organized and since then we have had all kinds of troubles and pleasures carrying through the following programme:—

First we gave a Fancy Fair that netted us about $753.41. On March 17th, 1908, we had our Sox Social and At Home and made $257.90. Mrs. J. R. Gillespie started an autograph quilt, and made $50 for us. Our next venture was a Book Carnival and we cleared $589.37. On January 18th, 1909 we had a Shredded Wheat banquet; proceeds $50.75. On Feb. 15th Miss Drake gave an entertainment. Her expenses were so high that we only cleared $14.10. The Grand Valley Dramatic Club gave "Ten Nights in a Barroom," and made us $42.92. On March 17th Dr. Mathieson, of St. Mary's, gave a lecture in the Public Library Auditorium. Our collections amounted to $7. That was the only entertainment where the expenses were nil. Dr. Mathieson refused to take even his travelling expenses and of course we were grateful to him for his goodness. Our next venture was "The Temple of Fame" in May 1909, which you will all remember was presented for three nights and made $115.45 clear. On Fall Fair Day we had a Tag Day, which cleared $133.77. We asked permission of the Directors and had a Tag Day in Grand Valley at their Fall Fair. We brought home $60.10. On March 17th, 1910, we had a St. Patrick At Home, the proceeds amounting to $19.55. April 19th, and 20th we gave the opera, "The Doctor of Alcantara" and cleared $111. On the 12th of July we had another Tag Day. $33.45 was the amount raised. We started to raise a mile of coppers, but up to date we are not a quarter of a mile on our way. We only have $63.08, but a number of cards are still out and we hope to see the mile post yet. This represents the sum of our efforts up to to-night and I hope we will have a substantial sum to add to our bank account when we count up tomorrow.

During the past three years we have had several contributions and hope before 1911 has passed away to have many more. We have been truly grateful to the few who have remembered us. I think our first donation came from an old Orangeville boy, J. K. Paisley, $5.00. Other donations were:—St. Mark's Literary Society, $10.00; Orangeville Business College, $13.30; Miss Dewar, $5.00; Gentleman from Toronto, name unknown, $5.00; Mrs. Pattullo, $1.00; Proceeds of Ministrel Show, $33.00; Cheque from James Curry, Toronto, $200; Mrs. Glaze, $10.00; Mrs. Connor, $1.00; Laurel Ladies' Basket Ball Club, $5.00; John Best, M. P., $5.00; Cash from a friend, $1.50; Mrs. Wm. Daniels, $1.00; Major Preston, $10.00; Miss Delia Hulse (Shrigley School) $5.00; Young Lady from London, $1.00. Total, $311.80.

Our cash in Bank up to date is $2,820.54. We are debating now whether to buy a house and have it remodelled or build a small place according to Hospital plans. Our choice really depends upon the liberality of the people in town and countryi but we feel quite sure that after hearing what a few women have done in a comparatively short time you will step nobly into the fray and our Hospital will soon become an established fact.

LIEBANDER IN LEAD.

Heavy Vote Polled in Opening Week of Free Library Contest.

Lively Demand for Ballots Indicates Keen Interest in Race.

Below is given the result of the first week's count in the contest for the splendid Library on exhibition in Marshall Green & Co's. show window. The figures indicate that there has certainly been something doing during the past week. The members of the Liebander Bible Class got off to a good start and with 10,630 votes to their credit have a comfortable lead. Orangeville Public School is a good second with 6095 votes and Mono College and Glencross schools with 4045 and 3105 votes respectively promise to be dangerous competitors. The standing for the opening week is:—

Orangeville Fire Brigade	3400
Canadian Order Foresters	1800
Orangeville High School	980
A. O. U. W.	3400
Mono College	4045
Independent Order Oddfellows	1840
The Maples Public School	2355
Liebander Bible Class	10630
St. Andrew's S. S.	1300
Glencross Public School	3105
Methodist S. S.	85
Holmes Union S. S.	55
Orangeville Public School	6905
St. Mark's S. S.	70
St. Andrew's Bible Classes	3260
Orangeville District L. O. L.	1360
S. S. No. 13 Caledon	20
Rosehill S. S. No. 11, Caledon	2080
S. S. 3 No. 20, Amaranth	[illegible]
Blount Public School	30
Orangeville Bus. College	100

If your favorite church, society, lodge or school has not been entered, send in your first vote which nominates it and then persuade your friends and neighbors to get busy and help it win. Every 10 cent. purchase from merchants listed elsewhere in this issue means 10 votes. Be sure and ask for ballots. When properly filled these are to be deposited in the ballot box in Dr. A. J. Hunter & Co's. drug store.

A BRILLIANT SOPRANO.

Miss Ruby Katharine Harkness, of Detroit, is a brilliant young soprano of exceptional ability. Miss Harkness has already attained much eminence, not only in her own city, but also in many other parts of the United States, where her beautiful concert work has always elicited much favorable comment.—Toronto Saturday Night.

Town Hall, Friday evening, Feb. 3rd, at W. C. T. U. concert.

WHAT ABOUT HOCKEY?

Already the winter is half over and as yet there has not been a single hockey match on Orangeville ice. That there is the making of a first-class hockey team in town is shown by the fact that a couple of weeks ago, a local septette drove over to Erin and defeated the Erin team by 8 to 7 on their own ice. It is surely high time steps were taken to arrange a few home games to loosen up some of the hockey enthusiasm that is lying about in cold storage.

A Good Idea in Hair Treatment.

The trouble with most women's hair is that they won't take the time to give it proper treatment. If you want your hair to have that look of lustre and vitality, you must take care of it.

You cannot expect to have splendid hair if you simply run a comb through it in the morning—give it a dab on the outer edge with a brush—throw it into a braid—switch it around the head—jab in a few hair pins—and let it go at that.

Hair is like any other growing thing—it needs attention—it needs care—it needs thorough grooming regularly—not only the hair but the scalp.

If you have the time and patience you won't need any hair tonic—but most women haven't. The next best thing is Nyal's Hirsutone. It is the best thing offered to take the place of hours of combing and brushing.

It tones up the roots, brightens the color, improves the texture and makes it stay gracefully where it is put.

Hirsutone literally revitalizes the neglected hair.

Your Nyal Druggist cheerfully recommends Hirsutone because he knows it.

In artistic bottles $1.00 and 50c.

THE BOLTON WRECK.

Manner in Which Owen Sound Passenger Train Came to Grief.

Two Coaches and Baggage Car Went Over an Eight Foot Embankment

About a score of people were more or less hurt, none seriously, in the wreck which occurred between Mono Road and Bolton, on the C. P. R. about 6.30 Tuesday evening of last week, when three coaches of the Owen Sound express, due in Toronto at 8.30 p.m., left the rails, and after bumping along the track were flung down an embankment, turning completely over on their sides. The accident, which was stated to be due to a loose bolt in a fishplate, causing the rail to spread, occurred midway between the two stations, when the train was travelling at a speed variously estimated at from 25 to 35 miles an hour.

The train was made up of a baggage and mail car and two passenger coaches, the latter being comfortably filled, and according to the statements of passengers, the wreck occurred as the engine was taking a curve. How it really happened, however, is at present a matter of conjecture, but the general opinion held by those on board is that the baggage car first tore loose, dragging the two passenger coaches with it. Bumping along the side of the track for 60 feet, the derailed coaches were finally flung on their sides down an eight-foot embankment. It was in the rear coach, which contained about 40 passengers, many of whom were women, where most of the injuries were sustained.

The names of those injured are:—W. Davie, Earlton, scalp wound, taken to Western Hospital; W. Griffith, Melita, Man., rib fractured, removed to Western Hospital; F. H. Elliott, Harriston, cut head and twisted back; W. J. Ostrander, Shelburne, head cut; He formerly lived at Huttonville; A. Edwards, baggageman, 318 St. Clarens Avenue, foot broken; Mrs. W. L. Young, Markdale, bruised and badly shaken up; H. G. Tucker, Owen Sound, bruised and badly shaken up.

Baggageman Edwards was attending to his duties at the time and the first intimation he got that something had happened was when he was thrown violently against some baggage, which commenced to pile all over him. When removed from the car it was found that some small bones in his foot had been smashed. Following the receipt of the news of the accident, the Bradbury train was backed up the line from Bolton Junction to the scene of the wreck, and the passengers transferred from the derailed coaches, arriving in Toronto at 10.30 p.m.

Mr. W. L. Young, Markdale, who, with Mrs. Young, was on a visit to Toronto, gave a graphic description of the accident.

"We were, as well as I remember, travelling about 30 miles an hour," he said, "when suddenly there came a tearing, scrunching sound and the next moment I realized that we were off the track. On our car bumped for about 40 feet, and then with a crash turned right over on its side. My wife was thrown violently against the hat rack, while I was pitched along the coach for some distance. There was not the slightest sign of panic, notwithstanding the large number of women passengers. Possibly the fact that the lights did not go out helped to make matters better. I noticed several people suffering from bad cuts, chiefly about the head, and many complained of being bruised, but the wonder of it all is that no lives were lost."

Another passenger, a travelling man, who escaped uninjured, stated that he was in the smoker, which was immediately in front of the passenger coach. "The first I knew of the accident," he continued, "was being pitched over another man's head on to a vacant seat. While I hung on to this, the coach bumped along for some distance until, with a sudden swerve, it pitched over on its side. Broken glass and woodwork flew everywhere, two or three men being hurt in that way. I clung to my perch through it all."

Mr. Wm. Griffith, of Melita, Man., who sustained a fractured rib, had been on a visit to his old home in Owen Sound, which he had not seen for 16 years. He was on his way to Toronto to take the Winnipeg train.

"Say, it's the most marvelous thing I ever saw that there was not loss of life in that wreck," exclaimed Mr. H. G. Tucker, barrister, of Owen Sound, when seen by a Mail and Empire reporter in his room at the Prince George Tuesday night. He sustained a few minor bruises and cuts and was badly shaken up, but gave a most graphic account of his experience.

"The train," he said, "was speeding along very fast between Mono Road and Bolton. I was in the smoker sitting with my back to the engine, when, at a point where there is a considerable curve in the road, I felt a motion, which I knew to be caused by the cars leaving the rails. I jumped to grab a hat guard at the top of the car but I was shot from the middle of the car to the rear end. I was momentarily stunned, and upon gaining my senses the lights were out. I saw a man commencing to light a match, and I immediately called out to the passengers, 'Let no one light a match and we'll get out of this all right.' The car had rolled completely over, down an embankment of about eight feet, and, as it afterwards turned out, was about 17 or 18 feet from the tracks. I found another man, who was a prisoner being taken to the Central Prison along with four others to whom he was shackled, lighting a match. I struck him and put the match out. The officer in charge of them then said, 'I have four men in chains here, For God's sake give me a light so I may release them. There is no danger from explosion as the windows are all broken.' I then lit a match, and he released the prisoners. The latter, instead of trying to escape, turned to and worked manfully in assisting the passengers to escape from the wrecked cars, smashed windows and doing all in their power to help the passengers to get out. One prisoner in particular did heroic work. He thought of the stove in the car, and with considerable difficulty crawled through a window and by the application of snow succeeded in extinguishing the coal fire."

So impressed were many of the passengers with the splendid conduct and heroic efforts of the four prisoners that later when all were assembled about a bonfire, a petition was signed on behalf of the prisoners. It was addressed to the Hon. J. J. Foy, Attorney-General of Ontario, and requested him to take cognizance of the manly conduct of the prisoners, who, when given their liberty, instead of trying to escape, had heroically stood by the passengers and helped them to escape from the wreckage. The petition was signed about fifty passengers including prominent business and commercial men throughout Ontario and the Dominion.

When the train arrived on the scene to bring the passengers on to Toronto the prisoners were not re-shackled and were conducted to the Central Prison without manacles.

MRS. MILLER HAMILTON

After an illness lasting many months, Sarah A. Brackin, beloved wife of Mr. Miller Hamilton, passed away at her residence, Tottenham, on Thursday, January 12th. She was born at Richmond Hill, 59 years ago, moved to Adjala with her husband in 1877 and resided there for 33 years, coming to Tottenham less than a year ago. In Adjala, where she spent the greater part of her life she was known far and near as a lady of exemplary christian character and all who came in contact with her could not fail to be impressed with this fact. As a neighbor, she was ever ready to assist those in distress. A more kind hearted woman never lived in Adjala or Tottenham. She was a consistent member of the Presbyterian Church. Though she had been confined to her bed for many weary months she bore her cross with true Christian fortitude, and when the time came she was ready to lay down the cross and take up the crown. The funeral took place on Saturday afternoon, service being conducted in the Presbyterian Church by Rev. H. D. McCuaig, assisted by Rev. J. J. Ferguson, after which interment took place in Mt. Tegart Cemetery. The funeral cortege was a very large one. To the sorrowing husband, niece and other relatives we extend sincere sympathy.—Tottenham Sentinel.

YOUNG WAGE EARNERS

It is not easy for a young wage-earner to bank enough from week to week to provide a sum large enough when he becomes old to give him an income that will keep him in comfort for the rest of his days, and if he spends his capital as well as his interest he must always be haunted with the fear that his principal will some day be all spent. If he understood that by means of the system which the Canadian Government has provided, namely, the Annuities system, he could by paying in 25 cents a week at any Post Office, secure at 60, say, an income which nothing could deprive him of, he would probably immediately avail himself of the opportunity. For example, a young man, aged 20, paying in 25 cents a week until 60 would receive from and after that date so long as he lived an income of $129.91, or $29.91 more than he would derive from an investment of $2,000 at 5 per cent., if he happened to have $2,000 available for investment at 60, which it is safe to say that, having regard to the many temptations which he would have to spend the amount, he would not have. But the matter is easy for him if he will but make provision for his old age a charge upon his weekly wage.

Any Postmaster, or the Superintendent of Annuities, Ottawa, will supply information as to how this may be done.

HAROLD—SMITH.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith, "Pleasant View Farm," Caron, Sask., was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Tuesday, December 27th, when their youngest daughter, Miss Hazel R., became the wife of Mr. Oliver W. Harold, a prosperous farmer of Cananea, Sask., and second son of Mr. C. Harold, Caron. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McNeil, pastor of Caron Presbyterian Church, at high noon, in the presence of about thirty guests. The bride was beautifully gowned in grey silk and was given away by her father. After the usual congratulations the company sat down to a bountifully spread table. The bride was the recipient of many valuable and useful gifts, including a gold locket and chain set with pearls and sapphires, the gift of the groom. Next day Mr. and Mrs. Harold took the 3:30 train from Caron for a short honeymoon trip through south eastern Saskatchewan, the bride wearing a brown cloth dress, fur turban and fur-lined coat. On their return they will visit friends at Caron for a few weeks before taking up their residence on their homestead at Cananea. The groom is a nephew of Mr. Alex. Oliver, East Garafraxa.

LYONS—HENRY.

A large number of friends gathered at the home of Mr. Wm. Henry, near Cheltenham, on Wednesday, January 11th, to witness the marriage of his eldest daughter, M. Ethel, to Mr. John Lyons, of the same place. Rev. J. E. Thompson was the officiating minister. While Mrs. W. Graydon played the wedding march the bridal party took their place in the drawing room under a canopy of smilax streamers and ferns. The bride was gowned in a princess robe of ivory white silk with lace trimmings and carried a bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley. She was given away by her father. Little Pearl Lyons made a charming flower girl in a dainty Mother Hubbard frock and carrying the nuptial ring in a basket of marguerites. After congratulations the wedding feast was enjoyed by the guests. Toasts and speeches followed and the young couple left for their new home showered with confetti and with good wishes for their happiness throughout their wedded life.

Nerves Were Exhausted

Wants others to know of her remarkable cure by use of DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mrs. Martin's condition as described in her letter below gives some idea of the extraordinary reconstructive power of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Such cures as this have placed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food where it stands today as the most popular and most effective nerve restorative that money will buy.

Mrs. Edwin Martin, Ayer's Cliff, Que., writes,—"Before I began using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food I was in a terrible condition. Dizzy spells would come over me and I would fall to the floor in a faint. I could not even sweep the floor without fainting and my nervous system seemed to be entirely exhausted.

"The use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food has built up my system wonderfully so that I can do my housework and washing without any trouble, and I want others to know about it." Insist on getting the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cts. a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

TRY ZAM-BUK FOR PILES.

Read How This Sufferer Benefited!

Don't you believe that experience is better than hearsay? If you suffer from piles, just try Zam-Buk. You can do so at our expense. So assured are we of the result that we will send you a free trial box if you send to our Toronto offices full name and address and a one cent stamp to pay return postage.

Scores of people daily acquaint us with the benefit they have derived from the use of Zam-Buk. Mr. F. Astridge, of 3 St. Paul St., St. Catharines, Ont., says: "For five years I have suffered untold agony with protruding piles. The pain was so great at times I would almost scream.

"I lost weight and had no appetite. I tried everything I ever heard of for piles, as I was willing to take anything to get relief. It was useless, however, and I almost gave up in despair.

One day a friend gave me a sample of Zam-Buk, and told me of a friend of his who had been cured. I decided to try Zam-Buk, and the relief I got was encouraging. I used three boxes, and at the end of that time I was completely cured. I wish I could have got Zam-Buk years ago; it would have saved me a great deal of misery."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, blood-poison, varicose sores, scalp sores, ringworm, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises, and skin injuries generally. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitations and substitutes. See the registered name, "Zam-Buk," on every package.

A carriage containing John Calder and Mrs. S. Hall, of Toronto, and Samuel Gillies, of Hamilton, was struck by a car in Detroit while returning from a funeral. Mrs. Hall's head was injured.

HOW TO GET FREE

A 50c. BOTTLE OF PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

The white corpuscles of the blood—the Phagocytes, as they are known scientifically—are the policemen or the scavengers of the body.

Not a germ of disease can invade the body anywhere but these white corpuscles get after it. And, if they are strong enough or in sufficient numbers, they devour it.

If they're not strong enough or in sufficient numbers, then the invading army of disease germs triumphs and disease holds the body.

Any preparation that strengthens these white corpuscles or that increases their number, will not only preserve health, but will build up its defences so strongly that contagion or infection are impossible.

* * *

Herbs have always been great curative agents from time immemorial.

They have been styled nature's own remedies.

Certain herbs more than others are noted for their curative powers.

And it has been found that those herbs that are most effective in maintaining or restoring health, do so by building up the white corpuscles or Phagocytes.

These herbs are incorporated in Psychine.

And it is the tremendous curative power of these herbs that is responsible for the unequalled record of this splendid preparation.

Think of it. In Psychine we have a preparation that has been in use a third of a century. That has cured hundreds of thousands of many kinds of diseases.

For which we have received hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials.

Here are the diseases for the treatment of which Psychine is indicated:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and	Laryngitis and
Nervous Troubles	Dyspepsia
After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La-Grippe.

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our third of a century's experience with this splendid preparation with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

HEALTHY CHILDREN ARE A BLESSING.

Healthy babies are good babies, and the good baby is a blessing in every home. Nothing can give the mother or father more pleasure than to see baby play. Every movement is watched with delight; every new word spoken brings pride to the fond parents. It is only the sickly baby that makes home wretched — and, mothers, it is not baby's fault when he is sick. You are the one to blame. Perhaps you give him candies, cakes and other food which his little stomach is unable to digest. Then when he is cross and ailing you give him some "soothing" mixtures to quiet him. That is wrong—remember his little stomach is not as strong as a grown person's, and also remember that every spoonful of "soothing" mixture you give him only does him more injury—it does not remove the cause of his fretfulness—it merely dopes him into an unnatural sleep. What is needed to make baby healthy and sleepy is Baby's Own Tablets—a medicine with a guarantee of safety. About them Mrs. Mathies McCormick, West St., Peters, P.E.I., writes: "We have used Baby's Own Tablets with good results. They are certainly a blessing for mothers that have cross, sickly babies. They sweeten the stomach; give refreshing sleep and make baby fat and healthy." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

For the Welsh Choir Concert in the Town Hall, Orangeville, under the auspices of the Adult Bible Classes of St. Andrew's Church. This famous Choir consists of eighteen ladies from Cardiff, Wales, under the conductorship of Mme. Hughes Thomas. It is acknowledged to be the finest choir in Wales and among one of the first choirs in Great Britain. The concert will be positively one of the best ever heard in Orangeville and local music lovers should not miss hearing this superb choir.

EXPRESSION WAS BEAUTIFUL

Miss Harkness has a voice such as is rarely heard in our city. Her phrasing and expression were beautiful and she held her audience entranced. Her best number was "I Will Extol Thee" from the Oratorio "Eli" by Costa. This received an excellent interpretation, showing a perfect blending of the registers of the upper and lower notes. All her numbers were given in a perfect, artistic and pleasing manner.—St. Thomas Evening Journal.

Orangeville music lovers will have an opportunity to hear this gifted artist at the W. C. T. U. Concert on Friday evening, February 3rd.

THE BANNER

THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1911.

BOARD OF TRADE BANQUET.

Nearly 100 Guests Attend Festive Gathering in Queen's Hotel Friday Night.

Excellent Addresses by Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Provincial Engineer of Highways and Local Speakers.

The Orangeville Board of Trade held its first annual Banquet in the Queen's Hotel, on Friday night. The event was a splendid success with nearly eighty members of the Board in attendance. The members of the County Council and other invited guests brought the total attendance close to one hundred. Mine Host Wettlaufer, of the Queen's, and his amiable better half provided an excellent menu, to which ample justice was done by the banquetters. Mr. A. D. McKitrick, President of the Board, presided, and Mr. W. H. Lugsdin, Vice-President, and Col. Preston, the Secretary, occupied the vice-chairs. To the chairman's right and left were seated the chief speakers of the evening. On his right were Mr. C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, Mr. C. R. McKeown, M.P.P. and Mr. Arch. Greer, Warden of Dufferin. To the left were Mr. W. A. McLean, Provincial Engineer of Highways, Mr. A. E. Annis and Mayor Riddell, of Orangeville.

A letter was read from John Best, M.P., expressing regret at his inability to be present and wishing the Board a pleasant and successful gathering.

The first toast proposed was "The King," which the company honored by singing the National Anthem.

With the toast to "The Dominion and Provincial Parliaments," was coupled the names of C. R. McKeown, M.P.P., and Mr. A. E. Annis, who delivered brief but eloquent addresses.

A capital song by Mr. F. W. Ritchie was followed by a masterly address by Mr. James on the subject, "Ontario Agriculture and Its Relation to Ontario Trade."

"Our Municipal Institutions," brought happy responses from Warden Greer and Mayor Riddell.

At this stage Vice-President Lugsdin took charge of the toast list. After calling on Mr. W. S. Hunter for a song, which was heartily encored, Mr. Lugsdin introduced Mr. McLean, Provincial Engineer of Highways, who gave a thoughtful and suggestive address on the subject, "Road Building."

Mr. Hunter then sang again, generously responding to another demand for an encore. A brief, vigorous address by the Secretary, Colonel Preston, who was warmly greeted on rising with "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," on the objects of the Board of Trade, and means of increasing its usefulness to the town, brought the programme to a close. It was shortly after midnight when the banquetters rose to sing "Auld Lang Syne" before dispersing.

In the course of his address Mr. James made it very clear that agricultural prosperity meant better times and more business for the people of the towns and cities. The people of Ontario, he held, did not appreciate the agricultural wealth and possibilities of their own province. So much was heard nowadays about the West and its wheat fields, that there was a real danger of overlooking the wealth and agricultural resources that lie at our own doors only partially developed. The hay and grass crop of Ontario in 1910 was worth more than the whole wheat crop of Canada. The value of the annual production of the farms of Ontario reached the enormous sum of $250,000,000. Enormous as this annual output seems, it could easily be doubled or even trebled by the application of scientific methods to the tillage of the soil and crop production. The province of Ontario is concerned not so much with the preservation or conservation of its agricultural resources, as with the need of expanding, enlarging and getting the best possible returns out of resources that lie at hand. This end could be attained in a large measure by the adoption of certain courses, which are simple and well-understood by the majority of agriculturists, but unfortunately not generally put into practice.

Some of these foundation principles or courses, Mr. James enumerated as follows:—

1. Drainage. The farmers who are making the most out of their land are those who are draining it. Land that requires drainage is usually the most fertile part of the farm and can be made to yield a greatly increased return by a proper system of drainage. In this connection Mr. James referred to a change in the policy of the Department of Agriculture and the beneficial results that had followed. Years ago the Department issued bulletins and employed experts to lecture on the benefits of drainage. The practical result was disappointing. Farmers said in effect "You have got to show us." The Department altered its policy and began sending men out to the farms to do drainage work. The result was an immediate awakening of the interest of the farming community. To-day, the Department, after greatly increasing the staff which has this particular work in charge, has more applications for drainage work than it can possibly attend to. If the farmers of the Province could be got to drain their lands properly untold benefits would result. The problem of good roads would be solved, for with the increased returns from their farms and labor the farmers would have money enough to build good roads for themselves. Increase the income of the individual farmer and there would be means forthcoming to renovate, to reconstruct and to develop the rural public school system. Put more money in the farmers' pockets as a result of his improved work and there will be things doing in this Province that are now existent largely in the hopes and dreams of men.

2. The use of pure seed. If the farmer is to get the best return from the soil he must sow only the best seed. There is as much difference between two peas or two grains of wheat as there is between the handsome, well-bred and well-matured Clydesdale and the animal commonly described as a "bag o' bones." The farmer who wants to get a large yield should use nothing but the best and be satisfied with nothing but the best seed obtainable.

3. Keep nothing but the best stock. In this connection Mr. James dealt somewhat fully with the matter of increasing the yield from milch cows. Cows must give a certain return in order to pay for their keep and judging from the returns the speaker expressed the conviction that there were thousands of cows that were not paying for their board and were being kept at the expense of the farmers who owned them.

4. More attention to fruit growing. Mr. James instanced two orchards in Simcoe and Wentworth Counties to show the returns that can be secured from orchards where attention is given to the fertilizing of the soil, the pruning, scraping and spraying of the trees. In both instances the orchards were old, neglected and regarded by their owners as practically valueless. In one case as the result of one summer's work the farmer was paid $400 for his apple crop. There was no part of old Ontario where apples of first-class quality could not be successfully grown. To show the field there is for apple growing. Mr. James instanced the rather surprising fact that in the city of Toronto at the present time oranges can be bought more cheaply than winter apples.

What the Province of Ontario stood most in need of was a more thorough and more rapid development along these simple lines. Business men and the people of the towns and cities had an interest, and could do a great deal to help develope the resources of the province by taking a keener interest in these matters. What was needed was not talking or preaching to the farmers on these topics, but to get their interest and confidence by getting out and demonstrating in a practical way the good that could be accomplished by attending to these simple methods. Rural telephones, rural mail delivery and rural electric railways were destined to revolutionize the life of agricultural Ontario inside of a few years. With the enrichment of the farmers through the increase in the returns from their farmers would come the beautifying of rural homes and a decided and manifest improvement in rural schools. The speaker looked forward to the time when domestic science and manual training would form part of the curriculum in the rural school and to the time, when the refinements and the comforts of town and even city life would be found in every farm home and within the reach of every farmer's son and daughter. When this happy era dawned there would no longer be the present day rush from the farm to the urban centres of population, but instead, and in its place, would come a movement from the towns and crowded cities back to the sunshine, the pure air and free life of the country.

The following is a fairly complete synopsis of Mr. McLean's address:—

It is generally conceded that comparing the progress of Ontario in road building with that of other countries, our standard of roads is extremely low, and that what should be one of the greatest pleasures of farm life is too often a hardship. This is true in spite of the fact that we are spending large sums annually on the repair of these roads. During the past twenty years there has been spent on the township roads of Ontario by township councils alone, over $19,000,000 in cash and over 22,000,000 days of statute labor—an aggregate exceeding in value $40,000,000. Of this sum, the townships of the County of Dufferin have spent in cash over $240,000 and over 320,000 days of statute labor, making a grand total of over $560,000. It is true of the greater part of Ontario that the township roads are to-day, little, if any, better than they were twenty years ago, and it is safe to assume that this County is not an exception to the rule.

To estimate broadly the value of good roads, it can be stated that good roads would cut in two the time now spent in marketing produce, and in driving on the roads for all purposes. The result is increased land value, lessened cost of transportation, improved marketing facilities, the extension of social privileges largely overcoming the present isolation of farm life.

No two countries have similar road laws or road systems, and while in Ontario we cannot copy in whole the system of any other people, it is but the part of wisdom to look, at least, for the general principles underlying the methods that have built up good road systems in other countries. A study of foreign systems has shown certain features in common, among which are the following:—

(1) The roads systems of the more progressive countries of Europe are not centuries old as is commonly supposed, but were principally constructed during the first half of the 19th century in accordance with the principles developed by Macadam and Telford. Public attention was diverted by the introduction of steam railways, but the foremost countries of Europe are now maintaining their roads more zealously than ever.

(2) In no country has a general system of good roads been constructed by municipal effort alone. The roads of France have been built by authority centralized in the National Government; in Germany, they were built as military highways by the Imperial Government; in England they were created by turnpike trusts, have passed to county and district authorities for maintenance, but national influence is being restored.

(3) Good road systems have been the result of special effort for first construction. In England they were produced by the turnpike trusts; in France and Germany military purposes and in a broad way. The same fact is instanced in Ontario where practically the only good roads have been built by toll road companies, under present or past county systems, or under provincial authority.

(4) Good roads systems, after construction, receive careful and systematic maintenance, usually under the department of government by which they were first constructed. The road systems of progressive European countries are now principally a matter of maintenance.

(5) General systems of good roads receive the supervision of technically trained men and a body of experienced superintendents and workmen. In France and Switzerland, road engineers are required to have diplomas from national colleges of highway engineering. In England and Germany public opinion demands that roads should be under the direction of engineers of recognized standing. The United States Federal Government is giving graduate engineers a post-graduate course in highway engineering, and several of the states have, in their state universities, chairs of highway engineering.

(6) That a central intelligence bureau for the collection and distribution of information respecting roads and pavements, including the testing and investigation of road materials, is directly, or indirectly, a function of state and national government under the most effective systems of road administration.

(7) That no one local or national authority effectually controls all roads; but main and local roads are classified and distributed for construction and maintenance. In England main roads are under county control, and the less important roads under district authority; in France roads are divided into three classes, national, provincial and communal, corresponding to national or state, county and township. In Germany roads are divided between the state and the municipality. In the United States, where the more progressive legislation has been adopted, roads are being assumed by the state, and state aid is extended to county systems and, at times, to townships.

(8) That the cost of roads is distributed over the whole people, rural and urban, and is not left as a charge upon rural districts only. It was a realization of this principle which caused the City of Toronto, by a large popular vote, to grant $100,000 to the improvement of the County roads of York; and is causing the automobilists of the Province to offer substantial assistance for the improvement of roads.

The mainstay of road improvement in Ontario has been the statute labor system. This system of road improvement was established in England nearly 700 years ago, was brought to this Continent by the Pilgrim Fathers, and incorporated into the municipal institutions of the United States; and was in turn brought to Ontario by the United Empire Loyalists. Pioneers felt that, having little money, more would be accomplished by contributing days of labor, and the system was established by them in order that they might do their utmost.

Possibly the most objectionable feature of the statute labor system, and the one which is most far-reaching in its results, is that it prevents townships from establishing a good system for handling their cash expenditure. If the ineffective use of statute labor were the only difficulty created, it would be of comparatively little moment whether townships retained or discarded it. But wherever statute labor remains in force, the cash expenditure is made on the statute labor basis, and merely as an adjunct of the statute labor system. In consequence, it is scattered in small amounts on badly planned and temporary patching.

While statute labor provides in a measure for maintenance, the only distinct work of construction in Ontario is in connection with county council management. The Act to Aid in the Improvement of Public Highways provides for the establishment of county systems of highways, these to be aided by the Provincial Government to the extent of one-third of the cost of construction. These roads are built under Government regulations, and are subject to Government inspection, but otherwise county councils have control of the entire expenditure. The best and more expensive macadam roads in the Province are being built under this system.

Under this Act, a county council may assume the main roads within the county, usually comprising from 12 per cent. to 15 per cent. of the road mileage in each township. These roads are built in a permanent manner, the work being in charge of a superintendent or engineer, appointed by the county. At the end of each year, the County Treasurer transmits to the Provincial Highways Department a statement of the county road expenditure. One-third of this amount is then paid to the county, through the Provincial Treasurer. The work is carried on from year to year by the county, and annual payments are made by the Province until the county system is constructed in a durable manner.

To the present time about 1200 miles of road have been built under this Act, and the beneficial results are becoming apparent. For $2,500,000 more permanent results have been accomplished than by township councils in the past twenty years, with an expenditure valued at $40,000,000.

It is apparent to all who have studied agricultural conditions in Ontario, that lands of this Province are capable of sustaining with ease five times the present population. Numerous instances have recently come under my own observation, showing the immense possibilities we have in this regard, in which, under proper management, the production of individual farms has been increased many fold. While this is true of farming, the raw materials for manufacture are at our doors, the possibilities of power development are large, and at the heart of the American continent we have unexcelled facilities for water and rail transportation to more distant markets.

To find a field for colonization we need not go outside of old Ontario, and good roads are one of the most potent influences that we can bring to bear upon the problem. We cannot imagine England and France peopled as they are without good roads. Neither is it possible for Ontario. A single road here and there will not do it. The province must become known as a land of good roads, and we will possess a tremendous force for attracting and holding settlers. Rome built up her colonies by means of good roads. To the roadbuilding policy of England is attributed her success in India. The C.-P. R. made its own traffic in the North West. Good roads in their sphere do the same. Let us colonize old Ontario.

DUFFERIN'S NEW WARDEN.

Deals With Practical Matters in His Address to County Council.

In his inaugural address to the County Council last Wednesday afternoon, Warden Greer discussed a number of questions of practical interest to the ratepayers of Dufferin. The text of the address is as follows:—

To the Members of the County Council of the County of Dufferin.

Gentlemen,—It is with pleasure I welcome you, the representatives of the various municipalities of the County, to this the initial meeting of the year, and I congratulate you all on your apparent good health.

I see around the Board a large number of new faces; yet I feel assured that you all possess the necessary ability and experience to administer the affairs of the County in a manner creditable to yourselves and satisfactory to all the electors of the County.

There will no doubt come before you many matters, which will require your utmost diligence and attention.

I would suggest that we consider the advisability of doing away with making county grants on the roads throughout the County, for I feel that the local municipal councils can do the work just as well and at smaller expense.

I think that the County is to be congratulated on its good financial standing and I hope that all possible economy will be observed by the various Committees during the year.

The improvements to and around the county buildings last year cost considerable money, but were much needed and when done should be a permanent job.

As far as the County bridge work is concerned, I do not know that there are any bridges that require to be built at present. I would advise the Road & Bridge Committee to make themselves fully acquainted with the condition of the most dangerous bridges and to make all necessary repairs, so that the people of the County may be well protected.

In conclusion let me thank you all for the kind sentiments you have expressed and for the honor conferred in electing me to the responsible position of Warden for the year. I trust that my actions will be such as to show that your confidence in me has not been misplaced.

ARCHIE GREER,
Warden.

Mr. Greer, the new Warden, is a native of Mulmur, having first seen the light of day on lot 2, con. 6, in that township, 46 years ago. He now resides on lot 13, con. 6, a farm which he purchased with the fruits of his own industry and has by the adoption of progressive methods converted into one of the finest properties in the community. Mr. Greer has an enviable municipal record, having served the people of Mulmur continuously for the past 11 years. He sat as Councillor for 2 years and was then elected Reeve. This office he has held for 9 years. Mr. Greer was prominently before the people of Dufferin as a likely candidate to succeed the late Dr. John Barr as their representative in the House of Commons. He was one of the strong candidates at the Convention which nominated Mr. Best and came within a few votes of defeating the present member on the final vote. Mr. Greer is an active and prominent Orangeman. A member of the County Council for five years, he is thoroughly posted on municipal procedure and is a valuable man either in the Council or in Committee work. It goes without saying that he will fill the important office of Warden in a manner creditable alike to himself, the County Council and the people of Dufferin.

GOOD FARMING WITHOUT FRILLS.

Believing that faith backed up by works is the kind that carries the strongest proof to the doubting mind the publishers of the Farmers' Advocate have followed up their valuable line of orchard demonstration by purchasing a farm of 135 acres, six miles north of London, where the methods advocated through the paper will be worked out in practice and where new ideas may be tested before being recommended for general adoption. The farm, which is known locally as the old Sifton place, has the reputation of being one of the dirtiest farms in Middlesex. The barns are dilapidated and the fences down. Altogether it presents an excellent opportunity for showing what can be accomplished in restoring a run-down property. The Managing Editor of the Advocate will live on the place and superintend it with the assistance of a competent working foreman. The farm, The Advocate announces, will not be run as an experimental farm, except incidentally, nor yet as a model farm, save in so far as any well managed farm should be a model. It will be simply a farm run on a straight commercial basis, where strict accounts will be kept and the information published from time to time. "Good farming without frills" will be The Advocate's motto.

The Catholic missionary in Africa had a hard time in inducing the cannibals to quit eating human flesh. He prided himself, however, on one of his converts, who had apparently abjured the evil practice without a single relapse. But one day news came of a tribal feast down the river, and that night the convert was missing. When he returned the good priest said to him sadly:

"My son, I fear you have gone back to your old ways."

"Oh, Father," cried the poor cannibal, "I was tempted, but I did not fall. My kinsmen were all there. The heart of our greatest enemy was in the pot. Oh, the delicious odor, Father, the old appetite returned. I was about to yield. And then, Father, I did not, for your teaching came back to me and I suddenly remembered it was Friday."

AN UNEQUALLED CHOIR.

"Music lovers of this city who were fortunate enough to attend the Concert in the Russell Theatre last night by the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir, will long remember it as one of the finest exhibitions of choral singing ever heard in Ottawa.—Numerous singing organizations have in the past visited Ottawa, but undoubtedly none have ever equalled the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir in perfection of chorus singing and solo work."—Ottawa Journal.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Mr. Jas. McDonald, who departed this life Dec. 8th, 1910, at Camilla.

Oh brother thy gentle voice is hushed
Thy warm true heart is stilled,
And on thy pale and peaceful face
Is resting Death's cold chill,
Thy hands are clasped upon thy breast,
We have kissed thy lovely brow,
And in our aching hearts we know,
We have no brother now.

Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low,
Thou no more will join our number
Thou no more our sorrows know.
Yet again we hope to meet thee,
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven with joy to greet thee
Where no farewell tears are shed.

A precious one from us has gone,
A voice we loved is stilled,
A place is vacant in our hearts
Which never can be filled.
God in his wisdom has recalled
The boon his love had given,
And 'though the body moulders here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

'Tis hard to break the tender cord,
When love has bound the heart,
'Tis hard, so hard, to speak the word
We must forever part.
Dearest brother we must leave thee
In the peaceful grave's embrace,
But thy memory will be cherished,
Till we see thy Heavenly face.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

CORBETTON.

A carload of potatoes were shipped from this station last week, the price paid being 70 cents per bag.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Williamson attended the big revival meetings in Toronto last week.

Miss Rena Meddaugh, of Toronto, is home on a visit.

Mr. John Gibson, of the Gravel Road, has sold his farm to Mr. James Fairburn, of Riverview. We have not learned the price paid, but there was a time when the late James Corbett first opened the old log tavern here—that practically all of the land between Morey's Hotel, further down the Gravel Road, and Dundalk, would not bring any more on the market than the Gibson farm is worth now. Thus the ages change.

MELVILLE CROSS.

The recent thaw has left the hills and fields practically bare and the roads very slippery and as a consequence those who have much teaming to do are having their horses "sharp shod."

Mr. Albert Sawden visited friends up in Melancthon last week, and reports the snow as being pretty deep in that locality.

Melville pond is now an ideal rendezvous for skaters to enjoy the sports afforded by our "Lady of the Snows."

With live hogs selling over the $7 mark, and barley only worth about 50c. per bushel, we don't think there is any other business that pays like raising and marketting live hogs in this part of Ontario. Verily the farmer is the man that is making money these days!

—How about your renewal?

MONO MILLS.

An event of unusual importance in the church life of the old historic parish of East Mono took place at St. John's Church on Wednesday, the 18th January, when the Rev. R. J. W. Perry was inducted to the parish by the Lord Bishop of Toronto.

The service which took place at 2 p.m. was a most interesting one and was made most impressive by special hymns and collects, but the most important was the sermon preached by his Lordship wherein he forcibly set forth the duties of both preacher and people. As a speaker, the Bishop won the admiration of all present by his plain, practical, yet masterful address, and this, his first visit to the parish, will long be remembered by those present.

The new Rector has already made many friends for himself and seems thoroughly competent to manage the ecclesiastical affairs of this, one of the largest self-supporting parishes in the Diocese of Toronto.

At 7 p.m. for the benefit of all those who were unable to attend the induction, a special service was held at St. John's Church, Mono Mills, in which the Bishop, the new Rector, Rev. A. C. Watt and Rev. Mr. Nurse all took part. Immediately following, a reception was held in the Sunday School hall which had been tastefully decorated for the occasion. Here his Lordship gave a very delightful talk to the people, followed by short speeches by Rev. A. C. Watt, of Bond Head, Rev. Mr. Nurse, of Beeton, and Rev. Mr. Black, of Mono Mills. The ladies of the congregation provided a dainty lunch for all present which was followed by a social time together.

We regret to learn that Captain Patterson, an old and very highly respected citizen of this village, is seriously ill and grave doubts are entertained of his recovery.

The Literary Society, recently organized here, held its usual weekly meeting at the home of Mr. W. A. Dowling on Tuesday evening. A good programme of games, music, recitations and impromptu speeches was successfully carried out and a pleasant evening was enjoyed by all. Mr. John B. Kee occupied the chair. The next meeting will be held in the Methodist Church in Mono Mills on Tuesday evening, February 7th. At this meeting the principal part of the programme will consist of a debate, "Resolved that Capital Punishment should be Abolished." Mr. Davis, of Shanro, will be leader of the affirmative and Mr. John B. Kee, of the negative. As there will be a number of good speakers on both sides this should be an interesting debate.

Friends and neighbors to the number of about forty drove to the home of Mr. John McCutcheon on Friday evening last. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon were equal to the occasion and the guests were most heartily welcomed and hospitably entertained until the sma' hours of the morn with music, dancing, games, etc.

GLENCROSS.

I thought, Mr. Editor, that I would endeavor to send you a few items of interest for your paper this week.

Messrs. Andrew and Isaac Roney intend erecting a new house this summer.

It is reported that Wm. Little, now in town under the care of Dr. Carson, is improving. His friends here hope the report is correct.

A concert in aid of the new church being organized here was given in the Orange Hall on Friday evening, when a good programme of vocal and instrumental music was given by the Orangeville choir, Henry Bros., of Camilla, and the Misses Island. Interesting addresses were also delivered by Revs. W. M. Morris, Orangeville, J. A. Black, Mono Mills, and A. J. Fowlie, Camilla. The proceeds were about $15.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Dermott, of Fort Ripley, entertained a number of their friends and neighbors to a dancing party a week ago Tuesday evening. An excellent time is reported. The floor managers were Messrs. Robt. Lennox, Hicks and Hunter White. Among those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Adam Widdis, of Orangeville; Mr. and Mrs. John Shott, of Stratford, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Price, of Orangeville; Mr. and Mrs. John J. Widdis, of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. James Fleming, of Alliston. Mrs. Fleming is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buchanan, of Camilla, once highly respected residents here.

Some things we would like to know:

What makes Robbie Lennox think Hazel Brae such a pretty name?

Why some people think Andrew Carnegie should build a new library here?

What happened James McKibben's party that it hasn't taken place yet?

Alkali Jake.

How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. 98 per cent. of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased, and requires prompt treatment if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and cure baldness.

It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has done and our sincere faith in its goodness that we want you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

—$1.00 for a year's subscription to The Banner, either new or renewal, will entitle the subscriber to 100 votes in the Library contest.

ROSEMONT.

As last week's Traveller seems to think he is running the whole show I am going to endeavor to enlighten his mind a bit. Pat is as hale and hearty as ever. I was glad to know that Traveller was at W. G. Newton's party, for I was there and can agree with much that he said. Russell McDowell, whom you all know, was there and asked me to go home with him. I gladly accepted the invitation and had a fine time while I was there. Russell being a regular church attendant took me to church with him the following Sunday. The first person to greet me was my old friend, Annie Moore, who asked me to dine with her, but I was obliged to decline the invitation as I had promised to sup with Fred McNabb. Fred told me that he was going to Eden Valley in the evening, but said that Edgar Moore, who intended calling at his place, would keep me company on his violin. Sure enough Edgar made his appearance about 5.30 togged up to the handle. Immediately after his arrival I struck for the West and almost ran over the little son at the 7th line corner on his way to Percy Armstrong's. I begged his pardon most humbly and drove on at breakneck speed. Milford Hunter just turned out of his gate ahead of me driving his speedy cream horse. We had a lively race to the third line, as he was going to John Elgie's on the 1st line and I to Mount Zion Church. Arriving at Mount Zion I was pleased to see a number of my old friends already assembled. The first one that attracted my attention was George McKenzie, accompanied by a winsome young lady. I was right glad to see them both and wished them all kinds of happiness. I got a special invitation for myself and lady friends from Morrison Bros. to attend a wood-bee and dance at Art Cockerill's on the 26th. This I accepted with pleasure. Fred Wake told me if I would go home with him, he would take me to a euchre party at Whitfield on the following night. You may be sure I went with him. The next evening being fine we got to Williamson's about 8.30 p.m., and found a goodly number gathered for a night's fun. Among them was Hamilton Clokey, my old chum. As Hamilton is a first-class euchre player, he and I managed to capture the prizes. I went home with him from the Party and next day he took me to Shelburne with his dashing team of sorrels. When we were going past the mill we came up to two very large loads of ice, which we had a great deal of difficulty getting our horses to pass. I asked Hammy who the drivers were and he informed me that they were the Galbraith Bros., from Iceland. We proceeded up Main St. and Hamilton let me down at R. A. Jelly's after making me promise to call on him some Sunday in the near future, when he said he would take me down to Orangeville. You may be sure I will be right on hand for that trip. I then met Johnny McKenzie coming out of Jelly's with a big box of cartridges under his arm. I enquired if he was going hunting, but he answered in the negative, adding that the game had gone south this winter. As I had to catch the down train for Marsville, I hastened to the station, but I will be back again shortly to fulfill my promise. Will tell you about my Marsville experience later.

PAT.

CAMILLA.

Mr. Dougal Large returned from the West last week.

Miss Bertha Hand, of Toronto, is visiting at her home here.

Mr. Will Rintoul spent a few days of last week in the city.

Mr. Wm. McKim has gone to visit his brother and sister in Michigan.

Mr. Barrisford Sproule left Friday for his home in Caron, Saskatchewan.

Mr. Gersheon Canning, of Violet Hill, was the guest of Reeve Anderson Sunday.

Mr. and Miss Oldfield, of Corbetton, visited relatives in this vicinity last week.

Miss Sadie Little visited friends here last week.

Wedding bells are ringing for two of our young ladies. Particulars later.

Mr. Fred. Buchanan is visiting friends in Caledon this week.

INGLEWOOD.

Since you last heard from this burg our sleighing is all gone, but we still have lots of ice.

The infant son of Mr. Jesse Wilson died on Tuesday last.

Mr. T. W. Hunter spent the week [illegible] in Toronto.

A grand masquerade carnival is to be held on the rink here on Feb. 2.

Little Malcolm Ramsay is very ill, but we hope to soon hear of his recovery.

The young ladies held a very successful party in the Hall on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Marshall, of Toronto, and Miss Edna Hanna, of Mono Road, are the guests of Mrs. H. Bracken.

The children are practicing for the entertainment to be held on the 20th of February.

Messrs. Will Baird and Frank Haydon spent Sunday at the latter's home in Alliston.

ROSEMONT.

Next morning after the party I wanted to go to Whitfield with Fred Wake, but Fred told me they had the mumps up there so I decided not to go. During the day I got at Fred's cider. I can remember Mr. Wake, Sr. telling me that the cider was nine years old and I do not doubt his word, for Pat is feeling kind of funny yet. Just then the telephone bell rung. Fred of course responded. I was sitting back against the wall, but I could hear Wilfrid Turner inviting Fred over to his wood bee and asking him to invite Pat and me to come along to the dance. We were there on good time. While we were brushing our hair, I heard Eddie Halbert saying that Tom Little was to be floor manager. Just then Sam Dermott began to play the "Flowers of Edinburgh." It amused me somewhat to see Will Laidlaw, Will Gracey, Jim Dynes and Jim Dodds dancing the Lancers. Coming on near morning Herb. Fines asked me if I would come home with him and accompany him to Avison's sale. Herb being a pretty fine fellow I allowed him to go Scott free. Next day I met my old friend, Richard McFadden, of Relessey. I was not talking to Mr. McFadden very long, when he invited me to a Scarlet meeting to be held in Rosemont. I accepted the kind invitation and we were soon on our way to his brother Tom's place, where we were to have tea. We had not gone very far, when Dick, observing a horse tied at a gate, remarked that it looked like Sandy's horse. I remembered Billy Allen telling me that Johnnie carried the mail from Violet Hill to Granger. On our way down the Rock Hill, I told Dick to drive level, as my nerves had not settled down since Pat and I got at the cider. At the bottom of the Rock Hill we met Jack Maguire and Cecil Holmes. Jack said they were going out to Jimmie Kendrew's after tea. We set out for Rosemont and after driving up a long hill stopped to look around and rest the horse. After viewing all the sights of Rocktown, Dick pointed away down a valley and asked me if I could see that white house and I said I could. "Well," said he, "that's where Dick Allen lives." We started again for Rosemont, arriving at No. 9 Hall shortly after 7 o'clock. I heard Johnnie Murphy say there goes Cleve Irwin and John Fletcher down to Gallaugher's. The Lodge was then just about ready to open as Mr. McFadden had already taken the chair. A goodly number of candidates were on hand to receive the Scarlet. After the Lodge had closed W. J. Armstrong invited me to spend the remainder of the night with him and I of course accepted the invitation.

LAUREL.

On Friday evening last the young people of the Presbyterian Guild gave a Play, entitled, "Dot, The Miner's Daughter," in the Town Hall. The Play throughout has a grand temperance moral and furnishes a splendid illustration of the evil and danger of the drink habit. The performance was greatly appreciated by all and although the night was dark and unpleasant, yet the Hall was crowded to the doors. Between each act the Misses Trimble gave instrumental music, which added much to the charm of the programme. Miss Paterson, of Shelburne, was also present and rendered several excellent solos. The performance from first to last reflected great credit on those taking part and the members of the Guild generally. We are proud of young people who will undertake such work and trust they will not grow weary in well-doing. The proceeds of the evening amounted to upwards of $41, which will be devoted to missions.

A goodly crowd assembled in the Skating Rink on Saturday night, but owing to the thaw on Friday the ice was not as good as Manager Maltby desired. Nevertheless a good time is reported.

Our cheesemaker, Mr. S. T. Ranton, is still suffering a good deal, but is steadily improving.

Drs. Kyles and Rooney visited John Banks, Jr., on Monday and report that his case is as favorable as expected.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hughes, who has been very ill and under the care of Dr. Kyles, is now out of danger and improving rapidly.

We are also pleased to report that our old friend, S. J. Brown, is slowly, but gradually, improving.

We had a very rapid thaw on Sunday and during the early part of Sunday night, but sometime before morning the thaw took a cold and when the people of our little town ventured abroad on Monday morning the wind piloted them over the ice almost as well as skates could on the rink.

Mrs. E. B. Cooney has returned home from Brampton, but intends returning in a few days to help care for her brother-in-law. Mr. John Cooney, who is critically ill at present.

The majority of the electors of Amaranth believe that they elected a veryintelligent council this year. We believe they have, and would like to see the Council give proof of its ability to look after the interests of the people by taking steps to enlarge the Town Hall, so that it will accommodate all the people, who gather here to attend entertainments and other popular gatherings. We trust something will be done along these lines this year.

CHARLESTON.

It is our painful duty to record the death on Monday of Mrs. Nathaniel Harris, an old and very highly respected resident of this community. The deceased lady had been a sufferer for a year or longer from some internal ailment and was confined to her bed for a month or over prior to her demise. During her illness she was under the care of Dr. McFayden, the family physician. Mrs. Harris was born in Chinguacousy 69 years ago, being a daughter of Mr. John Wiggins, a prominent resident of that municipality. She has resided in Caledon since her marriage about 44 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Harris farmed for many years on lot 18, 1st line, east, retiring to this village about five years ago. Deceased was a kindly, sympathetic woman, devoted to her husband and home. Her demise will be keenly regretted by her many friends, and the sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved husband in his trying affliction. Mrs. Harris is survived by one sister, Mrs. G. D. Ledlow, Camilla, and three brothers, John Wiggins, Brampton, and William and Samuel Wiggins in Chicago. The funeral was held to Charleston cemetery at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance of sorrowing friends and neighbors. Rev. S. R. Robinson, pastor of Knox Church, conducted the services at the house and grave and Messrs. David and Thos. Patterson, Wm. Harris, John and George Wiggins and Fred Coone acted as pallbearers.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND FARM BOOK-KEEPING.

We have stated that every farmer could evolve a system of book-keeping suited to his own conditions without much trouble. Still there is a need for some simple form of keeping track of the operations of a farm that will take as little of the farmer's time as possible, and at the same time give him a clear idea, at any time, of just how his business stands. Boys and girls have graduated from the rural public school into the high school and have got all the high school could teach them without learning anything about farm book-keeping. Book-keeping has been taught, it is true, but it has been the kind adapted to conducting a business in the city. Like the arithmetics in use in the schools, examples in the book-keeping line have been drawn up with the idea that every pupil was being fitted for some other calling than that of the farm. It should not be difficult for the educational department to evolve a system of book-keeping suitable to the farm and to pass this on to the teachers in the public schools for use in teaching the older boys and girls from the farm how to keep an accurate account of the operations of their fathers' farms. It would be as good home training as a boy or girl could have to jot down in their proper places the various transactions on the farm during the day.—Canadian Farm.

THE BANK ACT.

The disclosures already made of the looting of the Farmers' Bank will probably lead Parliament to weigh carefully the provisions of the new Bank Act. It is apparent that Government inspection cannot be any longer withheld, great as may be the difficulties of such inspection under a branch bank system. The Farmers', the Ontario, the Sovereign, and the Central Banks all failed for causes which Government inspection would in all reasonable probability have prevented. A manager would repress a speculative or criminal impulse if he knew that discovery was inevitable within a few days or weeks.

Besides, it does not seem wise to make banking safe only by imposing on directors and shareholders the ruinous penalties of double liability and criminal prosecution. If the risks are made too great we shall lack banks and banking facilities and banking will become the monopoly of a few, or banking will exact rewards proportionate to the risk. That is, the community must pay in higher rates of interest and discount for the risk which depositors and shareholders incur.

It is not likely that anyone will propose now a radical change in our banking system, but consideration ought to be given to the limitation of the number of branches which a bank may maintain, and to facilitating the establishment of new and local banks to meet the public needs. Whatever may be said there is a deep conviction that the outlying communities are not well served and that under a system which sweeps the savings of the people without restraint into the head office those industries are favored which establish themselves in the shadow of the head office. Especially should the most careful consideration be given to the establishment of branches in foreign countries. Here, in some cases, the conditions are most unstable and great sums may be tied up or lost entailing not merely loss to shareholders, but limiting the credit facilities of our own industries.

It is well to keep in mind the main purpose of banking legislation which is, not merely to provide safe investment for our savings, but to provide a safe currency and the means to use the savings of our own people. The security of depositors is incident only to this main purpose.—The Weekly Sun.

HELP FOR OLD BACKS THAT ACHE

GIN PILLS Cure Them

Age is no barrier to the wonderful, soothing, healing properties of GIN PILLS, the great Canadian Kidney Cure. We have on record many letters from men and women of 60, 65, 70, 75, 80 and over, testifying to the great relief they received from taking GIN PILLS.

Mr. Samuel Martin of Strathroy, Ont. suffered for twenty years with misery in his back. Some months ago, he tried GIN PILLS and after taking only three boxes, was entirely cured. Mr. Martin is now 85 years of age and enjoys the robust health of a vigorous man of sixty, thanks to GIN PILLS.

All elderly people are troubled, more or less, with Kidney and Bladder Trouble, and pain and weakness in the back. GIN PILLS are a guaranteed cure for all these misfortunes. Money promptly refunded if they fail to give complete satisfaction.

GOOD HEALTH FOR RUN DOWN MEN.

If You Are Weak and Easily Tired, Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Anaemia is a state into which one falls because of lack of blood, or because the blood is poor, weak and watery. The man or woman who has not enough blood is pale, languid, easily tired and easily depressed. As the trouble progresses other symptoms show themselves, and the life of the sufferer is one of misery. Anaemia opens the door to consumption, and gives victims to all the pidemic maladies, because the whole body is weakened and unable to resist the inroads of disease. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the best remedy in the world for the cure of anaemia, and all its attendant miseries. They make the blood rich, red and pure, thus bringing health and strength to weak, despondent men and women. We do not know of a single case of anaemia where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have failed to cure if given a fair trial. Mr. John Hastings, Venn, Sask., was a victim of this trouble and found new health through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. He says: "I was working on a railway driving a team and found myself gradually running down. I did not pay much attention to it at first, but soon I began to lose my appetite and it was a trial to get through my day's work. I got medicine from the doctor on the works, but it did not help me, and finally I got so bad I told the foreman I would have to quit. He told me not to lose hope, that he would get some medicine that would soon make me all right. That night he went to town and bought me three boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had not taken more than two boxes when I began to feel better, and after I had used five boxes I was as well and strong as ever, and could do a day's work with any man on the job. I may just add that before I began taking the Pills I was so run down that I weighed only 122 pounds, and while taking them I gained 22 pounds. I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and strongly recommend them to all run down men."

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Malcolm Morgan McMartin, for 40 years a lawyer in Arthur, died near Fergus recently, where he had been taying for some time. The body was taken to Perth for interment by his brother, Sheriff McMartin.

An English peer who visited Scotland was at a dinner given in his honor at a private residence. A little daughter of the host, who was too wellbred to stare, but who eyed him covertly as the occasion presented itself, finally took the courage to shyly remark: "And you are really and truly an English lord." "Yes, he answered pleasantly, "really and truly." "I have often thought I would like to see an English lord," went on the little maid, and—and—"And now you are satisfied at last," he interrupted, laughingly. "N-no," replied the truthful child, "I'm not satisfied, I'm a good deal disappointed."

Shelburne Council has appointed the following officials for the current year:—Clerk, N. B. Allin, salary $175; Treasurer, Hugh Falconer, $75; Assessor, Wm. Robertson, $50; Constable, Geo. H. Hamilton, $4.50; Constable (special) Geo. Wattam, 15 cents per hour; Constable (special), Len. Sanderson, 15 cents per hour; Caretaker of Cemetery, Jonah Allen, $2.90; Truant Officer, Geo. H. Hamilton, $20; Sanitary Inspector, Jeremiah Brundige, $20; Weighmaster, C. Maguire, 65 per cent. of fees; Auditors, H. H. Walker and H. White, $15 each; Med. Health Officer, H.D.Thompson; Board of Health, Adam Halbert, Thos. Mills, Jas. Whitten; Library Board (term of three years) T. F. E. Claridge.

Matthew Hodgson, 6 feet 4 inches tall, and weighing in the neighborhood of 250 pounds, who is also a county constable, in Guelph police court last week, charged his wife and two children with assault. The facts of the case could not be learned, there being no evidence taken, but it is reported that when the plaintiff arrived home the other evening, being not in the best of humor, trouble commenced in the household, when he was taken hold of by his wife and two sons, and quieted, after some difficulty. He was advised by the magistrate to try and effect a settlement of the case with out any evidence being taken, which he finally did by withdrawing the charge and paying the costs in the case.

The Children's Hair

A Little Extra Care Now May Save After Years of Regret

Children play so hard that the head perspires and the hair has a tendency to mat and get sticky on the scalp. Soap and water doesn't seem to remove it, but the hair must breathe to be healthy. Just try Nyal's Hirsutone. Rub it into the roots of the hair with the balls of the fingers. The children like it and will ask you to use it. Hirsutone loosens up the accumulated dust and perspiration and the hair and scalp can then be easily and thoroughly cleaned. After it is dried give another application of Hirsutone. After you have used it for a while you will find it is the best you have ever [illegible] Your Nyal Drug Store will cheerfully guarantee Hirsutone to do all [illegible] claimed for it.

THE REAL RULER.

Don't laugh at the man from the country who comes to town with out a patent leather shape. That team of his have got it all in their harness. Don't laugh because he gapes at a horseless carriage. To one you wouldn't know a harrow from a hay rake or an Ayrshire from a Holstein. Don't give him a merry ha-ha because he wears a five dollar suit. It's paid for and he hates taxes or bills worse than the devil. That sweat fertilizes ground 20 bushels to the acre and feeds the world. Go out into your 10 x 6 backyard, cut down the weeds, tidy up, raise a blister, and complain to your wife what a slave you are. Go look, you scoffers that rail at the man from the country, and call him Rube. Compare. Do you have that stone-in-your-crop feeling after your meals? Take a pill, then look at the farmer and pity yourself. He doesn't know what the word indigestion means. Give him a dictionary and he would think he was looking for a Latin quotation. His boss? Tut, hecks? Crowded workshop? Strikes? The farmer bossed, putting in a time check, waiting for pay day. Well, hardly. His own boss, the only check that he knows about is the paper one from the grain buyer, and the leather one from the neck of the colt he is breaking. Every day is pay day with him, drawing on the soil in the summer and the bush in the winter. Lucky chap, got two banks, both banks founded on God. His workshop, the acres, perhaps 100 of them were roofed by the sweeping skies, served by the sun and the seasons tickling the soil and watching the earth laugh grain, he is the master of the situation and doesn't know it. True, his boots are beaded with the dew of dawn and his shirt damp with the moisture of the gloaming, but his soul is as sound as the great tree that sheltered his mother in the open. Crowded, yes, and sometimes the barn cries enough and the stacks beside it. And when the lean year comes and the world is frightened, when homes are wrecked and suicides made by a stroke of the ticker, when panic is in the air, when the cry for bread goes up from the great cities, when they steal to keep from starving, then he kills a hog and is happy and his wife innocently throws the sweepings from her table to her chickens. Envy the farmer. Perhaps we are the "Rubes."

J. R. Bates is Chairman of the Shelburne School Board this year.

An interesting case was fought out in Goderich county court recently, the decision in which is of interest to every power company in Canada. Richard Yellow, a farmer, residing near Exeter, was driving home from that town recently when a live wire fell across the back of the horse and instantly killed it, injuring the driver at the same time. Yellow sued the Light and Power Company for damages and the jury awarded him $200, holding that the company was guilty of criminal negligence in having their primary wires only 19 inches apart, allowing one, when loosened, to fall against the other, burning the two wires off and thereby causing them to fall to the ground and becoming a menace to the travelling public. The jury held that the primary wires should be further apart than the "Standard" 16 inches. The insulators on the cross-bars of all power lines are set at the "standard."

McGUIRE & McKITRICK

Free to Stock and Poultry Raisers

We will send, absolutely free, for the asking, postpaid, one of our large thirty-two-page booklets on the common diseases of stock and poultry. Tells you how to feed all kinds of heavy and light horses, colts and mares, milch cows, calves and fattening steers, also how to keep and feed poultry so that they will lay just as well in winter as in summer. No farmer should be without it.

At a cost of only two-thirds of a cent a day per Animal, Royal Purple Stock Specific makes each Animal worth 25 per cent. more.

You never heard of any other Specific, or "Stock Food," doing likewise.

Royal Purple will permanently cure the Bots, Colic, Worms, Skin Diseases and Debility, and restore run-down Animals to plumpness and vigor.

It will increase the milk-yield three to five pounds per cow a day inside of from two to three weeks. It makes the milk richer than ever before.

MR. ANDREW WEGRICH, of Wainfleet, Ont., says: "This is to certify that I have tried your Royal Purple Stock Specific for two weeks, on one cow. On the 16th I weighed her milk as 17 pounds. I noticed a change after 5 or 6 days, as there was an extra weight of milk. On the 29th, I carefully weighed the milk, and she gave 22 pounds. I am giving an order for 5 boxes, as I consider it the best I have ever used."

"Stock Food" will not do this. Because "Stock Food" is nothing more or less than a mixture of the very things which you, yourself, grow on your own farm.

It is not more food your Animals need. They must have something to help their bodies get all the nourishment from the food they are getting. So that they will fatten, and stay fat, all the year 'round.

They need something to prevent disease, to cure disease, and to keep them in the best of health, all the time.

Not a Stock Food

Royal Purple is not a "Stock Food," nor a "medicine." It is a Conditioner.

It does not contain Grain, nor farm products. Nor does it contain "Dope," or any other injurious ingredient. Royal Purple does not merely temporarily bloat or inspire the Animal. It fattens and strengthens it, permanently.

No other Specific known adds flesh so quickly as Royal Purple. It makes 6-weeks-old Calves as large as ordinary-fed Calves are at 10 weeks.

Royal Purple makes naturally-thin Animals fat and heavy. And it builds up the health and restores the former plumpness and vigor of run-down stock, in little or no time.

The very best time to use this Conditioner is NOW. It digests the hard food properly and prevents the animals getting indigestion or losing flesh.

50 per cent. Cheaper

One 50-cent Package of Royal Purple will last one Animal 70 days. This figures a little over two-thirds of a cent per day.

Most "Stock Foods" in 50-cent Packages last but 50 days, and are given three times a day.

But Royal Purple Specific is given only once a day, and lasts 50 per cent. longer.

(A $1.50 Pail, containing four times the amount of the 50-cent Package, lasts 280 days.)

So, you see, it is only necessary to give Royal Purple Specific once each day.

Just think of making each Animal worth 25 per cent. over its cost! What will that mean to you, Mr. Stock Owner!

It makes the Hens lay Eggs in Winter as well as in the Summer.

MRS. WM. BURNHAM, Sanford, Ont., says: "Dear Sirs,—This is to certify that I have used two boxes of your Poultry Specific for my hens. They laid so well while feeding it to them, I wondered if you would mind sending me word how or where I could get some this winter. I bought it from your agent last winter. I had 32 hens, and some days I got two dozen eggs a day in February and March, while feeding them the Specific."

Royal Purple Poultry Specific prevents Fowls losing flesh at moulting time, and permanently cures every poultry disease. It makes their plumage bright and keeps them always in prime condition.

It makes your Poultry worth more than they could ever be without it.

Yet one 50-cent Package will last 25 Hens 70 days. Or a $1.50 Pail will do 25 Hens 280 days. This is four times more material at only three times the cost.

Centralia, Ont., Feb. 7, '10.

The W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—We have been using Royal Purple Poultry and Stock Specific for the last three weeks, and must say that results are remarkable. Am feeding the Stock Specific to two milking cows, and they have increased 30 per cent. in their milk. The Poultry results are even more marked than this. We have about 60 hens, laying age. When we commenced feeding, we were getting five and six eggs a day, and in the last five days the same flock of hens laid 150 eggs, almost an average of 31 each day, and those five days have been the coldest this winter.

You can see results plainly in two or three days after the use of "Royal Purple," and the poultry have the same hustle and appearance now as in the summer time. With cows and poultry, am using exactly the same feed and care as before starting to feed "Royal Purple."

When farmers and stockmen get acquainted with Royal Purple, it will have a greater demand than all other tonics and stock foods on the market combined.

Yours truly, ANDREW HICKS.

Aug. 28, 1910.

W. A. Jenkins Mfg. Co., London, Ont.:

Gentlemen,—Last Fall we had in our stables a young mare belonging to Miss Clouston, of Montreal. We could not feed her any bran on account of causing violent scouring, consequently causing her to become weak and thin. We commenced using your Royal Purple Stock Specific, and the results were wonderful. After using it three weeks, we found we could feed the animal bran or any other soft feed without scouring her, and she actually took on in this time twenty-five pounds of flesh, we working her at the same time through the hunt. I can heartily recommend your Stock Specific.

TOM SMITH,
Trainer for the Hon. Adam Beck.

Royal Purple
STOCK AND POULTRY SPECIFICS

Royal Purple creates an appetite for food, and helps nature to digest and turn it into flesh and muscle.

As a Hog fattener, Royal Purple has no equal.

Never Off Feed

Dan McEwen, the horseman, says: "I have used Royal Purple Stock Specific persistently in feeding 'The Eel,' 2.02¼, largest winner of any pacer on Grand Circuit in 1908 and 1909, and 'Henry Winters,' 2.10¼, brother of 'Allen Winters,' winner of $36,000 in trotting stakes in 1908.

"These horses have never been off their feed since I started using Royal Purple Specific. I will always have it in my stables. Your Cough Powder works like magic."

For Poultry

Royal Purple Poultry Specific is our other Specific. It is for Poultry—not for stock.

Make This Test

Every ounce of Royal Purple Stock and Poultry Specific is guaranteed.

To prove that Royal Purple has no equal, we want you to make this test:

Feed Royal Purple to any one of your Animals for four weeks. And at the same time feed any other preparation to any other Animal in the same condition.

If Royal Purple does not prove to you, by actual results, that it is the best you ever used, we'll return your money.

And we'll ask no questions—make no excuses. You will be the judge—not us.

This is an honest test, isn't it? We ask you to make it because we know that Royal Purple is the best Conditioner on the market.

If you are not satisfied, after testing it, you don't lose anything, do you?

We also manufacture:

Royal Purple Lice Killer	25c.
Royal Purple Gall Cure	25c.
Royal Purple Sweat Liniment	50c.
Royal Purple Cough Cure	50c.

Our Cough Cure will cure any ordinary cough in four days, and will break up and cure distemper in ten to twelve days.

If your dealer cannot supply you with our Royal Purple Brands, we will supply you upon receipt of $1.50 a pail, prepaid, for either poultry or stock, or if you want any Liniment, Gall Cure or Cough Powder, we will send it by mail, postpaid, upon receipt of price.

PLAYGROUNDS IDEA IS MAKING HEADWAY.

What Toronto is trying to do for its children is set forth in a little booklet recently issued by the Toronto Playgrounds Association. Seeing that local enterprise in this direction only began about three years ago, the results so far achieved must be considered distinctly satisfactory, though much more remains to be accomplished. In the past year, nearly $36,000 passed through the hands of the treasurer of the association and no doubt four times as much could be advantageously expended in 1911, if private benevolence or civic statesmanship would provide the funds. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that a thousand dollars spent now may accomplish what $10,000 could not do a few years hence, since the value of property in the city continues to rapidly increase. He who gives quickly in this case gives ten times over.

The association was organized in June, 1908, as an expression of the belief that children have an inherent right to play, and that it is the duty of the State to provide them with playgrounds. A year later, when the St. Andrew's playground on Adelaide Street W. was opened by the city, the association co-operated and had the place fitted up as a model playground. Last year the average daily attendance of boys and girls at this playground was 1,200. The play is supervised by a man and two women assistants, who not only see that none of the apparatus is wantonly abused, but suggest games for the children and show them how to get the most real enjoyment out of the time they have for play. This is a very important matter, since without a playleader, whether a man, a woman or a child, more than half the usefulness of the playground would be lost.

In February, 1910, the movement was greatly stimulated by a gift of $25,000 by Mr. E. B. Osler, M. P., which was devoted to acquiring a piece of property near Dundas and Argyle Streets. This was cleared of old buildings, levelled, equipped, and made ready for occupation last July. Soon afterwards Miss McCormick gave the association $1,000, with which to equip the Cottingham Street grounds, a sum that was later increased to $15,000; but as there is a possibility of the railways expropriating the property, the money may be used for the purchase of grounds elsewhere. Besides these special playgrounds there are seven supervised playgrounds in connection with city schools; and in the public parks, no fewer than 80 acres of space has been set aside for such recreations as football, baseball, tennis, cricket and bowling.

Several other prospective playgrounds have been located in congested districts by the association, some of which have been recommended for purchase by the city, and others it is hoped to acquire as a result of private benevolence. The association has made a suggestion to the City Council to the effect that there should be some dock fitted with a few seats, and made comfortable for anyone who wished to view the boats coming in and going out of the Bay. At present there isn't such a place along the water front, and the need of it has been frequently commented upon. The association's example has been followed in Winnipeg, Ottawa, Hamilton and London, and similar associations may be expected to spring up in the smaller towns and villages.

It is regrettable, however, that the advantages of open spaces and playgrounds are not appreciated until with the growth of a community they become scarce, or disappear altogether. Then it is a costly job to secure them, whereas had there been proper foresight they would have been acquired when unimproved property was plentiful and cheap. This is particularly the case with suburban districts, which neglect to provide parks and playgrounds until they have become incorporated with the local metropolis. Then the cry goes up for breathing spaces, and the city is required to purchase them. There are now on the outskirts of this city smaller communities that could make no wiser investment than in some of the vacant property that is plentiful within their boundaries and which they could set aside for recreation grounds at small cost. Thus they will bestow upon children a blessing whose benefits will never cease, but will, on the contrary, increase as the years go by.—Toronto News.

The Chesley Enterprise says a petition, signed by 65 ratepayers of the town, has been sent to the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council requesting an audit of the town's books. The audit will extend over five years. The probable cost will be, approximately, $300.

Sciatic Rheumatism

Unable to work or sleep—Six years of suffering—Cured by DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Mr. Alex. Ethier, Jr., Clarence Creek, Russell Co., Ont., writes:—"My nervous system was run down to such an extent that I suffered a great deal from weakness of the nerves and sciatic rheumatism, and at times was like one paralyzed. I could not work, was unable to sleep, and had no appetite:

"Nothing seemed to build up my nerves until I made use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. After having used about $12.00 worth of this medicine I feel like a new man. I can walk all right, do a great deal of work, have a good appetite and sleep well every night."

When you have tired of experiments you can turn to Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food knowing that persistent treatment is bound to be rewarded with lastingly beneficial results. But you must get the genuine, bearing portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D. 50 cts. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes

AFTER SUFFERING YEARS

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fox Creek, N.B.—"I have always had pains in the loins and a weakness there, and often after my meals my food would distress me and cause soreness. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better, and I can walk with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it, as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N.B., Canada.

The above is only one of the thousands of grateful letters which are constantly being received by the Pinkham Medicine Company of Lynn, Mass., which prove beyond a doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, actually does cure these obstinate diseases of women after all other means have failed, and that every such suffering woman owes it to herself to at least give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial before submitting to an operation, or giving up hope of recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health and her advice is free.

VEGETABLES IN WINTER.

The value of dried vegetables as a food is increased by the fact that they contain a fair amount of material stored up for the nourishment of the young plant, and which goes to build up the tissues of the body, also some starch which helps to furnish heat and energy. It is most desirable that they should be served in digestible and appetizing condition.

An important point in cooking dried vegetables is to cook them at not too high a temperature. This is in accordance with the instructions of the Macdonald Institute Agricultural College. The tissue-building stance, or legumen, contained in ripened peas and beans is toughened by great heat, and these legumes should be soaked over night and then cooked below boiling point. The lime in hard water has a tendency to harden the legumen, and make the vegetables less digestible, therefore the water in which they are soaked or cooked should be softened by boiling and allowing it to cool, or by the addition of a quarter teaspoonful of baking soda to each quart of water.

Dried peas or beans can be made into a very palatable soup. Wash and pick over half a pint of peas or beans, and soak them over night in cold water to more than cover. Drain off the water, put the peas into a kettle with a small piece of ham or salt pork, pour on two quarts of water, and set over the fire. Cook slowly for two hours. Put into a small saucepan a tablespoonful of butter or dripping, a tablespoon each of minced carrot and minced celery, four tablespoons of minced onion, and cook slowly half an hour. Take the vegetables out and add them to the soup, mix a tablespoonful of flour into the butter, stirring it smooth, and stir this also into the soup. Season with salt and pepper, and a bay leaf, cover, and cook slowly two hours longer, strain through a coarse wire strainer, reheat and serve.

Baked beans constitute quite a famous dish, cooked after this recipe. Wash a quart of beans, soak over night, then pour off the water, rinse and drain the beans. Put in a kettle, cover with water, and cook just below the boiling point until the skins will burst; this can be tested by taking a few into a saucer and blowing upon them. Drain the water off the beans. Have ready a pound of salt pork, with the rind scalded and scraped. Cut it in two, put half in the bottom of the bean crock, turn in the beans, pour over one cup of boiling water in which is mixed two tablespoons of molasses, the same of sugar, one tablespoon salt, one-half as much mustard, and one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. The remaining half of the pork goes on top. Add enough more boiling water to just cover the beans. Put on the cover, and bake in a slow oven from six to eight hours, uncovering the pot for the last hour. It may be necessary to add more hot water during the baking.

Potatoes are attractive served in the following way: Bake half a dozen potatoes, remove all of the inside, work into it a little butter, salt, bread crumbs, and chopped parsley. Beat well with a fork, and mix in one egg. Fill well-buttered egg-cups with the mixture, to mould, then turn out, brush with egg, dust over with rolled crumbs, and fry in deep hot fat. Drain, and serve hot.

Potato puffs is a nice way of serving left over boiled potatoes. Mash them smooth, and measure two cupfuls, season with salt and pepper, mix in a couple of level tablespoons of butter, and a cup of milk. Beat two eggs till light, then beat them into the potato mixture. Turn into a buttered baking dish, and bake until puffed and of a golden brown color.

Corn 'oysters' can be made from canned corn to a pulp, mix with a well-beaten egg, season with pepper, and salt, and stir in enough flour, to make a batter that will drop from spoon. Fry in hot fat.

Parsnips should be soaked in cold water, then scraped. Cut in thick slices, boil in salted water until tender, and drain. Heat a little butter in a pan, put in the slices of parsnip, and saute to a light brown on each side. Or mash the parsnips, season with salt and pepper, add a little cream, form into cakes, and saute.

Stuffed cabbage is easily prepared. Select a rather large head of cabbage, and boil it, but not quite tender. Lift it out into a baking dish, remove the centre of the cabbage, and fill the cavity with a mixture of a tablespoonful of minced suet, two tablespoons of chopped bacon or ham, a like amount of cold meat, one raw egg, the grated rind of a lemon, a seasoning of grated nutmeg, and pepper and salt to taste. Tie the top of the cabbage and bake in the oven for twenty minutes, basting several times with butter or dripping. It must not be allowed to get brown.

Carrot cups is a tasty form of serving this vegetable. Scrape and wash the carrots, cut them in quarters lengthwise, and boil till tender in water in which meat has been cooked. When done take them out of the broth, mash through a sieve, season with salt and pepper, and stir in a lump of butter. Fill some small cups or moulds with the carrot; pressing it down tightly, and turn out to sieve.

Fried Spanish onions are sometimes served on toast. Peel and slice some Spanish onions, put them in a frying pan containing a couple of tablespoons of butter made smoking hot, season with salt and pepper, dust lightly with cayenne, and stir over the fire until they are tender. Place on pieces of toast, and pour the gravy over them.

THE ART OF APOLOGIZING.

If there is anything that we all need to know, it is how to make an honorable apology graciously and gracefully; when we are wrong, to say so, and to say so with such heartiness, such evident sincerity, such real sorrow at our offence or our error, that we win a twofold victory; one over the friend or foe, and the other, a much bigger one, over ourselves.

But there is an art of not apologizing which has considerable value, too. Some of us, like the courteous Japanese, are forever deprecating and depreciating the things that belong to us. We do this partly from a mistaken sense of courtesy, partly from a false modesty, partly from a real modesty. Sometimes it is a more or less conscious endeavor to extract a compliment; sometimes it is policy, thinking modesty will rouse less opposition; and sometimes it may be superstition, imagining that "the evil eye" or a jealous Providence is on the lookout to spoil too fair prosperity, or punish inordinate pride.

The housewife does it with her cats and cakes and curios and carpets. The host does it when the unexpected guest descries the nakedness of the table. The singer does it when she has, or elects to say she has, that cold which handicaps her so. The speaker, teacher, preacher, does it—either sincerely, conscious of a real lack of preparation or material, or not so sincerely, the better to enhance the glory of what he is about to do. "Just a little thing I washed it; had no time to polish it; awfully ashamed to present it," when he confidently expects it to gleam as a diamond of the first water. Even the Christian does it regarding his doctrine, faith or his personal religion. Often it is a mere habit; and he really means no more by it than the swearing sailor said he meant by his oaths, or than some people he knew meant by their prayers.

But it is a good habit to break. The true Christian will not apologize for his religion; it is too great and glorious to need it. He will not apologize for his family, or his house, or his furniture, or his table; they are the best he can make them.

And especially he will not apologize for his product or his performance. If apology is insincere, it is breeding insincerity in him, and other folk soon see through it and laugh at him in their sleeves. A young lady of this sort protested that she could not sing, and "protesting she would ne'er consent, consented." But she fully proved her contention. The courtly bishop who had been foremost in the urging was equal to the occasion. With his urbanest bow and tone, he said, "Now we know what to think when you say you cannot sing!" If the piece, or speech, or product, is good, apology is unnecessary, and looks suspicious. If bad, the apology cannot avert the criticism; what we ought to apologize for is allowing ourselves to be persuaded into affronting our audience by giving them something not worthy of them, and not worthy of us.—S. S. Times.

Capt. Archie Johnston, of Eramosa, died in Guelph General Hospital on Wednesday of last week, aged 65 years, from pleuro-pneumonia.

CHILDREN'S SCALP SORES ARE HEALED BY ZAM-BUK.

Mothers are well aware how frequently children contract scalp sores, ringworm, etc., at school. Some little sufferer is sent to school with a sore of this nature. At play, the children change caps, and right there the infection is spread—the damage done.

Some children are particularly liable to scalp sores, etc., and often these break out with annoying frequency. Such a case was that of the daughter of Mrs. Albert Gaedike, of 485 Amherst St., Montreal. Mrs. Gaedike says: "My little three year old daughter suffered frequently from scalp disease, and try as we would, we could not rid the little one of this. We tried everything we could think of, but failed to effect a cure, until we were advised to try Zam-Buk. This balm seemed entirely different to anything we had ever tried before, and from first applying it there was a marked improvement. The sores became less inflamed and less irritable. After a few days, they ceased to trouble the child; and in less than a fortnight from first commencing with Zam-Buk, they were completely healed. In view of these facts I feel it my duty to let mothers know how beneficial Zam-Buk is."

There is no doubt that for scalp sores, ringworm, ulcers, abscesses, cold cracks, chapped hands, frost bite and similar sores, Zam-Buk is absolutely without equal. It is just as good for piles, varicose sores, poisoned wounds, cuts, burns and scalds. Rubbed well in over the affected part, it cures rheumatism, sciatica, etc., etc., and rubbed into the chest it relieves the tightness and feeling of weight due to contracting a bad cold. All druggists and stores sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Refuse imitations.

IN A LIGHTER VIEW.

"I understand you called on the complainant. Is that so?" demanded a brow-beating barrister of a man he was cross-examining. "Yes," replied the witness. "What did he say?" Council for the other side eagerly objected that evidence as to a conversation was not admissible, and half an hour's argument ensued. Then the magistrates retired to consider the point, announcing on their return some time later that they deemed the question a proper one. "Well, what did the plaintiff say?" repeated the cross-examining barrister. "He was not at home, sir!" was the answer.

On one occasion an archbishop, when about to proceed on a railway journey, found so many "society" people travelling first and second that he thought he would be more comfortable in a third-class compartment. His only companion was a farmer, big and burly, who thus addressed His Grace: "I suppose you be something in the clergy line?" The archbishop assented. "Then," continued the farmer, "are you a curate in this neighborhood?" "No," was the answer. "I am—I have no curacy now. I was a curate once, but I am one no longer." "Oh, very sad!" commented the farmer, with a sigh. "I suppose it was the drink!"

Father (at head of stairs)—"Ethel, what time is it?" Ethel (in drawingroom)—"It's a quarter past ten, father." Father—"All right. Don't forget to start the clock again after the young man goes out to get his breakfast."

Simpkins always was soft-hearted, and when it developed upon him to break gently the news of Jones' drowning to the bereaved Mrs. Jones, it cost him much paper, ink, and perspiration before he sent the following: "Dear Mrs. Jones—Your husband cannot come home to-day. His bathing suit was washed away in the surf.—P. S.: Poor Jones was inside the suit."

When Jenkins, returning from his club, went to his bedroom at half-past one, it was with the determination of going to sleep without first submitting to a cross-examination by his better half. So, as soon as he had entered the room and placed his candle upon the dressing-table, he began: "I locked the front door. I put the chain up. The dog is in. The cat is out. The cook took the silver to bed with her. I put the fastenings over the bathroom windows. I put the cake box back in the larder. I did not drink all the milk. It is not going to rain. Nobody gave me any message for you. I posted your letter as soon as I got to town. Your mother did not call at the office. I did not hear of a marriage or engagement. I want an egg for breakfast. I think that is all, and I will now put out the light." Jenkins felt that he had prevented all possible inquiry, and smiled triumphantly. His triumph was short-lived, however, for Mrs. Jenkins asked, "Why didn't you take off your hat?"

"Where's your father, little boy?" said the insurance agent, calling at the back door. "Father's down in the pig-sty," said the boy curtly. "You can go and find him. And," he added as an afterthought, "you'll know father—he's got a hat on!"

She weighed sixteen stone if she weighed an ounce, and she did weigh an ounce. The whole rink shook and rumbled as she struggled round in her efforts to master the whirling art. Suddenly—a terrific thud—a groan—and there, piled up upon the boarding lay a heap of overbalanced femininity. A dozen stalwarts hastened to her aid. But her avoirdupois was too much for their heaving. "Fetch a lever!" cried one. "Fetch a crane!" shouted a second. The woman opened her eyes. "You will have to wait a moment, madame," politely remarked a third. "We have just sent for the crane. I trust you are not hurt?" "N-n-no, I don't think so!" she gasped bravely back. "But, oh, there are some dreadful lumps in your floor!" "Lumps, be hanged, madame!" growled a half-smothered voice from underneath. "I'm not a lump, I'm one of the attendants!"

"Mr. Gladstone once slept in the bed you were in last night, sir," said the hotelkeeper. "Ah!" answered the guest; "Mr. Gladstone must have been a great man, for that's more than I could do!"

While lighting the fire a week ago Sunday morning, Robt. Guest, of Kinloss, was stricken with paralysis.

PEDDLERS' LICENSES.

County Council Thought They Were Too High and Repealed By-law Passed Last November.

January Session Brought to a Close Saturday Morning.

The County By-Law "regulating the licensing of Auctioneers, Hawkers, Peddlers and Petty Chapman" was the subject of protracted and vigorous debate at the meeting of the County Council last week. During the November sitting last year's Council amended the existing By-law by increasing the licenses as follows:—Auctioneers from $12 to $15; peddlers, travelling on foot and carrying a basket, from $20 to $30; travelling on foot and carrying a pack, from $20 to $30; using a push cart, $25 to $50; using one horse or other animal, $50 to $100; using two horses or other animals, $75 to $300; all other classes of peddlers, from $75 to $300. The penalty for a violation of the by-law was fixed at not less than $30 and not more than $300, with the alternative of 90 days' imprisonment. The increase in the licenses naturally aroused a storm of protest from the interested peddlers. The biggest kick came from J. L. Fielding, a Guelph tea dealer, whose wagon travels the sidelines of Dufferin at regular intervals. Fielding does a big business with the farmers of the county and he was wrothy indeed, when he heard of the jump in the licenses. He threatened to quash the by-law, but in the end adopted the less expensive course of visiting the Council and endeavoring to persuade the members to repeal the November enactment. Fielding struck town Tuesday night and interviewed most of the members. Wednesday he addressed the Council and so effectively did he present his case that the Council repealed the objectionable measure and put through a new by-law fixing the licenses at the following figures:—Auctioneers, $15; peddlers, non-resident, on foot $30, resident $20; peddlers, non-resident, with basket, $30, resident $20; peddlers, non-resident, using push cart, $50, resident, $35; using one horse, non-resident, $75, resident $50; using two horses, non-resident, $125, resident, $100; travelling in any other way, non-resident $200, resident $150. The penalty for violations was fixed at not less than $5 and not more than $50, or 21 days in gaol.

On Wednesday the Council expressed its sympathy with Warden Greer by passing the following resolution:

McIntyre-Arnott—That the sincere sympathy of this Council as well as the County generally be and is hereby extended to our Warden, Archibald Geeer, Esq., in the grievous affliction which he has sustained since last session of Council in the death of his father.

Wednesday afternoon Warden Greer read his inaugural address, which was referred to a special Committee, consisting of Menary, McGhee, Mitchell, McIntyre, Anderson and Higgins.

Mr. W. G. Kearns was appointed to the High School Board and Dr. Campbell and Mr. J. J. Reith, members of the Board of Criminal Audit.

Messrs. John Johnston, Laurel; J. A. Marshall and J. W. McMaster, of Mono, addressed the Council on behalf of the Dufferin Trustees Association. The deputation asked the Council to increase the annual grant to the Association from $25 to $50.

Mr. D. J. Hunter, Registrar of Deeds, addressed the Council respecting the merits of a Book Typewriter or Copying machine, which he estimated would save sixty per cent. in the cost of books for the Registry Office.

Most of Thursday forenoon was spent in Committee of the Whole considering various plans for the improvement of the winter roads. The use of snow plows seemed to meet with a good deal of favor and a motion was eventually passed vesting Messrs. McIntyre, Anderson and Arnott with the authority to purchase ten snow ploughs for the use of the municipalities.

At the afternoon sitting, Mr. McIntyre read the report of the Finance Committee, which recommended grants of $10 to the Sick Children's Hospital and $5 to the Prisoners' Aid Association.

The Hawkers By-law, which some of the members persisted in styling the "Tea" By-law, was considered Friday afternoon. County Solicitor Hughson, who prepared the by-law, was on hand to answer any questions and assist to steer the measure through Committee of the Whole.

Chairman Bryan presented the Report of the Committee on Legislation. The Committee recommended that Council take no action re. the communication from the Lincoln County Teachers' Association in favor of giving country schools two months' summer vacation.

The Education Committee recommended that the Council pass a By-law confirming the agreement with the Public School Inspector, whereby he is to accept $300 annually in lieu of all travelling expenses. The By-law was subsequently passed by the Council. The Report recommended a grant of $25 to the Dufferin Trustees Association. Reeve Bryan objected to this portion of the report and in Committee of the Whole succeeded in getting through an amendment increasing the grant to $50.

Mr. Menary presented the report of the Special Committee appointed to consider the Warden's address. The report congratulated the Warden on his elevation to the highest position in the gift of the County and assured him that in the discharge of his duties he would have the support and co-operation of every member of the Council. The report referred to county grants to highways as a system that has disadvantages as well as advantages and suggested that the matter be fully discussed by the Council at next session.

On motion of Reeve Large, seconded by Reeve McKee, the thanks of the Council was extended to the Board of Trade for its invitation to attend the banquet at the Queen's Hotel, Friday night.

Chairman Arnott presented the report of the County Property Committee on Saturday morning. The report recommended the purchase of an Elliott Fisher Book Recording Machine for the Registry Office. It also recommended that the Chairman be empowered to make some necessary repairs to Mr. Preston's and the County Clerk's offices and purchase furniture therefor.

Council adjourned shortly before ten o'clock Saturday morning to meet again on Tuesday, June 20th.

ROAD GRANTS.

HUNTER—SHERMAN.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Sherman, 233 Pacific Ave., West Toronto, was the scene of a quiet but very pretty wedding on Wednesday, January 25th, when their second daughter, Margaret Alcina, was united in marriage to Mr. William John Hunter, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Speer, pastor of High Park Avenue Methodist Church. To the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus played by Miss Lulu Sherman, the bride entered the drawingroom escorted by her father. She looked very pretty gowned in two toned silk and carrying a shower bouquet of roses and lillies of the valley. The young couple were unattended. After receiving the congratulations of their friends they led the way to the dining room where a buffet lunch was served. A large number of costly presents were given, showing the high esteem in which the young couple are held by their many friends in Toronto and elsewhere. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome Persian lamb set and to the pianiste a wishbone pin set with pearls. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter left on the 11.20 train for Niagara Falls, Buffalo and other points, the bride travelling in a suit of King's Blue diagonal serge, with beaver hat trimmed with plumes. On their return they will reside on Brock Ave., Toronto. The bride, we may add in conclusion, is a niece of Mrs. A. Ewing, 2nd line, west, Mono.

Mr. Harry A. Hillhouse, of Shelburne, who has been on the staff of the Bank of Toronto for the past three years, has resigned his position with that institution at St. Catherines and accepted the position of chief clerk and accountant with the Right of Ways dept. of the Alberta Central Railway, with headquarters at Red Deer, Alberta.

MRS. ROBERT SIMPSON.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Simpson, wife of Mr. Robert Simpson, passed away at her home, lot 5, 14th line, East Garafraxa, very unexpectedly on Sunday, in her 53rd year. The remains were interred at Price's cemetery, 12th line, Garafraxa, on Tuesday afternoon. The funeral was a very large one. Profound sympathy is expressed for Mr. Simpson in his trying bereavement.

MRS. ISAAC WHALEY.

Mrs. Isaac Whaley, an old resident of Orangeville and vicinity, departed this life at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Conley, Alton, on Wednesday of last week. Mrs. Whaley, whose maiden name was Miss Martha Smith, was born in the city of Belfast 72 years ago. She was married to Mr. Whaley in Ireland, the young couple coming to the United States 52 years ago. After residing in New York State for a short time they crossed to Ontario, settling near Toronto and afterwards moving to lot 1, con. 3, west, Mono, commonly known as the Ryan farm. They also resided near The Maples for several years. The husband, who was a weaver by occupation, died about 23 years ago. Mrs. Whaley is survived by a family of three sons and three daughters, namely, Thos. Whaley, Laurel; James Whaley, Chatham; R. S. Whaley, Cooksville; Mrs. Conley, Alton; Mrs. C. J. Schriber and Mrs. Wm. Markle, Toronto. The funeral was held to Greenwood cemetery, Orangeville, on Friday afternoon, Rev. J. R. Bell, of Laurel, conducting the services. General sympathy is felt for the family and other relatives in their loss.

WILLIAM BENNETT, SR.

A lifelong resident of Mono was summoned from the scene of his earthly labors last week in the person of Mr. William Bennett, Sr., whose death occurred at his home, lot 2, con. 3, east, early last Thursday morning. Mr. Bennett, who had reached the ripe age of 83 years, was born and spent his life on the farm where he died. Endowed with good business foresight and the capacity for hard, unremitting work, he amassed a splendid property of 300 acres and is reported to have had a snug bank account as well. He took pardonable pride in the fact that he had been able to start each of his four sons on a 100 acre farm. A strong, vigorous man, Mr. Bennett, scarcely knew what illness meant until about a year ago, when the growing frailty of body incident to advancing years confined him to his room. His death was due to a general breakdown—a wearing out of the machinery of the physical being. He was a man who never aspired to public office, but nevertheless took considerable interest in municipal and other public matters. He was a member of the Anglican Church and an ardent Conservative. Twice married, he leaves a widow and a family of four sons and three daughters. The sons are Thomas, of Bowling Green; William, John and Edward, of Mono, and the daughters, Mrs. Wm. Kyle, in Saskatchewan; Mrs. J. A. Campbell, in Manitoba, and Jennie at home. The late Mr. Bennett was one of a family of twelve, of whom one brother, Mr. J. M. Bennett, of Orangeville, is now the only surviving member. The funeral was held to the Forest Lawn cemetery on Monday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Rix, rector of St. Mark's Church, conducting services at the house and grave. The pallbearers were three sons, Thos., William and Edward, James Woodland, George Holmes and William Allen.

TO CURE A HEADACHE.

The experience of Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., is of interest to all who suffer from headaches. He writes: "For a long time I was troubled with headaches, which came on about once a weak with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. I then used six boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food and have not been troubled with headache since. That was eight months ago."

—D. C. Horner has sold his 100 acre farm, part of lot 30, con. 7, east, Mono, to Alex. McDowell, of Tossorontio.

VERY SHORT AND RIGHT TO THE POINT.

Frank Miller Tells Why He Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He used them for Rheumatism, Heart Disease and Lumbago, and they went right to the root of his troubles.

Elkmouth, B. C., Jan. 30th., (Special)—Frank Miller, section foreman on the railroad here, whose work exposes him to all kinds of weather, has discovered that Dodd's Kidney Pills are a sovereign remedy for those Kidney ills that almost invariably follow neglected colds.

"For four years I suffered from Lumbago, Heart Disease and Rheumatism, brought on by a cold," says Mr Miller, "and I got the very best results from using Dodd's Kidney Pills. I freely recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from these diseases."

Short and to the point, that statement, isn't it? But it is just like Dodd's Kidney Pills. They go right to the point. They cure the Kidneys. Healthy Kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood means good circulation and renewed life and energy all over the body.

Thus Dodd's Kidney Pills not only cure disease. They tone up the whole body and make a man feel that he has been given a new lease of life. That's why people all over Canada are shouting praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Sad Fate of William Bailey, a Former Orangeville Young Man.

Search Party Found Frozen Body Twenty Rods From House He Was Striving to Reach.

Nokomis, Sask., Jan. 30.—A sad fatality occurred within a short distance of Watertown, Sask., on Monday, January 23rd, when William Bailey lost his life in the bitter cold of the night. He started out from Govan at 4.30 p.m. to drive Mr. A. S. Clancy, Manager of the Northern Crown Bank there, to Imperial, a town about thirty miles away, where a new branch of the bank is being opened. They did not intend to make the whole journey, but were to stop at Watertown, and resume the journey in the morning. They were, however, overtaken by night, and having lost the trail, the horses got fast in six feet of snow about two miles from Watertown. Their position was a serious one, as they were in a hay slough where the grass was long and the snow very deep. Both men started for a house some distance away, where a light was shining, but Clancy decided to return to the sleigh to guard the funds which he was taking to Imperial. He held his post until morning and protected himself from the cold with blankets and robes. He then made his way to Watertown and there learned that Bailey had not reached his destination. A search party was organized and the frozen body of Bailey was found not more than twenty rods from the house which he hoped to reach.

His brother is of the opinion that he was exhausted in the deep snow and sank from heart failure, as his heart was weak and caused him considerable trouble. This seems reasonable, as under ordinary circumstances he should have reached his destination, as the trip was not a long one.

Deceased was about 35 year old and unmarried. He leaves a brother and two sisters here to mourn his death. He came from Orangeville, Ont.—Special despatch in Tuesday's Globe.

The unfortunate young man is a son of William Bailey, an Orangeville laboring man, who is working with Mr. W. H. Gillespie, Amaranth, at present. He went West last spring with his brother-in-law, Mr. Hugh Kyles, who is farming near Nokomis. Messrs. Harry and Walter Bailey are brothers. There are also three brothers—Marshall, Lewis and Melville—living in the West. The sisters are Mrs. Harold Stuveysant, of Detroit; Mrs. Kyles and Miss Mildred, also living near Nokomis. The members of the family here received their first intimation of the sad tragedy through the despatch in Tuesday's dailies.

WALDEMAR.

Mrs. John McLeod, who has been very ill with la grippe and a slight attack of pleurisy, is improving.

Mrs. Peter Worden, who has been confined to the house for some time, is able to be up again.

Miss Jean McFadzean is visiting friends in Teeswater.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Groskurth, of Toronto, visited at the former's parental home over Sunday.

While the C. P. R. has placed an agent in the station here, considerable dissatisfaction is expressed by our villagers over the failure of the railway company to give the public tickets and other needful accommodation. The Company promised to have the station fully equipped after the New Year, but a good deal still remains to be done before it can be credited with having fulfilled its promise.

Richard Gamble, of this vicinity, is holding down a good job with William Cowie, a florist in the county town.

Mr. Jno. Jas. Gamble, of Hespeler, is visiting friends in this locality.

Mr. Will Gamble, who bought the Harkness farm in East Garafraxa a short time ago, is said to be giving evidence of having serious designs on one of the attractive maidens of that township.

Mr. Will Tate has installed a telephone in his house. He has connected up with the Edgar system.

Mr. James Talbot made a business trip to the County Town on Tuesday.

CAUSES 95 PER CENT. OF DISEASES.

Advice Concerning Stomach Troubles and How to Remedy Them.

Do not neglect indigestion which leads to all sorts of ills and complications. An eminent doctor once said that ninety-five per cent. of all the ills of the human body have their origin in a disordered stomach.

A physician who made a specialty of stomach troubles, particularly dyspepsia, after years of study perfected the formula from which Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are made.

Our experience with Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets leads us to believe them to be the greatest remedy known for the relief of acute indigestion and chronic dyspepsia. Their ingredients are soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes of the stomach. They are rich in pepsin, one of the greatest digestive aids known to medicine. The relief they afford is almost immediate. Their use with persistency and regularity for a short time brings about a cessation of the stomach disorders.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets will insure healthy appetite, aid digestion and promote nutrition. As evidence of our sincere faith in Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, we ask you to try them at our risk. If they do not give you entire satisfaction, we will return you the money you paid us for them, without question or formality. They come in three sizes, prices 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain them only at our store.—The Rexall Store. T. F. & T. J. Brown, Orangeville.

RHEUMATISM.

T. E. Foster, of St. John St., Fredericton, N. B., says: I have found more actual relief from Booth's Kidney Pills than in all else I have ever tried for rheumatism. The pains in my limbs have lessened greatly and I am better and stronger than in years previous. My appetite has built up and I eat and sleep better than I have in over three years. My general health is greatly improved and I can credit this only to Booth's Kidney Pills.

Booth's Kidney Pills

This is the Booth Kidney Pill way. These wonderful Pills are sold under a guarantee to refund your money if they fail to relieve any sufferer from Rheumatism or any trouble having its origin in the Kidneys. They cure Backache, dull shooting pains, thick and cloudy urine, gravel and stone, rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

Booth's Kidney Pills are sold by all druggists and dealers, 50c. box or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by T. Stevenson.

—"Ruby Harkness-Hamilton has a brilliant soprano voice of wide range, her most popular number number, perhaps, being Penn's Carissima, to which she responded with "The Four-Leafed Clover."—Hamilton Spectator

—"The success achieved by Ruby Harkness-Hamilton, was instantaneous, and she held her audience with many examples of her art, "The Years at the Spring," by Beach, being perhaps her most popular offering."—Toronto Globe.

—Master John Rooney, only son of Dr. Rooney, had his right leg fractured between the knee and thigh at the Skating Rink Tuesday afternoon. He was helping a number of companions put up some side boards prior to a hockey game, when a plank fell upon him in some manner.

—Mr. L. K. Johnston's auction sale in Caledon a week ago Monday was attended by a huge crowd. Farmers were present from Caledon and all the surrounding townships. Bidding was keen, prices excellent and the proceeds were over $2600. Auctioneer Jas. A. Patterson wielded the hammer in his usual happy manner.

—Mr. Wm. Algie, of Alton, was a guest of the Burns' Literary Society at their celebration of the anniversary of the birthday of Robert Burns, "The Plowman Poet," in the Walker House, Toronto, on Wednesday night, January 25th. Fully two hundred enthusiastic Scotsmen joined in the celebration.

—"Ruby Harkness-Hamilton is a great opera singer and showed her versatility in several solos."—Toronto World.

—At the special meeting of the ratepayers of the Speers School in Caledon a week ago yesterday, T. C. Glassford was elected to the vacant position on the Trustee Board, defeating William Duke by a vote of 22 to 19. We have received two lengthy communications respecting the election, but lack of space obliges us to hold them over.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hoare, Orangeville, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hoare, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hoare, The Maples, and Rev. T. R. White, of Laurel, were among the guests at the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoare. The interesting event was celebrated at the home of the venerable couple's daughter, Mrs. C. O. Douglass, Toronto, on Tuesday, of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Hoare were presented with a purse of gold by their family.

GEORGE'S SURPRISE.

Mr. George Sharp, formerly a member of the Amaranth Council, who came over from Michigan a few weeks ago on a visit, sprang a big surprise on his oldtime friends and neighbors. For two or three weeks after his arrival he gave sly hints that he might get married, and then getting bolder made the declaration that he was married and that his wife was coming next week. Sure enough on the day appointed Mrs. Sharp arrived and George, according to the Star & Vidette, is now the best pleased man in town. Before her marriage Mrs. Sharp was a Mrs. Wilson, of Cresswell, Michigan.

YOU CAN SEE IT WORK.

The beauty of Dr. Chase's Ointment as a healer of the skin in eczema, salt rheum, itching skin disease and old sores is that you can see from day to day exactly what it is doing. There is no guess work, no experimenting. It simply heals the skin and makes it soft, smooth and natural. It heals as if by magic. Prove to your own satisfaction by trying it.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Arthur Irwin, of Toronto, was in town over Sunday.

Mr. R. Lemon, of Everett, is visiting Dr. A. J. Hunter.

Miss Della McKinnon, of Guelph, is spending a few days at her home here.

Miss Carrie Anderson, of Relessey, is visiting Mrs. and Miss Anderson, First St.

Messrs. T. W. Huston and Gordon Cooper are visiting at Toronto, Berlin and London.

Rev. A. J. Fowlie, of Camilla, preached a very acceptable sermon in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday evening.

Miss Edith Green returned home Monday night after a two week's vacation with friends in Brampton and Toronto.

Mrs. E. P. Barker and children, of North Bay, are visiting Mrs. Barker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Newman.

Mr. Walter H. Allen, of Toronto, has been spending a couple of weeks visiting Mr. Fred. Atkinson and other friends in Orangeville and neighborhood.

Miss Barnhardt, of North Bay, and Mrs. Wm. Meades, of Orillia, are the guests of their sister, Mrs. J. H. Wylie, Zina St.

Miss Sutherland, who has been living with her sister, Mrs. H. Watt, for the last three years, left for her parental home in Woodstock a few days ago.

Mrs. H. D. Cruikshank, left for her home in Balcarres, Sask., on Friday morning after a pleasant two months' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Braiden.

Messrs. F. Wylie, of Theodore, Sask., and Alex. Huston, of Toronto, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Huston, Centre Road, Caledon, over Sunday.

Mr. Arch. McDougall, of Toronto, was a welcome caller at The Banner sanctum a few days ago. Mr. McDougall has been making a short visit with friends at his former home in Alton.

LECTURE ON ORANGEISM.

Mr. Thos. Duff, organizer for the Orange Mutual Benefit Society, will give a public lecture in the Town Hall, on Tuesday evening, February 14th. Mr. Duff will speak under the auspices of L. O. L. 635. There will be no admission charge. Mr. Duff is an excellent speaker and should be heard by a large audience.

THE LIBRARY CONTEST.

The Liebander Bible Class Still in Lead.

The Library contest is growing rapidly in interest and enthusiasm. The result of the voting for the past week shows a large number of new contestants for the coveted prize. The Liebander Bible Class still retains a comfortable lead, although the Orangeville Public School, which is evidently in the race in dead earnest, has made a notable improvement in its position. Friends of Mono College and The Maples Schools are getting busy and these institutions are both going to be real factors in the contest. The standing Tuesday evening was:—

AN EPWORTH LEAGUE NIGHT.

Members of the local Epworth League entertained a number of the neighboring Leagues in the Methodist Church school room on Monday night. Owing to the severe storm, the only outside Leagues represented were Alton and Grand Valley, both bodies having large delegations of their members present. A thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent. Mr. Will Kearns, President of the Orangeville League, occupied the chair. The programme consisted of selections by the Orangeville Ladies' Quartette, and the Grand Valley Male Quartette, a solo by Mr. E. A. Warren and addresses by Miss Martin, of Alton, and Mr. Wilfrid Hamilton, of Grand Valley. A lunch was afterwards served by the ladies of the local League, about 150 young people partaking of the refreshments. An hour or so was then pleasantly spent in social intercourse and amusements.

COMEDY MAKES A HIT.

"Al Martin's County Store" Draws a Full House.

The Town Hall was crowded on Thursday night at the opening performance of "Al Martin's Country Store," a five act comedy, presented by local talent under the auspices of the Liebander Bible Class. The plot is of the conventional type, with a charming young lady, a rich young man who of course falls in love and a bad young man—also in love—who resorts to underhand methods that are temporarily successful in order to separate his favored rival and the object on which their affections are centred. In the last act the villain is exposed and narrowly escapes imprisonment, the lovers are reconciled and the curtain falls with the clergyman, who has been largely instrumental in bringing about the happy conclusion, slyly suggesting to the young lady that she name the fateful day. The Play was bright and at times vivacious, with enough of the humorous and even the ludicrous thrown in to keep the audience thoroughly amused. Considering the time spent in preparation, the parts were well taken. This was especially true of Will Kearns, who appeared in the role of Al Martin, Miss May Tansley, his daughter, Will Gillespie as Harold Hawley, Fred. Faulkner as Robert Corey and John Perdue as Rev. C. Wesley Ashbury. The following is the cast:—

Al Martin, Storekeeper and Postmaster—Wm. Kearns.
Marie Martin, his daughter — Miss May Tansley.
Sam Johnston, Carpenter — Fred. Wright, Jr.
Tom Briggs, Laborer—Wm. Savage.
Buck Friend, Brickmaker—Roy Spence
Rube Hutchins, an old Time Farmer —Chas. Allen.
Harold Hawley, a Civil Engineer — Wm. Gillespie.
Robert Corey, a Railroad Promoter—Fred. Faulkner.
Weary Willie, a Knight of the Road—F. vonZuben.
Bess, Chum of Marie—Miss Ruth Farnell.
Anna, Chum of Marie—Miss A. Morrison.
Mrs. Blake—Miss Edna Banks.
Mrs. Smith—Miss Laura McConnell.
Mrs. Hawkins—Miss Pearl Wallace.
Miss Simons—Miss Reta Banks.
Gus Risley, a Rather Slow Young Man—Ed. Sanderson.
Ned, a Rather Fast Young Man — Melburne Glover.
Jerry, a Hungry Loafer—Ed. Hughes
Si Newcombe—Harold Willicroft.
Rev. J. Wesley Ashbury, a Methodist Minister—John Perdue.
Otto Padretti, a Travelling Music Teacher—Jas. Sanderson.
Squire Holden, a Miserly Old Skinflint—Ernest Holmes.
Jim, a Ragged Little Colored Boy—Walter Dahl.
Mandy Sprigge, an Awkward Giggling Girl—Vera Hogg.

Mr. F. von Zuben did some clever crayon sketching, that brought him hearty applause. An orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Thos. Wilson, furnished delightful music between acts.

The Play was repeated on Friday night before a fairly large house.

The Play was staged under the direction of Mr. F. M. Kay, of Listowel, a newspaper man by the way.

SHAW'S SCHOOLS.

The Central Business College, of Toronto, and its branches, The Central Telegraph and Railroad School, and the Shaw Correspondence School, Toronto, are all operated under the Presidency of Mr. W. H. Shaw, and are commonly known as "Shaw's Schools." These institutions are doing a great work for the young people of Canada in particular, but enjoy the attendance and patronage of students from many other countries.

UNION LITERARY SOCIETY.

Union Literary Society social evening was a decided success and the hall was well filled. The most interesting feature on the programme was the debate, whether Local Option is a benefit to a Town or not. The speakers on the affirmative were Mr. Will Island and Mr. Jackson Holmes; the negative was supported by Mr. Lorne Dodds and Mr. Arthur Woodland. The affirmative won by six points. After the debate there was a short programme including a cornet duet by Mr. F. Island and Mr. M. Cruikshank and a dialogue "How she cured him." Luncheon was then served by the ladies of the Society. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem. Visitors were present from Orangeville and Mono Mills. The debate for the next Saturday night is "Farm or City Life" and the usual programme will be provided.

Her Secret

Why She Always Looked So Young

Everyone refers to her as one of the most attractive women in town. It wasn't her features, for while regular, they were not unusual. But the charm lay in the head of splendid, vigorous hair that made a veritable crown. It had that peculiar lustre and the sun gave it an added brilliance—you couldn't look at her without unconsciously commenting on the beauty of her hair.

When asked how she kept it so beautiful she replied that it was no secret, simply proper shampooing, regular combing and the conscientious use of Hirsutone. She admitted it had not always been in that condition, but that she found Hirsutone the best thing she ever got for the hair. It gave the scalp such a cool, refreshed feeling, and the hair was so much easier to dress after its use.

There are plenty of heads that would be just as attractive for Hirsutone soon brings the hair and scalp into good condition.

Your Nyal Drug Store will cheerfully guarantee Hirsutone to do all that is claimed for it, and every woman owes it to herself to try it.

Sold and guaranteed by Dr. A. J. Hunter & Co., A. T. Howard, Thos. Stevenson, Orangeville.

LOST HIS BAGGAGE.

Mike was an immigrant, no need to say where from. About all his baggage consisted of was a bottle of the "rale stuff." When he arrived in Canada, the man for whom he was to work met him and said:—

"Where's your baggage?"

"Lost, sur," said Mike.

"Lost? All your baggage?"

"Ivery bit of it, sur," replied Mike.

"But how did it happen?" asked the employer.

"The cork came out, sur," answered Mike.

Try a 50c. Bottle FREE

From Your Druggist: Psychine, the great Vitality-Builder

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

You know what it would mean to us were Psychine a preparation without a definite, beneficial action.

After the first bottle which we would buy, no more would be purchased.

And we would go out of business. But we're not going out of business, and our confidence that we're not is based upon our third of a century's experience with Psychine.

Ten years after Confederation we commenced compounding Psychine.

Since that time, we have sold many millions of bottles.

We have cured many hundreds of thousands of virulent and oftentimes fatal cases of diseases.

We have in our files many hundreds of thousands of unsolicited testimonials.

And we have grown from a small beginning to be one of the largest proprietary manufacturers in this country.

Here then is proof that we have in Psychine a preparation with abundant and demonstrated effectiveness, more so than any other preparation we, or anyone else, ever heard of.

Here then is the reason of our unalterable confidence in Psychine, that it is in fact the greatest preparation of its kind in the world.

Here then is why we have inaugurated a policy of actually buying hundreds of thousands of bottles of Psychine to give to those who should use.

To those who are blindly groping in the dark for relief from their misery, who may perhaps be using wrong methods to recover their health and their strength.

* * *

LAGRIPPE.

The greatest and most effective agents for the bodily health are the white corpuscles, phagocytes.

These white corpuscles eat any germ of disease that gains an entrance to the body, when they're in large enough numbers and sufficiently strong.

When they're not sufficiently strong, the disease germs devour them and disease holds the body.

* * *

For centuries almost, herbs, nature's own remedies, have been the most efficient foe to disease.

We have not known very definitely just how.

But now science tells us that certain of these herbs increase the number of the white corpuscles and their strength.

These certain herbs are incorporated in Psychine.

We go to the ends of the earth for these herbs—to Arabia, to South America, to China and to Japan.

They are compounded in the most costly chemical appliances in this country.

And the result is Psychine—for a third of a century the most effective vitality-builder the world has known.

The one preparation that has cured many thousands of the following diseases:

La Grippe	Bronchial Coughs
Bronchitis	Weak Lungs
Hemorrhages	Weak Voice
Sore Throat	Spring Weakness
Anaemia	Early Decline
Female Weakness	Catarrhal Affections
Indigestion	Catarrh of Stomach
Poor Appetite	Night Sweats
Chills and Fevers	Obstinate Coughs
Sleeplessness and Nervous Troubles	Laryngitis and Dyspepsia

After-effects of Pleurisy, Pneumonia and La Grippe

Now we don't ask you to take our word for the tremendously beneficial effect of Psychine. Fill out the coupon below, mail it to us and we'll give your druggist an order (for which we pay him the regular retail price) for a 50-cent bottle of Psychine to be given you free of cost.

We will undoubtedly buy and distribute in this manner hundreds of thousands of these 50-cent bottles of Psychine.

And we do that to show our entire confidence in this wonderful preparation.

A confidence that has been based on our 30 years' experience with this splendid preparation, with a full knowledge of the hundreds of thousands of cures it has made.

McBRIDE GOT CHAIR.

Reeve of Caledon Elected Warden of Peel County by Unanimous Vote.

County Council Held Its Opening Session in Brampton Last Week.

The County Council of Peel for 1911 began its first session for the year on Tuesday, Jan. 24.

The members of the Council for 1911 are as follows:

Albion—Joseph Slack, Reeve.

Caledon—Jno. A. McBride, Reeve; Thomas Quinn, Deputy-Reeve.

Chinguacousy — John Newhouse, Reeve; John Wilkinson, Deputy-Reeve.

Toronto Twp.—Thos. L. Kennedy, Reeve; Reuben H. Lush, First Deputy; William Rutledge, Second Deputy.

Toronto Gore—John G. Julian, Reeve.

Brampton—Jno. S. Beck, Reeve; A. H. Hunter, Deputy-Reeve.

Bolton—S. A. Egan, Reeve.

Streetsville—Frank W. Morgan, Reeve.

The first business of the Council on Tuesday afternoon was the election of a Warden for 1911. It was moved by Reeve Kennedy, seconded by Reeve Newhouse, that Reeve McBride, of Caledon, be Warden. No other nominations being made the motion was carried unanimously and Mr. McBride took the chair being escorted thereto by his mover and seconder. Reeve Morgan, J. P., took the declaration of office. Warden McBride thanked the Council in a short speech for the honor they had conferred on him.

The Committee to select the standing committees was chosen by ballot, and Messrs. Beck, Julian, Kennedy, Morgan and Newhouse were appointed.

The Standing Committees for 1911 are as follows:—

Finance—Newhouse, Chairman; Miller and Rutledge.

Equalization of Assessment—Beck, Chairman; Lush, Julian, Quinn, Slack and Wilkinson.

Education—Morgan, Chairman; Kennedy and Beck.

County Property, Roads and Bridges—Kennedy, Chairman; Newhouse and Egan.

Printing and Contingencies—Egan, Chairman; Slack and Quinn.

Miscellaneous Matters — Julian, Chairman; Wilkinson and Lush.

A great many communications were received, read and referred to various committees.

Orangeville High School Board claims $283 for tuition of Peel students and Georgetown High School Board claims $523.

Inspector Galbraith recommends the making of Port Credit one of the places in the county where candidates for the High School may write examinations.

Dr. Moore, physician for the House of Refuge, reports that he made 62 visits in 1911 and prescribed in 709 cases. There were six deaths, the ages being 81, 93, 85, 75, 81 and 68 years. Three died from old age, one from dropsy and two from paralytic strokes.

Clarkson Joyce, of Mansewood, wants $87.50 damages for a road accident.

The Children's Aid Society, of Guelph, which has been making a claim for the maintenance of Essie Burnett, from Alton, has accepted Peel's offer of $58 made last November, to call quits.

The C. P. R. writes that they are arranging to fix up the approaches to the bridge near Inglewood Jct., of which there has been complaint made by residents and by the county.

On motion of Councillors Egan and Slack, Mr. Kehoe's bill of $3 for repairing bridge between Albion and King will be paid.

On motion of Councillor Lush and Slack a statement will be submitted to the Minister of Public Works for Ontario, showing that Peel has expended $90,453.33 in road building from Dec. 20, 1909, to Dec. 31, 1910, and requesting the Government to make the county a grant of one-third this amount as provided by the road act.

On motion of Councillors Wilkinson and Newhouse the Solicitor will draw up a memorial to the Dominion Government, asking that the affairs of the Farmers' Bank be investigated by a Royal Commission.

Jail Physician, Dr. D. L. Heggie, is asking for an increase of $40 or $50 in his salary. He now receives $75 a year.

The report of the Peel-Halton House of Refuge Commissioners, J. Jackson and E. F. Earl, was adopted this forenoon by the Council.

The report says there are at present thirty-nine inmates, twenty-five from Peel and fourteen from Halton.

The cost of maintenance from June 2 to Dec. 31, 1910, was as follows: Total cost including produce grown and consumed, $3,956.10; produce consumed $145.95, produce sold, leaving the net cost of maintenance, $3,604.72.

The following account is borne equally by the counties: Charged to capital account, $546.24; salaries and wages, $878.48; light, fuel and water, $960.78; miscellaneous, $185,-65; total $2,571.15.

The amount to be borne pro ratio for each inmate sent to the Refuge is $1033.57 divided as follows: Halton 2000 days for inmates $358.40; Peel, 3766 days, $675.17.

The cost of maintenance for each inmate has been 36¼ cents a day. The average age of the inmates is 70 years.

When the report was being discussed by the Council a good deal was saidabout having religious service at the House of Refuge on Sundays, but nothing was done to bring it about.—ThePeel Banner.

Laid Up With Lame Back

Pain, helplessness and suffering are overcome by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mrs. Frank Bloom, Hardwood Lake, Ont., writes: "I want to tell you of the great benefit I found in the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I suffered so badly with kidney disease that when I lay down I could not get up without help. I was completely laid up with lame, aching back. I read about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in the almanac, got them and they cured me of kidney disease and backache.

"My husband had dreadful pains in his sides and obtained cure by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. These pills are the best on the market and I am glad to recommend them."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are definite and certain in action, enlliven the liver and bowels as well as the kidneys, are lastingly beneficial and economical. But to obtain these results you must get the genuine Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

GREATEST CURE FOR RHEUMATISM IS "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

"I Honestly Believe It," says Mr. Mills

Knowlton, P.Q., Oct. 12th, 1909.

For many years I suffered from severe Rheumatism and the attacks were very distressing and prevented me from doing my ordinary work.

I tried many remedies and physicians' treatments but nothing seemed to do me much good, and I was becoming very anxious for fear I would become a permanent cripple from Rheumatism.

I tried "Fruit-a-tives" and this medicine has entirely cured me, and I honestly believe that "Fruit-a-tives" is the greatest Rheumatism Cure in the world.

E. E. MILLS,
Asst. P.M., Knowlton, Que.

"Fruit-a-tives" not only strengthens and heals the kidneys—but also regulates the bowels, improves the action of the skin—and thus keeps the blood pure and rich and free from uric acid which causes Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives"—the great fruit medicine—is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50; trial size, 25c; or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

WHAT LOCAL OPTIONISTS WANT

Drunks Compelled to Give Names of Persons from Whom They Obtained Liquor.

An amendment to provide that every one arrested for drunkenness in non-licensed municipalities shall be person from whom he obtained the persotn from whom he obtained the liquor and in case of refusal, imprisonment.

That the Act be amended to provide that all houses in local option districts that give accommodation to transients be compelled to take out hotel licenses, and that the holder of such license be held responsible for any infraction of the Liquor License Act that occurs upon his premises or any premises directly connected therewith.

An amendment of Section 72, providing that for an offence for the illegal sale, the penalty or penalties be made much heavier.

An amendment of Section 130, permitting personal search for liquor of persons suspected of selling or keeping for sale.

"Two other difficulties we meet with are evasion of the law by bar leasing, and the buying of liquor through agents."—Local Option Deputation.

Many of the local option towns and villages of Ontario sent representatives to wait upon the Provincial Secretary Hon. W. J. Hanna, Wednesday, January 18th, to ask for these amendments to the License Act and to lay before him the difficulties that are met with in the enforcement of the law.

The majority of them were from Owen Sound, which Mr. Hanna described as the "battle ground for local option in Ontario." Other places represented were Orangeville, Dundalk, Shelburne, Tara, Orillia, Galt, Guelph, Grand Valley.

In meeting the various opinions expressed, Mr. Hanna remarked that the penalties had been "jogged up" considerably the last year or two, and that the prevention of anyone providing accommodation unless he had a license would work a hardship in small communities. As for prosecuting the lessee, the Government was doing all it could and would be pleased to receive any suggestion that would make the present Act work more successfully.

Messrs. M. G. Varcoe and Thomas Watson represented Grand Valley, and with those from Orangeville, Shelburne and other places in the county, urged the Department not to grant any licenses to Grand Valley this year. Local option prevails in the rest of the county, and the vote here, while failing less than nine to carry the measure, was emphatic enough of the sentiment of the residents. If the department did this, Dufferin would be the first county in the province to be wholly under local option or free from licensed barrooms. Mr. Hanna promised consideration of the request, in guarded words, which may mean that the will of the people, as expressed at the polls, will abide.—Star & Vidette.

The late Thomas Morphy, Esq., Solicitor, formerly of Brampton, died at Ocean Grove, near Los Angeles, Cal., last November. He left a will naming his sons, Percy and Alan, his executors. The whole estate is valued at $15,000 nearly all in mortgages.

MAKING TEETHING PAINLESS.

Teething time is always a time of anxiety to mothers. At this time baby becomes cross, restless and nervous. His gums pain him, he is troubled with constipation or diarrhoea, spasms, colic or convulsions. His little life is in danger unless a medicine is given him to keep his stomach sweet and pure and his bowels regular. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. Nothing can equal them during the teething period. They have lessened the worries of thousands of mothers. Among them is Mrs. W. A. Yeadon, Halifax, N.S., who writes:—"I have used no other medicine for baby but Baby's Own Tablets and I would not be without them. Last summer baby was greatly troubled with his teeth until I gave him the Tablets. They helped him and now he is a big healthy child." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Archbishop Ireland was urging one of his senatorial friends to help the church with his presence; but the senator declined to be a regular churchgoer, giving this reason: "One finds so many hypocrites there." "But there is always room for one more," said the genial prelate, as he gripped the hand of the statesman friend.

A lady heard that her two sons were in the habit each, at separate times, and quite unknown to each other, of taking a maid out for a lark. Fearing to bring down on their heads the wrath of their father by making a bother about it, she asked them quietly if it was true, but could obtain no satisfactory answer. It occured to her that by a little strategy she might get the truth from the girl, so she said in a jocular manner, "Now Mary, I want you to answer me candidly, which of my two sons do you like best—George or William?" "Weel, ma'am," replied the girl reassured by the lady's manner, "If ye maun ken, o' the two I like Maister George best; but for a rale downricht guid spree, gie me the master!"

CAN SECRETARY ACT AS ASSESSOR?

The following query and answer appeared in the legal column of Saturday's Mail & Empire :—

W. J., Orangeville, Ont.—Can the same person hold the office of secretary of the Public School Board and be a member of the High School Board and assessor for the town?

Ans.—The Municipal Act says :—"The Council shall not appoint as assessor or collector a member of the Council, or the clerk or treasurer of the municipality, and no person convicted of a felony shall be qualified to act as assessor or collector." There does not appear to be any other restrictions in the Municipal Act. But the High School Act says' "No person who is a member, or an officer of a Municipal Council, shall be qualified to be a High School trustee." See High Schools Act of 1909, sec. 12. The Public Schools Act of 1909 says :—"Persons qualified to be elected trustees shall be such persons as are British subjects, and resident ratepayers, of the full age of 21 years, who are not disqualified under the Act."

COUNTY ROAD GRANTS.

Last week The Banner gave a list of the special grants on roads recommended by the Standing Committee on Roads & Bridges and subsequently approved by the County Council at the January meeting a couple of weeks ago. Through an oversight a number of the grants in the south side of the County were overlooked. These were as follows :—

Orangeville and Reading Road, $50, East Garafraxa to supplement with $50. Reeve Cornelius, Commissioner.

Belwood Gravel Road, $50, East Garafraxa to supplement with $50. Reeve Cornelius, Commissioner.

East Garafraxa and Amaranth Townline, $50, East Garafraxa and Amaranth to supplement with $50 each. Reeves Bryan and Cornelius, Commissioners.

10 Sideroad, Amaranth, $50, 20 sideroad, Amaranth, $50, 5th line, Amaranth, $25, Amaranth to supplement with equal amounts. Deputy-Reeve Menary, Commissioner.

Townline East Garafraxa and Caledon, $50, Peel County and Caledon to supplement with $50 each. Reeve Cornelius, Commissioner.

Dufferin and Simcoe townline, lot 6, Mulmur and Tossorontio, $50, to be supplemented by Mulmur township and Simcoe County. Reeve Greer, Commissioner.

TIME FOR ACTION.

Saturday night a man who works in a Broadway business establishment got gloriously drunk and proceeded to make an exhibition of himself on Broadway. He was arrested and spent an hour or two in the cooler. The same night another citizen got so badly jagged that he had to be helped to his home. Monday afternoon another drunk was thrown out of a local hotel and, if current reports are to be relied on, was roughly used by the landlord before he was ejected. These instances all go to show that some person or persons are engaged in the illegal sale of liquor in Orangeville and point to the necessity for concerted action on the part of the temperance people of the town to secure a better observance of the local option by-law. The Banner would suggest the advisability of taking steps to organize a Strong Citizens' Association.

A RARE ACCOMPLISHMENT

The Hamilton Spectator says of the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir. "The voices were fresh and the articulation and enunciation all that had been promised. A rare accomplishment was the humming accompaniment of the choir, as sweet as the muted strings of violins."

DAUGHTERS OF THE EMPIRE.

The annual meeting of Lord Dufferin Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire will be held in the Auditorium of the Public Library (instead of at the home of Mrs. G. McIntyre) on Friday afternoon, February 10th, at 3.30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

SALE OF MAGAZINES.

The Sale of Magazines and Periodicals for 1911 will take place in the Public Library Reading Room on Monday evening, Feb. 13th, at 9 o'clock. A list of the Magazines to be offered for sale may be seen at the Library.

THE UNION LITERARY SOCIETY

The Union Literary Society meeting on Saturday night was well attended. An interesting debate occupied a prominent place on the programme and took up the greater part of the meeting. The discussion was on the subject, "Resolved that Country Life is Better than City Life." The affirmative was supported by Mr. R. Robinson and Mr. Bert Speers and the negative by Mr. Herb Waines and Mr. Cecil Welwood. The judges gave the decision to the affirmative by the narrow margin of two points. Other numbers on the programme were an organ solo by Miss M. E. McEwen, the reading of the Union "Saturday Night" by Miss Annie Holmes and a number of impromptu speeches by girl members of the Society. A very pleasant time was spent by all present. The meeting was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem. The subject of debate at the meeting on Feb. 18th will be "Resolved that War is more expensive than Fashion."

A REMARKABLE EXHIBITION.

A Fort William Opinion of the Welsh Ladies' Choir.

One of the most remarkable exhibitions of choral singing ever heard in the city was given by the Royal Welsh Ladies' Choir in the Auditorium last evening before an excellent audience. The concert justified all the glowing accounts written in the public press, wherever the Choir has made its appearance in this county. It is a pleasure to listen to such a body of female voices, where almost every member, it seems, need not be ashamed to step out of the Choir and before the audience, because they are Welsh, and, as a nation of singers, nature has endowed them with an inherent facility of musical comprehension and with beautiful and natural voices. The Choir, which was composed of 18 voices, all bonnie lassies of attractive personality, sang with a delightful and appealing quality of voice that blended beautifully in the ensembles. The shading, too, while not exaggerated, varied from a delicate pianissimo to a degree of fortissimo that was amazing. The part songs were a special credit to the conductor, Madame Hughes Thomas, who has trained all the voices and succeeded in harmonizing them to such a degree that the rythm and precision were absolutely flawless.

Perhaps the most striking feature of the programme was the rendering of Verdi's "Miserere" by Miss Jennie Emanuel, Miss Nansi Langdon, and choir. Miss Emanuel, with a very brilliant soprano, carried the leading part beautifully, while Miss Langdon's wonderful contralto gave a rare quality to this thrilling piece. Other favorite items, which were repeatedly encored, were "Poor Wandering One" by Miss Beatrice Langford, and "My Ain Folk" by Miss Nansi Langdon. A rare accomplishment of the choir was the humming accompaniment to "Killarney" as sweet as the fluted strings of the violins—Fort William Daily Times-Journal, Saturday, October 15th.

TO CURE A HEADACHE.

The experience of Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., is of interest to all who suffer from headaches. He writes : "For a long time I was troubled with headaches, which came on about once a weak with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did no good. I then used six boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food and have not been troubled with headache since. That was eight months ago."

AN IRREPARABLE LOSS.

The heartfelt sympathy of their many friends goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Hoare, lot 7, 16th line, East Garafraxa, in the irreparable loss they have suffered through the death last Friday morning of their son, William Delbert, a bright boy 10 years of age. The lad contracted scarlet fever in some unknown manner and passed away after a very short illness. He was of a gentle, affectionate disposition and a general favorite and his untimely removal has caused general sorrow in the neighborhood. A brother and one sister survive. The funeral was held to Greenwood cemetery on Saturday afternoon.

DEATH OF POPULAR WOMAN.

The death occurred in the city this morning of Mary Jane Williamson, wife of Mr. T. N. Williamson, 431 Fifth street, aged 59 years. The funeral, which will be private, will be held from her late residence on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock to Brandon cemetery, Rev. Mr. Laidlaw officiating.

The deceased leaves to mourn her loss her husband and four children, G. F. Williamson of this city; Mrs. E. I. Gavin, Fort William; Mrs. B. J. McLeod and Mrs. Harold Kelly, of Winnipeg.

The late Mrs. Williamson one of Brandon's best known and most popular women.—Brandon Daily Sun, January 28th.

Mrs. Williamson will be well remembered by many of our readers as a former citizen of this town. During her residence here she was a valued and useful member of St. Andrew's Church. The family moved to Brandon ten or twelve years ago. The sympathy of their friends here is extended to Mr. Williamson and family in their bereavement.

MRS. ROBERT SIMPSON.

The late Mrs. Robert Simpson, whose death at her home, lot 5, 14th line, East Garafraxa, was briefly reported in last week's Banner, was a daughter of the late John Scott, one of the pioneers of that township. Last August Mrs. Simpson, who was in her 53rd year when overtaken by death, was the victim of a paralytic stroke, from which she was several months recovering. Lately, however, she seemed to have regained her usual health, until Sunday afternoon last when she had another seizure from which she did not rally, passing away about midnight. Besides her husband, a family of three boys, Herbert, on the old homestead, and George and Henry, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. Richard Bryan, of Erin, and Miss Ethel, at home, are left to mourn her loss. There was a very large attendance at the funeral, which was held to Price's Corners Cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. The sincere sympathy of the neighborhood is extended to the bereaved husband and family.

NOTICE.

To Whom This May Concern.

About 45 years ago while I was travelling toward Dundalk on the Toronto and Sydenham Road in the Township of Melancthon, I went into a public house and while there met a man who was going in the same direction. He had a team and his errand was to get a load of oats. We had some drinks together and finally went on a spree that lasted for two or three days. He gave me some money, that I was to return to him after we got over our spree, as he purposed travelling past my home. In some manner we got separated and when I found myself in my right senses again I was at my home. When I returned to the place where we met, my late companion had gone. I do not know his name or where he lived, but I understood that he resided somewhere south or east of Orangeville. Now if these lines should happen to come to the notice of the right man, if he will write to me, I will pay him his money with usury. The Good Book tells us we should owe no man anything and I do not wish to leave this world in debt to anyone. For a number of years now I have been making enquiries for the person to whom this money belongs and have now concluded that this is about the only means of discovering him. If this reaches the eyes of the proper person and he wishes to write me, he may do so by addressing DUFFERIN COUNTY L. O. L.

Reports Indicate that Order Continues to Flourish in this County.

Robert Curry, of Laurel, Succeeds Jas. G. Ward as County Master.

The annual meeting of Dufferin County L. O. L. was held in L.O.L. 635 Hall on Tuesday afternoon. There was a large and fairly representative attendance, notwithstanding the drifted condition of the roads consequent upon Monday's storm. The County Master, W. Bro. Jas. G. Ward, presided, and W. Bro. Robt. Curry, Deputy-Master, filled the Deputy Chair. Reports from the various District Lodges were of an encouraging nature, showing an increase in the membership of the Order and also an improvement in the financial standing of the County Lodge. A resolution was passed recommending that the primary lodges celebrate on July 12th at some point or points inside the County. The election of officers resulted as follows :—

County Master—Robt. Curry, Laurel.

Deputy County Master—W. A. Wansbrough, Bowling Green.

County Chaplain—Rev. J. R. Bell, Laurel.

County Recording Secretary—V. A. Statia, Orangeville.

County Financial Secretary—W. E. Island, Orangeville.

County Treasurer—Thomas Holmes, Orangeville.

County D. of C.—T. H. White, Orangeville.

Lecturer—Joseph Langtree, Laurel.

1st Deputy Lecturer—T. H. Hunt, Grand Valley.

2nd Deputy Lecturer—H. A. Duke, Orangeville.

The newly elected County Master was delegated to attend the annual meetings of the Provincial Grand Lodge in Barrie and the Supreme Grand Lodge in Winnipeg.

The more important parts of the County Master's address read as follows :—

I attended the meeting of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Ontario West held in St. Paul's Methodist Church, in the beautiful city of St. Catharines, on March 9th and 10th, 1910. From points of numbers & enthusiasm this meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ontario West was one of the largest and most enthusiastic in its history. This meeting marked the end of the first half century of our Grand Lodge's existence. The report of the Legislation Committee was a very interesting deliverance. This report dealt with the question of by-lingualism in the public schools of the Province. The committee strongly reported against any government or the Legislature of this Province giving special privileges to the French language in the public schools of this Province. I may further point out that the work of this Legislation committee of the Grand Lodge of Ontario West backed up as it is by the Orangemen under the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East has brought about good results already in having the government of this Province take action to make it a thorough British Province from one end of it to the other. Recent events have shown some of the fruits. By far the greatest discussion at the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Ontario West arose over an amendment to the report of the Executive committee. The amendment was that the services of the organizers be dispensed with. On this question the discussion was very lengthy and very strong. The upshot of the discussion and vote was that the Grand Lodge continued the services of the organizers with the assistance of the County Masters as an advisory body.

Since our last annual meeting our late beloved Sovereign, King Edward VII, known as the "Peacemaker," departed this life on the 6th of May, 1910. I may say that probably no Sovereign ever sat on the Throne of England who did so much for the peace of the world, who did so much to bring about friendly relations between the British Empire and the other nations of the earth, thus eliminating many possibilities of war. In his successor, George V., to whom Orangemen owe allegiance, England has on its Throne a Monarch who will govern constitutionally and according to the traditions of the British people, so that in so far as the present King is concerned, we, his subjects, may rest assured that everything will be done for the advancement of the various peoples who go to make up the British Empire.

During the month of September, 1910, there was held at the city of Montreal, a large assembly of Roman Catholics from all over the world known as the Eucharistic Congress. At this Eucharistic Congress the leaders of the Roman Catholic faith by their speeches still exhibited enmity to Protestantism. Some of the speakers described the Protestant Religion as a soulless religion. It is to be regretted that many high officials of the Dominion of Canada placed the offices, which they held, at the feet of the Church of Rome. It is to be hoped that the public opinion of this country will not stand for a repetition of such actions by any official, no matter what his religion may be. I am pleased to say that Orangeism has made substantial progress within the County of Dufferin, during the past year, and I have no doubt that the statistics which are in possession of the County Secretary will show that the Order is, at least, holding its own.

CROWE—HAND.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Manley, Prince of Wales Road, Mono, on Thursday afternoon last at 3 o'clock, when their youngest daughter, Miss Bertha Hand, was united in marriage to Mr. E. I. Crowe, of Toronto. Rev. W. McLean, of Cardwell, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a becoming travelling costume of navy blue cloth with black picture hat and set of mink furs. The young couple took their departure on the evening train for their future home in Toronto.

Pain in Heart

"For two years I had pain in my heart, back and left side. Could not draw a deep breath or lie on left side, and any little exertion would cause palpitation. Under advice I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Nervine. I took about thirteen bottles, am in better health than I ever was, and have gained 14 pounds."

MRS. LILLIE THOMAS,
Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

For many years Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been very successful in the treatment of heart troubles, because of its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles. Even in severe cases of long standing it has frequently prolonged life for many years after doctors had given up all hope, as proven by thousands of letters we have received from grateful people.

O. A. C. RENEWS ITS OFFER OF ASSISTANCE IN DRAINAGE

In July 1909 the Department of Physics at the O. A. C. prepared a plan of drains for a 52 acre block of land that had never grown a crop — it was too wet. The drains were laid that autumn. In 1910 that 52 acres yielded potatoes and corn to the the value of $2250. The farm lies within five miles of the city of London. Why had this land lain useless for generations? Perhaps the previous owners thought it could not be drained—as a matter of fact it was a difficult problem, for this land was very flat and the outlet poor. Perhaps they did not believe drainage would pay—this one crop should convince them. Or perhaps they believed in drainage but did not know just how to undertake such extensive drainage operations.

The Ontario Agricultural College is endeavoring to help those in doubt about drainage. Any farmer in Ontario wishing assistance in his drainage problems may have the same by making application to the Department of Physics, O. A. C., Guelph. As soon as possible after receipt of the application a drainage adviser is sent to make a survey of the land, after which he makes a complete map showing the location of the drains, the grade, size of tile, etc. When completed the map is sent to the owner, so that he has an accurate guide to follow in putting in his drains. As in previous years, the only outlay to the farmer is the necessary travelling expenses of one man in connection with the survey. The railways give a rate of a cent a mile for this work, so that the travelling expenses are light.

After one survey in each locality a Drainage Demonstration is held right in the field surveyed, to which all the neighbors are invited. At this meeting simple methods are demonstrated of making a drainage survey, finding the fall of a ditch, determining the grade, digging to grade, etc.

Those wishing to make application for a survey should write the Department of Physics, O. A. C., Guelph, whereupon regular application forms will be sent.

WOMEN SUFFER More Than Men.

"I suffered with dull, miserable pains, soreness across my back and in my sides for months. They would catch me so badly at times that I could scarcely move around. I would have dizzy spells and altogether, felt generally run down. After using a number of remedies without finding relief, I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and found them an excellent remedy. They not only relieved me of the miserable pains and soreness in my back but cured me of my kidney trouble."

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth Kidney Pills cure Backache, Dull Shooting Pains, Thick and Cloudy Urine, Gravel, or Stone, Rheumatism and all diseases of the kidneys and bladder.

MRS. ROBT. HOBSON.

Mrs. Hobson, relict of the late Robt. Hobson, died on Wednesday, morning, Feb. 1st, at the residence of her son-in-law, James Claydon, Hall's Corners, in her 79th year. The deceased had been confined to her room for the past month with dropsy and enlargement of the liver. Mrs. Hobson was a daughter of the late Wm. Hall, the first pioneer to settle in the northern part of Amaranth township, when there were no neighbors nearer than Orangeville at the south and Horning's Mills to the north. To the west, reaching within a mile or so of Mount Forest, it was a dense wilderness of unbroken forest and to the east there were a few scattered settlers in the south east corner of Mulmur and the north east corner of Mono in and around Rosemont. Deceased had seen many changes in this part of Ontario during her residence of 70 years at Hall's Corners. She could remember when the townline between Amaranth and Melancthon, now the main street of Shelburne, was first chopped out and before any road was made in this direction. Mrs. Hobson is the last of the original Hall family. Her parents, five brothers and one sister, died several years ago. Her husband died about 13 years ago. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. James Claydon, who has taken good care of the deceased during many years. The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon to Shelburne cemetery. — Free Press.

Portugal and Canada.

Portugal's population is given at 5,423,132, slightly less than Canada's, but crowded into an area of 35,400 square miles, being a little more than half that of Canada's postage stamp Province of Manitoba. In trade Portugal falls away below Canada. Her annual total exports and imports amounting to less than 100,000,000 milreis, a milreis being slightly more than a dollar, while Canada's trade amounts to about $600,000,000. Portugal's population is entirely Roman in religion, the figures of 1900 showing only 4,491 Protestants and 481 Jews. Lisbon is about the same size as Toronto, having a population of 356,000.

Its Reflected Glory.

The relative importance of places is sometimes confusingly stated. For instance, Dr. A. S. Vogt was once asked in New York if "Toronto were not the town where you changed cars for Cobalt."

It is proposed to transform the Imperial Hotel, Guelph, into three stores.

THE NEW TARIFF.

It is just a little difficult to size up the new tariff agreement between the United States and Canada in all its bearings upon the future trade of this country. On the whole it is a pretty satisfactory agreement from the farmer's standpoint. Practically everything he produces is on the free list. He has another outlet for his surplus, and a very important one it is. This should help in maintaining a steadier market for what he produces even if it does not enhance the value of what he has to sell very much. On grain crops, most lines of live stock, and dairy products, prices will no doubt advance, should the agreement come into force. These are largely the staple products of the farm, and to the extent that prices advance for these, every farmer will benefit, and especially the farmer of the prairie provinces, and the provinces down by the sea. The agricultural awakening so noticeable in the Maritime provinces will receive additional impetus because of this new tariff arrangement. It will place that part of Canada, from an agricultural standpoint at least, in much the same position as it was before Confederation, and a fiscal policy came into force for all Canada. The West, however, generally speaking, will benefit more than any other part of the Dominion. Not only will the new tariff stimulate the growing of grain crops, including oats and barley, but it should give the live stock industry of the West a good start. With free access to the big live stock markets of the United States, the Western farmer can enter into the business of cattle raising with greater assurance of profitable prices, and a steady market.

From the Ontario farmer's standpoint, the advantages are not so generally applicable. The dairyman, the mixed farmer, and the live stock man, will benefit to a considerable extent. The benefits to the fruit grower have in recent years, built up an extensive trade in fruit with Western Canada. With fruit on the free list it may be difficult to successfully meet competition from the United States' fruit grower in the Western market. On the other hand he will have access to the big consuming centres of the Eastern States. But whether this will compensate him for the loss of the Western market, remains to be seen. The market gardener will probably be hardest hit of any of those who till the soil. He will have to face strong American competition for early grown vegetables, a very profitable side of his business. Then Ontario's horse industry will suffer somewhat. Last year it is estimated that fully 75,000 horses were shipped from Ontario to the West. In three months there passed through Winnipeg 27,000 horses from Ontario for points in the West. This trade which is of great importance to the Ontario horse breeder, will, to a large extent, be cut off by placing horses on the free list. In these particular cases, therefore, the Ontario farmer may lose under the new arrangement. But it is extremely difficult to do anything in a big way in regulating a tariff without hurting somebody. A few farming interests will suffer under the new agreement, but the general effect cannot but be of advantage to agriculture generally, and consequently to to the country at large.

Coming to the question of farm machinery we find that the reductions are such as to equalize the tariff between the two countries. This willgive the Canadian farmer some advantage, but not as much as recent recommendations to the government on this question asked for. It was hardly to be expected, taking into account the conditions surrounding the manufacturing of farm implements in both countries, that these should be placed on the free list. If the farmers' delegation have not got what they asked for in this respect, they have got a good deal more than they expected in the placing of practically all food products on the free list. The greatly enlarged market for farm products that this will give, will, in our opinion, much more than make up for what they have lost by not having the duty on farm machinery removed altogether. There must be some give and take in this matter and farmers as a class want to play fair. They have gained a very great deal by this new trade arrangement, provided it becomes law, and should be in a position to wish the Canadian manufacturer well in his efforts to build up the manufacturing interests of this country. No matter what outside markets may be opened up, the home market will always be one of growing importance to the Canadian producer.

There is one item left out of the list as presented to the House by the Minister of Finance, and that is wool. While it will be of distinct advantage to have sheep on the free list, it would have been of great benefit to the Canadian sheep raiser to have had some reduction on wool entering the United States. There is double the duty on wool entering the United States that there is on wool coming to Canada. A lowering of the duty on wool by the United States to the Canadian tariff would have helped the wool growing industry of this country a very great deal. Special efforts are being made by governments in Canada, both Dominion and Provincial, to revive the sheep industry. One of the things that has hampered progress in this direction has been the condition of the wool market. A reduction of the duty on wool entering the United States would have aided materially in improving the market for wool. One is at a loss to understand why this one important item, which means so much to a leading branch of the live stock industry, was left out of the reckoning.—The Canadian Farm.
